

SIP YOUR WAY TO
youthful skin

Why do I need to take Collagen?

Collagen is the most abundant protein in your body that aids in the production of nearly everything from your bones to your skin.

---

It's an essential component of connective tissue that provides strength, structure and resilience throughout your body.

---

Your body naturally produces collagen every day, but production gradually declines as we age.

---

On the outside, the signs of diminished collagen production can show up as fine lines, wrinkles and sagging skin.

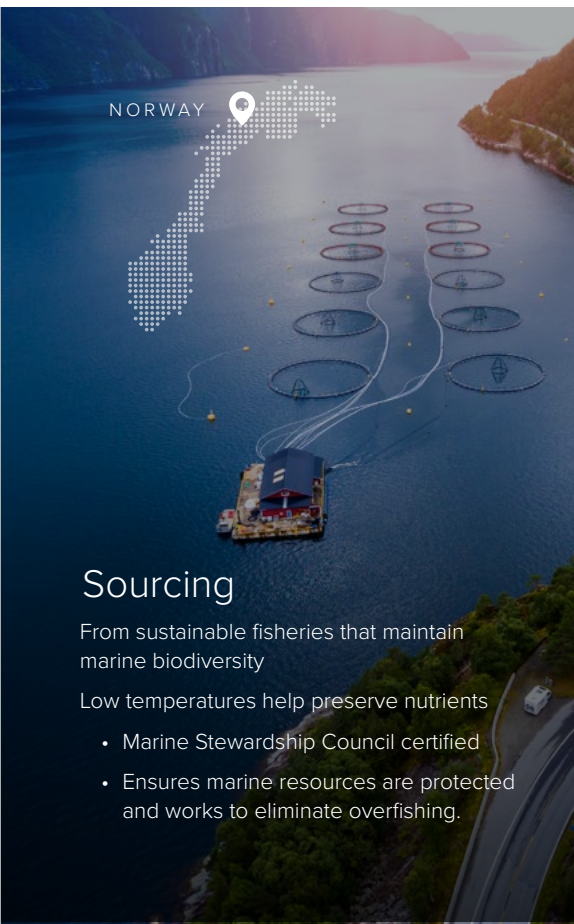

---

Reasons to try Marine Collagen

Marine collagen peptides are the closest match to the naturally occurring collagen peptides found in humans, making it ideal for nourishing the skin and improving skin elasticity.

Marine collagen is rich in type I — The most predominant collagen type in the body and the major structural component in skin, bone, tendons and connective tissues.
