QUICKLY »

- Following a season-opening, 84-69 loss to Arizona at the Hall of Fame Series Las Vegas, Stanford returned home and picked up a pair of wins over Saint Mary's (87-54) and UC Davis (67-60).
- With a dynamic backcourt and no player over 6-feet that started more than eight games a season ago, Kate Paye and her staff have adapted to their personnel and now feature a more pro-style and free-flowing attack with an emphasis on in-game reads and pace.
- The updated offense is in stark contrast to the Princeton that Paye and the Cardinal had run largely for the past decade and won a national championship with in 2021.
- Through the season's first two weeks, the Cardinal has made 50.0 percent of its field goals (85-of-170) and is 25th in the nation in field goal percentage.
- What has hampered Stanford through its first three games are turnovers and perimeter defense. The Cardinal is 325th in the nation in turnovers per game, averaging 22.3, which has allowed its opponents to take 15 more field goal attempts this season (185). Stanford is 351st in 3-point field goal percentage defense, allowing opponents to make 44.3 percent from behind the arc (27-of-61).

SWAIN HAS BEEN SPECTACULAR »

- Leading Stanford's attack has been sophomore point guard Hailee Swain, who has upped her career high in scoring in each game this season, scoring 21 against Arizona, 22 against Saint Mary's and 26 against UC Davis.
- She's averaging 23.0 points on 57.8 percent shooting (26-of-45) and is one of only four guards in the country with those numbers along with Notre Dame's Hannah Hidalgo (27.3 ppg, .580 FG%), Maryland's Addi Mack (25.0 ppg, .625 FG%) and American's Molly Driscoll (23.0 ppg, .667 FG%).
- Swain is the first Stanford guard with back-to-back-to-back 20-point games since Kiana Williams scored that many in three straight against Oregon State (20), UCLA (26) and Utah Valley (20) in March 2021, and the first Stanford guard to start a season with 20+ in each of the first three games of a season since Lili Thompson scored 26, 24 and 28 in the first three in 2014-15 against Boston College, UConn and Texas.
- Candice Wiggins is the last Stanford guard to average more than 20.0 ppg in a season when she put up 20.2 in her senior campaign of 2007-08.
- An ACC All-Freshman Team selection last season, Swain scored in double figures 23 times, the most for a Stanford freshman since Chiney Ogwumike in 2010-11 (also 23).
- She scored 357 total points, the most for a Stanford freshman since Kiana Williams in 2017-18 (363) and her 37 steals were the most for a Stanford freshman since Lacie Hull in 2018-19 (53).
- Swain was tied for second in the country in starts by a freshman and matched Chiney Ogwumike for the second-most starts by a freshman in program history (35).
- She played the third most minutes by a freshman at Stanford (1,050), trailing only Virginia Sourlis in 1982-83 (1,191) and Kayla Pedersen in 2007-08 (1,185).

EARLY OPPORTUNITIES »

- During the nonconference, Stanford will play five Power 4 opponents and five true road games, the only Power 4 school to hit both of those marks.
- The Cardinal is tied with Louisville and Tennessee for the most nonconference true road games among Power 4 schools (5) and its five Power 4 opponents in the nonconference trails only South Carolina (8), Oklahoma (6), USC (6) and UCLA (6).
- The average Power 4 program plays just 1.87 true road games and 3.01 Power 4 opponents during the nonconference portion of its schedule.

YOUNG & HUNGRY »

- Hailee Swain's one word to describe the upcoming season when asked at ACC Tipoff: 'hungry.'
- Stanford's 12-person roster includes four freshmen, four sophomores and four juniors.
- The Cardinal is one of three Power 4 programs without a senior or fifth year on its roster along with Boston College and BYU.

