

Harry Ferguson Invention Activity

Harry worked on a farm when he was younger and it inspired him to invent something to make farming life easier. His three-point linkage system meant that farmers could connect other machinery and implements to their tractors much more quickly and safely.

Can you design an invention to make your life easier?

It could be your school life, e.g. a pencil case that incorporates a calculator; your home life, e.g. a bed-making machine; or something that could help you in a hobby or pastime, e.g. a football boot cleaner.

Draw your design in the box. Don't forget to label it!
