Instructions

Step 1

Open up your sock and fold the top around a circular piece of cardboard. (A sticky tape roll could also be used.)

Step 2

Using a scoop, fill the sock with rice from the toe section to the ankle. Be careful not to spill the rice!

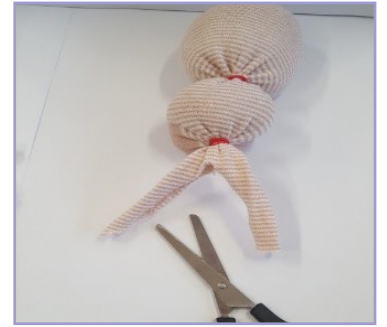

Step 3

Use a piece of string or an elastic band and tie the top of the sock. You will need to tie two sections. One for the rabbit's tummy and one for the rabbit's head.

Step 4

Next, use the scissors to cut two rabbit ear shapes into the material above where you have tied the sock with the elastic band/string.

Step 5

Add a nice fluffy tail to the back of the rabbit using a pom-pom. Make sure you use plenty of glue so that it doesn't fall off.

Step 6

Other details can now be added using glue or adhesive. A marker could be used for the rabbit's nose or even whiskers!
