Making A Difference

2005-06 AZTEC BASKETBALL

At San Diego State University, community outreach is an important component of campus life. Over the years, Aztec athletes have been involved in numerous programs, including Habitat For Humanity, Special Olympics and Shop-With-A-Jock.

Visits to Children's Hospital, local elementary schools and the Ronald McDonald House are common events for SDSU student-athletes. Over the last two years, red and black jerseys from all sports have become familiar sights at local military bases and hospitals.

San Diego State University has a partnership with Encanto Elementary School in which the Aztec athletic department provides student-athlete tutors and mentors for the school. Tickets to SDSU athletic events are rewards for outstanding academic achievement by the elementary students.

Food drives, stuffed-animal drives and Christmas gift drives are annual features at San Diego State University.

"The students are providing a community service," said Bre White, who is the coordinator of SDSU's community service activities. "However, I would say that often times the student-athletes may gain the most from the experience."

The Aztec Philosophy

San Diego State's strength and conditioning program is headquartered in one of the finest facilities in the west. But the more important component of the Aztec program is the combination of innovation, philosophy, discipline and determination that drives San Diego State's blossoming strength and conditioning program.

Jon Francis serves as the team's strength and conditioning coach.

"We have a run first philosophy," Francis said. "We feature a power-oriented lifting program with an emphasis on speed and direction."
