Radford Schools named School Division of Innovation by VDOE

Heather Bell
communitynews@ourvalley.org

RADFORD - Radford City Public Schools have been chosen as a School Division of Innovation, a designation that can lead to grant opportunities and more.

The School Divisions of Innovation program was authorized by the 2017 General Assembly. It recognizes school divisions "for designing and implementing alternatives to traditional instructional practices and school structures to improve student learning and promote college and career readiness and good citizenship," according to the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE). The designation of the Radford City Public Schools will be in place from the 2022-23 school year through 2027-28.

Radford Superintendent Robert Graham said the designation means a lot for Radford.

"This will open up the opportunity to bring in even more resources than we have now," said Graham. "Building new partnerships, strengthening ongoing partnerships, grant opportunities, new and innovative courses, project-based learning and assessments as well as 21st-century learning are all possibilities for RCPS with this new designation."

To earn the School Division of Innovation designation, Radford City Public Schools had to submit a plan to the VDOE.

That plan the school system submitted reads as follows:

"Radford City Public Schools (RCPS) aspires to offer its students an education that is relevant, relatable, and interactive. When the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) developed and published its Profile of a High School Graduate, RCPS knew that a change in instructional delivery was needed to make students "life-ready." Jobs in scientific, technical, or healthcare areas were exploding, and the division began its response by visiting innovative school divisions including High Tech High in San Diego, Calif., exploring STEM programs including Warhill High School in Williamsburg, Va., and diving into high-quality teacher professional development (PD), including 'Lesson Study.'

"RCPS adopted a hybrid schedule to increase hands-on, interactive learning; trained teachers in Project Lead the Way practices; and began the task of integrating core content with technology strands and standards. RCPS accomplished much in the years prior to COVID-19 and was dedicating funding and resources to the "life ready" initiative. One might think that COVID-19 slowed the division's momentum with big change, but it gave the teachers more opportunities to engage in technology while helping their students find creative ways to interact virtually.

"Training in Computer Science (CS) practices have continued, PLTW professional development and course implementation is ongoing, and the integrated education movement is as important to the division as it was prior to the pandemic. RCPS is committed not only to completing its work, but now more than ever is energized by what it has learned in the last five years and is ready to take it to the next level.

"STEM+C (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math + Computational Thinking) is now our focus. The STEM+C's primary goals are building well-defined career pathways, K-12, and showcasing student work through exhibitions. These two goals encompass many subgoals within them such as adding PLTW Engineering and PLTW Biomedical career paths, increasing the number of CTE certifications earned, and senior capstone projects.

"As it moves forward, the division will evaluate its efforts through a variety of measurement practices. For example, enrollment of at-risk students in STEM courses and those who earn certificates and/or internships will be tracked. Pre- and post- student, staff, and community surveys will help the division to see the value in student exhibitions and senior capstone projects. Digital portfolios will

NRCC receives cyber designation

New River Community College has been designated as a National Center for Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense (CAE-CD) by the National Security Agency (NSA).

Beginning this year, students who graduate with an associate degree in Information Technology - Cyber Security Specialization will receive a letter with their diploma indicating this designation.

The college received this designation after a multi-year, peer-reviewed process, in which NRCC showcased its robust and active cybersecurity program that includes a range of student activities. The activities offered included a computer club, a cyber day for the local community, several cyber ninja summer camps, competitions events, and refurbished donated computers to students in need with the computer club giving out a total of over 200 computers.

With the CAE-CD designation, NRCC will receive opportunities to apply for federal grant projects and participate in professional development for its faculty.

"Receiving the CAE-CD designation confirms the excellent work of our information technology and computer science faculty in and out of the classroom," said Debbie Bond, NRCC Dean of Business and Technologies. "The faculty is dedicated to the students and makes sure they are taught the most current technology and skills."

NRCC joins nine other community colleges and 13 four-year universities in Virginia that hold the National Center for Academic Excellence designation.

"This recognition highlights the important work NRCC is doing in cyber security education and makes our graduates even more competitive as they enter the job market or continue learning at a four-year institution," said Dr. Dave Filer, NRCC professor of information systems technology.

