San Diego native Stacie Terry was named the eighth head coach in the history of the San Diego State women's basketball program on May 15, 2013.

During her first season on Montezuma Mesa, Terry was saddled with the unenviable task of replacing four senior starters who accounted for nearly 64 percent of the team's scoring offense from the previous year, as well as overcoming the loss of two key players - forward Erimma Amarikwa, a preseason all-Mountain West selection, and starting point guard Ahjalee Harvey - to injuries prior to conference play.

Despite those obstacles and a demanding schedule featuring nine games with teams that eventually advanced to post-season competition, Terry's squad flashed its resiliency during the 2013-14 campaign, finishing with a 13-17 overall record and a 9-9 mark in the MW.

Under Terry's guidance, the Aztecs led the league in rebounding margin and rebounding defense, while ranking second in field-goal percentage.

Individually, Terry also oversaw the progress of senior center Cierra Warren, who became the fifth SDSU player in the last six years to receive first-team all-MW recognition.

Prior to her arrival on The Mesa, Terry gained a wealth of experience as an assistant coach at the Division I level for 14 years, including five under head coach Nikki Caldwell, who transformed UCLA into a powerhouse before restoring LSU to national prominence.

During Terry's two seasons at LSU, the Lady Tigers compiled a 45-23 overall record and earned two NCAA tournament bids, including a Sweet 16 appearance during the 2012-13 campaign. During that season, the Lady Tigers also posted six victories against ranked opponents and finished with their second-highest scoring average (69.0) in the last seven years. Under Terry's guidance, forward LaShondra Barrett garnered first-team all-Southeastern Conference accolades and received honorable mention All-America distinction in 2012 before becoming a first-round draft choice of the WNBA's Washington Mystics.

Prior to her appointment at LSU, Terry served as an assistant under Caldwell at UCLA from 2008-11, helping the Bruins gain national acclaim with a pair of NCAA tournament appearances. During Terry's tenure, UCLA posted 72 overall victories, as the 2010-11 squad finished with a 28-5 record, setting a school record for fewest losses in a single season to go with a No. 7 national ranking. In addition, the Bruins signed the fourth-ranked recruiting class that season, according to ESPN HoopGurtz, while Terry helped mentor first-team all-Pac-10 performers in Doreena Campbell, Darxia Morris and Jasmine Dixon, a 2012 honorable mention AP All-America selection, as well as all-conference freshman honorees Atonye Nyngjifa and Markel Walker.

Terry spent the 2007-08 campaign at Southern Mississippi, as the Golden Eagles posted a 21-14 record and earned a postseason berth in the Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT). While at Southern Miss, Terry spearheaded the development and coordination of the Lady Eagle recruiting campaign. Her responsibilities also included working with the perimeter players, scouting opponents and film breakdown, as well as coordinating all of the team's community service events.

Terry also coached for three seasons from 2004-07 as an assistant under Hall of Fame head coach Theresa Grentz at Illinois, where the Fighting Illini had three straight recruiting classes ranked among the top 25 in the nation, according to Blue Star Basketball, and made three consecutive trips to the WNIT. Her primary duties included defensive instruction and working with the perimeter players.

In addition, Terry coached at Dayton during the 2003-04 season following a three-year stint at Louisville from 2000-03. With the Cardinals, Terry's responsibilities encompassed recruiting, scouting, player development, summer camps and serving as a liaison for the program's community service outreach. Louisville captured the Conference USA regular-season title and earned a trip to the NCAA tournament in 2001 before making a WNIT appearance in 2002. She also assisted in signing the nation's 21st-ranked recruiting class in 2002-03, according to All-Star Girls Report. Terry recruited and coached all-Conference USA honoree Lori Nero, a draft choice of the WNBA's Houston Comets, as well as Sara Nord, who finished her collegiate career as the Cardinals' all-time assist leader and ranks among the top 15 scorers in school history.

