

A collection of ten illustrations representing the plagues of Egypt. From left to right: a cluster of green frogs; a mummy in a brown and yellow striped shroud; Moses, a man with a white beard and head covering, holding a wooden staff; a group of brown locusts; a group of small black flies; a red, conical shape representing a plague of blood; a dead brown cow lying on its side; and a person's arm with several red, circular sores. The background is a light gray with faint, repeating circular patterns.

Mozes

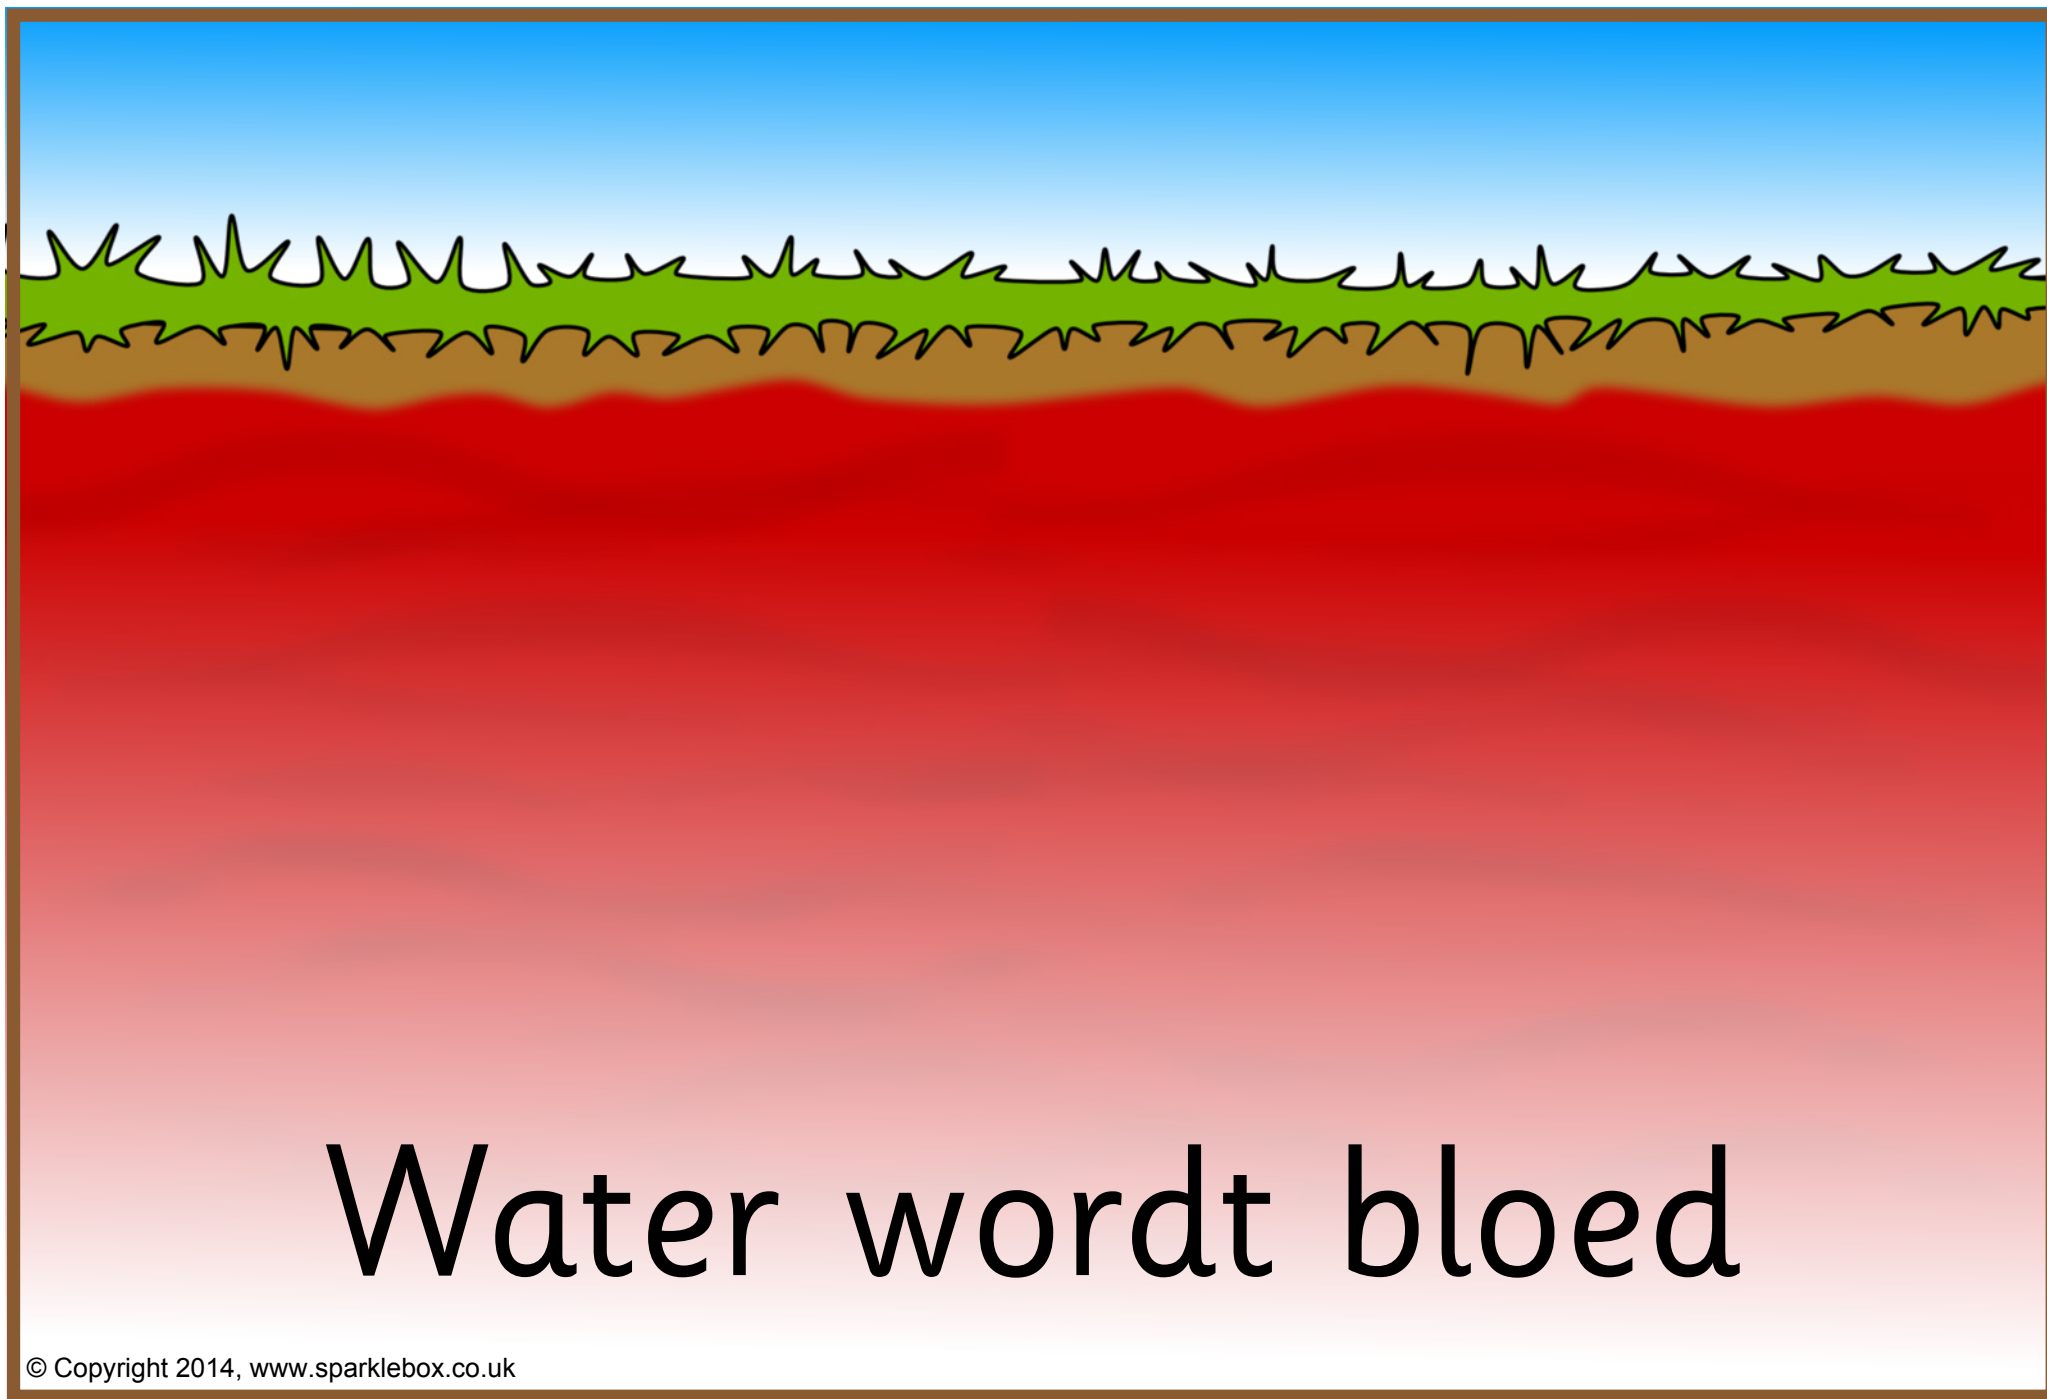

Brandende braamstruik

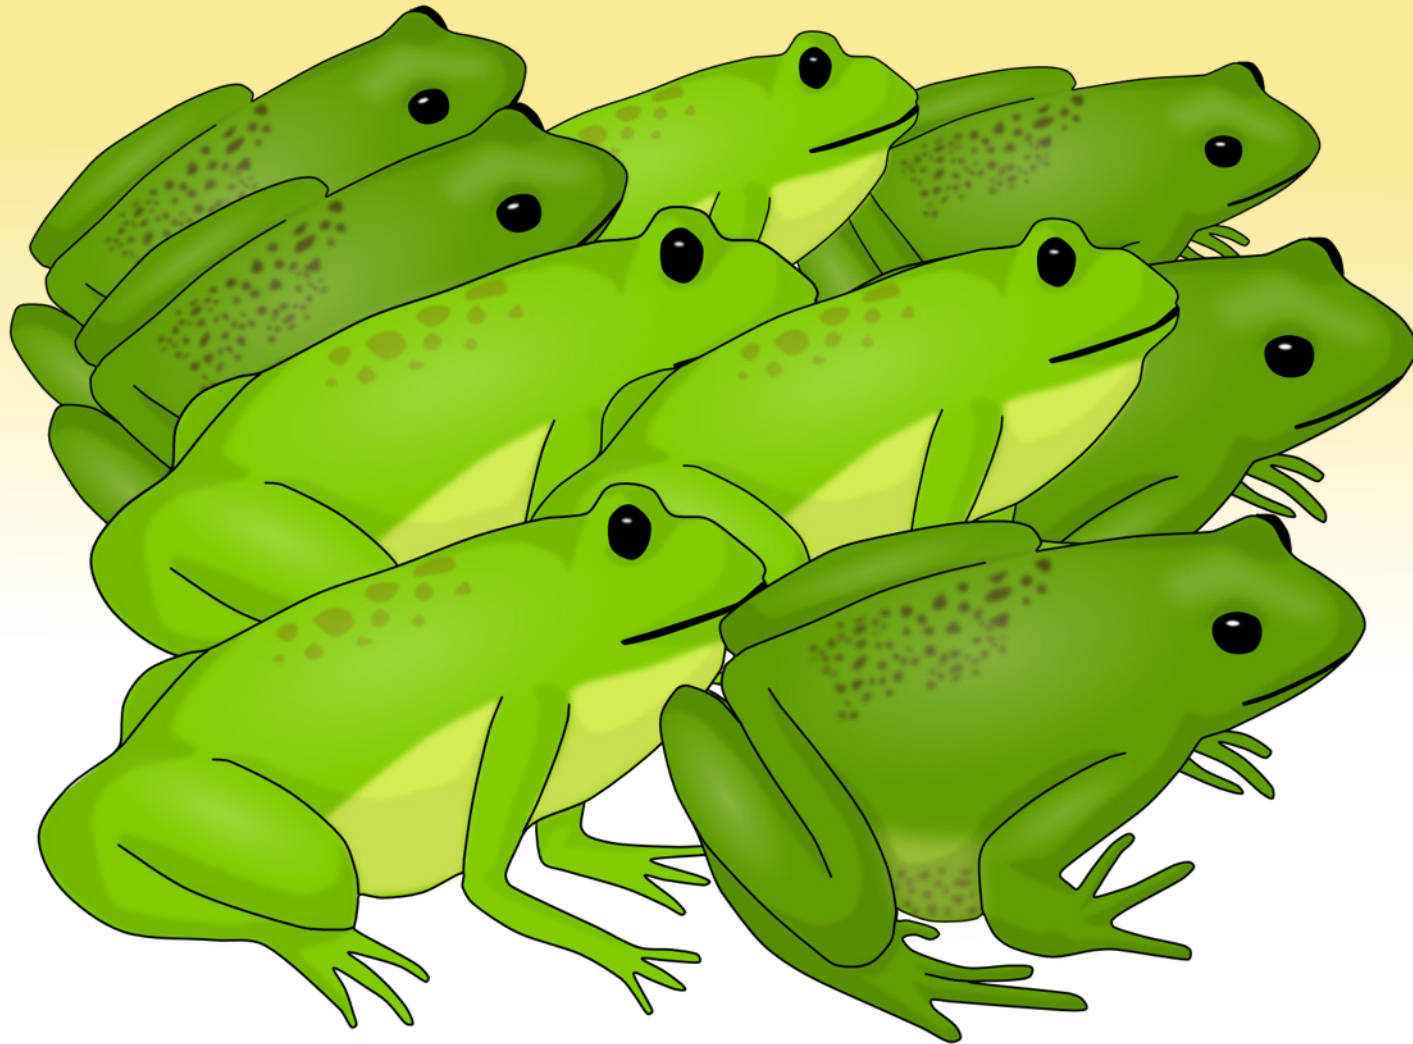

Aaron