The Information Technology - Cyber Security Specialization program at the college is a two-year program that requires students to take several industry-recognized certification exams. Along with that program, NRCC offers nine other programs in the information technology field.

To learn more about the NRCC Center for Cyber Defense, visit www.nr.edu/cybersecurity/ or contact Dr. Filer at dfiler@nr.edu or (540) 674-3600, ext. 4272.

Christiansburg Institute offers community digitization of archives in Radford

RADFORD - Volunteers from the Christiansburg Institute (CI) will be on the campus of Radford University today, March 26, to offer the community digitization services of their family memorabilia.

"Join Christiansburg Institute at Radford University for our second Community History Harvest," CI announced. "RU Students and members of the community are invited to bring memorabilia that represent the history of themselves, their family, and their community for digitization."

The service is available today, Saturday, March 26, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Heth Hall at Radford University. Anyone with questions can contact CIMA@christiansburginstitute.com.

Christiansburg Institute, Museum and Archives (CIMA) is also in the process of gathering archival items for its collections. Today's digitization event is open to the public without having to donate the items to the archives. However, CIMA is always on the lookout for items to add to the archive collections.

"As an archive dedicated to the history of Christiansburg Industrial Institute and broader black history in Southwestern Virginia, we accept and maintain collections created by C.I.I. alumni and their descendants that demonstrate a connection to the school or region," according to the CIMA website. "Our mission is to ensure these materials will be preserved and accessible to researchers for generations to come. Once your papers are accepted as part of the archives, the material will be housed in our environmentally-controlled and secure office where staff will oversee their proper storage and use. Collections will be accessible to you, your family, the public, and researchers such as students, professors, genealogists, and journalists so we can tell a more complete history of education and African-American life in Southwestern Virginia.

"While Christiansburg Institute Archives focuses its collections on the history of Christiansburg Industrial Institute, we all collect more broadly about African-American history in Southwestern Virginia. We collect a diversity of material types and formats, ranging in size from a single item to dozens of boxes. Donated materials do not need to be organized or stored in archival boxes."

To arrange for pickup, residents must register and follow these guidelines: Leaf compost service is for Blacksburg residents only. Register for a 15-minute time slot. Do not arrive more than 10 minutes early. Remain parked in the upper lot until town staff provide directions to the compost zone. There the staff will load up the vehicle. ## Virtuoso Edgar Meyer and Scottish Ensemble to present evening of classical works at MAC

Grammy-winning bassist Edgar Meyer, celebrated the world over for his work as a performer and composer, will pair with string orchestra Scottish Ensemble for a performance of classical works including a new composition by Meyer written especially for this tour, at the Moss Arts Center on Thursday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m.

Meyer makes his third appearance at the Moss Arts Center for the performance, which will be held in the center's Anne and Ellen Fife Theatre, located within the Street and Davis Performance Hall at 190 Alumni Mall.

In addition to Meyer's new composition, the evening concert will feature the first movement of Meyer's string quintet, Gustav Holst's "St. Paul's Suite," Bach's Gamba Sonata in G, "Punctum" by Caroline Shaw, and Vaughan Williams' "The Lark Ascending."

This event brings together two formidable forces in classical music performance. Meyer's unparalleled technique and musicianship in combination with his gift for composition have brought him to the fore, and his uniqueness in the field was recognized by a MacArthur Award in 2002.

Scottish Ensemble is the U.K.'s leading string orchestra with a core of outstanding string players who inspire audiences with vibrant performances that are powerful, challenging, and rewarding experiences that cross genres, styles, musical periods, and artistic forms to offer fresh perspectives on classical music.

In 2011, Meyer joined cellist Yo-Yo Ma, mandolinist Chris Thile, and fiddler Stuart

Duncan for the Grammy-winning "The Goat Rodeo Sessions." He received his fifth Grammy Award in 2015 for his "Bass & Mandolin" collaboration with Thile, and his most recent recording, "Not Our First Rodeo," is the 2020 follow-up to "The Goat Rodeo Sessions."

