

Contents

Part I Introduction

- 1 Prisoner of War Archaeology ..... 3
Harold Mytum and Gilly Carr

Part II Eighteenth- and Nineteenth-Century Experiences

- 2 Artifacts of Internment: Archaeology and Interpretation
at Two American Civil War Prisoner-of-War Sites..... 23
John H. Jameson
- 3 Life and Death at the Florence Stockade, American
Civil War, Prisoner of War Camp, South Carolina ..... 41
Paul G. Avery and Patrick H. Garrow
- 4 Johnson's Island US Civil War Military Prison..... 59
David R. Bush
- 5 Norman Cross: Designing and Operating an Eighteenth-Century British Prisoner of War Camp..... 75
Harold Mytum and Naomi Hall

Part III Twentieth-Century Britain and Europe: Military Prisoners of War

- 6 Excavating the World War II Prisoner of War Camp
at La Glacerie, Cherbourg, Normandy ..... 95
Robert Early
- 7 American, British, and French PoW Camps
in Normandy, France (1944–1948). Which Role for Archaeology in the Memorial Process? ..... 117
Valentin Schneider

8	Stalag Luft III: The Archaeology of an Escaper's Camp .....	129
	Peter Doyle, Jamie Pringle, and Lawrence E. Babits
9	Reinforced Concrete, Steel and Slaves: Archaeological Studies of Prisoners of World War II in Norway—The Case of Romsdal Peninsula .....	145
	Marek E. Jasinski
Part IV Twentieth-Century Britain and Europe: Civilian Prisoners of War
10	Materiality Matters: The Role of Things in Coping Strategies at Cunningham's Camp, Douglas During World War I .....	169
	Harold Mytum
11	"My Home Was the Area Around My Bed": Experiencing and Negotiating Space in Civilian Internment Camps in Germany, 1942–1945 .....	189
	Gilly Carr
12	A Tale of Two Towns: Heritage and Memory of Civilian Internment in Baden-Württemberg, Germany, 1942–2012 .....	205
	Gisela Rothenhäusler and Reinhold Adler
13	Writing and Experiencing Internment: Rethinking Paul Jacobsthal's Internment Report in the Light of New Discoveries .....	223
	Katharina Ulmschneider and Sally Crawford
Part V Twentieth-Century Japanese-American Civilian North America
14	"Life in Manzanar Where There Is a Spring Breeze": Graffiti at a World War II Japanese American Internment Camp .....	239
	Jeffery F. Burton and Mary M. Farrell
15	Japanese-Style Ornamental Community Gardens at Manzanar Relocation Center .....	271
	Ronald J. Beckwith
16	An Archaeological and Ethnographic Examination of the Acquisition, Presence, and Consumption of Saké at Camp Amache, a World War II Japanese Internment Camp .....	285
	Michelle A. Slaughter

17 Perseverance and Prejudice: Maintaining Community in Amache, Colorado's World War II Japanese Internment Camp .....	303
Dana Ogo Shew and April Elizabeth Kamp-Whittaker
Part VI Postscript
18 Prisoner of War Archaeology in an Interdisciplinary Context .....	321
Harold Mytum
Index .....	333

Prisoners of War

Archaeology, Memory, and Heritage of 19th- and 20th-Century Mass Internment

Mytum, H.; Carr, G. (Eds.)

2013, X, 342 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-4614-4165-6