Benefits

The underwriter of this policy is The Hollard Life Assurance Company Ltd (Hollard), a Licensed Life insurer and authorised Financial Services Provider. Hollard is responsible for providing these benefits. The cover will start as soon as your application has been completed, unless you have selected a start date in the future. Your policy will continue as long as you continue to pay premiums, or until your death. Please refer to your Policy Schedule to see the type and level of cover you have selected.

The underwriter of this policy is The Hollard Life Assurance Company Ltd (Hollard), a Licensed Life insurer and authorised Financial Services Provider. Hollard is responsible for providing these benefits.

The cover will start as soon as your application has been completed, unless you have selected a start date in the future. Your policy will continue as long as you continue to pay premiums, or until your death.

Payout

A lump sum is paid if any of the lives covered under the benefit die. The amount payable for each person covered can be different, and the amounts selected are shown in your policy schedule. Cover will increase by 5% on each policy anniversary.

Adding family members

Additional family members can be added to the funeral benefit after the policy has been purchased. You will need to pay an additional premium for each additional person covered.

Who can be covered?

The list of family members who can be covered under the funeral benefit is given below, along with a definition of what this relationship means. It is very important that the relationship selected is accurate. In the event of a claim Simply may verify that the person covered is related to the main insured person or their spouse as stated. We reserve the right to decline the claim if they are not.

First Spouse	the main insured person's legal or common law spouse (including via traditional marriage).
Children	these must be the main insured person's biological (or legally adopted) children.
Additional Spouse	if the main insured person has multiple spouses.
Parents	these must be the main insured person's biological (or legally adoptive) mother and/or father.
Siblings	these must be the biological (or legally adopted) children of one or both of the main insured person's parents.
Aunts and Uncles	these must be the sibling of one of the main insured person's parents, or legally married to the sibling of one of their parents.
Nieces and Nephews	these must be the children of main insured person's sibling.
First Cousins	these must be the children of main insured person's aunt or uncle.
Grandparents	these must be the parents of main insured person's parents.

- Great Grandparents these must be the parents of main insured person's grandparents.
Grandchildren these must be the children of main insured person's own children.
Great Grandchildren these must be the children of main insured person's own grandchildren.

The relationship must be biological or as a result of a legal adoption process.

The relationship can also be via marriage, so it can be the main insured person's relation, or their spouse's relation, where the same definitions apply as above. Their step-children and step-parents can also be covered.

You cannot cover your ex-spouse, or family members of your ex-spouse. However, if you become divorced from your spouse after their cover has begun, they can remain on the policy.

If you cover children who are under the age of 21 at the start of the policy, they will automatically remain covered after they turn 21, unless you choose to remove them from the policy.

Only people who are under the age of 70 can be added to the policy, except in the case of parents, grandparents and great grandparents, who can be added as long as they are under the age of 80 (the maximum entry age).

Where the main insured person and/or their spouse are covered under this benefit, a R5,000 benefit will also be paid for a stillborn baby born to the main insured person or their spouse (after 26 weeks of pregnancy).

Tax

You or your beneficiaries will not need to pay tax on the benefits paid on this policy. However, the premiums you pay are also not tax deductible.

Waiting period

The waiting period refers to the 6-month period directly after you've taken out the policy, when cover is limited to claims resulting from accidental causes only. After the waiting period, claims resulting from both accidental and natural causes will be paid. If you increase cover on an existing benefit or add a benefit to an existing policy (including covering a new family member under the funeral benefit), a new waiting period will apply on the additional cover or new benefits. As such, these additional benefits will be limited to accidental-only until they have been in force for at least 6 months. This will not affect the waiting period on existing benefits.

What if a claim is submitted during the waiting period?

Death related to accidental causes are covered during the waiting period. Death from natural causes are not.

What happens to the premiums during the waiting period?

Premiums will not be refunded if a claim is declined during the waiting period.

