To whom it may concern:

LIU Post is applying for an Innovation credit in its first STARS submission. The innovative program that we are seeking credit for is the establishment of the Beta Chapter of the Honor Society For Sustainability.

The Honor Society for Sustainability was established by students in the School of Sustainability at Arizona State University. It is the first honors society in the world devoted to highlighting the achievements of sustainability majors. LIU Post is the second chapter in the country and has inducted two classes of students to date.

The mission of the Honor Society for Sustainability is to foster a network of sustainability scholars who have demonstrated academic excellence and are committed to solving global challenges of sustainability. This letter is to affirm that at LIU Post we feel that this is a unique and innovative program that highlights the accomplishments of the students enrolled in our Master's of Environmental Sustainability program.

We hope that this initiative will allow LIU Post to receive 1 innovation credit in our first STARS submission. To address any further questions about this program, please feel free to contact me, William Achnitz, the Sustainability Coordinator at LIU Post via email at William.Achnitz@liu.edu or by phone at 516-299-3448.
