CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

2021 CED-IADR/NOF Oral Health Research Congress

As the largest multi-disciplinary oral health research association in Europe, the Continental European Division (CED-IADR) of the International Association for Dental Research, together with the Scandinavian Division (NOF), is looking forward to welcoming you at the 2021 CED-IADR/NOF Oral Health Research congress in Brussels, Belgium. This two-and-half-day event will present you with a broad scientific programme; state-of-the-art symposia, excellent keynote lectures, oral and poster presentations and workshops.

Due to the ongoing pandemic, the CED-IADR/NOF Organising Committee has opted for a hybrid congress set-up, meaning that you are welcome to join us in Brussels or virtually. This way we hope to be inclusive towards those who are unable to attend the congress physically. More information about the congress can be found on www.ced-iadr2021.com.

HIGHLIGHTS

- ▶ Symposia with key-opinion leaders on various hot topics in the scientific field.
- ▶ Free research workshops every morning (only for in-person participants).
- ▶ Various scientific competitions, awards and grants for young researchers.
- ▶ Special 'clinical case' poster presentation platform for clinicians.
- ▶ 'YOUNG CED-IADR' symposium with speakers under the age of 35.
- ▶ All abstracts accepted for poster presentation are considered for the Best Poster Award sponsored by the MDPI Applied Sciences Open Access Journal.