EZIKE'S EMERGENCE »

- Another sophomore, Nora Ezike has been a revelation through three games, averaging 12.3 points on 61.5 percent shooting (16-of-26).
- She's sixth in the ACC in field goal percentage (62nd nationally) and was 3-of-4 from behind the arc in the win over UC Davis. She had made one 3-pointer in her career prior to Sunday.
- In very limited action last season, Ezike averaged 1.7 points and played a total of 36:54 in Stanford's 35 games.
- Against Saint Mary's on Nov. 4, she had career highs in points (18), rebounds (7) and steals (4) and was 8-of-10 from the floor. Ezike is the first Stanford player with 18 points, seven rebounds and four steals in a game since Cameron Brink at Washington State on February 11, 2024 (21 points, 11 rebounds, five steals) and is the 19th Cardinal player with that line in records dating back to 2002-03. Others on the list are Brink, Lexie Hull, Alanna Smith (2x), Brittany McPhee, Erica McCall (2x), Chiney Ogwumike (4x), Nneka Ogwumike, Jayne Appel, Candice Wiggins and Nicole Powell (4x).

BIG IMPACT BY IJIWOYE »

- Junior Shay Ijiwoye has been Swain's running mate in the backcourt and is averaging 10.3 points and team highs of 4.0 assists and 3.0 steals per game.
- She had six of Stanford's 16 steals in the win over Saint Mary's, the program's most in a game since Lexie Hull also had six in the NCAA Tournament against Kansas on March 20, 2022.
- Ijiwoye sets the tone for Stanford's defense and leads the team in fouls drawn by a wide margin with 18, many of those by beating the player she is guarding to a spot and drawing a charge. Nora Ezike is second in fouls drawn this season with nine.

NIGERIA BASKETBALL »

- Shay Ijiwoye and Nora Ezike had high-level international experience this summer playing with Nigeria's senior national team for two months in its preparations for the FIBA World Cup.
- Ijiwoye earned a spot on Nigeria's 12-person roster for the 2026 FIBA World Cup in Berlin following camp in Chicago and games in China and Spain throughout August but was unable to compete due to a roster eligibility technicality.
- They were also with Nigeria for its WNBA preseason tour against the Los Angeles Sparks, Minnesota Lynx and Indiana Fever in April and May 2026. Against the Fever on May 2, Ijiwoye scored a team-high 10 points and added three steals and three rebounds.

LAST SEASON »

- Stanford closed out the 2025-26 season with a 21-14 overall record, including an 8-10 conference mark in its second season in the ACC.
- After making 36 consecutive NCAA Tournaments from 1988-2024, Stanford was in the WBIT for the second consecutive season and advanced to the quarterfinals.
- Stanford finished 44th in the NET rankings ahead of Selection Sunday, the second-highest rated program to not make the NCAA Tournament (No. 43 Mississippi State).
- Stanford's three Quad 1 wins were also the second most among teams not selected for the NCAA Tournament. Kansas State, also in the WBIT, had four.
- With its first-round victory in the WBIT over LMU, Stanford reached 20 wins for the 36th time in program history. The Cardinal posted a winning record for the 39th consecutive season.

ESCHMEYER EXCELS »

- Back this year is sophomore forward/center Alexandra Eschmeyer, who was the No. 21 recruit in the country in the Class of 2025 according to ESPN's SportsCenter Next 100.
- Coupled with Swain (No. 8) and following portal movement, Stanford is one of five schools that has multiple top 25 players from the Class of 2025 on its roster in 2026-27 along with Duke (Emilee Skinner, Aaliyah Crump), LSU (Grace Knox, ZaKiyah Johnson), Oklahoma (Aaliyah Chavez, Jordan Speiser), South Caroline (Agot Makeer, Ayla McDowell) and Washington (Brynn McGaughy, Kaelyn Carroll).
- As a freshman, Eschmeyer appeared in all 35 games a season ago and made eight starts. She averaged 7.5 points, 5.4 rebounds and 1.9 blocks in 21.4 minutes as a starter and 4.4 points, 3.5 rebounds and 1.0 blocks in 13.2 minutes in 27 appearances off the bench.
- She led the team with 43 blocks, sixth in Stanford freshman history and the most since Cameron Brink in 2020-21 (88).

