New murals added to Wildwood Park tunnel art efforts

RADFORD – New art has been completed in Wildwood Park, adding to the murals completed in 2019 and bringing color and symbols of love to the tunnel at the park.

Brooke Love, founder and CXO of Inscape Creative Company, spearheaded both projects and is pleased with the results.

This year's murals were a collaboration with her daughter, Brealeigh Love, and local artist Tommy Edwards, in memory of Brooke Love's mother who passed away from breast cancer in 1991. Love said she and her daughter "share a deep love for butterflies and wanted to share that love with the people in the city they call home."

The previous murals, completed in 2019, were a collaboration between Love and local artist Sterling Boyd. The

Radford University listed among the top 'green campuses'

RADFORD - Radford University's commitment to sustainability practices is once again being recognized by The Princeton Review, a national organization known for its college rankings, ratings, and guidebooks.

The Princeton Review included Radford University in its listing of 422 colleges and universities in its Guide to Green Colleges: 2022 Edition. The annual guide was published on the company's website on Oct. 26, 2021.

Radford University has been included in The Princeton Review's Guide to Green Colleges since 2010, making this year the university's 12th consecutive appearance on the list.

"We're excited to again be recognized by The Princeton Review as a green campus," said Radford University Sustainability Manager Josh Nease. "Twelve consecutive years of this accolade demonstrates the university's long-standing commitment to sustainability. Once we complete the university's new sustainability and climate action plan, it will serve as a pathway for continued sustainability progress and continued recognition from The Princeton Review for the foreseeable future."

The Princeton Review chose the 420 schools in the green college guide based on its survey of administrators at 835 colleges in 2020-21. The survey asked administrators about their institutions' commitments to sustainability and the environment. The company's editors analyzed more than 25 survey data points to select Radford and the other schools included on the list.

"We strongly recommend Radford University to students who care about the environment and want to study and live at a green college," said The Princeton Review's Editor-in-Chief Rob Franek. "Radford offers excellent academics and demonstrates a commitment to sustainability that is exemplary on many counts."

Radford Public Library wants children to read 1,000 books before kindergarten

RADFORD - The Radford Public Library's newest reading challenge program, 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten, is a fun way for parents and caregivers to engage young children in reading books to better prepare them for kindergarten and encourage a love of reading.

The 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten program, sponsored by Atmos Energy, was recently launched at the Radford Public Library. The goal is in the name, and for each 100 books read participants are recognized at the library and receive a small prize. When they reach the goal of having read 1,000 books, they get a free book to take home and also have a great literacy base to begin their formal education.

RPL Executive Director Elizabeth Sensabaugh said parents and caregivers are central to the success of the reading challenge "as they are the ones who need to begin reading aloud to children during their early years prior to formal education, birth through five years."

Launching the program was a priority for RPL Youth Librarian Morgan Esterhuizen. Sensabaugh said since Esterhuizen started her position in November of last year, "She's brought so many valuable ideas, programs, and

New study: Where COVID is concerned, men are more likely to get sicker and die but women demonstrate more extreme fear

A study by a group of Virginia Tech economic researchers published in the journal Frontiers in Psychology revealed that women were more likely than men to report extreme levels of COVID-19.

In fact, when survey responders were asked to rate their fear of the pandemic on a sliding scale, nearly 20 percent of women chose the highest possible option compared with 9.3 percent of men. However, previous studies have shown that men are more likely to experience severe illness or die of COVID-19.

"That's the big surprise in the paper. It's a mismatch," said Sheryl Ball, a professor in the Department of Economics, part of the Virginia Tech College of Science. "You would think that if the health risks are bigger for one group than another group, you expect the group that is facing the greater risks to be working harder to not get COVID, and we just don't see that."

In March 2020, just days into the COVID-19 pandemic, the researchers started brainstorming ideas for a study that would gauge how people were emotionally responding to the pandemic.

"As a team of behavioral economists, we are interested in how people make decisions and in factors that contribute to changes in behavior," said Abdelaziz Alsharawy, lead author on the study and a recent Ph.D. graduate in economics. He is now a post-doctorate researcher at Princeton University.

