More than one-half of our work is for public entities and we currently serve the legal needs of over 200 governmental entities. We are frequent lecturers, speakers, and teachers to numerous associations and clients.

Our public lawyers have substantial experience as general and special counsel for special districts, cities, towns, counties, and other public agencies. The biographies of all of our lawyers, with descriptions of their expertise and experience, can be found on our website at www.bwslaw.com.

Experience Working for APCDs

We have not previously served as Legal Counsel for an APCD. However, as independent public agencies, Air Pollution Control Districts are subject to many of the same laws and regulations as the counties, cities, and special districts that the Districts regulate. As described in the previous section, through our extensive work counseling public entities, we are familiar with these traditional areas of public law. In particular, our day-to-day practice involves advising clients on achieving compliance with open meeting laws (Brown Act), transparency laws (Public Records Act, Political Reform Act), and conflicts of interest regulations (FPPC regulations, Government Code § 1090, common law) as well as legal advice regarding the California Environmental Quality Act ("CEQA"), environmental issues, personnel and employment laws, intergovernmental relations, real estate, real property tax, special taxes and assessments, land development, planning and zoning laws, litigation, and other legal issues.

CEQA

Our public law attorneys have extensive CEQA/NEPA experience and work daily on complex projects that address myriad zoning, environmental, transportation, economic, cultural, and community issues.

Burke regularly assists public agencies with the preparation and defense of environmental documents prepared pursuant to both CEQA and NEPA. Burke deals with CEQA and NEPA issues on a daily basis and provides regular legal advice, opinions and comments regarding all aspects of the process, including compliance and adequacy of documents.

As your counsel, we would work with your staff and others deemed appropriate to help determine the best way to proceed with CEQA/NEPA compliance to meet your goals on any particular project.

Brown Act

We work closely with staff in the preparation of agendas and agenda packets, including reviewing agenda descriptions for open and closed session items and preparing and reviewing agenda reports prepared by staff. We regularly participate in council and board meetings and have substantial experience in advising public clients on meeting procedures, including those involving Robert's Rules of Order and similar parliamentary systems. Members of the firm serve on the Brown Act Committee for the League of California Cities and have been editors and contributors to the Municipal Law Handbook chapter covering the Brown Act.

Ethics and Conflicts of Interest

Burke has placed heavy emphasis on familiarity with California's conflict of interest laws, as well as the regulations promulgated by the FPPC.

Burke attorneys have served as editors and contributors to the League's Municipal Law Handbook on conflict issues, as well as the Institute for Local Government's public ethics materials. Members of the firm have sought advice letters from the FPPC as well as provided advocacy in defense of public officials on conflict issues. Members of our Government Ethics & Transparency Team frequently provide AB 1234 training as well as publish materials on public agency ethics.

Public Records Act

We have extensive experience assisting public agencies in responding to Public Records Act requests. Our attorneys have advised clients on the best practices for dealing with everything from routine to complex and voluminous requests. They are frequent speakers on this topic and have presented seminars using facts from real cases to educate participants about the timing of responses and production of records, realistically evaluating potential exemptions and privileges, standards for production and organizing the production of records, and strategies to deal with problematic or serial requesters.

Employment Law

Burke maintains a robust labor and employment practice with over thirty attorneys who advise and litigate all manner of labor and employment issues. We provide legal services to our municipal clients in the related fields of personnel administration, labor relations, grievance proceedings, the defense of wrongful termination and discrimination claims, disability retirement matters, and employee training, as well as advice on the management and protection of confidential personnel files.

Our Labor and Employment Practice Group are second to none when it comes to personnel management matters, development of personnel rules and regulations, processing of disciplinary matters, and negotiating with bargaining units. Our attorneys are well-respected statewide authorities on labor and employment law, and highly regarded for their excellence in representing public employers in collective bargaining, arbitrations, and other administrative procedures. An integral part of our practice is counseling employers on cost-effective solutions to often complex legal obligations, with the goal of avoiding litigation. Burke attorneys regularly advise public and private entities on employment law issues, participate in personnel investigations, and provide training and resource materials to ensure compliance with statutory mandates.

Intergovernmental Relations

The firm has a history of establishing and working with various governmental entities to assist in advancing the interests of our clients. We have established councils of governments, served as general counsel to COGs, as well as helped form other JPAs and cooperative or non-profit bodies to assist our city clients. We have represented our clients before LAFCOs, COGs, Transit Authorities, Regional Water Quality Control Boards, Port Authorities, Watershed Conservation Authorities, and similar regional bodies.

Real Estate

Burke attorneys regularly represent public agencies throughout California in connection with real estate matters, including land use, entitlements, zoning and permitting matters; due diligence, title and survey review; negotiation and drafting of retail and commercial leases, licenses, easement agreements, exclusive negotiating agreements, purchase and sale agreements, ground leases, statutory development agreements, and disposition and development agreements; and matters relating to hazardous materials/Brownfields remediation, the federal contracting/BRAC process, condemnation, and public contracting and construction.

We successfully handle jury trials, court trials, administrative hearings, arbitrations, mediations, and appeals in federal court, state court, and before public agencies. Burke provides a full range of litigation services whether the issue is tort liability, employment, environmental, land use, eminent domain, condemnation, municipal finance, writ of mandate, or complex litigation services. We are experienced in state court and federal court, at both the trial, appellate, and Supreme Court levels.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Before representation is undertaken by the firm for each new client and each additional matter for an existing client, the responsible partner must perform a conflict check and obtain the approval of the Managing Partner. The conflict check consists of a search through Burke's computerized database of billing records, client matter lists, and related names/parties to identify potential conflicts. This database is regularly and routinely updated. The responsible partner is provided with the results of this search and must then review and follow up on each potential conflict listed to determine whether a conflict has arisen under the Rules of Professional Conduct and under any special conflict rules imposed by the client. The matter is then discussed with and approved by the Managing Partner.

If a potential conflict of interest arises in Burke's representation of two clients and if such conflict is only speculative or minor, the firm shall seek waivers from each client with regard to such representation. However, if real conflicts exist, Burke will withdraw from representing either client in the matter and assist each in obtaining outside special counsel.

We are pleased to note that our search of our database for Burke clients in the County of San Luis Obispo resulted in no known conflicts of interest.

Brian Pierik has served as the City Attorney for the City of Atascadero since November 2009. If an issue should arise between the SLOAPCD and the City of Atascadero, then we would proceed in the manner we describe above.

Clients Located in San Luis Obispo County

In past years, Burke has represented the City of San Luis Obispo (billboard matter, first amendment issue, public works case), the City of Morro Bay (labor matter), and the City of Arroyo Grande (labor matter).
