NEWS from UM6P

SDA I Zero Hunger SHORT STORY Contest

In the dynamics to spark the innovative spirit of our community to tackle sustainability issues, we are challenging UM6P students to present a story of their own making on how gender inclusiveness can change the narratives about Africa on food security.

Therefore, the story should be tailored on the topic: Ending Food Insecurity in Africa: The Role of Gender Inclusiveness.

The story should involve two young heroes: a boy named "Bamba" and a girl named "Modjadji". A story that aims to highlight the journey of the food insecurity sufferance in their village and their story to secure Food security to their community.

The #ZEHUST contest is brought to you by UM6P Sustainable Development Department through their ESAFE SD Ambassadors to ignite the creativity spirit of UM6P Community and serve as a teaser of one of the SD Upcoming project which tackles directly Zero HUNGER on campus.

LIFE ON LAND

SUSTAINABLY MANAGE FOREST, COMBAT DESERTIFICATION, HALT AND REVERSE LAND
DEGRADATION, HALT BIODIVERSITY LOSS

- Forest services play an important role in human being livelihood and well-being
- Almost 100 million hectares of forest area lost from 2000 to 2020 in the world
- In Africa more than 4.4 million each year (Hyunshik and Tamirat, 2018)
- Grazing and agriculture are the main drivers of forest loss especially in Africa
