Re: DePaul University's STARS Submission

To Whom It May Concern:

DePaul University is committed to environmental, social and economic sustainability as expressions of its mission and values. The Sustainability Initiatives Task Force (SITF) and the DePaul Sustainability Network (DSN) further DePaul's mission and values through a coordinated focus on sustainability related activity.

As members of the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education (AASHE), DePaul University uses the Sustainability Tracking, Assessment & Rating System (STARS®) to establish a baseline audit and to gauge the progress of sustainability related activities within the university community.

I affirm the accuracy of the data and information detailed in DePaul University's STARS® Submission. I sincerely appreciate the time and effort that the SITF dedicated to collecting data related to the various components of the STARS® audit.

Sincerely,
