Working Collaboratively to Improve Our Community

The mission of UCI Engage is to support and enhance community-faculty collaborations that align the resources and expertise of a world class university with the knowledge and strengths of diverse communities.

About UCI Engage

UCI Engage was established to coordinate, amplify, and celebrate the incredible work being done through faculty-community collaborations. UCI Engage facilitates academically-based community partnerships that are collaborative, participatory, empowering, and transformative.

Specifically, UCI Engage:

- Facilitates community-faculty collaborations through our web portal, events, and community development efforts.
- Trains faculty on best practices for developing long-lasting, effective community partnerships.
- Stays engaged on issues that are relevant and important to the community of Orange County and beyond.

Engage.uci.edu

On the UCI Engage website, you can browse a database of more than 200 programs and initiatives that feature community-engaged research and teaching within their mission.

You can also watch videos and read stories about the ways faculty and community collaborate to solve some of the world's grand challenges.

“Nationally, we find ourselves in a particularly important historical juncture given the exciting challenges and opportunities facing both public education and higher education. It is a moment—I believe—which will require universities to elevate and enhance the role of institutions of higher education in a changing global society.”