"The onset of the pandemic seemed like a worldwide natural experiment, and we were immediately drawn to investigating its implications on individuals and the process of decision-making," said Dr. Alsharawy. "The team was especially interested in how the fear of COVID-19 affected people's behavior and economic choices, specifically if those reactions differed between men and women."

Starting in early April 2020, the team issued a survey to 1,500 people randomly selected from across the United States and asked them to answer questions about their demographics, attitudes, social preferences, and how they were following preventative health measures.

Survey respondents also rated how likely they were to adopt Centers for Disease Control and Prevention-recommended practices such as handwashing, physical distancing, and wearing a face mask. The data revealed that women were more likely to follow these practices than men, and that behavior is motivated by a fear of COVID-19.

Lead author Abdelaziz Alsharawy's research revealed that women were more likely than men to report extreme levels of fear of COVID-19.

"It isn't being female that makes you adhere to the preventative measures, it's the level of fear," said Alec Smith, an assistant professor of economics. "And it just happens to be true that women have more fear of COVID than men."

The gender differences don't stop there — the survey also gauged how people perceived both the health and financial consequences of the pandemic. Women were more likely to be concerned about the health risks than men, but men showed greater worry for the financial consequences. This surprised the team, as they hypothesized that women would show greater fear for both.

"We hope that this research contributes to our understanding of how to convince large groups of people to make behavioral changes in response to an urgent situation like a global pandemic," said co-author Ross Spoon, a graduate student in economics. "Understanding how different groups of people respond to information and emotional appeals will help governments and other institutions craft communication strategies to deal with these situations."

ROANOKE CITY

13th STREET SE IMPROVEMENTS WITH DETOUR – A project to improve a portion of 13th Street SE in Roanoke is underway. Located in a residential neighborhood just east of downtown Roanoke, this project will improve traffic flow and connectivity along 13th Street SE from Tazewell Avenue to Norfolk Avenue. The project entails reconstructing about 0.2-mile of 13th Street as an improved, two-lane roadway with 10.5-foot-wide travel lane and a raised median. A new roadway will extend 13th Street to Norfolk Avenue and the intersection at 13th Street and Wise Avenue will be reconfigured to include a roundabout. Bike lanes, sidewalks, crosswalks and curb and gutter will also be added. Southbound 13th Street traffic has a detour in place using Norfolk Avenue onto 12th Street to Tazewell Avenue. This detour will be in place throughout the duration of this project. Signs will be posted to designate the detour route. Northbound 13th Street will remain open to traffic. Flaggers may be possible and the speed limit through the work zone is 25 mph. The project is expected to be completed in summer 2023.

ROANOKE COUNTY

ROUTE 760 (DUGUIDS LANE) BRIDGE REPLACEMENT & DETOUR – A project to replace the Route 760 (Duguids Lane) bridge over the Roanoke River has begun. The bridge is located 0.027 mile south of the intersection of Route 639 (West Riverside Drive) and 0.068 mile north of the intersection with Route 639 (West Riverside Drive). Typical work hours are expected to be Monday through Saturday during daytime hours with occasional work on Sunday. During construction, traffic will be detoured for 45 days starting in late January or early February 2022. Signs will be posted two weeks in advance of the road closure. The traffic detour will be removed by March 31, 2022. Drivers will use Mill Lane or West Riverside Drive to detour and return to Duguids Lane. Flagging operations may be in place periodically and occasional night work is possible. Drivers can expect short-term lane closures with flaggers controlling traffic on West Riverside Drive periodically. Access to Green Hill Park, private entrances and businesses will be maintained at all times. Completion is expected late spring 2022.

ROUTE 220 SLOPE REPAIRS IN ROANOKE COUNTY NEAR CROSSBOW CIRCLE INTERSECTION

– Work to repair a slope along southbound Route 220 just south of its intersection with Route 1290 (Crossbow Circle) in Roanoke County has begun. Heavy rains in recent years have caused debris and soil along this slope to move. Drivers can expect short-term lane closures with flaggers directing traffic on Crossbow Circle when construction equipment is being moved into the site. A shoulder closure along southbound Route 220 will be installed in the months ahead as work progresses. Weather permitting, the project is expected to be completed January 2022.

