San Diego State Continues Four-Game Homestand to Open 2004-05 Season; Aztecs Welcome 2004 NCAA Tournament Participant Monmouth to Cox Arena on Monday

San Diego State plays its second game in four days on Monday night when the Aztecs entertain first time opponent Monmouth at Cox Arena. The game is set for a 7:05 p.m. PST tip, with local television coverage provided by Channel 4 San Diego (no satellite coverage) and radio coverage on XPRS-1090 AM (The Mighty 1090).

For just the second time in the last six seasons, San Diego State opened a campaign with a loss, as UC Santa Barbara handed the Aztecs an 80-72 loss on Friday night at Cox Arena. It marked just the third time in Steve Fisher's 14 full seasons as a head coach that his team did not win on opening night.

The Aztecs played from behind nearly the entire night (leading just 3:01 the entire game), trailing by as many as 10 points in the first half. Down by six points with 63 second remaining in regulation, the Aztecs scored the final six points of the second half to force overtime.

The loss overshadowed a tremendous performance by sophomore forward Marcus Slaughter. Slaughter, scored the Aztecs' last 16 points of regulation en route to his third career double-double with a career-best 28 points and 13 rebounds. Senior center Chris Manker came off the bench to set career highs with 17 points and 35 minutes of action.

The Gauchos enjoyed a big advantage in field goal percentage, 50.0 to 38.8 percent, too secure the victory.

Monmouth is concluding a two-game swing to the Golden State, after suffering an 83-70 loss at Loyola Marymount on Saturday afternoon. Leading by three points at halftime, the Lions opened the second half with six straight points and used an 11-3 run to take control of the game. Dejan Delic paced six Hawks in double figures with 16 points on the strength of four three-point field goals in the contest.

Monmouth shot 52.2 percent for the field, 79 percent from the line and enjoyed a rebound advantage (33-32), but was unable to overcome 22 turnovers in suffering the loss.

The Aztecs and Hawks are meeting for the first time. San Diego State is 3-0 lifetime against teams from the Northeast Conference. SDSU has wins over Central Connecticut State (W, 70-60 on Dec. 30, 1989), Saint Francis (N.Y.) (W, 91-72 on Dec. 27, 1988) and Saint Francis (Pa.) (W, 95-87 on Dec. 30, 1975). Monmouth is 0-3 all-time against teams from the Mountain West Conference, with losses to UNLV, New Mexico and Wyoming. The Hawks last game against a member of the league came during the 2000-01 campaign, when they lost at UNLV, 81-70.

This is the second of four consecutive home games to open the 2004-05 season for San Diego State, marking their longest homestand since a five-game homestand in Dec. 2002-Jan. 2003 and the longest season-opening homestand since the 1974-75 NCAA Tournament team opened with four straight home contests.

San Diego State posted a 14-16 record last season, its fourth straight season with at least 14 victories marking the first time the Aztecs have accomplished that feat since the 1981-82 through 1984-85 seasons. SDSU, which has advanced to postseason play in two of the last three seasons, will open the season with three returning starters and eight returning letterwinners. In his coaching career, Fisher has guided all eight teams in which he returns at least three starters off a team he coached the preceding season to the postseason, including twice at San Diego State. The last time the Aztecs returned at least three starters was in 2002-03 when SDSU claimed the school's first Division I postseason victory (over UC Santa Barbara) and advanced to the second round of the postseason NIT. The last time SDSU returned as many as eight letterwinners was the 2001-02 season, when the Aztecs posted a 21-12 record, claimed the Mountain West Conference championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

INSIDE...

■ San Diego State returns three starters and eight letterwinners from the 2003-04 squad. That's good news for Aztec fans as Steve Fisher has guided all eight of his teams that returned at least three letterwinners from a team he coached the previous season to postseason play.

■ San Diego State is 52-31 (61.9 percent in season opening games, including a 17-17 mark (50.0 percent) since moving to Division I. SDSU has won four of its last five lid-lifters, including a 74-44 victory over Long Beach State last season.

► Season Openers, page 4

■ To the surprise of no one, Steve Fisher has enjoyed incredible success in openers. Fisher coached squads are 11-2 in season opening games (losing to sixth-ranked Arizona in 1989 and Eastern Washington in 2002).

► Season Openers, page 4

■ Steve Fisher squads have historically gotten off to red hot starts. His teams are 24-13 (64.9 percent) in the month of November and a near perfect 12-2 (85.7 percent) in home contests during the Thanksgiving month.

