Dear AASHE Program Staff,

I write this letter to attest to the appropriateness of the Atkinson Center's new Postdoctoral Fellowships in Sustainability program for an AASHE innovation credit in the areas of sustainable economic development, sustainable energy and a sustainable environment.

This new program stimulates original cross-disciplinary research and development of sustainable solutions that address the world's most pressing problems in six focus areas: Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems, Energy Transitions, One Health, Sustainable Communities, New Materials, and Computational Sustainability. It also develops and deepens connections with external partners to speed the creation and delivery of viable solutions. The program also builds a corps of future leaders capable of creating effective, workable approaches to the most serious sustainability questions.

Sincerely,