Work will take place .45 miles south of the intersection with Route 117 (Peters Creek Road) and will end at the intersection. The majority of the construction, phase one and two, will take place during daytime hours, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday. The southbound lane of Williamson Road will be closed and traffic will be shifted into the center turn lane. The northbound lane will remain open. In addition, left turns will not be permitted into entrances from both southbound and northbound lanes within the work zone on Williamson Road. This pattern will remain in place through the first two phases of the project. During the third phase of the project, work will be performed with lane closures in place during night hours only, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Shoulder closures will be in place throughout the project with message boards to alert drivers. Expected to be completed in December 2021.

TRAFFIC SHIFT: Southbound traffic within the work zone on Williamson Road., south of the intersection with Peters Creek Road, will be shifted through the center lane during the hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on weekdays.

Alternating nighttime lane and shoulder closures will be in place at the intersection of Williamson Road and Peters Creek Road.

ROUTE 11 NORTH (ROUTE 460 EAST) WEST MAIN STREET SIDEWALK PROJECT – Work has begun installing sidewalks and other pedestrian improvements on Route 11 North (Route 460 East). The work includes constructing a third lane along Southbound Route 419/Electric Road between Ogden Road and the Route 220 Expressway on ramp. There will be crosswalks added with pedestrian signals and modifications to the existing traffic signals. Sidewalks will be constructed along Northbound Route 419 and along Southbound Route 419 between Ogden Road and South Peak Drive. There will be new surface pavement placed and the pavement markings will be redone. The contractor continues to perform storm sewer and waterline pipe installation. Estimated completion is late 2021.

Daytime hours of 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. and nighttime hours of 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. will be in place for possible lane and shoulder closures.

A water main is being installed across Route 419. A single lane closure is in place in the eastbound and westbound lanes during nighttime hours, 8 p.m. to 8 a.m.,

Monday through Thursdays. Paving of business entrances may occur during these nighttime hours as well.

BEDFORD COUNTY

ROUTE 460 S-CURVE REALIGNMENT – Work has begun to realign 1.4 miles of the eastbound lanes of Route 460 in Bedford County near Montvale, about eight miles west of Bedford and approximately 2.3 miles east of Montvale. Eastbound and westbound Route 460 is reduced to one lane. Drivers can expect the speed limit in both directions of Route 460 to be reduced to 45 mph. In addition, there will be alternating long-term, single lane closures on westbound and eastbound Route 460. Message boards will be posted to alert drivers of upcoming lane closures and traffic pattern changes. Completion is expected in Summer 2022.

TRAFFIC SWITCH: A new traffic pattern is in place. Route 460 will be reduced to one lane in each direction and shifted into the westbound lanes. A median barrier will be installed to separate opposing lanes of traffic. The eastbound lanes of Route 460 will be closed. The lane width will be 11' wide and the barrier wall will be set at 14' wide. This traffic switch is scheduled to be in place through late spring 2022 but efforts will be made to complete this portion of the project earlier if possible.

In addition, the Route 726 (Wilkerson Mill Road) intersection with eastbound Route 460 will also be closed. Drivers on Wilkerson Mill Road will be detoured to use Route 692 (Quarterwood Road) to access eastbound or westbound Route 460. This change will affect Misty Ridge residents.

ROUTE 715 BRIDGE REPLACEMENT – Beginning Nov. 29, a bridge replacement project over Norfolk Southern Railroad will close Route 715 (Lowery Road). The bridge is located 0.085 mile south of Norfolk Southern Railroad on Route 715. Message boards will alert drivers. This replacement will change the current single lane steel and wooden bridge to a two-lane concrete bridge. A detour will be in place. Travelers will use Route 671 (Timber Ridge Road) to Route 221 (Forest Road). The detour will remain in place until project completion which is scheduled for Fall 2022.