Waiving the waiting period

If this Simply policy is replacing an existing funeral benefit, it is possible that the waiting period on the Funeral Cover will be waived (or adjusted if the policies being replaced are less than 6 months old). In that case funeral benefits would be paid during the waiting period even if the cause of death is natural causes.

There are several conditions applicable:

- Where the cancelled policies are less than 6 months old, the waiting period will only be reduced by the period for which the old policies have been in force.
- The waiting period will only be waived for the people who were covered under the old policies, and only for the amount of cover that each person had under the old policies. Where you add new family members to the benefit, or you choose more cover than they had before, the waiting period will not be waived for the new insured people, or for the extra cover added.
- The policies replaced must be from licensed insurance companies recognised by the Prudential Authority.
- The policy must have been cancelled within the last 2 months, or if it is still active, it must be cancelled as soon as possible.
- Cancelled policies cannot be reinstated later.

You must have requested to have the waiting period waived during your application process and accepted these conditions. If you were eligible, no waiting period will be shown on your policy schedule.

These details may be checked at claims stage, and if they cannot be proved, the waiting period may still be applied, and claims due to natural causes will not be paid.

Beneficiaries

Your beneficiary is the person who receives the lump sum if a claim is approved for payment. You can change or add a beneficiary at any time – just let us know. If you have not chosen a beneficiary, the payout goes into your estate. If the beneficiary is a minor (younger than 18), the payout goes to their guardian for the minor's benefit. If the claim is a result of your death, and your nominated beneficiary is deceased, their share of the benefit will be paid into your estate.

You will be the beneficiary for any family members covered under the funeral benefit.

Benefits can only be paid into a South African bank account.

Premiums

Your monthly premium

Your premiums are payable monthly in advance. Your premiums increase by 10% every year on the policy anniversary. For an understanding of how your premiums will increase over time, see your Policy Schedule.

You agree that you will pay the premium on the specified date(s) and authorise Hollard to debit your bank account using the bank account information provided in your application. Premiums will be payable monthly in advance from the start date of your policy, and your obligation to pay a monthly premium will continue as long as your policy is in effect. We will attempt to deduct your premium on the debit order date you've selected, but we may track your bank account and deduct on another day. The Debit Order transaction will include the short code "SIMPLYSURE", which will reflect on your bank statement.

Is my premium guaranteed?

Your premium is guaranteed not to change for the first year of your policy. In addition to the 10% premium increase that automatically applies every year, we will assess the reality against the assumptions we made when we priced the product (for instance relating to claims experience and the cost of providing cover) every year. We will change the premium when the reality differs from the assumptions we made. We may review and change the premium at any time (even before the end of the year) where there are changes in law. We will give you at least 31 days' notice before the premium change is implemented.

What if you miss a payment?

There is a 30-day grace period if you fail to pay a premium. This means the insured persons will still be covered until the following premium is due. If that payment also fails, the cover will become inactive, and any claims received after this point would not be paid. See below for rules on reactivation.

If the cover is active but you are behind in your premium payments at the time of a claim, we will recover any arrears from the benefit payable. If there is a valid claim before any premium has been paid, a month's premium will be recovered from the benefit payable.

What if your cover has stopped, but you want to reactivate it?

If your policy is cancelled because you haven't paid the last premium, but you don't want to lose the policy, you can restart it. This is called a reinstatement. Simply will continue to try to contact you, and to deduct the premium due for a period after your cover has become inactive. However, after a few attempts, we will give up and the policy will be cancelled. You will receive a notification of this cancellation.

You will still be able to contact us, pay a premium and restart the cover, as long as it has not been more than 4 months since you last paid a premium. You can reinstate your policy in this way a maximum of 5 times. If you do not use this option you will need to take out a brand new policy, potentially at a different premium. New medical questions will also be asked, and a new waiting period will apply.

Claims

The claims process

We need to be informed within 180 days of the insured person's death. We will help you or your beneficiaries through the process when the time comes. You should make sure your loved ones know that you have taken out this policy. Tell them how to contact us if they ever need to claim.

