Mary Draper Ingles Festival to feature renowned authors

RADFORD, VA—New York Times bestselling author James Alexander Thom and author Eleanor Lahr will be part of Radford's Mary Draper Ingles Festival, which runs from July 29 through July 31.

Thom, who wrote, "Follow the River," says Mary's daring escape from a Native American Shawnee tribe during the French and Indian War and her 42-day odyssey became the literary seed for his national bestseller.

Much of the power of Mary's story comes from the power of her antagonist, the wilderness, says Thom. "Europeans were afraid of nature and uncomfortable in it." Amazing as the story was, it took a second element to convince Thom he had enough material for a novel. Joining Mary in the escape was an Old Dutch woman from western Pennsylvania, and together they faced the great power of the wilderness. On top of that, Mary soon grappled with the Old Dutch woman's breakdown, which gave Thom the extra tension and danger he wanted for his 1981 novel.

ABC liked the concept, too, and in 1995 produced a made-for-television movie. Thom's book still sells thousands of copies annually, proving its drawing power.

Thom will speak at the dedication of the Mary Draper Ingles Cultural Heritage Park on the grounds of Glencoe Mansion, Museum & Gallery at 5 p.m. Friday, July 29. Following the ceremonies, the author will sign copies of "Follow the River," which will be available for sale.

Radford City Schools wins VSBA Excellence in Workforce Readiness Award

RADFORD – Radford City Public Schools is among nine school divisions that recently received honors in the Virginia School Boards Association (VSBA) Excellence in Workforce Readiness Awards.

The winning divisions were recognized at the VSBA Conference on Education, which took place in Richmond on Tuesday. The awards program was created in 2018 by the VSBA Task Force on Workforce Readiness to highlight exemplary programs in Virginia's Public Schools focused on preparing the state's future workforce. The sponsor of the awards was VAcorp.

RCPS won first place in the category of schools with less than 5,000 students for its collaboration

Extreme heat waves expected to intensify as global temperatures rise, says expert

Record high temperatures and extreme weather patterns, like those happening now throughout Europe and the U.S., are predicted to increase in frequency and intensity in the future, says Craig Ramseyer, an assistant professor who studies climate modeling in the department of geography at Virginia Tech.

and causing significant societal impacts," he said. "As global temperatures rise, historically excessive temperatures are more likely to occur."

Ramseyer says heat waves are the most concerning because of the lack of attention they normally receive.

"Hurricanes, tornadoes, and flash floods drive more media attention because of the innate fascination with the visual intensity of those types of hazards. However, heat does not tend to be as fascinating and it becomes very difficult to communicate the danger to the public," said Ramseyer. "Around the world, more fatalities occur due to extreme heat than from hurricanes, flooding, and drought combined. It disproportionately impacts the most vulnerable of our citizens who do not have RADFORD - A man wanted in Radford in connection with the discharge of a weapon in May has been taken into custody.

In May, the Radford City Police Department received a report of a shot fired in the 200 block of West Main Street. The department responded to the scene and confirmed there was a single shot discharged from a firearm.

The police department has now located and arrested D'Andre Delvon Samuels, 32, of Fredericksburg, in connection with the incident, which took place in an alley behind West Main Street businesses.

Samuels is facing the following charges: 18.2-282-Brandishing Firearm; 18.2-56.1-Reckless Handling of a Firearm; 40.1-103-three Counts of Child Endangerment; and 18.2-308.2-Possession of a Firearm by a Convicted Felon.

The incident led to a shelter in place for all Radford City Public Schools.

Virginia's traffic fatalities have increased due to riskier driving

If work commutes seem more perilous in recent years, it's because dangerous driving habits established during the pandemic have not abated.

Motorists engaged in riskier driving habits during the COVID-19 pandemic while fewer cars were on the road. Although the disease is now in its endemic phase and Virginians are resuming regular activities, dangerous driving habits have continued.

In just 24 months, Virginia's traffic fatalities increased 17%, according to Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles data—from 827 fatalities in 2019 to 968 fatalities in 2021.

"So far, the trend continues in 2022," said David Tenenbaum, senior actuarial manager for Virginia Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Co. and DriveSMART Virginia board member.

"These deaths and injuries are especially tragic because they were easily preventable," he continued. "Sharing the road, obeying speed limits, and buckling up are basic driving skills."

Virginia motorists were 50% more likely to speed at least 10 mph over the speed limit from March to June 2020, compared with the same period in 2019, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety (IIHS) reports. And drivers haven't slowed down since.

"The empty roads probably tempted pandemic-stressed drivers to put the pedal down," says Jessica Cicchino, vice president of research at IIHS. "But information collected since the lockdowns ended and the roads filled back up suggests that risky driving has become the new normal."

Overall, traffic volumes at study sites fell by a quarter during Virginia's lockdown. Those numbers suggest that the absence of rush-hour traffic prompted motorists to drive faster than usual.

