Dear Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education:

It is with great pleasure that Nova Southeastern University (NSU) presents its second submission to AASHE's Sustainability Tracking Assessment & Rating System (STARS) report under the new 2.2 reporting form.

This submission reflects NSU's continued commitment to improving sustainability on our main campus through the combined efforts from the Office of Facilities Management, many dedicated individuals, and most importantly through input and effort from our student population. We look forward to the opportunity to continue to educate the university community on sustainability and to continuously work towards improvement of our sustainability efforts in categories as identified through the university's repeated involvement with the AASHE STARS program.

NSU's core values include Academic Excellence, Student Centered, Integrity, Innovation, Opportunity, Scholarship/Research, Diversity, and Community. We believe that these core values are directly represented in our active participation with the AASHE STARS program and our university's sustainability goals.

As the President of Nova Southeastern University, I affirm that the information submitted in this report is accurate and supported by collaborative efforts of our university's leadership. I thank the many faculty and staff that were involved in collecting and reporting information, without which this STARS submission would not have been possible. I look forward to our continued participation in this program and advancing sustainability at this institution, along with the other colleges and universities joining in this commitment to sustainability, especially our peers in South Florida.

Sincerely,
