We at Denison University are very proud to have the Big Red Buyer's Club, an initiative started by two students (now alums) for their Environmental Studies Senior Project. The Buyer's Club allows Denison community members to buy local products we serve on campus through us via our catering website, and pick them up biweekly right on campus, making buying local groceries more accessible and affordable. In this way we hope to help seniors not on the meal plan, faculty, and staff bring their "locavore" eating habits home, enabling everyone to be more conscientious consumers.