Meyer also has carved out a remarkable niche as a composer. His "New Piece for Orchestra" was premiered and commissioned by the Nashville Symphony and the Aspen Music Festival and School in 2017, and "Concerto for Double Bass and Violin" was premiered in 2012 by Bell and Meyer at the Tanglewood Music Festival with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Scottish Ensemble members and Meyer will come together for a wide-ranging conversation on collaboration, composition, and performance on Thursday, March 31, at 2 p.m. in the center's Anne and Ellen Fife Theatre. Moderated by Alan Weinstein, associate professor of cello, bass, and chamber music in the School of Performing Arts, and co-presented by the Lifelong Learning Institute at Virginia Tech, the event is free and open to the public, but registration is required. The event will also be available to view as a livestream.

Tickets for the performance are $25 to $55 for the general public and $10 for Virginia Tech students and youth 18 and under. Tickets can be purchased online; at the Moss Arts Center's box office, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday; or by calling 540-231-5300 during box office hours.

Letter to the Editor: Medicare Advantage brings good health to seniors

Working in the medical field for over 30 years as a Women’s Health and Family Nurse Practitioner, I’ve learned many of the ins and outs of our health care system. I also know how complex our health care system is for those who don’t spend every day working in it. Insurance and Medicare programs are particularly challenging.

Medicare Advantage, however, is a public-private insurance option that supplements the care seniors receive from original Medicare. Medicare Advantage plans cover integrated vision, dental, and hearing benefits, access to companion care and at-home caregiver support, as well as prescription drug costs. The best part about these benefits is that they are easy to understand and access, so beneficiaries don’t have to spend hours online sorting through their coverage to know what is and isn’t included in their plan.

Even during COVID-19, when health care was under a microscope across the country, Medicare Advantage plans adapted and provided increased benefits to enrollees. By establishing prescription drug and grocery delivery services, the program allowed seniors, a vulnerable population, to stay safely at home. With the addition of telehealth appointments, patients were able to maintain communication and healthcare appointments from their homes.

It’s these seemingly small, but meaningful efforts to promote senior needs as a top priority that make programs like Medicare Advantage so unique. Everyone should feel like their health care program puts the patient first, and Medicare Advantage does just that.

Having served on the Radford City Council and several other regional boards and commissions, I have seen the effectiveness of public-private partnerships and this is one we need to continue. With all the focus on health care these past two years, I hope that Senators Warner and Kaine will continue to advocate for Medicare Advantage in Congress and show their commitment to senior health in Virginia.

help students monitor their own progress as well as guide teachers in knowing the areas in which children have an interest so as to better guide them in their career path. RCPS administrators will monitor teachers’ progress with integrated lesson plans, lesson delivery, and electronic portfolios.

“RCPS is excited about the future of its schools and feels the STEM+C initiative will help its students to be both ‘life ready’ and ‘lifelong learners.’ The initiative will continue to grow teacher pedagogy as well as strengthen student engagement. Focusing on certifications and senior capstone projects will produce students with confidence. The many positive outcomes of this initiative make STEM+C a win-win for Radford City.”

VDOE officials said the School Divisions of Innovation program is important for the entire commonwealth as other school divisions can learn from what works in the designated divisions. The program “provides a laboratory for innovative approaches to improve outcomes for students and determine whether these innovations have the potential to impact statewide policy decisions,” Board of Education President Daniel Gecker said of the program in 2021. “The board looks forward to seeing how these divisions move forward with their innovations and how they impact student performance and outcomes,” Gecker said.

follow them through the Moseley-Hobbs is a part of a universitywide, funeral process.”

multiple-year effort to preserve the presence and legacy of the white oak, which was located on the grounds of Smithfield Plantation and claimed by a storm in May 2020. Estimated to be more than three centuries old and to have stood long before European colonists arrived, the Merry Tree, as it is commonly called, is thought to have become a sacred gathering place for the people enslaved at the plantation.

“The Merry Tree was the place or location in which the enslaved community would gather for meetings, religious ceremonies, and celebrations. And when I say celebrations, I also mean homegoing services and funerals,” said Moseley-Hobbs, whose four-times-grandfather Thomas Fraction was once enslaved at Smithfield.