- Among a number of standout performances, Eschmeyer scored 16 points and had seven rebounds and four blocks in a Jan. 25 game at Cal, becoming the first Cardinal freshman with 16 points, seven rebounds and four blocks in a game since Cameron Brink against Oregon State on March 5, 2021 (24p, 11r, 4b) and just the fourth since 2002-03, joining Brink, Kayla Pedersen and Jayne Appel.
- She had 11 rebounds and a career-high six blocks in the victory over Wake Forest on Jan. 8. Her six blocks against Wake Forest were the most for a Stanford player since Cameron Brink had seven in the 2024 Sweet 16 against NC State and the most for a Cardinal freshman since Brink had six in the 2021 Final Four against South Carolina.
- She was the first Stanford freshman with 11 rebounds and six blocks in available records dating back to 2002-03 and one of four freshmen in the country to have those numbers in a game last season along with Maddison Krug (Lafayette), Alyssa Koerkenmeier (Saint Louis) and Avril Smith (Omaha).
- The only other Stanford players with 11 rebounds and six blocks in records dating back to 2002-03 include Cameron Brink (nine times), Alanna Smith (two times), Chiney Ogwumike and Jayne Appel.

NEW FACES »

- Seven newcomers are on the roster in 2026-27, including four freshmen – Kiara Green, Elyse Ngenda, Gracyn Gilliard, Jordyn Wheeler – and three transfers – Ilse de Vries, Inés Sotelo Míguez and Charlotte Tuhy.
- de Vries made the All-MAC Third Team and was a MAC All-Defensive Team selection as a sophomore at Miami (OH) last season.
- She was one of 11 players in the country last season to average what she did in points (12.7), rebounds (4.9) and blocks (1.9), and was one of three players at her height to make 50 3-pointers and shoot better than 38.0 percent from deep.
- Sotelo Míguez started 20 games in her sophomore season at Michigan State and averaged 6.8 points on 45.1 percent shooting, 4.0 rebounds, 1.5 assists and 1.2 steals in 23.9 minutes.
- This summer she was named to the All-Star Five in leading Spain to bronze at the FIBA U20 Women's EuroBasket in Lithuania in July 2026. Sotelo Míguez averaged 12.4 points, 6.4 rebounds and 1.4 assists in seven games, led Spain in both scoring and rebounding and was fourth in the entire tournament in field goal percentage, making 51.7 percent from the floor (31-of-60).
- Tuhy was a Third Team All-Patriot League pick and made the Patriot League All-Rookie Team as a freshman at American.
- She led the Eagles in scoring and rebounding, averaging 12.0 points and 11.3 rebounds as a starter in all 30 games. Tuhy finished 10th in the nation in rebounding and was one of only two freshmen in the country to average a double-double. Her 15 double-doubles were tied for 21st in the country and third among DI freshmen.
- de Vries (Netherlands) and Sotelo Míguez (Spain) are the first Dutch and Spanish players in program history and the three transfers up the program's total of all-time undergraduate transfers to six.

- In addition to Sotelo Míguez's performance with Spain at the U20 EuroBasket, Jordyn Wheeler was named to the All-Tournament Second Team playing for Canada at the FIBA U18 AmeriCup in Irapuato, Mexico in June.
- She averaged 13.6 points, 3.8 rebounds and 1.6 assists in five games to lead Canada to silver and scored a game-high 23 points on 9-of-12 shooting in a group phase win over Venezuela.
- Wheeler tore her ACL in the championship game against the United States and is out as she recovers.

UNMATCHED STAFF »

- Stanford boasts a roster of coaches that features three WNBA veterans in Kate Paye, Erica McCall and Jeanette Pohlen-Freeman. All are Stanford graduates.
- Paye played 79 games for Minnesota and Seattle from 2000-02, Pohlen 148 games for Indiana from 2011-2017, and McCall 122 games for Indiana, Atlanta, Minnesota and Washington from 2017-21.
- While not a coach, Karlie Samuelson, a 2017 honorable mention All-American who led the Cardinal to two Final Fours, is in her second season as an intern at her alma mater.
- Samuelson, who initially returned to the program while rehabbing a left foot injury, has played for seven franchises across eight WNBA seasons since her graduation from Stanford with a degree in human biology in 2017. She played with the expansion Portland Fire in 2026.

