

Inverted Commas for Direct Speech

Warm-up

Inverted Commas

There are two places where inverted commas are needed when writing direct speech:

“What’s the matter, Dina?” said Sid.

Inverted Commas

Inverted Commas

You need to open your inverted commas with a “ (66) before the first word which is being spoken.

You need to close your inverted commas with a ” (99) after the last word which is being spoken.

Imagine that inverted commas are like hands;
They hold within them only the words which are being spoken.

“What’s the matter, Dina?”

said Sid.

Punctuation

There are two places where other forms of punctuation are needed when writing direct speech:

“What’s the matter, Dina?” said Sid.

You need to end the speaking with:

- a comma
- a question mark, if it is a question.
- an exclamation mark, if it is an exclamation.

You will need to finish your sentence with a full stop after the reporting clause.

Examples of other punctuation in direct speech are:

“How exciting it is!” exclaimed Sarah.

“I don’t know what to do,” said Sayeed.

Reporting Clauses

After the speech itself, a reporting clause gives a little bit of information about who is speaking and how it was said.

“What’s the matter, Dina?” said Sid.

Reporting Clauses

In this case, Sid is speaking.

If Sid said it in a different way,
you could change ‘said’ to...

“What’s the matter, Dina?” asked Sid.

“What’s the matter, Dina?” whispered Sid.

“What’s the matter, Dina?” uttered Sid.

“What’s the matter, Dina?” shouted Sid.

Example Answers

How did you do? Did you remember the inverted commas, punctuation and reporting clause?

"Sunil, can you come and help me send an email?" shouted Aminah.

"What are your plans for tonight?" asked Lisa.
"I don't really have any," replied Janine.
"Do you fancy going out for a meal?" said Alex.

"Please could you take those to Jessica's classroom?" asked Mr Miller.
"No problem, sir," replied Max.

It does not matter if you used said, asked, exclaimed or any other reporting verb – just don't forget to mix it up a bit in your work. The same reporting verb too many times can get boring.
