Storytelling Reflections

- ❑ We are able to connect our identity to storytelling
- ❑ Kids need to be empowered to become storytellers instead of advice givers.
- ❑ Adults can share with their students how they are also on this journey to explore their identity too.
- ❑ Students are able to put words to their thoughts/feelings and speak it into reality.

Podcasting Reflections

- ❑ Verbal Journalism is another way to describe podcasting.
- ❑ There are so many ways for kids to share their voice.
 - ❑ Video Broadcast
 - ❑ Podcast

- ❑ Questions to ask yourself when beginning to podcast
 - ❑ What is your purpose?
 - ❑ Where will you record?
 - ❑ How will you record?
 - ❑ How will you make sure all your kids are engaged?
 - ❑ What do you want to teach your peers? (Connect to an authentic audience)
- ❑ You learn in reflection.
- ❑ Have students listen to other podcasts.

Soundtrap

- ❑ All Hands on Deck! Teachers are also able to see what students are doing
- ❑ You are able to set privacy settings to keep your students safe.
- ❑ Students were able to create audio files.

- ❑ "Just Hit Record!" Allow students to explore the tool and build digital literacy skills.
- ❑ Never stop your recording until the person leaves the room. Allow your participants to know that the recording will continuously run for the whole time.

Podcasting Tips

- ❑ Share your podcast globally (with parent permission)
- ❑ Soundcloud for podcast
- ❑ Don't shy away from courageous conversations. Lead and support your students.
- ❑ Differentiate for your students. Make sure your students are working at their individual targeted skill level.

I don't have enough time...

- ❑ It takes time...
- ❑ Create a rubric to integrate multiple concepts (more bang for your buck)
- ❑ See where you can integrate content