Terry enjoyed a successful collegiate playing career at the University of Texas at Arlington, winning four varsity letters from 1994-98 under head coach Mike Dean. She earned first-team all-Southland Conference honors after leading the Mavericks in scoring with 17.4 points per game as a senior in 1997-98. Terry scored 1,169 points during her career at UTA and still ranks among the school's top 10 in three-point field goals made (third), assists (sixth), steals (seventh) and free-throw percentage (10th). She is just one of 17 players in Maverick history to surpass the 1,000-point plateau, while her .335 career three-point field-goal percentage is also a school and Southland Conference career record.

Terry played one season of professional basketball in Warsaw, Poland, averaging 12.0 points and 6.0 assists with the Polonia Phoenix, before returning to UT Arlington to begin her coaching career as a graduate assistant in 1999.

Terry prepped at El Capitan High and held the Vaqueros' career scoring record for three years following her graduation. She was inducted into the school's athletic hall of fame in 2008.

Head coach Stacie Terry and her daughter Kennedy.

What others are saying about Stacie Terry:

"I am thrilled for Stacie and San Diego State. They have hired not only an outstanding basketball coach but a quality person, who has been influential to the lives of so many since she joined my staff at UCLA in 2008 and then at LSU in 2011. Not many coaches have had the opportunity to work in six different conferences, including the SEC, Pac-12 and Big Ten, so she has been exposed to basketball at every level. She is very respected in the profession, and she is a difference maker in every aspect of the program from recruiting to scouting."

- LSU Women's Basketball Head Coach Nikki Caldwell

"I am excited to welcome Stacie Terry to the Aztec family. I had an opportunity to spend some time with her during the (hiring) process and am impressed with her experience and the success she has been a part of, most recently at LSU and UCLA. She has a wealth of experience and has shown the ability to recruit wherever she has coached. Having gone to high school here and having family in the area, she is very familiar with the San Diego high school scene. I am happy that she is in our basketball family and look forward to watching her carry on the successful tradition of Aztec women's basketball."

Jesse Clark became head coach Stacie Terry's first hire when he was brought on board as an assistant coach on June 10, 2013.

Clark brings over 15 years of experience with him to Montezuma Mesa, including a six-year stint as an assistant at Saint Mary's College from 2007-13.

Clark is involved with every phase of the Aztec program, including the development of post players, as well as recruiting, scouting and opponent scheduling.

During Clark's tenure at SMC, the Gaels compiled 112 victories and made four consecutive trips to the Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT), including a quarterfinal appearance this past season. He coached five all-West Coast Conference performers, including Jackie Nared, who led the league in scoring during the 2012-13 campaign, as well as Louella Tomlinson, who collected back-to-back defensive player of the year awards in 2009-10. In addition, Jontelle Smith finished her career as the Gaels' all-time leader in three-point field goals and ranks fifth in scoring.

Prior to his arrival at SMC, Clark served as director of video operations at Stanford, where he was responsible for film exchange, game editing, scouting and analysis. Clark also spent two seasons at the University of San Francisco from 2003-05, where he coached two-time WCC defensive player of the year Toni Russell and helped recruit Dominique Carter, who was named the league's top newcomer in 2004.

Clark entered the coaching ranks in 1996 as an assistant at his alma mater Pacific Union College in Angwin, Calif., where he also doubled as assistant athletic director and sports information director. In 1997, he was elevated to head coach, leading the Pioneers to three California Pacific Conference tournament appearances in five seasons.

Clark then landed an assistant's role at CSU Bakersfield for the 2002-03 season, helping the Roadrunners capture the NCAA Division II West Region Championship and a berth in the Elite Eight series. Under Clark's guidance, CSU's Heather Garay was named California Collegiate Athletic Association player of the year and earned a spot on the Kodak DII All-America team.

A native of Tacoma, Wash., Clark received a bachelor of science degree in business education from Pacific Union in 2003. He played collegiately for the school from 1992-96 after prepping at Fresno Academy in Fresno, Calif.

