Dear Ms. Zahniser:

Lawrence University is pleased to submit its STARS data for 2016/17. Our work to build a sustainable Lawrence through educational, social and environmental initiatives continues to evolve with the life of our University. We believe that the data submitted accurately reflects the information and initiatives pertinent to our submission.

As part of the refresh of our strategic plan through the past two years, we have begun evaluating our sustainability through multiple lenses: through efforts in the classroom with an innovative and interdisciplinary curriculum, as part of our efforts to be an accessible and inclusive campus where all students can thrive, in our co-curricular activities and in our infrastructure, where investments in our campus are designed to help us be a more responsible user of resources.

Our faculty, students and staff are all engaged in aspects of the measures reported in this cycle of STARS. We greatly appreciate the features of both environmental and social sustainability that are contained in this generation of data collection. Our efforts as a small liberal arts institution hopefully expand the mission of AASHE as we work to further the education of our community and continue to learn and implement sustainable programs.

Yours truly,

Christopher Lee
Vice President for Finance and Administration
