Vision Statement

Cal Poly will be the nation's premier comprehensive polytechnic university, an innovative institution that develops and inspires whole-system thinkers to serve California and help solve global challenges.

Cal Poly's Mission Statement

Cal Poly fosters teaching, scholarship, and service in a Learn by Doing environment in which students, staff, and faculty are partners in discovery. As a polytechnic university, Cal Poly promotes the application of theory to practice. As a comprehensive institution, Cal Poly provides a balanced education in the arts, sciences, and technology, while encouraging cross-disciplinary and co-curricular experiences. As an academic community, Cal Poly values free inquiry, cultural and intellectual diversity, mutual respect, civic engagement, and social and environmental responsibility.

Statement of Purpose

When the legislature established Cal Poly in 1901, it acknowledged the need for varied educational opportunities and outlined special goals for this institution. Those special goals were reaffirmed by the Trustees of the California State University and Colleges and the Legislature in 1961, when Cal Poly's enabling act was revised and reenacted.

Certain functions of the California Polytechnic State University are held in common with all California State University campuses, while others are unique to Cal Poly. "The primary function is the provision of undergraduate instruction and graduate instruction through the master's degree (Education Code 66608). In addition to the functions provided by Section 66608, the California Polytechnic State University shall be authorized to emphasize the applied fields of agriculture, engineering, business, home economics, and other occupational and professional fields" (Education Code 90404).

Cal Poly's primary focus is helping students succeed, defined as an expectation that students admitted to Cal Poly should make timely progress to earning their degrees. Cal Poly's faculty and staff are focused on helping students complete their degrees through active advising of students and through the nurturing of student-faculty interactions in the classroom, laboratories, and cocurricular activities.

In addition, Cal Poly is committed to student success and excellence in all areas of education. Cal Poly emphasizes a complete education that teaches students to think logically, evaluate critically, and communicate clearly. Instruction incorporates the ideals of a good work ethic, honesty, and the acceptance of individual differences. The university promotes an effective education that will be a foundation for lifelong learning.

Cal Poly undergraduate students identify their majors from the beginning of their Cal Poly careers. Students select majors at the time they apply for admission, and they take courses in their majors starting in their first year. This affords students the opportunity to decide early if they have chosen a field that is appropriate to their interests and abilities. It also helps students associate with faculty and other students in their field, share common interests, and learn in a supportive atmosphere.

Learn by Doing

Learn by Doing has been the cornerstone of a Cal Poly education since its inception. Over the past century, Cal Poly has evolved from a vocational school into a premier comprehensive polytechnic university, with its special hands-on teaching approach at the core of the curriculum. Classes emphasize active-learning methods and include a high proportion of laboratory and field work. Activities both on and off campus provide opportunities to apply classroom theory to real-world situations. All these aspects are contained in the working definition of Learn by Doing, which the Academic Senate adopted in April 2011: "At Cal Poly, Learn by Doing is a deliberate process whereby students, from day one, acquire knowledge and skills through active engagement and self-reflection inside the classroom and beyond it."

University Strategic Planning

Cal Poly's Vision 2022, adopted in May 2014, sets the framework for more focused academic, enrollment and physical master planning that extend the principles and values of Vision 2022 to the year 2035 and beyond.

The draft Academic Plan supports Cal Poly's future leadership as a premier comprehensive polytechnic university. It forecasts what graduates need to learn and do to be successful and uses that information to shape future programs to meet those needs. The new Master Plan translates academic and support requirements into the physical design of the campus. Vision 2022 and the Academic Plan also guide other more specific activities, including the University's Diversity Strategic Framework.

During 2014-15, the academic planning process explored opportunities that build on the university's strengths. College and department narratives covered prospects for the future, including the curriculum and implications for student learning, teacher-scholarship, and academic space. The physical master plan process engaged the campus and broader regional community in advisory committees to guide the plan and hosted a series of open houses to share draft concepts as they developed.

In 2015-16, the draft Academic Plan is under review, and the master planning process continues with a refined land use and circulation plan, including focused attention on the campus core. The text for the master plan is being prepared. Next steps in 2016 include a full review of impacts on and off campus as required under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). The University expects to complete the physical master plan and environmental review by the end of 2016, followed by submittal to the California State University Board of Trustees for approval in 2017.