Ciara Carl joined the Aztec basketball staff as an assistant coach on July 15, 2013. A standout player at Point Loma Nazarene during her collegiate playing career, Carl returned to southern California after spending the 2012-13 campaign as an assistant at Metro State in Denver, Colo., following a two-year stint in the same capacity at Cal Poly Pomona.

During her one season at Metro State, Carl helped coach the Roadrunners to 21 victories and a spot in the NCAA Division II tournament, where they advanced to the second round. Under her tutelage, five Metro State players garnered all-Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference accolades, including Kristin Valencia, who was named the league's defensive player of the year. As a team, the Roadrunners led the RMAC in scoring defense (51.2 ppg) and limited opponents to a league-worst .350 field-goal percentage.

Carl also witnessed success during her tenure at Cal Poly Pomona from 2010-12, as the Broncos compiled a two-year mark of 47-14 (.770) and made a pair of NCAA DII tournament appearances, including a berth in the Elite Eight in 2011. During that season, Carl assisted in the development of senior guard Reyana Colson, who earned All-America honors after capturing the California Collegiate Athletic Association's most valuable player award.

Prior to arrival at CPP, Carl gained valuable coaching experience during stops with the San Diego Sol, the San Diego Super 60 League, as well as her prep alma mater, Saint Mary's School in Raleigh, N.C.

As a collegian, Carl starred at point guard for PLNU, helping the Sea Lions compile an 83-27 overall record in her final three seasons. During that stretch, PLNU made three consecutive trips to the NAIA tournament, capped by a Final Four appearance in 2005. She still holds the school's career record with 647 assists and ranks second with 277 steals.

Carl received her undergraduate degree in exercise science from PLNU in 2005 and earned her master's of science degree from California University (Pa.) in 2006 with an emphasis in performance enhancement and injury prevention. She later completed an internship at North Carolina State, working with the Wolfpack's strength and conditioning program.

A native of Los Angeles, Carl was raised in Cary, N.C., before graduating from Saint Mary's School in 2000. In addition to earning all-state honors in basketball as a senior, Carl also lettered in volleyball and golf during her prep career.

Nick Grant was hired as an assistant coach on August 4, 2014. The Arlington, Texas, native arrives on Montezuma Mesa after spending three seasons at Texas A&M, including the past two as video coordinator.

During his tenure with the Aggies, Grant was part of a program that made three consecutive NCAA tournament appearances, highlighted by a run to the Elite Eight in 2014. In addition to the recording, breakdown and analysis of all practices and games, Grant's responsibilities included serving as a liaison between the players and coaching staff.

Prior to his appointment as video coordinator, Grant served as a strength and conditioning intern with the Texas A&M athletic department for the 2011-12 season, working full-time with the women's basketball team while assisting with the baseball squad. He also aided the Aggies' recruiting efforts in the summer of 2012, evaluating women's basketball talent at the AAU level.

Grant received his bachelor of arts degree in communication from Baylor in 2010. While on the Waco campus, he served as a team manager with the women's basketball squad from 2006-08, assisting with guards on fundamentals and skill work. During those two seasons, the Lady Bears amassed 53 victories and twice reached the second round of the NCAA tournament. Upon graduation, Grant remained at Baylor, working with seven scholarship programs in the weight room as an athletic performance intern during the 2010-11 campaign.

FATEMA AREFI

Director of Basketball Operations
Ninth Year at San Diego State
San Diego State (2005)

Fatema Arefi was named director of operations for the Aztec women's basketball team on July 2, 2013.

An SDSU alumna, Arefi is involved with all phases of the program relating to team travel, game-day operations, fundraising, equipment and community service. In addition, she will work with the Aztec Club as the point person for the team's booster organization, the Full Court Press Club, while assisting with freshman orientation.

Arefi is no stranger to SDSU athletics, having held several roles in the department since November 2006. Most recently, she served as senior athletics coordinator, providing direct executive assistance in the day-to-day operations of the athletics director's office. Arefi was responsible for coordinating and scheduling meetings, public appearances and speaking engagements, while detailing complex travel arrangements and itineraries.