NEW NAME ON THE BENCH »

- Steven Key was hired as the Cardinal's Peiros Family Assistant Women's Basketball Coach on June 10, 2026.
- With over two decades of coaching experience, Key arrived on The Farm after spending last season at UCF. That followed six years in Germany as a coach in the European Professional League with a pair of prominent clubs in Eisbaeren Bremerhaven and Oliver Wurzburg. He led Eisbaeren as head coach for two seasons and spent four years as an assistant with Oliver Wurzburg (2018-22).

He was also an assistant for the Sun in 2014 and 2015 and for the Fever in 2016 and 2017.

STRONG WNBA LEGACY »

- It was yet another incredible year for Cardinal women's basketball alumnae in the WNBA. Madame President, Nneka Ogwumike, was enthusiastically celebrated over the final month of the season after announcing her retirement on August 19, and Ashten Prechtel '23 and Nadia Fingall '20 both made their WNBA debuts for the Golden State Valkyries, upping Stanford's total of WNBA pros to 36.
- Prechtel, who occupied one of the Valkyries' player development roster spots, is Stanford's eighth WNBA champion, joining Nneka Ogwumike (Los Angeles Sparks, 2016), Jeanette Pohlen (Indiana Fever, 2012), Candice Wiggins (Minnesota Lynx, 2011), Brooke Smith (Phoenix Mercury, 2009), Nicole Powell (Sacramento Monarchs, 2005), Olympia Scott (Phoenix Mercury, 2007; Sacramento Monarchs, 2005) and Sonja Henning (Houston Comets, 1999). She joins Sonja Henning, a 1990 national champion, as Stanford alumnae to win both NCAA and WNBA titles.
- Fingall was waived by the Valkyries in late September before the start of the playoffs so that she could join her team in Spain, Zaragoza, before the start of their season on October 4.
- In total, nine Cardinal played in the WNBA this season - Cameron Brink (Los Angeles Sparks), Nadia Fingall (Golden State Valkyries), Lexie Hull (Indiana Fever), Haley Jones (Portland Fire, Dallas Wings), Nneka Ogwumike (Los Angeles Sparks), Ashten Prechtel (Golden State Valkyries), Karlie Samuelson (Portland Fire), Alanna Smith (Dallas Wings) and Kiana Williams (Phoenix Mercury, Los Angeles Sparks, Toronto Tempo).

NOBEL LAUREATE LEGACY »

- Stanford is home to 36 WNBA pros and 38 Nobel laureates.
- The most recent came on October 5, when Karl Deisseroth, a Stanford University professor of bioengineering and of psychiatry and behavioral sciences, was awarded the 2026 Nobel Prize in physiology or medicine "for discoveries leading to optogenetics, which makes it possible to switch on, or off, the activity of individual nerve cells in a living brain." He shared the award with Peter Hegemann from the Humboldt University of Berlin and Georg Nagel from the University of Würzburg in Germany.
- Deisseroth established his preeminence as a leader in neuroscience by developing a process to insert light-sensitive microbial proteins called opsins into mammalian brain cells, allowing selected cells to be controlled by light.

HOME OF CHAMPIONS »

- Stanford owns the greatest streak in college athletics, having won at least one NCAA team title in each of the past 50 years (dating back to the 1976-77 campaign), the longest streak in NCAA history.
- Stanford leads the NCAA with 139 team titles, including two NCAA team championships during the 2025-26 campaign - men's gymnastics and women's golf - increasing its overall total to 178.
- Stanford is one of six programs with at least one national championship in football, baseball, and men's basketball, and the only school with at least one in football, baseball, men's and women's basketball.
- Men's gymnastics extended the streak on April 18, 2026, by winning its sixth NCAA championship in seven years, putting the Cardinal at the historic 50-year mark. The next longest active NCAA title streak is held by five schools at just six years.
- From 1995-2019, Stanford won 25 straight Division I Learfield Sports Directors' Cups. The Cardinal enters the 2026-27 year with 26 of the 33 total Directors' Cups, most recently capturing the elusive award during the 2022-23 season.

