Re: Green Symposium:

Stetson University in collaboration with Volusia County the Green Symposium organized the first annual Green Symposium. The event focused on developing the green economy in Volusia County with particular emphasis on emerging opportunities for new job seekers. The event is planned as an ongoing annual event, with coordination among the county and University actors each year. A new theme will be adopted each year for the symposium, and student coordination of events shall be an integral part of its administration.

Sincerely,

J. Anthony Abbott, Ph.D.
Chair, Geography and Environmental Science
