To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to congratulate the University of Colorado in Boulder on designing, implementing and constructing such a sophisticated yet elegant system for the application of GEOTEA to the lawns and turf throughout the campus.

I have been fortunate to have sold hundreds of GEOTEA Machines throughout the United States and in 22 other countries, and as far as I know, the system at CU that Ryan Hyland set up is the most advanced that I have seen or heard of.

This kind of innovative thinking is exactly what is required to continue to advance our efforts and contributions to the goal of creating and maintaining a more sustainable campus environment both locally and around the world.