Through the combined efforts of Virginia Tech, Smithfield Plantation, the Virginia Department of Forestry, and descendants of families formerly enslaved there, the crown of the tree has been removed and is now in the process of being crafted into two art installations. After extensive planning and discussions, this process officially began in late February.

“Since the storm hit and the tree went down, there has been a lot of discussion among university stakeholders and members of the Fraction family to ensure we treated this wood with the dignity it deserves,” said Wendy Halsey, assistant vice president for facilities operations at Virginia Tech. “While this is just the first step, our path forward will remain committed to collaboration, thoughtful planning, and respect.”

A ceremony at the Merry Oak site was held during 1872 Forward: Celebrating Virginia Tech from March 24-26. Spearheaded by the work of the Council on Virginia Tech History, the three-day celebration recognized the varied groups who helped shape Virginia Tech: Indigenous peoples, African Americans, and European settlers.

“Virginia Tech has grown up as an institution in Blacksburg on land that holds Native American, African American, and European American history and traditions,” said Menah Pratt-Clarke, vice president for strategic affairs and vice provost for inclusion and diversity. “The many people of this land, from 1872 forward, have contributed to our growth. The events of the 1872 Forward weekend recognized and honored those who were here before us, who dreamed of what Virginia Tech might become, and whose stories can guide us into our future.”

The 1872 Forward event included both in-person and online offerings throughout the long weekend.

Moseley-Hobbs said she expected almost 100 decedents of the people once enslaved at Smithfield to attend events. Records indicate that the McNorton, Saunders, and Fraction families all resided on the site at some point, with the Fractions currently considered to have been the most numerous.

“We’re still finding other descendants to redevelop the families. We know that we [the Fractions] were a large family here, and now we’re also trying to help the McNorton family rebuild,” Moseley-Hobbs said.

In April 2019, the Virginia Tech Board of Visitors dedicated a building on campus to the families. The tiny, three-room building similar to the dwellings enslaved people lived in the 19th century is located at Solitude near the Duck Pond.

Moseley-Hobbs first reached out to the university to learn more about Thomas Fraction in 2016. Since then, she’s become a staple at events related to Smithfield and Solitude and has established the More than a Fraction Foundation, which co-sponsored the March event.

She said the Merry Oak resembled many of the trees in West Africa, the region from which her family was taken, so it made sense her relatives would have been drawn to it. She even felt a special connection to the Merry Oak during her earliest trip to Blacksburg.

“The first time I came to Smithfield, I paused and stared up at the tree from the top of the hill before

I even knew what it was,” she said. “As we find other’s descendants and bring them there, there’s always an emotional reaction and connection to the tree.”

University Arborist Jamie King witnessed that connection firsthand during one of Moseley-Hobbs’ visits just prior to the Merry Oak’s tragic storm.

“I watched her walk up to the tree and lean into it,” King said. “It was quite a powerful moment, and later she told me a story about it.”

About two years later, Moseley-Hobbs still clearly recalls that moment.

“The tree looked like it had been trying to hold on [to life], and we just said to the tree, ‘You can go now,’” Moseley-Hobbs said. “And a couple months later, the wind hits it, and it goes.”

King said the tree most likely grew in response to winds from the west, as do most trees in the region. This, along with retrenchment — a process by which older trees naturally lose mass — and internal decay, made the Merry Oak very susceptible to the eastern winds of the storm in May 2020. Once claimed by the storm, discussions quickly began to determine the best way to preserve the tree and its legacy.

“When I came here in 2019, that tree was a huge priority. It was one of the first trees I went to see,” King said. “It’s likely the longest documented object at Virginia Tech, and I’m excited to see how this wood can keep telling this story.”

Community input received through this survey will help further refine and finalize potential improvements. The study partners may consider the recommendations for possible advancement through future local, regional, state, and federal transportation funding programs.