ROUTE 622 BRIDGE REPLACEMENT – Work to replace the bridge over the Norfolk Southern Railway on Route 622 (Everett Road) is underway. The bridge is closed. The closure is located 0.48 mile north of Route 1329 (West Crossing Drive) and 1.06 miles south of Route 646 (Gladden Circle). Since work is over the railway, strict requirements require work is stopped for passage of trains during work hours for safety purposes. A signed detour will be in place. Drivers traveling from the south end of the bridge will use Route 811 (Thomas Jefferson Road) to Route 221 South (Forest Road) to Route 646 (Gladden Circle) to Route 622 (Everett Road). Drivers traveling north will use Route 646 (Gladden Circle) to Route 221 North (Forest Road) to Route 811 (Thomas Jefferson Road) back to Route 622 (Everett Road). The road is scheduled to be closed until May 2022.

projects are in partnership with the Radford Parks and Recreation Department “in an effort to highlight all that is wild and wonderful and bring beautiful art to residents and travelers alike,” said Brooke Love.

The Radford murals are just two of the public art projects Inscape Creative Company has undertaken. Each year, ICC selects two mural projects in the New River Valley to work on throughout the year “with a focus on bringing art and environmental awareness to the natural world,” Love said.

She is working in partnership with Friends of Peak Creek, The Fine Arts Center of the New River Valley, the Town of Pulaski, and potentially the New River Community College art department on storm drain murals throughout Pulaski’s downtown streets. The first storm drain mural was completed this fall by local artist Cheri Strenz on the corner of Washington and First streets near the post office.

“It is my hope that these works of art will inspire hope in others to carry with them wherever they go,” Love said.

Love thanked the Radford Parks and Recreation Department and Mark Barnett, store manager at Radford’s Sherwin-Williams, who she said “has been a huge supporter of these projects and has donated supplies to make these murals possible.” All other supplies and contributions to the artist for the project were paid for by Inscape Creative Co.

Anyone interested in collaborating on a mural project with Love can reach out to her at office@inscapecreative.co. Information about the projects of the past, the present, and the future is available at <https://www.inscapecreative.co/work/projects-initiatives/radford-city/radarts>.

Green Campuses

The green colleges guide provides information about each profiled institution’s admission requirements, cost and financial aid, and student demographics. It also includes “green facts” about each school.

Colleges with Green Rating scores of 80 or higher were listed in the 2022 guide. Radford University scored 83 out of a possible 99. That score is based partly upon the university’s having a formal sustainability committee and Presidential Task Force on Sustainability, a sustainability officer, a school-developed bicycle plan, and the availability of a free/reduced-price transit program.

In November 2020, the university signed the Carbon Commitment, a document that recognizes the need for colleges and universities to exercise leadership in addressing the increasing pace and detrimental impacts of climate change.

At the commitment’s core is the effort to reduce greenhouse gas emissions to net-zero by 2040 and to integrate sustainability and climate action into the Radford University curriculum and culture.

The President’s Task Force on Sustainability was established along with the signing of the Carbon Commitment. Made up of 13 appointed faculty, staff, and students, the task force charges the Radford family to work together toward developing a new sustainability and climate action plan.

Engaging students has been a considerable component of the university’s sustainability mission since it signed the American College and University Presidents’ Climate Commitment in 2009.

For example, students have taken leadership responsibilities in the Radford chapter of the Food Recovery Network, delivering meals to a food bank near campus to help fight food insecurity in the City of Radford and the surrounding region.

Students participating in the Food Recovery Network program typically are part of the sustainability leadership team internship program, which gives them hands-on sustainability-related work experience throughout the academic year on various green campus initiatives such as the annual Earth Week events and the popular Bags to Benches program, which recycles plastic bags into benches to place in green spaces on campus.

For its efforts, Radford received a STARS (Sustainability Tracking, Assessment and Rating System) silver rating in May 2019 from the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education.

marketing enhancements to us at RPL.