Draft materials regarding these initiatives can be accessed from the Cal Poly website at <http://masterplan.calpoly.edu/strategic-plan/>.

University Accreditation

Since 1951, Cal Poly has been fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC Senior College and University Commission, 985 Atlantic Avenue, Suite 100, Alameda CA 94501, telephone 510-748-9797). In its most recent effort to reaffirm its accreditation, the university conducted a two-part self-study titled "Our Polytechnic Identity in the 21st Century," which focused on the themes of Learn by Doing, the Teacher-Scholar Model, and Integration and Student Learning. After the last site visit in the spring of 2012, the WASC Commission commended the university "for an impressive increase in six-year graduation rates from 65 percent for the 1996 cohort to 76 percent for the 2005 cohort." The commission emphasized two areas for further attention and development: "promoting diversity and inclusive excellence" as well as "assessing and improving undergraduate learning." Finally, the commission took action to reaffirm the university's accreditation for the maximum period of ten years while requesting an interim progress report in the spring of 2015.

The WASC Commission asked for an interim report demonstrating progress in achieving a more diverse faculty and student body, increases in the success rates of all students, and improvements in campus climate. "It is evident," concluded the panel reviewing the report, "that addressing these issues has become a high priority at the university." The panel acknowledged many "areas of gain," such as the establishment of the Office of University Diversity and Inclusivity, while encouraging the institution to set quantifiable goals for the diversity of students, staff, and faculty.

Regarding the assessment of undergraduate learning outcomes, "The thoroughness of the Interim Report demonstrated that the university went far beyond what the Commission anticipated, illustrating that the institution is not just committed to meeting Commission expectations but in improving educational effectiveness as part of its DNA." The panel commended "the university not just for thinking from an individual faculty perspective but in keeping a focus on all three levels – program, department, and university – when universities more typically focus on one or two," while making just one recommendation: "to continue thinking about how technology can be more effectively utilized in assessment."

Scoping for the university's next self-study will begin in the summer of 2019, with the self-study beginning in the fall of the same year. The institutional report will be due in the summer of 2021, with the offsite review scheduled in the fall of that year and the accreditation visit in the spring of 2022. For more information, please see the Cal Poly WASC Accreditation website at wasc.calpoly.edu.

Degrees Awarded Profile

The total number of degrees awarded for college year 2014-15 was 4,681. This constitutes a decrease of 3.2% (156) compared to college year 2013-14.

