Dear Colleagues,

Princeton University has been very helpful to Raritan Valley Community College by sharing with us the details of their green roof installation on Butler College. We have received tours and spoken extensively with the project manager and Sustainability Office staff about the design, installation, and maintenance. Dr. Eileen Zerba spoke with us about the instrumentation and initial findings from data collected from the green roof. We are leveraging this information as we develop plans for our own green roof and instrumentation on our campus, which students are contributing to. Princeton's innovation and sharing has been very helpful to us and we applaud their leadership in this area.

Sincerely,
