

Chafee Center Letter for Innovation Credit

The Center is the lead investor in a collaborative manufacturer's study that is surveying 100% of all Rhode Island's manufacturers. As part of the study, a portion is dedicated to assessing a variety of ways of bringing down the cost of business in the energy expense category by working with experts in both efficiency and alternatives as it relates to that expense.

The collaborative approach with many other college and university partners along with Economic development professionals makes Bryant University one of a kind as it integrates its academic (faculty and students) with real world experiential learning with an integrated curriculum.

Ray Fogarty
Director of Chafee Center International Business