Dear Connie Tan,

Congratulations on being honored for the American Heart Association's level of recognition for your 2022 Workforce Well-being Scorecard™ assessment. Your commitment to the well-being and success of your company and its employees is highly commendable.

As a global force for healthier lives for nearly a century, the American Heart Association is here to help employers like University of California, Davis protect your greatest asset—your employees. Your efforts to reduce stress and burnout, address health inequities and support organizational well-being are vital to building a healthier workforce.

I encourage you to share your Workforce Well-being Scorecard Silver level achievement and use this assessment regularly as part of a comprehensive health and well-being strategy.

Thank you for helping create a healthier, more equitable future for all.

All my best,

Nancy Brown
Chief Executive Officer
