

April 6, 2023

To whom it may concern,

I affirm that a reviewing team made up of four current Cal Poly Humboldt students have reviewed all credits that Cal Poly Humboldt is pursuing for their STARS rating in version 2.2 during Spring 2023. As a team we have reviewed the Sustainability Office staff's reported information, attachments, descriptions, inventories, and URLs for accuracy, and have given our best effort to verify the information submitted. We have reviewed the different sections and have provided feedback for certain credits or sections which should undergo improvement or revision, such as: identifying broken URL links, typos, duplications, outliers, or other areas that did not appear to qualify for the provided STARS criteria.

After completing the first review, we shared our comments via the attached spreadsheet. Any feedback and responses were considered and acted upon, allowing for a second round of feedback to ensure the corrections were made. After two thorough rounds of analysis, we believe our responsibility to conduct a thorough review has been met.

The student review team is pleased to verify the submitted information in this review process. Understanding areas that the institution can improve upon is important to ensure the concept of sustainability is being strived for.

Sincerely,

Cal Poly Humboldt Student Reviewing Team

Emily Read,
Amber Chung,
Zeen Vincent,
Hannah Lacey