Aztecs Enjoy Exhibition Success, Again

Despite substituting at liberty and a few nagging injuries, San Diego State ran its exhibition win streak to eight games with victories over Cal State San Bernardino (82-70) and Point Loma Nazarene (87-67). During those two games, the Aztecs were able to reverse a couple of the trends that proved to be fatal during last season. On the positive side, SDSU shot 48.0 percent from the field, 39.5 percent from three-point range and attempted 55 free throws. However, the Aztecs struggled from the free throw line (61.8 percent) and held a surprisingly small advantage in rebound margin (+4.0).

Individual tidbits from the two exhibition games:

► San Diego State's three returning starters from last season did not disappoint in the exhibition campaign. Sophomore forward Marcus Slaughter averaged 22.5 points and 7.0 rebounds while playing a total of just 50 minutes. Senior forward Chris Walton showed off his improved long-range shooting skills by connecting on 4-of-5 attempts from behind the line en route to average 16.0 points and 4.5 rebounds in 44 total minutes. Sophomore guard Brandon Heath, who has taken over the role of point guard for large stretches of time, averaged 9.0 points, 2.5 rebounds, but more impressively dished out 13 assists with a mere three turnovers in 49 minutes of action.

► The Aztecs got strong shooting from the field from their two leading scorers - sophomore Marcus Slaughter and senior Chris Walton. The two each cleared 62.5 percent field goal shooting and combined to connect on 28-of-41 attempts (68.3 percent) and an even more impressive 10-of-12 three-point field goal attempts (83.3 percent). The other 11 players on the team combined to connect on 32-of-84 attempts (38.1 percent) and were just 5-of-26 (19.2 percent from beyond the arc).

► San Diego State showed good ball handling skills, dishing out 41 assists with 26 turnovers in the two games. In fact, the Aztecs had almost as many steals (22) as turnovers (26).

► Senior center Chris Manker missed the second exhibition game due to a strained tendon in his left foot, but his performance in the first exhibition game should not be overlooked. Manker had eight points, five rebounds and four blocked shots in 20 minutes of action. A native of West Des Moines, Iowa, Manker also produced the best hockey plus/minus number of the contest, with a +20 rating.

► A trio of newcomers made noise during the two exhibition games. Junior center Mohamed Camara scored 16 points, and added nine rebounds and three blocked shots in 33 minutes of action. The projected starter at center made six of his nine attempts from the field. Freshman point guard Matt Thomas played 43 minutes of action and logged 14 points and four assists, while fellow freshman Tyler Smith had three points and three assists in 29 minutes.

Aztecs Look to Continue Cox Arena Magic

Cox Arena has become quite a home court advantage for the Aztecs during Steve Fisher's rebuilding project at San Diego State. The Aztecs, now in their eighth season at the 12,414-seat on-campus venue, have recorded at least 11 home victories in each of the past four seasons. It is just the second time in school history that SDSU has won 11 home games in four straight seasons (1981-82 through 1984-85).

The numbers have even been better during the last three seasons, with SDSU posting a 34-14 record (70.8 percent). The Aztecs have been particularly hard on non-conference foes, winning 26 of their last 32 (81.3 percent) non-league games. During that span, two of the six losses have come at the hands of nationally-ranked opposition, making SDSU 25-4 against non-ranked non-conference foes since Dec. 9, 2000 (also subtract a non-conference win over 21st-ranked Fresno State during that time).

▶ COX ARENA

All-Time	62-47
Last 3 Yrs.	34-14
Overall Streak	Lost, 2
vs. NC since 12/9/00	26-6
vs. NC NR since 12/9/00	25-4

Fisher Goes for Win Number 71

Steve Fisher is one victory away from moving into a tie for fifth place on the San Diego State all-time victory list. The coach with 254 career wins to his credit, can match the win total of SDSU's first varsity coach, C.E. Peterson with his next victory.

Peterson posted a record of 71-29 in his five seasons from 1920-21 through 1925-26. The Gymnasium, located directly west of Cox Arena, bears the name of Peterson, whose 71.0 winning percentage is still tops in school history. The basketball team played in the facility as recently as the 1996-97 season and the women's volleyball team currently calls the facility home.

Fisher will likely move into the top four positions before the end of the season. He needs just seven wins to match Tim Vezie's total of 77 wins accomplished from 1973-74 until 1978-79.

2. Morris Gross	190
3. Smokey Gaines	112
4. Tim Vezie	77
5. C.E. Peterson	71
6. Steve Fisher	70

Postseason Play, Guaranteed

Given Steve Fisher's track record, San Diego State's prospects of returning to the postseason for a third time in four seasons appears to be good. In his 12 full seasons, Steve Fisher has returned at least three starters off a squad he coached the previous season eight times. He has guided all eight of those teams to postseason play, including six of those squads to the NCAA Tournament. Those eight teams have combined to post a 20-5 record in postseason play, including two appearances in the NCAA Tournament championship game (1991 and 1992) and a championship in the NIT (1996).