“She was passionate to get 1,000 Books going, and we found the financial support to make it happen,” said Sensabaugh. “We are especially lucky that Atmos Energy has taken such a supportive interest in this program. Our Lamplighters continue to offer amazing support in raising funds so that RPL can continue to offer programs.

“Due to the pandemic, the Lamplighters have not been able to have their usual big book sales which is their primary source of fundraising, so having Atmos Energy step in at this time is a dream come true,” said Sensabaugh. “Not only has Atmos Energy sponsored 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten, but also they have sent significant funding to help us afford an upcoming visit from an award-winning author.”

Sensabaugh said the details of the author visit are being planned by the members of the Radford Reads with Radford University committee and will be released soon.

Esterhuizen said she is excited about adding the 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten program to RPL’s offerings.

“Beanstack is a digital reading platform that we used this year for our Summer Reading Program, and it was a hit, so I wanted to explore what other services Beanstack offered and came across their fabulous Badge Books,” Esterhuizen said. “These books offer stickers to mark children’s progression through the challenge, as well as book lists and lots of extra activities. I had already been wanting to start a 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten program here at RPL, so it felt like a wonderful fit for our community. We’re excited to encourage literacy in our youngest patrons with this program and are so grateful to Atmos Energy for providing our patrons with their Badge Books.”

Cybersecurity expert offers safety tips for online holiday shopping

The surge for online shopping brings heightened cybersecurity risks for consumers this holiday season during the COVID-19 pandemic. Virginia Tech cyber expert Aaron Brantly shares the following safety tips for preventing online scams.

1. Watch out for fake websites and scams. If it looks too good to be true, it probably is.
2. Shop only from a secure computer and consider using a service such as PayPal or Apple Pay.
3. Do not use a debit card if possible.
4. Make sure that any website you engage in commerce on has “SSL” often viewed as a lock icon on Safari and Chrome.
5. Limit the amount of personal information you disclose.
6. Search on retail sites (Walmart, Amazon, Target, Best Buy etc.) rather than using search engines and use “trusted vendors.”
7. Consider what you are purchasing: where was it made, what types of data will be used by it and what will it collect, what are the terms of service associated with its use, does it meet security standards, is it manufactured by a reputable producer?

8. Review your credit card statements and banking statements regularly to identify potentially fraudulent purchases.

9. Use a password manager (Keychain, LastPass, 1Password, or similar) to create unique user IDs and passwords for each site you visit. DO NOT reuse passwords or usernames, particularly those that are used on banking, billing or medical sites.

10. Consider shopping locally. Local businesses have been especially hard hit during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Aaron Brantly, an associate professor of political science at Virginia Tech and director of the Tech4Humanity Lab, has worked on issues related to cybersecurity from multiple angles, including human rights and development, intelligence and national security, and military cybersecurity. His interests span the political science and computer science divide.

Cadet Matt Mabutas chosen to highlight the colors at the Virginia game

Cadet Matt Mabutas will travel with the Hokies to receive the flags at today’s football game at Virginia.

The Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets and the Virginia Tech football team continue their proud partnership of highlighting the colors during the pre-game ceremony at every football game.

Three football players, chosen because of their performance in the last game or at practice, carry the American flag, the state flag, and the team’s spirit flag and lead the team onto the field. They deliver the flags to cadets at the south end of the field.

The cadets, also selected based on their performance in the corps, render honor to the flags and carry them off the field. At home games, three first-year cadets are selected, and one or two upper-class cadets travel with the team and receive the flags at away games.

Mabutas is a senior in Air Force ROTC majoring in mechanical engineering in the College of Engineering and an undergraduate researcher in the Multiphysics Intelligent and Dynamical Systems Lab. A member of the Highty-Tighties and the executive officer for his unit in the corps, he was chosen for his ever-present high morale and his ability to keep those around him motivated to perform above and beyond.

WORSHIP DIRECTORY

TESTING AND COMFORT

Read Genesis 22:1 through 24:67

Rebounding from the joy of his promised son and the distress of dismissing Hagar and Ishmael, Abraham negotiated a peace treaty with King Abimelek and put down his tent pegs in Beer-sheba. Seed time and harvest became a way of life for this covenant family.

