

August 2014

Stephanie A. Herrera, Executive Director
Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education
1536 Wynkoop St., Suite 100,
Denver CO 80202

Dear Ms. Herrera and staff of AASHE,

As a STARS Charter institution, the University of New Hampshire (UNH) is proud to submit our second STARS report.

We are committed to being a leader in sustainability – for our students and alumni, our state and region, and our future. Sustainability is a core value of UNH, shaping our culture, informing our behavior, and guiding everything we do. As a nationally recognized leader in sustainability, UNH draws on the Sustainability Institute to act as convener, cultivator and champion of sustainability on campus, in the state and region, and around the world.

The information included in our STARS submission is accurate to the best of our abilities. We will be using the data we have collected to help guide our planning and program development.

We applaud AASHE's efforts to collaborate with college and universities, non-profits and businesses, government agencies and communities to develop and further refine STARS. Your work helps us do ours. We look forward to collaborating with AASHE on the development of STARS and other efforts into the future.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Mark W. Huddleston'.

Mark W. Huddleston, President

CC: Lisa MacFarlane, Provost & Executive Vice President
Tom Kelly, Chief Sustainability Officer
Debbie Dutton, Vice President of Advancement
Dick Cannon, Vice President of Finance & Administration
Mark Rubinstein, Vice President of Student & Academic Affairs
Joel Seligman, Associate Vice President of Communications & Public Affairs
Erika Mantz, Director of Media Relations