"There is a shortage of sports facilities and corresponding offers of affordable physical activity. The solution could be to renovate lost vertical façades and make them suitable for physical activity."

The activity wall is a range of wall profiles that allow you to create a wide variety of accessible exercise possibilities. They are multifunctional, compact urban elements that provide added value at various locations: on inside and outside walls of sports complexes, school and commercial buildings and homes, on concrete elements at car parks and skate parks, under bridges and on blind walls in city centres, at hospitals and facilities for the elderly, fitness centres or physiotherapy practices, etc.