This study is being conducted as part of a new program, Project Pipeline, created by the Commonwealth Transportation Board (CTB). Project Pipeline is a performance-based planning program to identify cost-effective solutions to multimodal transportation needs in Virginia. Through this planning process, projects and solutions may be considered for funding through programs including Smart Scale, revenue sharing, interstate funding, and others.

Project Pipeline is led by Virginia's Office of Intermodal Planning and Investment in collaboration with VDOT and the Department of Rail and Public Transportation. The final plan will provide a multimodal investment strategy that can be used to seek and secure funding.

Arthur, Chester “Chet” LaRue

...settles into the snow a new fallen leaf that left behind a loving tree...

Former son, brother, husband, father, grandfather, veteran, lay speaker, policeman, Justice of the Peace, author/writer, missionary, home builder, business owner, and friend, Mr. Arthur died surrounded by his family on Feb. 23, 2022.

He was born at home on Sept. 25, 1937, near Lairdsville, Pa. (although his birth certificate is dated 9.27.37), the son of Grant and Jean (Harding) Arthur. A graduate of Hughesville High School, he later attended Elizabethtown College where he was an officer with the campus police department. Mr. Arthur held a B.A. degree from Davis and Elkins College. He lived in seven states over the years and visited over 40.

He was a member of John F. Laedlein Lodge No. 707 E.&A.M., The Valley of Williamsport Scottish Rite Bodies, and Irem Temple A.A.O.N.M.S. of Wilkes-Barre, Penn.

He served in U.S. Army Reserves April 1955-1963.

Chester and his family traveled for two years doing volunteer work full-time. Prior to this, he was involved in home construction and operated his own businesses. He worked for an international company throughout central Pennsylvania for 15 years in the 1960-70s and was well-known to many. He also owned and operated a theme restaurant until he was injured in an accident in the 1980s.

A history “nut,” he wrote and published articles in Now and Then magazine. His interest in genealogy and history gave rise to many stories he created for family and friends.

He was a frequent outspoken activist in Ohio and Iowa where he represented the voice of the average American in local concerns pertaining to health and safety issues.

A popular lay preacher in multiple Ohio churches, he was devoted to the gospel, common-sense, and non-political correctness.

Always an inquiring mind, he collected photographs and information on a clandestine grave of a civil war veteran located in the woods near Montgomery, Penn. This work was quoted by the Sun Gazette in later years.

quoted by the Sun Gazette in later years.

He loved his family completely. Chet is survived by his wife, Salinda (Moyer) Arthur; his son Mark Arthur and his wife Rose, their son Jason Skislak and his wife Katie and daughter Lola;

his daughter Rachel Arthur, and her husband Rick Christ, their son Jayden; his daughter Kristina (Arthur) Samson, her husband Nick, and their daughter Brianne; his daughter Sara (Arthur) Roberts, her husband Cody, and son Micah; and his sister Helen George and her daughter Dina George.

He was preceded in death by his brothers, Ronald and Larry Arthur, and his parents, Grant and Jean Arthur.

Comfort is found in these words:
Do not stand at my grave and weep,
I am not there, I do not sleep.
I am in a thousand winds that blow,
I am the softly falling snow.
I am the gentle showers of rain,
I am the fields of ripening grain.
I am in the morning hush,
I am in the graceful rush
Of beautiful birds in circling flight,

CITIES OF REFUGE

Read Joshua 18:1 through 20:9

Once the Children of Israel entered the Promised Land, it had to be divided amongst the tribes. Joshua asked for a survey to be done, and with that information he carefully assigned each tribe their portion.

Chapter 20 addresses an interesting issue that reflects God's passion for justice. The “eye for an eye” principle was in vogue in those days, and God wanted justice for those who killed someone accidentally.

“Tell the Israelites to designate the cities of refuge, as I instructed you through Moses, so that anyone who kills a person accidentally and unintentionally may flee there and find protection from the avenger of blood.” (Joshua 20:2-3).

What a great picture of Jesus and His compassion for us. Our sins can be accidental or unintentional, but sadly we sometimes disobey on purpose. Yet in either case, Jesus invites us to come to Him, confessing our sin. He promises to forgive us and cleanse us (1 John 1:9). He provides us the ultimate refuge from our mistakes.