Imagine Abraham's surprise when God said this: "Take your son, your only son, whom you love—Isaac—and go to the region of Moriah. Sacrifice him there as a burnt offering on a mountain I will show you" (Genesis 22:2).

It is suggested by historians that Isaac was between the ages of sixteen and twentyfive—old enough to know what was going on. Yet he did not resist. He trusted his father's faith that God would provide. And God did! Abraham was listening for and heard the voice of God. Isaac was saved.

Fast forward to the meeting of Abraham's servant and Rebekah at the well—Rebekah knew the God of Abraham, and in His design she was in the right place at the right time. Rebekah, like Isaac, did not resist. She left immediately, willing to trust the servant of Abraham.

Challenge for Today: Dare to trust the guidance of your spiritual leader. Quicklook: Genesis 22:1-12

Next move for Virginia Tech in coaching search

From the Sidelines
Marty Gordon

Virginia Tech's search for a new football coach has kept sports reporters jumping recently, and the question is what Athletic Director Whit Babcock is looking for in that future leader.

The list should include the following:

An offensive mind that finally can do something on the field. Offense must be at the top of the list to excite the Hokie fan base which thought the previous regime was heading that way but did not.

A known recruiter in the Southeast, especially in the Commonwealth of Virginia. The Hokies have been failing in keeping the top athletes home.

A coach must have a sense that the crazy Hokie fan base is demanding a new high, one that Frank Beamer set the foundation for.

There also must be some experience in a head coaching position. Yes, Virginia Tech could serve as a stepping stone, but if the new coach hopes to move on, he will learn to win in maroon and burnt orange.

The new coach must be a better "people person" in order to again excite the fan base.

This does not mean a young coach is out of the conversation, but it might help if an older one comes into the fold.

The wish list should also include a coach who understands the media are an important part of his job.

Money should not be a problem if the university hopes to produce a marketing gem on the field. A nationally known football team will increase that attention. In addition, the football team can serve as a financial cow for many other things and athletic programs.

Frank Beamer parked the car in the parking lot outside Lane Stadium with the keys running, but somewhere along the way, it experienced some major mechanical problems. Babcock must find the right mechanic to fix at least some of the issues so the Hokies can get the car started once again.

The bigger hope is that a coach can be found who can pull the car out of the parking lot and down the road.

In the midst of this, those fixes will not come overnight. They might not even come over a few seasons. The university is starting from scratch in so many ways, and change means taking a step back. Fans just need to be a little patient, and that will be hard to do especially when they hope that old car in the parking lot can be traded in for something a little shinier. Right now, the prices of new cars are through the roof and who knows what we might get.

Warden resigns as Christiansburg wrestling coach

Marty Gordon
NRVsports@ourvalley.org

New Kent put a stop to Christiansburg's wrestling dominance beginning in 2019 and has claimed two of the three past crowns. This year, Christiansburg returns 10 outstanding wrestlers to a team that has high hopes for a shot at another run, but that all changed with the resignation of Coach Cliff Warden this past week. Warden has also stepped down from his teaching position at the school.

Warden took over in 2018 after winning four state championships at Independence High School in Coal City, W.Va. He was Christiansburg's fourth coach in the past 17 years.

Independence boasted the top three wrestlers in three West Virginia AA/A weight classes last year and locked up the championship before most of the team took to the mat in the semi-finals.

The Blue Demons are scheduled to start their season next week, and assistant coach Brandon Taylor has been appointed acting coach until a new coach can be hired.

Warden is the second coach to suddenly resign. Two weeks ago, longtime softball coach Nate O'Dell stepped down. The school hopes to hire his replacement next week.

Former Bobcat hurler to lead softball program

Marty Gordon
NRVsports@ourvalley.org

Former Radford High School softball pitcher Haley O'Brien Smith (left) is back on the field this season as the coach at her alma mater.

Haley O'Brien Smith is returning to the Radford High School softball field as the school's new coach.

