

February 14, 2014

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to endorse the self-assessment data submitted by Princeton University to the Sustainability Tracking, Assessment and Rating System, STARS. These data represent the efforts of a dedicated community of sustainability implementers on our campus.

We look forward to the ongoing development of STARS as it evolves to become an increasingly rigorous sustainability assessment system for higher education institutions across North America.

Sincerely,

Christopher L. Eisgruber