Prayer for Today: Lord, when my thoughts, words, or actions are not pleasing to You, I will run to You because I know You are my “city of refuge.”

Quicklook: Joshua 20:1-9

OBITUARIES

I am the starshine of the night.
I am in the flowers that bloom,
I am in a quiet room.
I am in the birds that sing,
I am in each lovely thing.
Do not stand at my grave and cry,
I am not there. I did not die.

-Mary Frye

Halwa Bakery bakes winner for YMCA at VT's Try Y's Pi contest

The second annual YMCA at Virginia Tech Try Y's Pi contest took place on March 14 (3.14) in partnership with Our Daily Bread, Next Door Bake Shop, Blacksburg Bagels, Bollo's, and Halwa Bakery with Halwa Bakery's Kenafa Pistachio Cream Pie voted the winner.

Participants purchased tickets for a 5-piece pie sampler. Each sampler contained a piece of pie from each of the five bakeries.

Blacksburg Bagels provided a Sweet Potato Pie; Bollo's provided an Apple Crumb Pie; Next Door Bake Shop provided a Coconut Cream Pie; Our Daily Bread provided a Ginger Peach Pie, and Halwa Bakery provided the winner, a Kenafa, Pistachio Cream Pie.

Karmen G, owner

and head baker at Halwa Bakery, was born in Egypt with Lebanese heritage from both parents. Karmen said, "My bakery's name Halwa comes from the Arabic word for sweets, dessert and beautiful. I chose it because it represents what I do."

When asked to participate in the event Karmen didn't hesitate. She said she "specially supports what the YMCA is providing to create opportunities for people to improve their lives and their communities. What's better than that reason?"

Karmen said, "I came with Kenafa pistachio cream pie which wasn't a traditional pie but I wanted to share my culture through it. When they announced the winner, it meant a lot to my heart. I wanted to share it with my dad because he always believed in me. I'm sure he's watching from heaven. I'm thrilled and honored to be the winner. Thank you so much YMCA and voters."

Pi Day is celebrated on March 14th (3/14) around the world. Pi (Greek letter "π") is the symbol used in mathematics to represent a constant — the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter — which is approximately 3.14159. Pi Day is an annual opportunity for math enthusiasts to recite the infinite digits of Pi, talk to their friends about math, and to eat pie.

Proceeds from this event support the YMCA at VT Meals On Main program that feeds children in the New River Valley.

Blacksburg high jumper wins national title

Marty Gordon
NRVsports@ourvalley.org

Blacksburg High School senior Katja Kehlenbeck cleared 5'5" at the Nike Indoor Nationals track meet last week to claim the national championship.

Her jump was the second highest indoor mark in the history of Blacksburg High School.

Kehlenbeck said she had absolutely no idea that it was remotely possible she could win the national championship.

"My approach has become more consistent, and I've gained more muscle compared to me from last year, and my overall mental state has improved, and I'm getting rid of my mental block," Kehlenbeck said. "I've worked on my sleep schedule and have been doing visualizations during practice, and doing that is a big aspect for me to be able to high jump."

The mark would have placed 14th at the recent Atlantic Coast Conference Indoor collegiate championships, and Kehlenbeck does have some higher aspirations, maybe even staying close to home at the next level.

"I want to go D1 for the high jump, I enjoy it way too much to not go forward with it," Kehlenbeck said. "For college I was thinking about getting out of Blacksburg, but there's always the possibility that I would stay here to go to Virginia Tech."

"I'm not really going for a specific height but having the school record for indoor and outdoor and having a state champion title again along with the height of 5-8 would be nice to obtain," she said.

Kehlenbeck's leap is a new personal record and is tied for first in Virginia's Class 4 rankings with Hannah Pettyjohn of Jefferson Forest. Kehlenbeck did outjump Pettyjohn in the recent state indoor meet, finishing second. She finished fifth in last year's outdoor state event with a mark of 5-0.

Paula Girven of Garfield High School holds the Virginia record at 6-1.25 set in 1975.