Some additional notes on Steve Fisher's success when returning at least three starters off a team he has coached.

- ▶ Is 8-for-8 in leading his team to the postseason. Six times he has guided a team to the NCAA Tournament.
- ▶ Has won at least one postseason game in six of those eight seasons and at least two games in five of those eight post-seasons.
- ▶ Averaged 22.6 wins in those eight seasons. In six of the eight years his teams have won at least 21 games.

Below is a look at Fisher's magic when returning at least three starters from his previous squad.

Preseason Magazines Gives Aztecs Little Love

Most of the preseason magazines have picked the Aztecs to finish in the lower half of the Mountain West Conference standings and the MWC poll was no exception, picking the Aztecs to finish seventh; however, a pretty strong case can be made that San Diego State will have a successful 2004-05 season.

► San Diego State returns four starters and nine letterwinners (includes Travis Hanour who sat out last season due to injuries) from the 2003-04 season. The Aztecs return eight of their top nine scorers from last season.

► Steve Fisher is 8-for-8 in his career in taking teams to the postseason when returning at least three starters off a team he coached the previous season. Included in those eight postseason trips are six NCAA Tournament berths and an average total of 22.6 wins. The last time a Steve Fisher-coached team returned four starters was 2001-02, when Fisher guided the Aztecs to their first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1985. Twice in his career, Fisher has returned at least three starters and at least nine letterwinners off a team he coached, both seasons he has led his team to the NCAA Tournament, posting a collective 56-14 record.

► San Diego State returns 77.0 percent of points, 74.2 percent of field goals, 99.4 percent of three-point field goals, 78.0 percent of free throws, 68.6 percent of rebounds, 91.3 percent of assists, 54.9 percent of blocked shots, 85.8 percent of steals and 81.9 percent of minutes from the 2003-04 season.

► The 2004-05 SDSU roster has played 538 games and made 161 starts. Nine players on the Aztec roster have played in at least 30 college games and five players have made at least 18 college starts. Last season, the Aztec roster (not counting Travis Hanour's total because he missed the season due to injury) entered the campaign with a total of 407 games and 72 starts. In 2002-03 when San Diego State advanced to the second round of the postseason NIT, the Aztecs entered the campaign with 413 games and 152 starts of experience. In 2001-02 when the Aztecs claimed the Mountain West Conference championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament, San Diego State entered the season with 370 games and 194 starts.

► San Diego State was not that far away last season from making their third consecutive postseason appearance. Although the Aztecs finished 14-16 overall, they lost three games when they led with 59 seconds left, lost six games that were a one possession game with 25 seconds or less remaining and lost seven games when they led with 13:48 or less remaining in regulation. Part of that can be explained by the fact that SDSU had just one scholarship senior (Aerick Sanders).

► San Diego State returns three players that earned all-Mountain West Conference recognition last season. Senior guard Wesley Stokes, sophomore guard Brandon Heath and sophomore forward Marcus Slaughter are back for SDSU this season. This marks the first time in school history that three all-league performers return from an Aztec team. In fact, in the Mountain West Conference era, San Diego State has never returned two all-MWC performers the following season (2000-01 (0); 2001-02 (0); 2002-03 (1) Tony Bland; 2003-04 (0); 2004-05 (3) Brandon Heath, Marcus Slaughter, Wesley Stokes).

► San Diego State has two of the best underclassmen not only in the league, but also in the country in Brandon Heath and Marcus Slaughter. The duo was two of only four freshmen to earn all-league recognition last season. Heath and Slaughter combined to score 650 points and pull down 284 rebounds in their inaugural season.

► Another example of the stability of the Aztec program can be found by the number of players that have signed with San Diego State out of the prep ranks. Of San Diego State's 16-player roster, three are Division I transfers (Travis Hanour, Chris Manker and Wesley Stokes), two junior college players (Mohamed Camara and walk-on Jared Ines) and 11 players who signed with SDSU directly out of high school. Of the five newcomers, four signed with the Aztecs out of high school.

Captain Looks for 50th Career Win

Senior captain Chris Walton will be looking to play in his 50th career Aztec victory against UC Santa Barbara on Friday night. That would make him just the 14th player, since the 1975-76 season when complete data became available, to play in 50 career Aztec wins.

The all-time leader in the category is Leonard Allen, who helped lead San Diego State to 76 career victories from 1981-82 to 1984-85. Aerick Sanders ended his career last season with 61 wins, good for fourth place on the list.

Next on the active list is Tommy Johnson with 39 wins, followed by John Sharper with 28 wins and by Chris Manker with 26 victories.
