Dear Committee Members,

On behalf of California State University, East Bay, (CSUEB) I am extremely pleased to present our university's Sustainability Tracking, Assessment, and Rating System (STARS) report for review.

Led by the Director of Sustainability, Jillian Buckholz, our team has diligently compiled the data throughout 2018. Through wide-ranging collaboration across the University's divisions, the work being presented is reflective of CSUEB's continued commitment to sustainability over a number of years. The process of preparing the STARS Report inspired participants on our campus as we imagine and think about future goals and our unique opportunity and role in preserving our planet. We look forward to the continued achievements our campus will make on its path towards sustainability.

To the best of my ability, I have verified all aspects of the submitted information. CSUEB is committed in joining fellow CSU campuses in the STARS program as not just participants, but leaders in progressing towards a greener future.

Sincerely,