Hokies, BC to play at Fenway Park

As announced by the Boston Red Sox on Wednesday, the Virginia Tech baseball team will oppose Boston College at Fenway Park on Saturday, April 23, when the Hokies play BC during the Eagles' 10th annual ALS Awareness Game. First pitch at America's Most Beloved Ballpark is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Tech's April 23 game at Boston College is the middle game of the programs' three-game ACC series that will run from April 22-April 24. The Hokies and the Eagles will contest Friday's series opener and Sunday's series finale at Harrington Athletics Village in Brighton, Massachusetts.

Boston College's ALS Awareness Game is played in honor of former BC baseball captain Pete Frates, who was diagnosed with ALS in 2012. Frates became inspirational in spreading ALS awareness through his iconic Ice Bucket Challenge – a social media trend where participants drench themselves in ice water while encouraging donations to fund further ALS research.

Frates tragically passed away in 2019 at the age of 34. To this day, the Team Frate Train organization and the Peter Frates Foundation continue to promote his legacy while supporting all who courageously fight this disease.

Virginia Tech will be making its first-ever appearance at Fenway Park. The Hokies last competed inside an MLB ballpark during the 1998 Atlantic 10 Baseball Championship that was held at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (home of the Philadelphia Phillies).

General admission tickets for the 2022 ALS Awareness Game at Fenway Park are available at $10 and can be purchased at redsox.com/alsgame. Proceeds will benefit the Peter Frates Foundation, a nonprofit organization supporting ALS patients and their families with the cost of specialized home care required for patient stability as the disease progresses.

The 2022 ALS Awareness Game will also air live on ACC Network.

Virginia Department of Transportation road watch

The following is a list of forecasted highway projects that may impact traffic traveling in the 12-county Salem Transportation District this week. Work schedules and construction project timelines are always subject to change and weather dependent. The Salem District covers Bedford, Botetourt, Carroll, Craig, Floyd, Franklin, Giles, Henry, Montgomery, Patrick, Pulaski and Roanoke counties.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY

I-81 NORTHBOUND AT EXIT 105 NEW RIVER BRIDGE REPLACEMENT IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY – Lane and shoulder closures may be in place near exit 105. Lane closure may be in effect during the week from 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. Shoulder closures may be in effect at any time during the week. Slow rolls may be performed on I-81 in the north and southbound lanes from mile marker 104 to 106 from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. Speed limit is reduced to 60 miles per hour in the work zone. Shoulder closures will remain in place though the duration of the project. Project completion is estimated by late 2022.

ROUTE 615 CULVERT REPLACEMENT – Beginning April 11, 2022, Route 615 (Pilot Road) will undergo a culvert replacement located at the intersection of Pilot Road and Old Pike Road, across from the Pilot Post Office. Single lane closures will be in place and will be maintained by utilizing temporary traffic signals. Lane closures on RTE 615 are expected to begin on May 2, 2022, and will be in place through August 2022. Expected completion is October 2022.

ROUTE 643 PAVING PROJECT - A project is underway to resurface an unpaved portion of Route 643 (Yellow Sulfur Road). The work area begins .7 mile south of the intersection with Route 642 (Jennelle Road) and ends 1.7 miles north of the bridge over Route 460. Traffic impacts will include intermittent flagging operations between these intersections. This project has an estimated completion date of May 2022.

LANE CLOSURES: Intermittent single lane closures utilizing flagging operations will be in place between the intersection of Teaberry Road and Jennelle Road.

UTILITY WORK ON ROUTE 460 - MMI will be installing fiber optic along Route 460 and Route 8 from the Giles County line to the Floyd County line. This work will be ongoing. Motorists should expect shoulders and/or lane closures for travel in both directions.

