

Pre-School Education Resources

Pre-School Education Resources

As parents, you are your child's first and most important educator. Playing, reading and talking to your child will greatly increase your child's language skills and how well they do at school.

The earlier we begin these activities with our children the better the results and the longer they will last. This area is dedicated to providing parents with lots of ideas and suggestions for home learning with your pre-school child. The links below will take you to a range of different websites that will provide information to support learning at home.

General Information

Learning Through Play

Emotional Health & Well Being

Starting school

Special Educational Needs