panda

A photograph of two red pandas perched on a thick, horizontal tree branch. The panda in the foreground is on the left, facing left and eating bamboo. Its body is a mix of reddish-brown and white fur, with a long, bushy tail. The second panda is further down the branch to the right, also eating bamboo. The background consists of grey rocks and thin, bare tree branches. In the foreground, there are some green bamboo leaves and branches, some of which are out of focus.
