

Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Introduction	1
	References	17
2	The Blood-Tie as Socio-Cultural ‘Item’: Ancestry Feared and Revered	23
2.1	Introduction	23
2.2	‘Treating’ Otherness: Fluid, Magic and Myth	26
2.3	De Facto Adoption: ‘ to take and cause to grow ’	30
2.4	Hereditary Ghosts and Beggar Spirits: Healing, ‘Sorcery’ and Ritualised Reverence	35
2.5	Conclusion	39
	References	41
3	The Blood-Tie: ‘Properly Locked Drawers’ and a ‘Doomed Quality’	45
3.1	Introduction	45
3.2	Strangest Situations	46
3.3	A False Self	53
3.4	Secrecy and Severance in Law and Policy	58
3.5	New Technologies, Traditional Identity Dilemmas	62
3.6	Conclusion	66
	References	68
4	Conceptualizing the “Right” to Avoid Origin Deprivation: International Law and Domestic Implementation	77
4.1	Introduction	77
4.2	The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child	79
4.3	UN Committee Guidance	83
4.4	Preventing Non-ancestry?	87

4.5	Non-ancestry as Loss of Cultural Heritage?	90
4.6	Enforcing Regionally Chartered Rights	95
4.7	Conclusion	99
	References	101
5	Strasbourg Jurisprudence: ‘Remembered Relatedness’	103
5.1	Introduction	103
5.2	Genetic Realities, Legal Fictions	104
5.3	Family Life: Privacy as ‘Weightier’ Right?	111
5.4	Lifelong Psychological Welfare	117
5.5	A Right to Relinquish?	125
5.6	Matters of Procedure	128
5.7	Conclusion	136
	References	138
6	Never Knowing ‘One’s Past’: Genetic Ancestry Vetoes as Discrimination?	141
6.1	Introduction	141
6.2	Vetoed Ancestry	144
6.3	Legal Loopholes	147
6.4	Identity Information ‘ for its own sake ’?	152
6.5	Surrogacy	156
6.6	Fundamental Justice? The Pratten Decision	165
6.7	Conclusion	173
	References	176
7	‘Related’ Matters in an Open Records Region: Relinquishment, Contact and Best Interests	181
7.1	Introduction	181
7.2	Opposing ‘Relinquishment’: Preventing Placement	184
7.3	Northern Ireland: The ‘Need’ for Contact Outweighed?	190
7.4	Freeing and Contact Pre-agreed	197
7.5	Contact as Best Interests?	202
7.6	Conclusion	209
	References	210
8	Blood-Tie Preservation as Paramount: Best Interests of the Child Outweighed?	215
8.1	Introduction	215
8.2	Habeas Corpus : Ireland’s ‘ Baby Anne ’ Case	216
8.3	Lack of Parental Consent to Relinquishment	222
8.4	An ‘Enclaved’ Approach to Indigenous Child Adoption	228
8.5	Conclusion	244
	References	246

- 9 Guiding Principles, Hard Cases 251
 - 9.1 Introduction 251
 - 9.2 Child Welfare and Best Interests as Paramount:
Domestic Embedding via Checklists? 252
 - 9.3 Blood-Tie Jurisprudence: Emergent Principles 258
 - 9.4 Sealed Records, ‘Clean-Break’ Severance 261
 - 9.5 A Juridical ‘Right’ to Knowable Parentage 267
 - 9.6 Adoption as Child Protection 274
 - 9.7 Blood-Tie Paramountcy 279
 - 9.8 Conclusion 283
 - References 286

- 10 Conclusion: Preventing Origin Deprivation 289
 - 10.1 Introduction 289
 - 10.2 Preventing Origin Deprivation? 292
 - 10.3 Conclusion 302
 - References 303

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-01070-0>

A Law of Blood-ties - The 'Right' to Access Genetic
Ancestry

Diver, A.

2014, XIII, 306 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-01070-0