FACULTY FELLOWS »

- This season, Stanford women's basketball is lucky to have the involvement of three faculty fellows in Krista Birnie, Jody Maxim, and Norman Naimark.
- Birnie (née Rappahahn) is a clinical associate professor of pediatrics and one of the greatest 3-point shooters in Stanford history, making 40.9 percent of her shots from behind the arc in a career from 2003-06.
- Maxim has taught at Stanford for 46 years and is an associate professor of art and art history and of classics. Her research includes Greek painting and sculpture, archaic Greek art, the art and culture of 5th century Athens, classical influence on later art and athletics in ancient Greece.
- Naimark presently holds the Robert and Florence McDonnell Chair in East European History at Stanford. He is also Senior Fellow of the Hoover Institution and of the Institute of International Studies, where he was Convener of the "European Forum." He has served as Director of Stanford's Center for Russian and East European Studies (1989-95), Chair of its History Department (1995-1998), member of the Faculty Senate and its Steering Committee (2001-4), and Director of Stanford's interdisciplinary programs in International Relations and International Policy Studies. He presently serves as the Burke Family Director of the Bing Overseas Studies Program.
- Stanford's Faculty Athletics Fellows program matches Stanford faculty with athletic programs and teams to provide student-athletes with support, mentorship, and academic guidance. Around 60 faculty members from a wide array of disciplines participate in the program, which began in 2017.
- The program's faculty meet quarterly to discuss issues that impact student-athletes, such as travel and enrollment. Fellows also receive invitations to all-sport activities, have free access to selected competitions, and can share information and raise related considerations in faculty meetings across campus.

PLAYER MENTORS »

- Another part of Stanford's legacy is the matching of current student-athletes with women's basketball alumnae mentors for connection, advice and support. A few examples:
- Shay Ijiwoye is matched with Ros Gold-Onwude. Ijiwoye is a communication major and involved with calling Stanford Athletics events on KZSU student radio and has served as a sideline broadcaster for Stanford men's basketball broadcasts on ACCNX. Gold-Onwude is an award-winning sports broadcaster who has worked for Turner Sports, NBC Sports Bay Area, MSG Networks and ESPN, among many other outlets. Gold-Onwude played in three Final Fours and two national championship games, helping the Cardinal win four conference titles as a starting guard, and was named the 2010 Pac-10 Co-Defensive Player of the Year.
- Alexandra Eschmeyer's mentor is Krista Birnie (née Rappahahn), who is a clinical associate professor of pediatrics - neonatology at Stanford and is a member of the Maternal & Child Health Research Institute. Eschmeyer will be a human biology major (Stanford students declare prior to their junior year) and is enrolled in three human biology courses this quarter - Human Performance: Foundations for Collegiate Athletes (HUMBIO 32); Genetics, Molecular Biology and Evolution (HUMBIO 2A) and Culture, Evolution, and Society (HUMBIO 2B). Birnie graduated from Stanford in 2006 with honors in human biology and was one of the greatest 3-point shooters in Stanford history, making 40.9 percent of her shots from behind the arc in a career from 2003-06.
- Hailee Swain's mentor is fellow Stanford point guard and WNBA veteran Kiana Williams. The 13th All-American in program history, Williams etched her name as one of the greatest in program history and cemented her legacy as a senior, winning a national championship in her hometown of San Antonio in 2021. Williams never missed a game after stepping on campus, appearing in 137 with 128 consecutive starts to finish her career. She was named the 2021 NCAA Tournament Alamo Region Most Outstanding Player, as well as the Most Outstanding Player of the 2021 Pac-12 Tournament. Her 1,834 career points rank 11th in program history, while her 464 career assists are good for ninth and her 311 3-pointers are second.