The information provided at the time of application is critical in assessing the risk associated with your policy. The insurer relies on the information provided by the policyholder and/or insured persons to determine whether the insured persons were eligible for cover, the premium that should be charged, and terms of the cover provided.

If any of the information provided is inaccurate, this will impact the validity of the policy and future claims. In the event of a claim, we will review the information provided during the application process to ensure that it was accurate. If any non-disclosure or misrepresentation is found that would have impacted the initial decision to offer cover, the claim may be declined, or benefits reduced. If, after Hollard pays any claim, Hollard finds that it was based on false or incomplete information, all claim payments must be refunded to them.

If the claim is declined by Hollard, the claimant has 90 days from when they are notified of this to make representation to Hollard so that they may review this decision. If the dispute is not resolved, then the claimant has 3 years from the original letter of rejection to institute legal action against Hollard by serving summons on it, failing which Hollard is no longer liable for the claim.

Reasons a claim can't be paid

Unfortunately, no benefit can be paid if the death or injury is caused by one of the following:

- Participation in any terrorist activity, riot, civil commotion, rebellion or war.
- Radioactivity or nuclear explosion.
- Wilful and material violation of any criminal law.
- Driving while the concentration of alcohol in your blood exceeds the legal limit.
- Intentional intake of drugs, narcotics or medication, unless prescribed by a registered medical practitioner and used as prescribed.
- Suicide or deliberate self-injury within 1 year of starting the policy.
- Refusal of treatment recommended by a registered medical practitioner.
- Hazardous pursuits. These are unusually dangerous activities that the insured person engages in regularly, not occasionally. Examples include, but aren't limited to: big game hunting, boxing, mixed martial arts, outdoor rock climbing, skydiving, motor and boat racing, as well as white water rafting.

You must also inform Simply should you or any covered family member spend more than 90 days outside of South Africa within a calendar year. We reserve the right to discontinue your cover if this is the case.

GLOSSARY

Life insurance is full of strange language. Hopefully these definitions will help :)

Accidental death or disability

Death caused by a sudden and unexpected event that happens at a clear time and place. An accident is usually something violent, external and outside your control that happens to the insured person.

Beneficiary

If the insured person dies or is disabled, the beneficiary is the person who receives the lump sum payment.

Cooling-off period

A 31-day window after the policyholder takes out the policy, during which the policy can be cancelled with a full refund of premiums.

Deferred period

This is the period between when an event happens and when benefits start being paid. So, for example, if you are disabled, there will be a short period between when we are notified, and when the payout takes place. This is to confirm that they will not recover before paying.

Exclusions

These are situations or causes of claims where the cover cannot be paid out. They are explained in a section above called "REASONS A CLAIM CAN'T BE PAID".

Grace period

If you fail to pay a premium, the insured lives will remain covered for another 30 days ("the Grace Period"). If your next payment also fails, the cover will lapse (end) after those 30 days. We may continue to attempt to collect a premium for a further month, and if successful the cover will automatically be reactivated.

Hazardous pursuits

These are unusually dangerous activities that the insured person engages in regularly, not occasionally. Examples include, but aren't limited to: big game hunting, boxing, mixed martial arts, outdoor rock climbing, skydiving, motor and boat racing, as well as white water rafting.

Insured person

The person whose life is covered by the policy. When the insured person dies or is disabled, a lump sum is paid out. There can be multiple insured persons covered under a Simply Funeral benefit.

Lump sum

A lump sum is the total amount of cover paid out in one payment, rather than the cover being paid out over time in smaller regular payments.

Natural causes

Causes of death like disease and old age, rather than those related to violence or an accident.

Policyholder

The person who takes out the policy and who is responsible for paying the monthly premium.

Waiting period

This is the period directly after you've taken out the policy - you need to pay premiums, but the cover is limited until the Waiting Period is over. For more details of the cover during the Waiting Period, please see earlier in this document.

Underwriter

This is the company who will be responsible for paying any claims that are made. They are also referred to as the insurer in this document.
