Battle of the Bay

- No. 8 Stanford will be hosting Cal, who is receiving votes in the major polls, in a Pac-12 series this weekend.
- Cal leads the series 33-54, and won the last conference series 2-1, with Stanford taking the final game 5-1.
- The last time Stanford won the series was in 2021 at home.
- Cal has the most recent series sweep, taking the series at Stanford in 2018. Stanford last swept Cal in 2013.
- The Cardinal is tied for fourth in the Pac-12 at the moment with an 8-7 record while Cal sits at sixth with a 6-8-1 record.

Stellar Start

- The Cardinal has had one of the best starts in program history, only losing three games in 30 matchups. The last time Stanford had a start like this was in 2009, where the team went 21-9, and 26-4 in 2010.
- Stanford recorded the second-longest win streak in program history with 21 ending when they lost to Oregon in game two of the conference series. The longest win streak came in 2009 when the Cardinal won 28 straight games.

Shut Them Out

- Stanford recorded eight straight shutouts this season from 3/1 against UC Davis to 3/10 against Kansas and has 16 total on the season, which is sixth nationally and first in the Pac-12.
- Freshman NiJaree Canady has thrown six shutouts, while Regan Krause has four and Alana Vawter has three.
- Stanford has shut out teams such as Liberty (8-0, 5 Inn.) and No. 13 Georgia (3-0).

Aces in the Circle

- Stanford's pitching staff is dominant in the circle and led by NiJaree Canady and Alana Vawter. The Cardinal has a team ERA of 1.48, which is sixth in the nation and first in the Pac-12, having allowed only 63 runs across 41 games.
- Canady holds an ERA of 0.12, the lowest in the country. She broke her career record with a 18 strikeout no-hitter against Villanova, one short of the program record set by Missy Penna in 2009.
- Vawter has the 43rd best ERA in the country at 1.58 and is 12th nationally in strikeout to walk ratio at 7.97
- Stanford pitchers have thrown four no-hitters this season, two from Canady and two from Regan Krause.
- The most recent no-hitter for Stanford came against Cal State Fullerton, where Krause threw seven strikeouts and walked none in a 8-0 five-inning game.
- Krause also threw a career-high 9 strikeouts in her nearly perfect game against Nevada, where she allowed no hits and walked none.

This Defense is Legit

- The Cardinal has built itself off of its defense and pitching.
- Stanford has a .979 fielding percentage, which is ranked 10th nationally.
- The pitching staff has only allowed 63 runs this season, or 1.50 per game.
- With one of the lowest ERAs in the nation at 1.48, Stanford is a force to be reckoned with in the circle as well.
- Stanford has only allowed one team to score double digits (10 - Oklahoma) and has limited opponents to three runs or less in 33 games so far this season.

Queens of Threes

- Known for its speed and aggressiveness, Stanford again hit a plethora of triples in 2023.
- The Cardinal ranks 13th nationally in triples per game (.37) with 15 overall.
- On March 26 against Oregon, Taylor Gindlesperger broke the program career record of triples with her 23rd in the top of the fifth. She broke Teaghan Cowles (2017-21) record of 22 and added another to her record in game three against Oregon State.

- Gindlesperger tied the single season record of eight in 2021 and is on pace to meet or break that record this season with six.
- Emily Schultz follows with four triples of her own this season, with River Mahler, Kaitlyn Lim, Aly Kaneshiro and Sydney Steele all adding to the tally.
- Last year's 24 triples ranked third nationally, trailing Louisiana's (26) and Jackson State (26) and were one triple shy of matching the school record of 25 triples, achieved by the 2019 squad.
- Stanford's Boyd & Jill Smith Family Stadium is a park built for triples. With a high fence, 205 feet down the lines, a facility at sea level with high wind, not many home runs are hit at home.

Preseason Honors

- Ahead of the start of the season, the Cardinal has picked up numerous awards and preseason rankings.
- Stanford has been ranked in every major preseason poll, with D1Softball ranking the Cardinal the highest at 11. The NFCA maintained the Card's 18 ranking from the end of the 2022 season and USA Softball put Stanford at 14th.
- Alana Vawter picked up multiple preseason recognitions, including USA Softball's Player of the Year Watchlist. She was also selected to D1Softball's Top 100 players to watch, coming in at 24, and 9th on their pitcher list. Vawter was also named to the Preseason All-Pac-12 team.
- The Cardinal was tabbed to finish second in the Pac-12, as voted on in the conference's preseason coaches poll. This is the highest ranking the team has received with Coach Allister at the helm.

The Company You Keep

- The Pac-12 has continuously led the nation in the advancement of women's sports – and that success is evident in the league's softball coaches.
- All nine of the conference's softball-playing schools are led by a woman after Arizona hired Caitlin Lowe to replace the legendary Mike Candrea
- Six of the nine schools, including Stanford with Jessica Allister, are led by an alum of their program.
- Allister is the fourth-longest tenured alum at her school – ahead of Lowe and California's Chelsea Spencer.
- All nine of the league's programs were postseason eligible with a .500 or better record this season – the only conference in the country to achieve the feat.

A Super Season

- Stanford ended its 2022 season with 39 wins, its most since 2013. Additionally, the Cardinal made its first Super Regional's appearance since 2011.
- The Cardinal held sixth-seeded Alabama in the Tuscaloosa Regional, preventing the Crimson Tide from advancing to the Supers for the first time in program history.

- In Pac-12 play, Stanford finished the season fourth in the conference, the highest since 2013

The Stanford Super Regional

- Stanford hosted Oregon State in a NCAA Super Regional. This was the Cardinal's sixth appearance in the Super Regional and first time hosting since 2009.
- The last time Stanford had hosted postseason softball was the 2011 season for the regional round – also Stanford's most recent postseason appearance.
- The Stanford Super Regional was one of two unseeded super regionals last season as Stanford-Oregon State is joined by Arizona-Mississippi State.
- The Cardinal fell to Oregon in two tight games, losing 3-1 in game one and 2-0 in game two.
- Stanford has made two appearances to the Women's College World Series in program history – 2001 and 2004. Both WCWS appearances came during Jessica Allister's playing career.

Fun in Tuscaloosa

- Stanford won the Tuscaloosa Regional in convincing fashion, going 3-1 – with two victories coming against host and sixth-seeded Alabama.
- The Cardinal outscored opponents 15-5 on the weekend and shutout the Crimson Tide twice – the first time Alabama has been shutout in the regional round since 2004, and the first time the team has been shut out all season.
- The win on day two against Alabama snapped a 44-game win streak in the regional round for the host team, and was the first time Alabama had failed to qualify for the Super Regional round.
- The last time Stanford advanced out of the regional round as an unseeded team was 2008 at the Amherst Regional.

Year Six

- Stanford is led by six-year head coach and program alum, Jessica Allister.
- She is joined by Jessica Mendoza Associate Head Softball Coach, Jessica Merchant, and pitching coach Tori Nyberg – who have been with Allister since she returned to The Farm in 2019.
- Allister has led the Cardinal to postseason appearances in all but one season as the program's head coach.
- Allister owns an overall record of 455-208 (.6826) after spending seven years as the head coach at Minnesota, and a 165-99 record at Stanford.
- Since 2019, Allister's second season at Stanford, she has led the program to a 165-99 record.
- Allister has led Stanford to 10 postseason appearances as a player (2001-04), an assistant coach (2007-09) and as a head coach (2019, 2021-22).
- Stanford's coaching staff has made eight Women's College World Series appearances as players and coaches. Allister made two appearances as a player for Stanford (2001, 2004), Merchant made three appearances as a player at Michigan, including
