

Contents

Prologue: On the Rise of Scientific Philosophy—An Overview.....	xv
1 The Origins of Logical Empiricism—Roots of the Vienna Circle Before the First World War	1
1.1 Mach, Boltzmann, Einstein, and the Vienna Circle	14
Part I The Vienna Circle and Logical Empiricism Between the Wars—Emergence and Banishment
2 The Vienna Circle and Logical Empiricism in the First Republic	29
2.1 The Sociocultural Framework: The “Late Enlightenment”	31
3 The Non-public Phase of the Vienna Circle 1918–1928.....	41
3.1 The Formative Years 1918–1924: Hans Hahn— The “Actual Founder of the Vienna Circle”	41
3.2 The Institutionalization of the Schlick Circle 1924–1928: Between Tractatus and Structure	44
4 The Public Phase of the Vienna Circle: From 1929 Until the “Anschluss”	59
4.1 The Internal Development of Logical Empiricism	59
4.1.1 The Schlick Circle—Overview and Documentation of Its Scientific Communication	69
4.2 The External Development of Logical Empiricism Until the “Anschluss”	146
4.2.1 The Ernst Mach Society (1928–1934)	146
4.2.2 The Manifesto The Scientific Conception of the World. The Vienna Circle (1929).....	149
4.2.3 The First International Meeting—Prague 1929	153

4.2.4	The Lectures Presented at the Ernst Mach Society 1929–1932—A Commentary on the Popularization of the Scientific World Conception	155
4.2.5	Internationalization and Emigration Since 1930.....	161
5	Karl Menger's Vienna Circle: The Mathematical Colloquium 1928–1936	195
5.1	The Mathematical Colloquium and Three Lecture Series	199
5.2	The Principle of Logical Tolerance—The Relativization of the Dichotomy of Analytic and Synthetic Propositions.....	201
5.3	Wittgenstein, Brouwer, and the Vienna Circle.....	203
5.4	Karl Menger and Kurt Gödel—The Genius as Seen by His Mentor	205
5.5	The Mathematical Colloquium and Three Lecture Series— A Survey of Scientific Communication	206
6	Wittgenstein and the Vienna Circle: Thought Style and Thought Collective.....	219
6.1	Establishing Contact—The Outsider and the Group	219
6.2	The Physicalism Dispute: Between Reception and Plagiarism.....	224
6.3	Mentalities: Philosophy and Science as Language-Games.....	228
6.4	Conversations Between Wittgenstein, Schlick, and Waismann: An Overview.....	230
6.4.1	Preliminary Remark	230
7	Heinrich Gomperz, Karl Popper, and the Vienna Circle—Between Demarcation and Family Resemblance.....	235
7.1	Heinrich Gomperz and the Vienna Circle	235
7.2	The Gomperz Circle—Discussions 1929–1931 (Fragments)	242
7.3	The Logic of Scientific Discovery in Context.....	243
7.4	Some Remarks on the ‘Popper-Legend’	250
7.5	Documentation: Popper and the Vienna Circle—Excerpt from an Interview with Sir Karl Popper (1991).....	258
8	The Philosophical and Political Pluralism of the Vienna Circle—The Example of Otto Neurath and Moritz Schlick	277
9	The Role of the Universities and Institutes of Adult Education—The Demise of Reason	285
9.1	The Vienna Circle and the University of Vienna.....	285
9.1.1	The General Intellectual and Political Situation at the Universities in Vienna	285
9.1.2	The Position of Scientific Philosophy	286

9.1.3	The Political Situation at the Universities in the First Republic.....	289
9.1.4	Hans Hahn and the Vereinigung sozialistischer Hochschullehrer (Union of Socialist University Teachers)	290
9.1.5	University Politics During the Transition to the Ständestaat	292
9.1.6	The Appointment of Moritz Schlick in 1922	293
9.1.7	Edgar Zilsel's Attempted Habilitation in 1923–24	294
9.1.8	The Appointment of Hans Eibl and Viktor Kraft in 1924	296
9.1.9	The Appointment to Heinrich Gomperz's Chair in 1934.....	297
9.1.10	The Appointment to Moritz Schlick's Chair in 1937 and the Resignation of Karl Menger.....	298
9.1.11	Moritz Schlick and the Dismissal of Friedrich Waismann	300
9.2	University, School Reform, and Adult Education.....	301
9.2.1	Survey: Courses, Seminars and Lectures of Vienna Circle Members	308
9.3	"Words Divide—Pictures Unite": Otto Neurath's "Social and Economic Museum," Picture Statistics, and Isotype.....	340
9.3.1	The "Social and Economic Museum in Vienna," 1925–1934.....	340
9.3.2	"The Vienna Method of Picture Statistics" and "Isotype"	341
9.3.3	Picture Statistics and the Political Graphic Art of Constructivism.....	343
9.3.4	The Vienna Method of Picture Statistics and School Education	345
9.3.5	Visual Education and Adult Education	347
10	Epilogue: The Exodus of Scientific Reason	353

Part II The Vienna Circle—The Biographical and Bibliographical Dimension

11	An Overview of the Vienna Circle	367
11.1	The Vienna Circle in Diagrams.....	367
11.2	Register of the Journal Erkenntnis/Journal of Unified Science I–VIII (1930–1940).....	378
11.3	Survey of Contents Schriften zur wissenschaftlichen Weltauffassung , 1928–1937	392
11.4	Survey of Contents Einheitswissenschaft	393
11.5	Survey of Contents Foundations of the Unity of Science , 1938–1951	394

12 The Vienna Circle and Its Periphery:
Biographies and Biobibliographies	397
12.1 The Inner Circle: Biography, Bibliography, Literature.....	397
12.2 The Periphery: Biography, Bibliography, Literature	498
12.3 Moritz Schlick's Doctoral Students, Disciples, and Guests in the Context of the Vienna Circle	593
12.3.1 Schlick's Doctoral Students	593
12.3.2 Moritz Schlick's Guests and Associates at the Vienna Circle.....	595
13 Documentation: The Murder of Moritz Schlick	597
13.1 Editorial Remarks	597
13.2 Documents Concerning the Murder of Moritz Schlick - The Prehistory, the Murder Trial, and the Consequences	600
Sources and Literature	633
1 Published Sources and Literature.....	633
1.1 Bibliographies on Logical Empiricism.....	633
1.2 Used and Quoted Literature.....	634
2 Unpublished Sources	666
3 Personal Conversations and Interviews	667
Photo and Illustration Credits	669
Index of Names	671

The Vienna Circle

Studies in the Origins, Development, and Influence of Logical Empiricism

Stadler, F.

2015, XXXI, 681 p. 125 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-16560-8