INTERSTATE 81

INTERSTATE 81 LANE WIDENING CONSTRUCTION EXIT 137 TO EXIT 141 – A $179 million design-build project to widen both directions of I-81 between mile markers 136.6 and 141.8 from two to three lanes began in February and will continue into the early summer. Work will be performed on the inside and outside shoulders along a five mile section of both northbound and southbound Interstate 81 in Roanoke County and the city of Salem. The shoulders will be built up before a barrier wall can be installed for road crews to work behind. The barrier wall will be installed along the shoulders in the spring and summer. Two lanes of I-81 traffic in each direction will remain open during the project with periodic lane closures scheduled during nighttime hours or outside of peak travel times as needed. Drivers can expect the following lane closures and upcoming impacts on northbound and southbound I-81:

To mid-April, daytime right shoulder closures will take place between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Thursday

Until mid-June, nighttime right lane and shoulder closures will be in effect between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., Sunday through Thursday

From mid-May to mid-June, alternating left and right lane and shoulder closures will be in effect during nighttime hours between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., Sunday through Thursday

The project also includes replacing six bridges, widening two bridges, installing approximately 2.6 miles of sound barrier walls along northbound I-81, improving the southbound exit 137 off-ramp intersection at Wildwood Road and adding interchange lighting at exits 137, 140 and 141 are also included in the project. Expected completion in early 2026.

I-81 TROUTVILLE REST AREA CLOSURE - The Troutville Rest Area located on southbound Interstate 81 near mile marker 158 in Botetourt County will be closed from late May 2022 until early September 2022. This project will extend the ramp into the rest area by 500 feet and the ramp out of the rest area by 2,100 feet. It will also include expanding the truck parking area at the facility by 10 to 13 spaces. Visitors to the rest area may see some preliminary work, such as drainage improvements, as early as this spring. However, the major construction will begin after Memorial Day, and the rest area facility, ramps, and parking lot will be closed to the public from late May until early September. Work is expected to be completed in early fall 2022.

INTERSTATE 81 BRIDGE HEIGHT RESTRICTIONS – Due to bridge painting, several height restrictions are in place along I-81 north and southbound. Maximum height allowed is 14'6" at the following bridges over I-81 at the mile marker locations of 135, 109 and 108 through March. Overheight vehicles will need to be rerouted. Message boards are in place.

INTERSTATE 81 LANE WIDENING CONSTRUCTION EXIT 141 TO EXIT 143 – A project to widen the lanes on I-81 in Roanoke in both northbound and southbound directions between Exit 141 to Exit 143 is underway. All lanes are now open and will remain open through the winter with periodic lane closures at night as needed. The final surface paving and markings for northbound will resume with the next paving season in spring 2022. Drivers can expect rough pavement. Estimated completion date of the project is summer 2022.

I-81 PAVING OPERATIONS – Weather permitting, crews will pave, patch and repair pavement on various routes. Lane closures may be in place during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

I-81 BRIDGE DECK REPAIRS – Weather permitting, crews will repair bridge decks on Interstate 81. Between mile markers 138 to 152, right and left lane closures will be in place northbound and southbound during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

I-81 POTHOLE PATCHING OPERATIONS – Weather permitting, crews will patch potholes along southbound and northbound Interstate 81. Mobile right and left lane closures will be in place and moving along northbound and southbound lanes during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for moving vehicles and equipment. Expect possible delays.

Christiansburg's Jaxson Clarke to play football at VMI

Marty Gordon
NRVsports@ourvalley.org

Christiansburg senior defensive back Jaxson Clarke has become the sixth Blue Demon player to play college football in the fall with his announcement that he will suit up for Virginia Military Institute (VMI). Clarke calls the school a great one overall as the connections are limitless on and off the field. "The school is a good size for me to have more one-on-one time in the classroom. The football program is great, and I really felt welcome there," he said. Virginia Military Institute is a public senior military college in Lexington,

Va. It was founded in 1839 as America's first state military college and is the oldest public senior military college in the country. The school has a current enrollment of 1,698 students. VMI's football team plays in the Southern Conference and finished 6-5 this past season. The 6-2, 185-lb. Clarke finished his high school career with 60.5 tackles, including 43 solos and three tackles for loss. He also played receiver at Christiansburg and has the option to play both positions at his new school. "The coaches have really made it feel like home, and that I was wanted there," Clarke said. "They were straight up with me and told me basically I have
