Re: Bonfire Electronic Bid Submission and Evaluation Tool

I have been involved in 5 or 6 RFP evaluations now with the use of Bonfire. This new tool has simplified the evaluation process for me in several ways; first, I no longer have to carry around mountains of bound proposals, as having it electronically means I can now view it on my computer or laptop and evaluate proposals wherever I am. Second, it is easy to go back and review your own scoring and review the different comments between proposals. Finally, Bonfire will save a considerable amount of paper and printing, and the associated economic and environmental costs.

Using Bonfire has decreased the overall amount of time it takes for me to evaluate RFP's. It has increased my productivity while at the same time reducing the environmental footprint of our RFP process. For these reasons, I feel that Bonfire has been an innovative and welcome addition to our RFP evaluation process.

Sincerely,