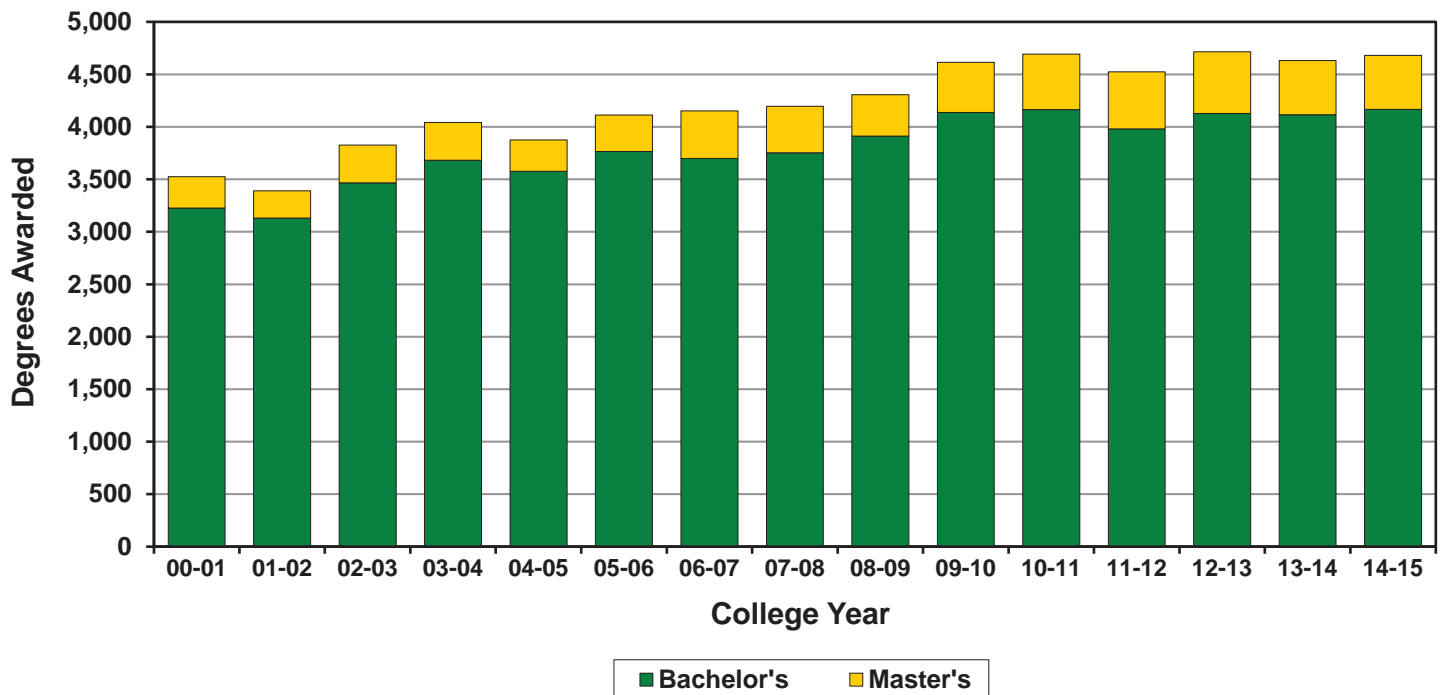

For Bachelor's degrees, Cal Poly awarded 4,167 degrees in college year 2014-15, which represents a decrease of 1.9% (80) compared to college year 2013-14.

For Master's degrees, Cal Poly awarded 514 degrees in college year 2014-15, which represents a 12.9% (76) decrease compared to college year 2013-14

Notes:

- A college year consists of all four academic quarters, with the summer quarter as a lead quarter (e.g., summer 2014 is part of college year 2014-15).
- Institutional Research now reports degrees awarded based on the students' actual term of completion rather than the date the degree was posted, as was done in earlier publications. While this allows for more accurate reporting of actual completion as well as more appropriate graduation rate reporting, these figures may change in future publications because degrees can be posted for students retroactively.
- Degrees awarded is not an unduplicated headcount. Students who receive more than one degree are counted for each degree they receive.

*Cohort is based on the federal Student Right-to-Know Act, which defines an entering cohort as first-time freshmen who entered in fall term or the immediately preceding summer term who were enrolled full-time in the fall term. In addition, deceased students or students who left for military service are allowable exclusions; therefore, persistence rates are calculated on a revised cohort that may be slightly lower than the original cohort.

*Cohort is based on rules similar to those used for the first-time freshmen cohort as defined in the federal Student Right-to-Know Act. Students transferring and entering Cal Poly from another institution as juniors or higher in the fall term or the immediately preceding summer term and who were enrolled full-time in the fall term. In addition, deceased students or students who left for military service are allowable exclusions; therefore, persistence rates are calculated on a revised cohort that may be slightly lower than the original cohort.

^One-year retention rate includes a small number of new transfers who graduated within one year.

*The graduate cohort is defined as full-time, first-time, degree-seeking graduate student who entered in the fall term or enrolled in the immediately preceding summer term. This cohort includes students in the Blended BS/MS Degree program(BMS), also known as the 4+1 program. Students in the BMS program are considered graduate students once they submit a Formal Study Plan (graduate) and they are accepted into the program. In addition, deceased students and students who left for military service are allowable exclusions; therefore, persistence rates are calculated on a revised cohort that may be slightly lower than the original cohort.

^One-year retention rate includes students who graduated within one year.

Notes:

- Data reflects fall terms only.
- Employees can have multiple appointments. For headcounts, employees are only counted once in each employee type and once in the total employees profile according to their primary appointment.
- Whereas headcounts are according to primary appointments, full-time equivalent (FTE) is a summation of each individual appointment.
- “Paid FTE” is the amount of FTE for which the employee is paid.
- “Instructional FTE” is the portion of the “Paid FTE” devoted to instructional duties.