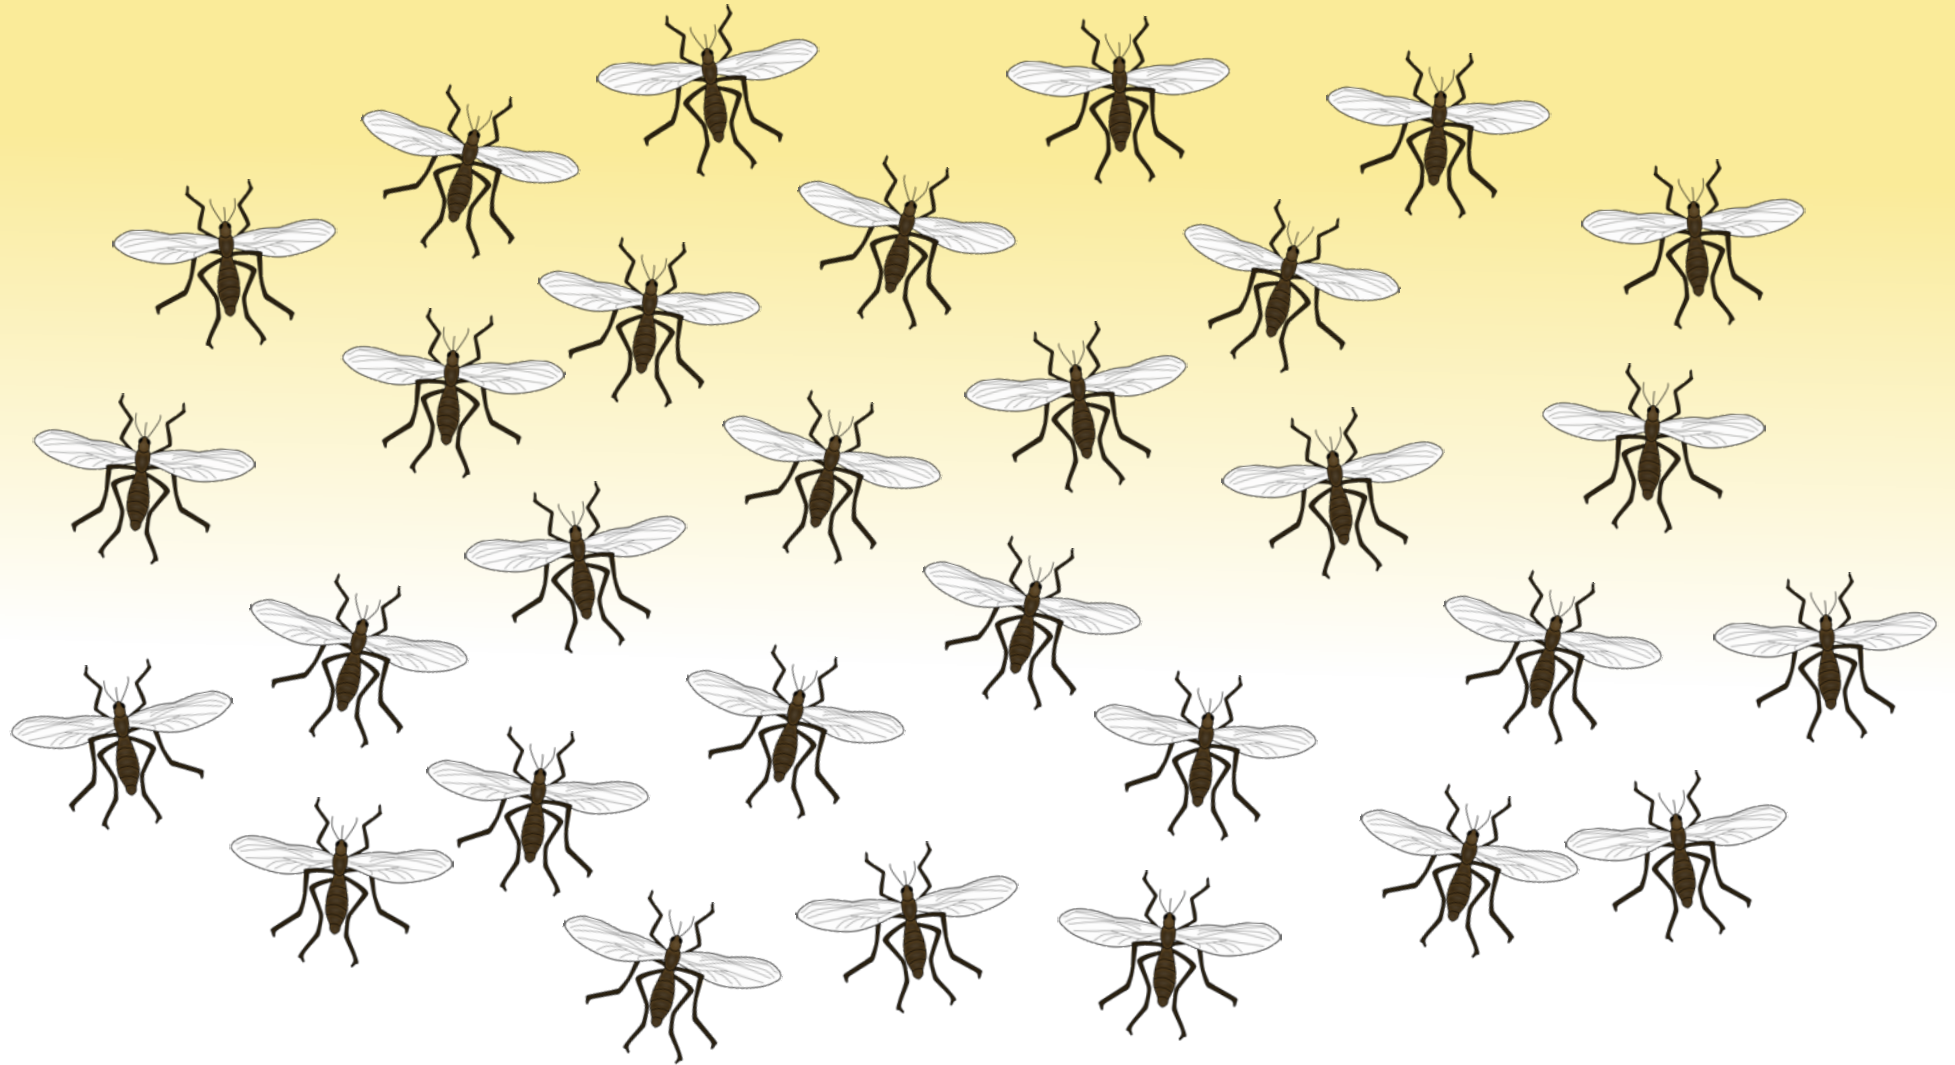

Farao

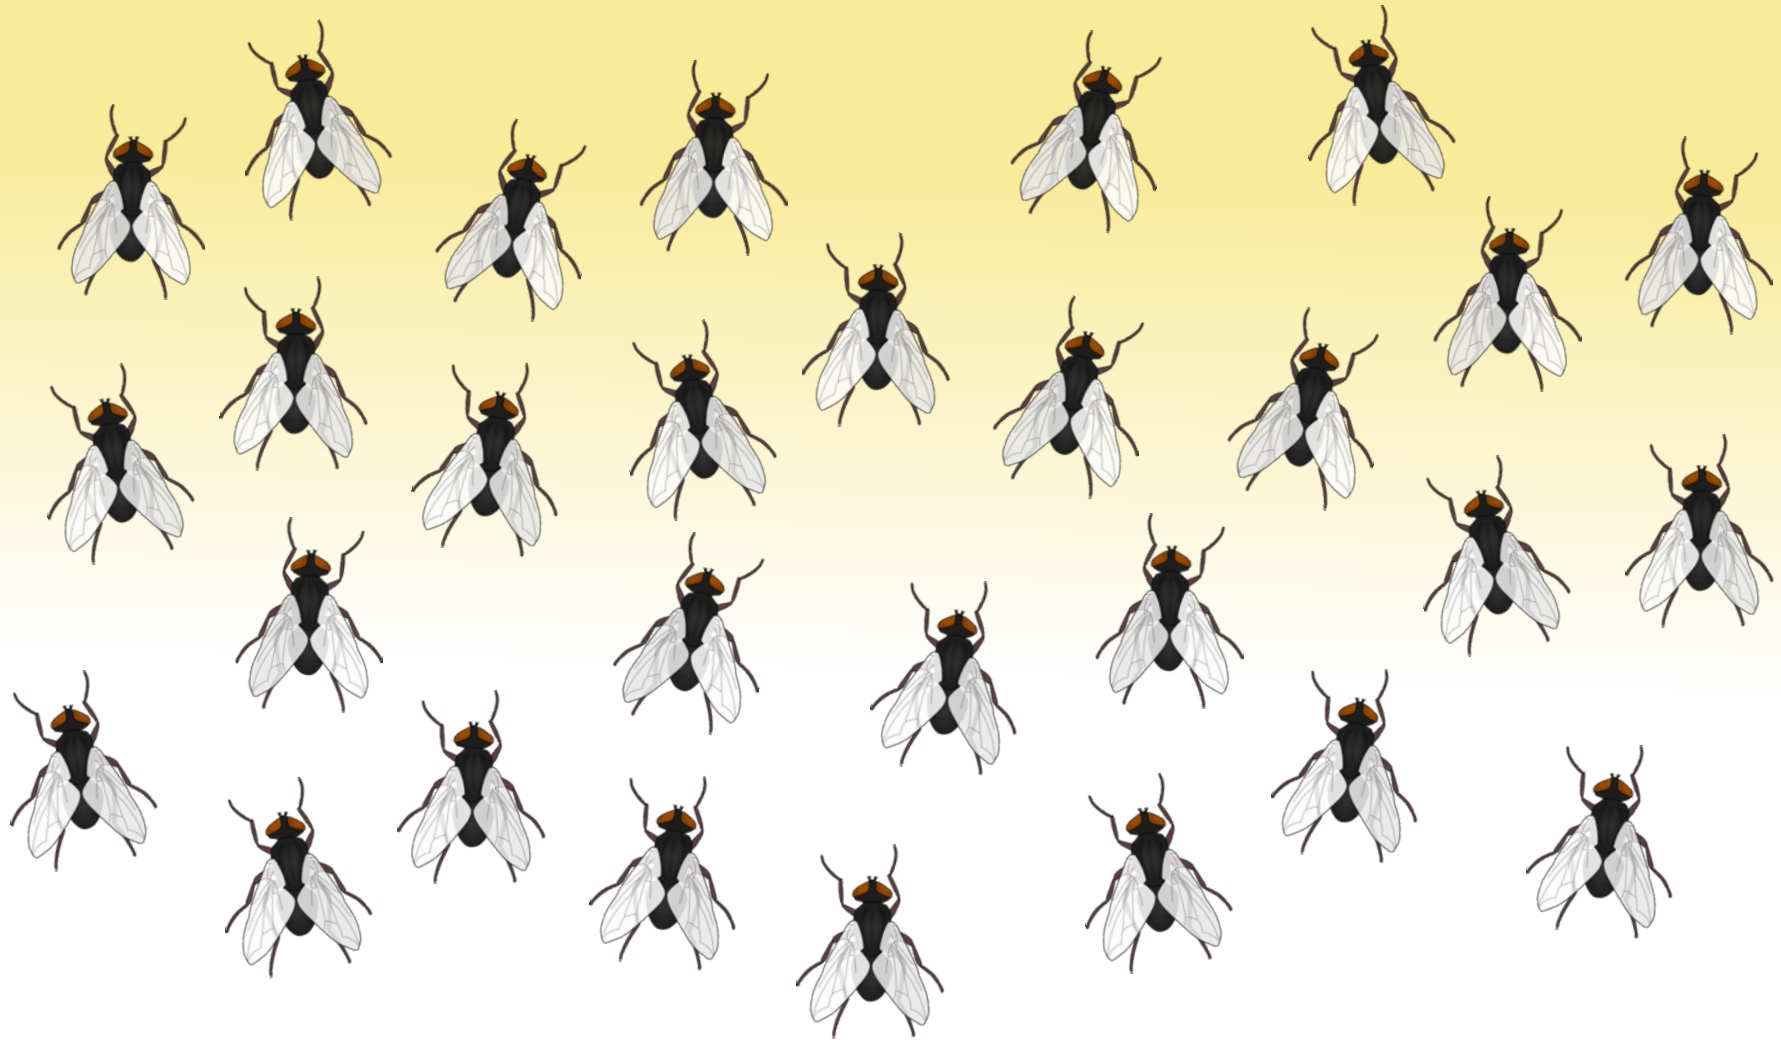

Water wordt bloed

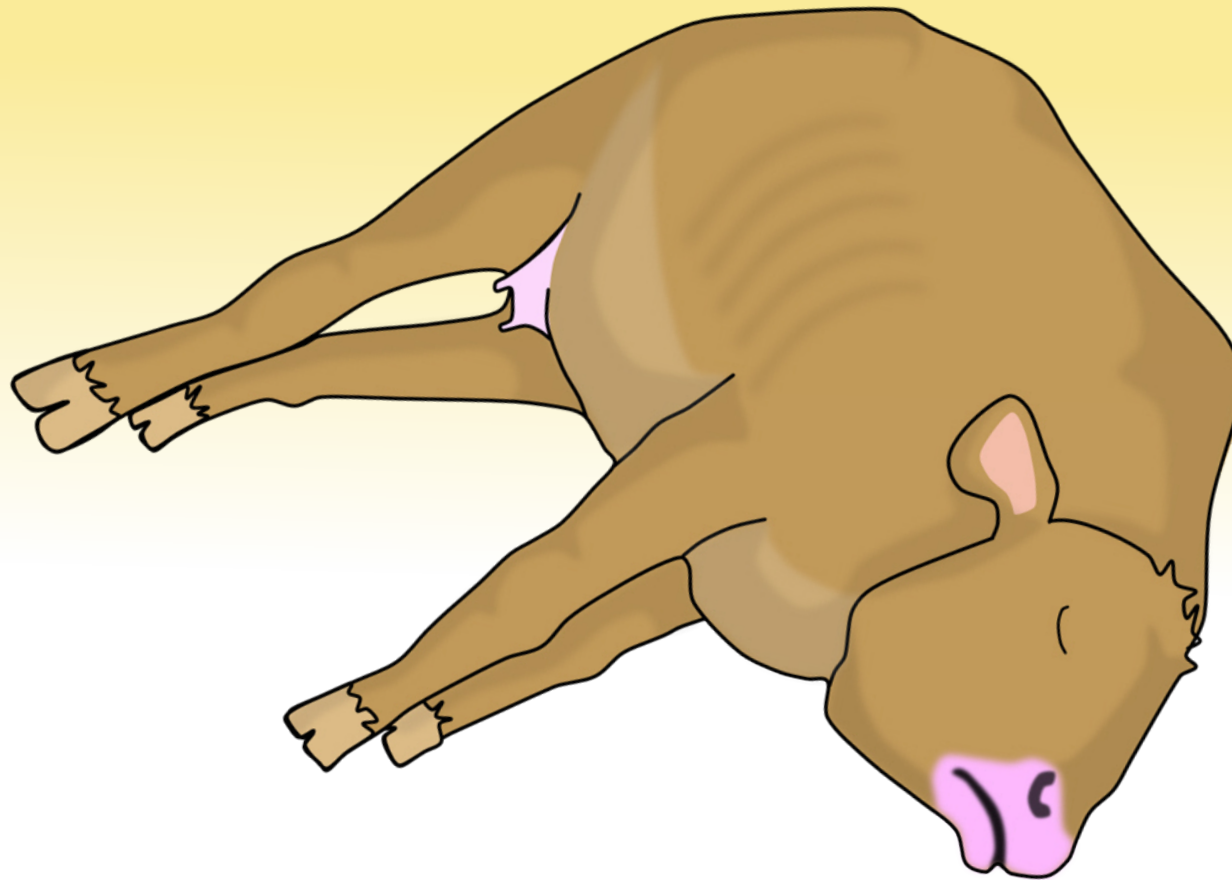

