Dear Rob,

I have reviewed the Farm Bag Fundraiser program, which Okanagan College has partnered with through your student led Enactus group, and find the initiative to be both an excellent idea, and innovative in how it addresses multiple community needs:

1. Supports the local economy by offering a distribution point for locally grown produce
2. Makes healthy food choices easily accessible to students and the community
3. Creates a low carbon food option for students and the community by replacing food that may have been otherwise purchased from imported sources to local, seasonal sources.

We applaud you and your students for committing to this program and expanding it over two campuses, as well as integrating it with your MoMentum program and helping low income mothers understand the benefits of cooking with fresh, healthy local foods.

Sincerely