Arefi's endless duties also included assisting with ticket distribution at Mountain West and NCAA tournament games for the men's basketball squad, as well as supervision of interns in the athletic director's office and the oversight and planning of internal staff functions.

In addition, Arefi served as the athletics liaison for other campus departments, including the President's Office, University Relations and Development, Business Affairs and Student Affairs, among others.

Arefi received her bachelor of arts degree in communication from SDSU in 2005 and earned a master's in educational leadership in 2010.

Raised in San Diego, Arefi graduated from Kearny High School, where she played one season on the girls basketball team.

MIKE BYNUM

Director of Player Development
Fifth Year at San Diego State
San Diego State (2009)

Mike Bynum is in his fifth year as the Aztecs' director of player development.

Bynum's job duties include coordinating film exchange, editing game and practice film, developing team highlight videos and supervising student managers. He also assists director of basketball operations Fatema Arefi in the planning and setting up of all women's basketball events.

Over his last three seasons, the team has combined to win 64 games and captured two Mountain West regular-season titles and one tournament crown, while also advancing to the 2012 NCAA championships.

Before returning to SDSU, Bynum was an assistant varsity coach with the boys team at Scripps Ranch High School under head coach Brian Keiser. Bynum was in charge of the Falcons' video editing, helped scout future opponents and on the court, worked with the squad's defense, which gave up the fewest points per game in San Diego. Scripps Ranch went 16-11 overall and won two tournaments during the 2009-10 campaign.

Bynum became a student manager for the Aztec men's basketball team in September 2004, and over the next five seasons helped with practice set-up, game statistics, summer camps and team travel. Bynum supervised other student managers and assisted the squad's video coordinator with opponent scout edits. SDSU boasted a 103-61 record during his five-year stint, recording four straight 20-win seasons and claiming the 2005-06 Mountain West regular-season and tournament championships.

In the summer of 2009, Bynum was a counselor at both the LeBron James King's Academy and the Steve Fisher Basketball Camp, where he supervised basketball players of various age groups, provided skill instruction and helped conduct drills.

Originally from Toronto, Bynum lived in San Francisco, Washington, D.C., and Dallas before moving to San Diego where he attended Scripps Ranch High School, graduating in 2004. He earned his bachelor's degree in communication from San Diego State in May 2009 and was a member of the Lambda Pi Eta Honor Society. His father Rod Bynum is the head assistant men's basketball coach at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario.

CHRIS STRAKER

Head Manager

Third Year at San Diego State

Chris Straker is in his third year as head manager for the Aztec women's basketball program, providing invaluable support during practice, film breakdown, scouting and game-day preparation.

A native of Manchester, England, Straker has 12 years of advanced level coaching experience under his belt with European basketball, including stints as a head coach with women's club teams such as Leeds Carnegie, Manchester Mystics, as well as the North West U17 regional squad. He also served as associate coach with the Great Britain U20 and England U18 national teams.

Under his tutelage, Straker's teams captured three national titles, while many of his pupils have secured Division I collegiate scholarships in the United States or have gone on to play professionally in Europe.

RANDY SHELTON

Strength and Conditioning Coach

Fifth Year at San Diego State

San Diego State (2000)

Randy Shelton is in his fifth season as the women's basketball team's strength and conditioning coach.

During his three years on Montezuma Mesa, the Aztecs have enjoyed one of the most successful runs in program history, thanks in large part to their effort in the weight room. Over the last three seasons, San Diego State has won 64 games, including a program-record 27 victories in 2012-13, captured three Mountain West championships (two regular season, one tournament) and advanced to the 2012 NCAA tournament.

A 2000 graduate of San Diego State, Shelton is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association and is a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS).

Shelton is married to the former Waleska Valle and the couple have two children, son Darren and daughter Farah.