Kickers

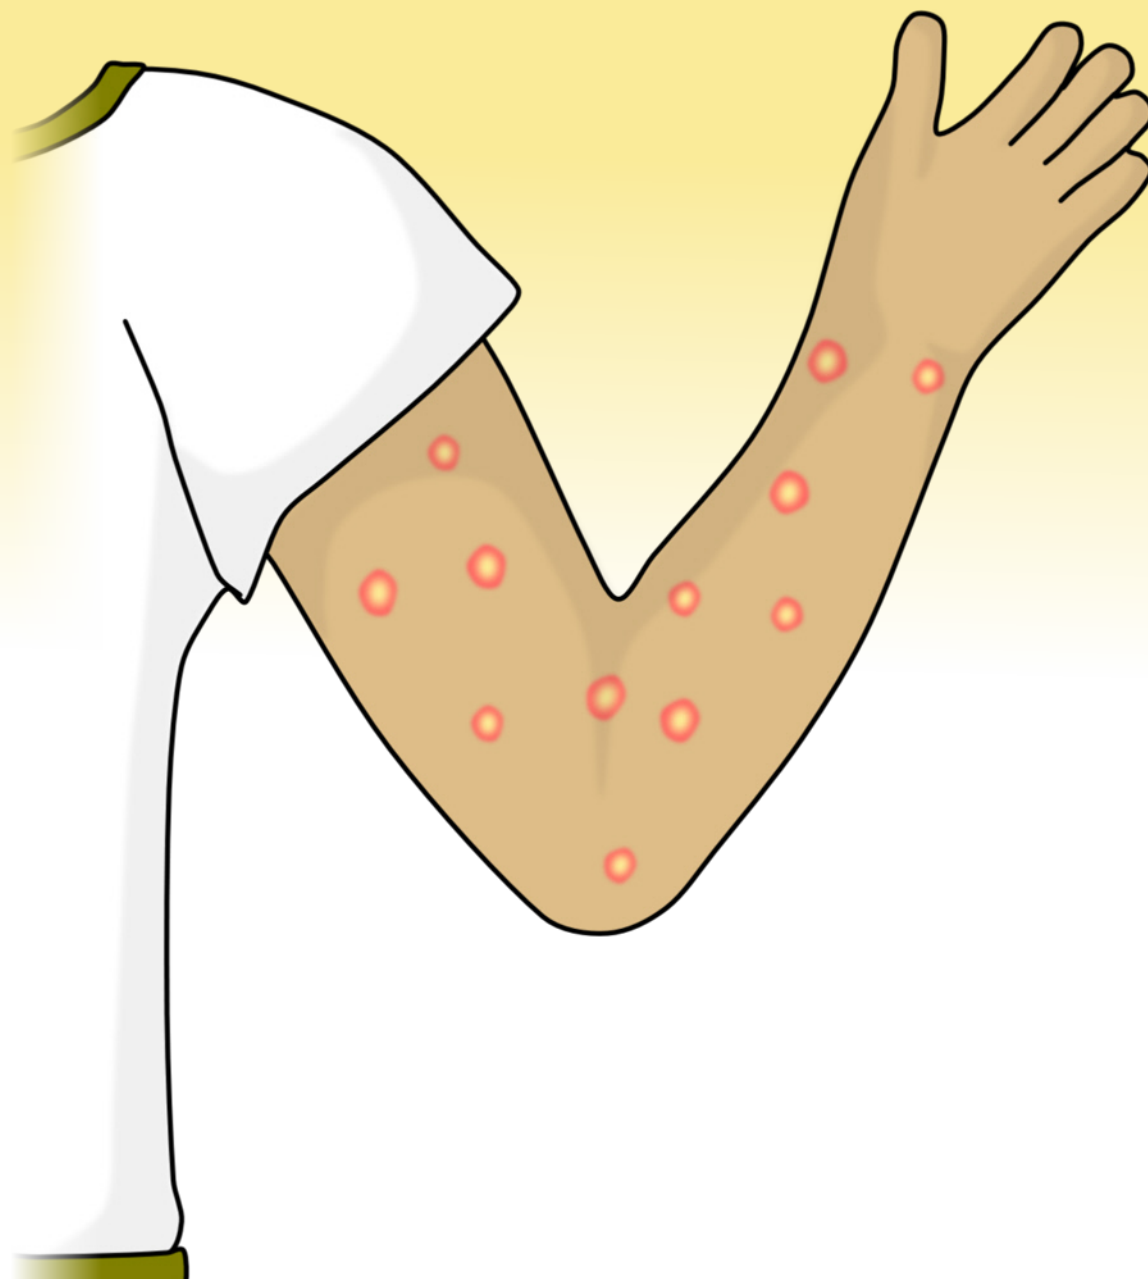

Muggen

Vliegen

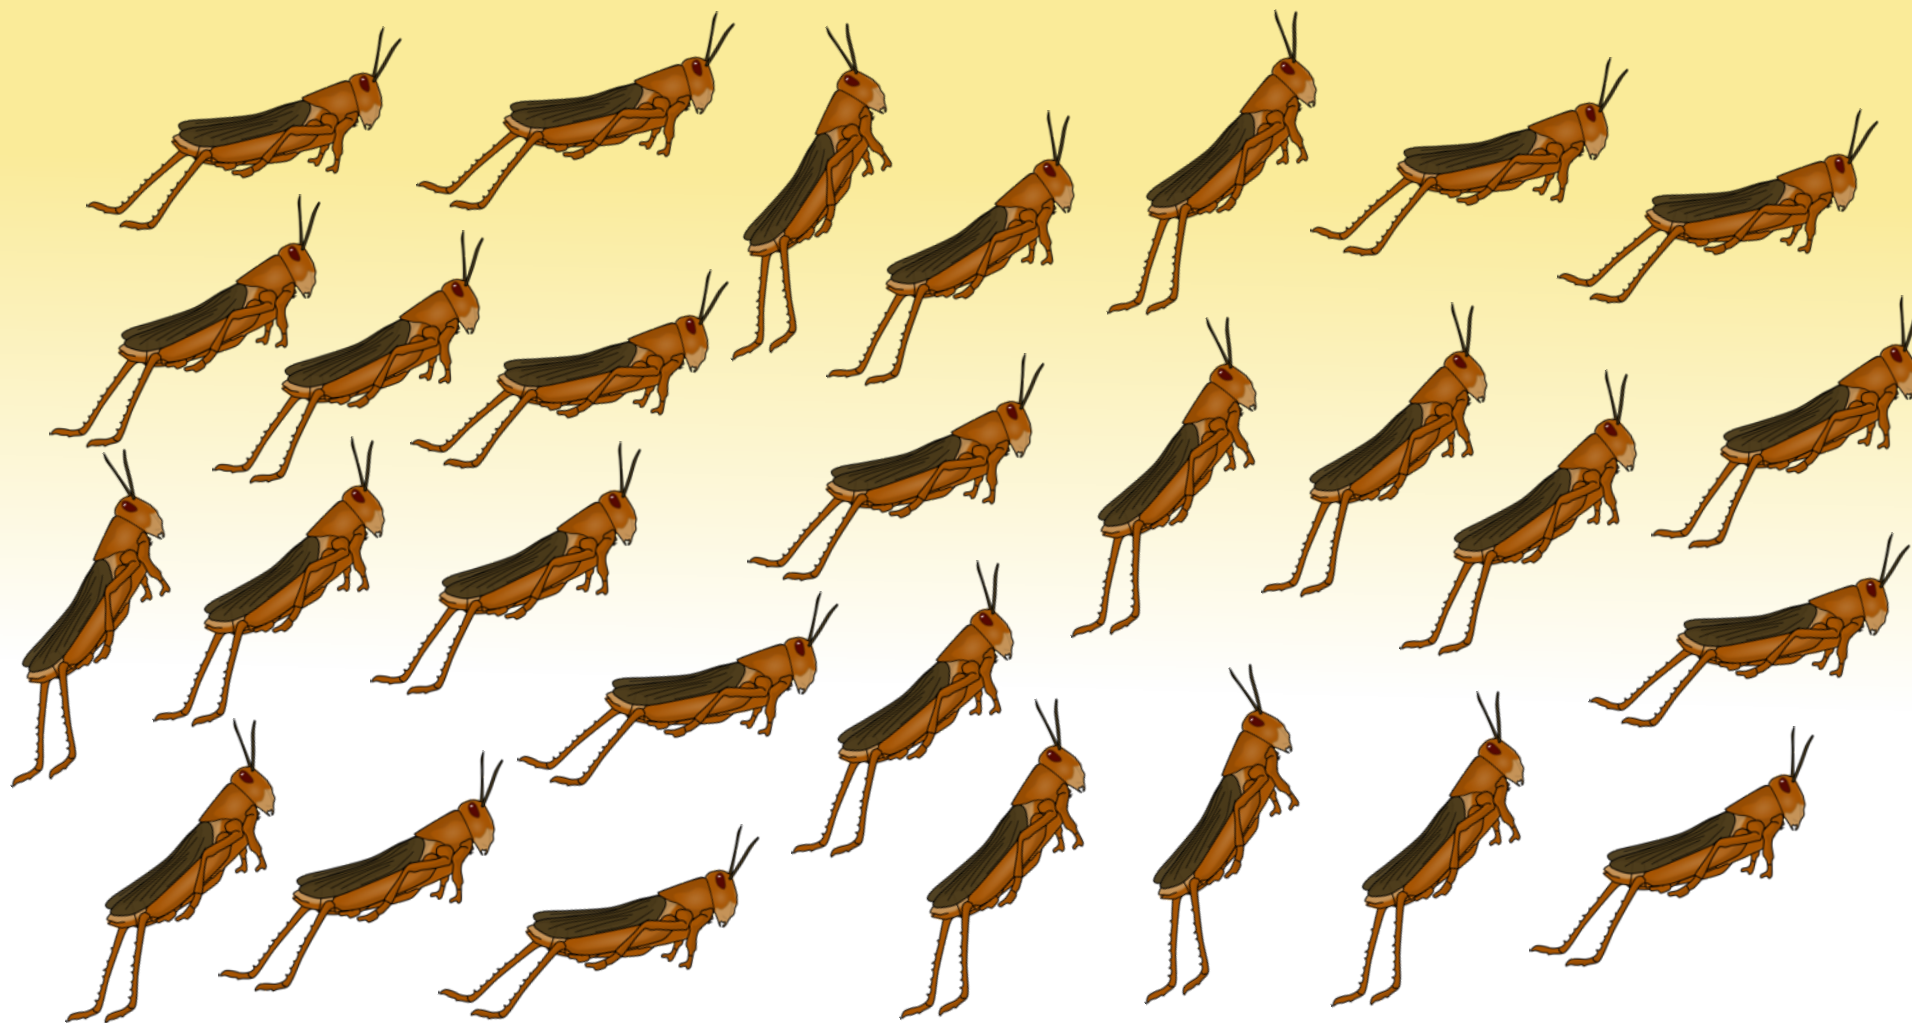

Ziek vee diseased