The former RHS pitcher finished her Radford career with a .585 batting average and 18 homers, which still stands as the school record. Her junior year, she was named first-team Virginia High School Coaches Association infield, first-team infield All-Conference 45, first-team infield 1A West Region, and second-team 1A All-State. In 2013, she helped the team win the Three Rivers District Tournament.

An injury brought her playing career to a screeching halt, but she has always been determined to give back to the game she loves.

Last year, she started teaching at RHS, and when the coaching position came open, she knew she had to consider it. Being the head varsity softball coach at Radford has been a dream of hers since she was little.

"RHS softball has no state championships, so that is always a big goal," Smith said. "My ultimate goal is to push our girls to be the best teammates, athletes, and contributors to society that they can be. These athletes haven't played a full season in three years. Our main goal is to build back better and stronger than before with deep roots of Bobcat pride and tradition."

The former Bobcat pitcher added that being back at Veterans Field in Radford gear feels right.

"Softball was my first love. This field is where I fell in love with the game," she said.

Workouts are scheduled to begin next week, and the new coach will quickly learn what team she might have for the spring.

Sloss out at Blacksburg

Marty Gordon
NRVsports@ourvalley.org

Eddie Sloss has stepped down as the head football coach at Blacksburg High after four seasons.

Virginia Tech is not the only football program in Blacksburg looking for a new coach. On Tuesday, Eddie Sloss announced his departure after four years at Blacksburg High School. He met with players earlier in the day and broke the news to his returning players.

Blacksburg finished this past season winless, and the team's record for the past three years is 6-21.

Sloss's first year, 2018, the team completed a 13-1 season before losing to Woodgrove in the Class 4 state semis.

Prior to Blacksburg, Sloss spent four years at Carroll County High School from 2014-2017, where he compiled a 5-35 mark. He was a former assistant coach at Blacksburg and Christiansburg high schools and is a graduate of Blacksburg High School.

Sloss replaced Thad Wells, who led the Bruins to a state title but left for a high school in North Carolina.

The search for Sloss's replacement has begun immediately as the program looks for its third coach in six years.

Virginia Techniques gymnast signs with Bluefield State

Karlee Williams, a gymnast at Christiansburg's Virginia Techniques, has signed a letter of intent to continue her career in college at Bluefield State. She made the announcement at the Christiansburg High School gym earlier this month.

Marty Gordon
NRVsports@ourvalley.org

For the third time in a week, a gymnast from Virginia Techniques in Christiansburg has signed a national letter of intent to continue her career in college. Karlee Williams is headed to Bluefield State.

"I chose Bluefield because of the team, the atmosphere, and of course the acro and tumbling," she said.

Williams will not compete in "true" gymnastics in college, switching to Acro and Tumbling, a subcategory of gymnastics that combines gymnastics tumbling, acrobatic lifts, pyramid lifts, aerial tosses, and choreographed skills team routines.

The focus in both acro and gymnastics is strength, balance, and flexibility but the difference in execution lies in the transition of movement. For many the difference is described as "Gymnastics is a sport and Acrobatics is an art."

Currently, 30 colleges NCAA colleges have acrobatics and tumbling programs, four of them at the Division I level.

Teams compete in six events: compulsories, acro, pyramid, toss, tumbling, and a team event. The skill sets of tumbling and acrobatics are the athletic aspects of cheerleading. Lifts and tosses seen in cheerleading are acrobatics and gymnastics skills. Competitors in this sport demonstrate significant strength, power, flexibility, and balance in their skill set performances.

Bluefield State is a NCAA Division II school and a member of the United States Collegiate Athletic Association with an enrollment of 1,248 students on the West Virginia side of the border.

Williams, who attended Floyd County High School, is following in the footsteps of another outstanding gymnast from Virginia Techniques, Rayna Worley, who is now at the University of Kentucky and was recognized as one of the most outstanding freshmen in the Southeastern Conference on a team that was ranked ninth nationally.

"Virginia Techniques has made me into a better athlete and an overall better person," Williams said. "Some of my best accomplishments are just from pushing myself to be the best I can be every day."

Williams plans to major in psychology at Bluefield State.