QUEENIE SORIANO

Athletic Trainer

Fourth Year at San Diego State

San Diego State (2004)

Queenie Soriano is in her fourth year as an athletic trainer at San Diego State. Soriano works directly with the women's basketball team, as well as the men's and women's golf programs.

As the team's head athletic trainer, her primary responsibility is the overall health of the student-athletes, working closely with a team of physicians and other athletic trainers on staff to provide the best quality care. Whether it's the flu or an ankle sprain, the Aztecs see her for all ailments. In addition, Soriano has state-of-the-art equipment at her disposal, including a SWIM-Ex Unit and Alter G anti-gravity treadmill to rehabilitate injuries and return the student-athletes to the court better than before.

A graduate of San Diego State, Soriano received her bachelor of science degree in kinesiology with an emphasis in athletics training in 2004. During her undergraduate studies, she worked as a student trainer for the Aztec football, women's tennis, women's soccer and water polo teams and became certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association in 2004.

Prior to her return to Montezuma Mesa, Soriano spent seven years at the University of New Mexico, including the last five as an assistant athletic trainer after receiving her master's degree in sports administration from the school in 2006.

Born in Manila, Philippines, Soriano prepped at Mount Miguel High School in nearby Spring Valley, where she competed for the basketball and volleyball teams.

Prior to coming to San Diego State, White was an academic coordinator at her alma mater Utah State University for six years (1994-2000). She started off her career as an interim academic coordinator at Utah State in 1994 right after graduation, and then was hired as a full-time academic coordinator in 1995. With the Aggies, she served as an advisor for the football, men's basketball, women's soccer, women's volleyball, men's golf, softball, gymnastics, men's and women's tennis, and track and field teams.

White earned her first degree from Utah State in liberal arts and science, and later went on to earn a second bachelor's degree in business. She received her master's degree in educational leadership, with an emphasis in student affairs, from San Diego State in 2007, and was tabbed the College of Education's outstanding graduate student. White finished her Doctorate of Education (Ed.D) in 2011, completing her dissertation on "Transfer Shock and the Student-Athlete."

Born in Wethersfield, England, White enjoys boxing, crocheting and scrapbooking, and is looking forward to running her second half marathon one day. She also is a member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics and recently became a lifetime member of the SDSU alumni association and is now an "Aztec for Life."

GLADIE JAFFE

Administrative Assistant
Sixth Year at San Diego State
San Diego State (2008)

Gladie Jaffe enters her sixth year at San Diego State and third as administrative assistant for the women's basketball program. In her position, Jaffe handles the daily operations and administrative duties of the team, helping the staff to organize daily schedules, travel and budget. She also works closely with members of the "Full Court Press Club" booster group, by organizing and running the club's events.

A native San Diegan, Jaffe received her bachelor's degree in geography with an emphasis in environmental policy from SDSU in 2008 and has worked for the University in numerous instructional and administrative capacities following her graduation.

Since 2009, Jaffe has served on The Mesa as a graduate teaching associate in political science, an administrative assistant with the Global Change Research Group, a writing specialist and tutor for the Office of Educational Opportunity Program, as well as an academic mentor and tutor for all subjects in the athletic department.

Jaffe has two sons Joel (15) and Cooper (12) and is a member of the Scripps Ranch Pop Warner Football board of directors.

SCOTT HORVATH

IT Coordinator
15th Year at San Diego State
Ohio State (1998)

Scott Horvath enters his 15th season at San Diego State and his seventh in Aztec athletics.

Horvath serves as the department's information technology coordinator and is in his 12th year working with the football coaches' communications on game days.

The Newark, Ohio, native previously was an IT consultant for business services and internet commerce for the university side at SDSU. He earned his bachelor's degree in 1998 from Ohio State University in management information systems, before a two-year stint as IT manager for the city of Columbus, Ohio.

Horvath and his wife, Polly Kanavel, who volunteers in the SDSU athletic department, reside in La Mesa.