Puisten

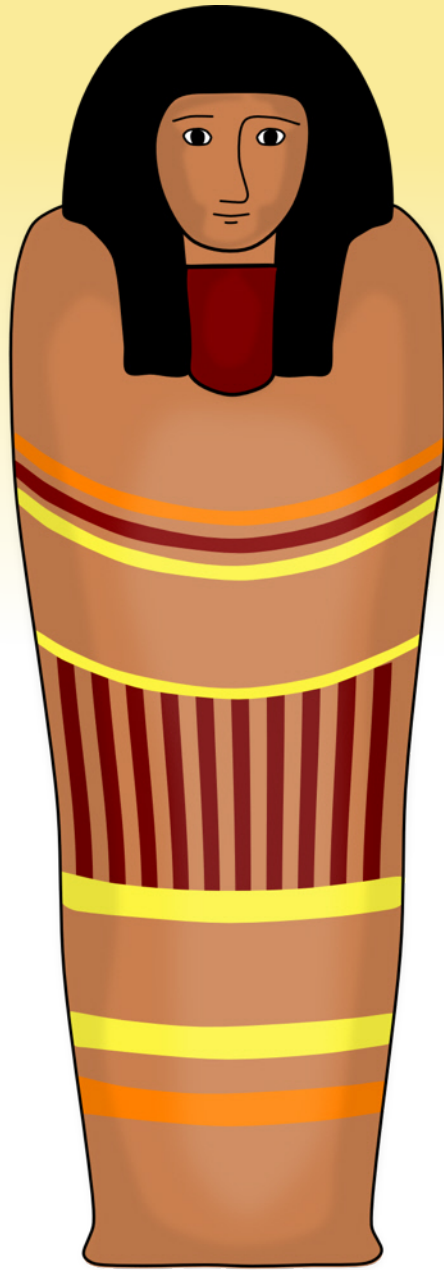

Donder en hagel

Sprinkhanen

Duisternis

Dood van
alle eerstgeborenen