The 2021 Virginia DMV crash statistics report indicated there was one crash every 4.4 minutes, resulting in 2.7 lives lost and 161 injuries on Virginia roadways every day.

Nationwide, crash deaths jumped 7% in 2020 despite a dramatic decrease in the number of miles Americans drove. Fatal crashes involving speeding or alcohol and deaths of unbelted vehicle occupants saw especially large increases, according to National Highway Traffic Administration

Drivers' dangerous driving habits established while fewer cars were on the road during the COVID-19 pandemic have not abated. In the 24 months from 2019 to 2021, for instance, Virginia's traffic fatalities increased from 827 to 968, a 17% increase. Speed seems to be a major factor in the increase.

As drivers logged more miles in 2021, the pattern continued.

"With nearly 43,000 lives lost on U.S. roadways last year, we can't accept this increase in dangerous driving behaviors," said Cicchino. "We need to double down on implementing proven solutions that have been shown to prevent speeding, like automated speed enforcement and road designs that slow traffic."

Publication by Virginia Tech team sheds light on preventing athletes' re-injury

An example of the jump tests used to collect data on re-injury. Clinical trials for this study were conducted in Robin Queen's research lab, the Granata Biomechanics Lab.

By Laura McWhinney

The excitement watching a basketball player sprint down the court, leap into the air, and slam dunk the ball is like no other. But from the athlete's point of view, especially those who just returned from an injury, the question is often how might this damage their knee? How likely is it that they are going to tear their anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) again?

These types of questions are addressed in a recent publication by Robin Queen, the Kevin P. Granata Faculty Fellow and a professor in biomedical engineering and mechanics, in the journal Physical Therapy in Sport. Queen, alongside Virginia Tech colleagues and in collaboration with Carilion Clinic Orthopedic Surgery, looked at the effectiveness of a novel biofeedback intervention to improve landing mechanics in patients following ACL reconstruction.

A member of the Virginia Tech faculty since 2015, Queen pursues an interdisciplinary approach that integrates foundational engineering, patient care, and the development of novel tools. Through therapeutic interventions, her research identifies movement and load asymmetries to prevent overuse and degenerative injuries of the lower extremity.

The study's novel biofeedback intervention incorporated visual feedback — such as seeing the real-time graph of the force under the athlete's feet — and tactile feedback — such as placing a resistance band around one's knee while doing squats. To assess the effectiveness of the biofeedback intervention, researchers worked with participants in a 12-week clinical trial. All participants had injured their ACL previously and were intending to resume their sport activity.

The goal of the intervention was to heighten awareness of asymmetrical limb loading during squatting. By utilizing visual and tactile feedback, physical therapists can retrain an athlete to move more symmetrically during squatting, which could improve how they move during more dynamic tasks such as landing, Queen said. For comparison, researchers had a second group of participants (the control group) receive educational lessons on risk factors for second ACL injuries and what to expect when they return to their sport. They were given quizzes to ensure they understood the lesson content.

At the completion of the clinical trial, researchers found that those who used the biofeedback intervention had more symmetrical movement in certain outcome measures, a significant factor in injury prevention. Symmetrical movement means that one limb isn't bearing more of the load, or weight, than the other. One of the main factors in re-injury of an ACL after rehabilitation is movement deficits, or asymmetrical movement, during activities such as running or jumping. These deficits can last for years after rehabilitation from a previous injury, increasing re-injury risk.

Queen's results are promising to help athletes decrease their risk of re-injury.

"These results have provided us with insights into how to alter rehabilitation programs for athletes interested in returning to high-level sports, while decreasing the risk of them sustaining a second ACL injury," said Queen.

The next phase of this research will focus on translating these results from the laboratory to the clinic setting using load sensors within the shoe instead of force plates. Research team members will continue to collaborate in a recently funded grant from the National Institutes of Health to determine risk factors for second ACL injuries that can be collected in non-laboratory environments.

Center for Advanced Innovation in Agriculture, Cooperative Extension help VT showcase its land-grant mission at Ag Expo

By Max Esterhuizen

The members of Virginia's largest private industry will gather at the 2022 Virginia Ag Expo on Aug. 4 to examine the latest trends, technologies, and research in agriculture that will help shape the agricultural future.

This year's Ag Expo theme, "Precision for Profits," is exemplified by the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences' research, Virginia Cooperative Extension, and the education land-grant mission.

For the second year in a row, Virginia Tech's Center for Advanced Innovation in Agriculture will co-host an exhibition tent at the event, where producers will learn about not only the current technologies available to them, but also emerging technologies that may strengthen agricultural efficiencies and economies. To strengthen partnerships and share the science-based techniques, Extension specialists also will be part of the field demonstrations that help producers solve problems and put knowledge into action.

The Center for Advanced Innovation in Agriculture is hosting the tent along with the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences and the Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station.

Producers, industry members, and all other attendees at the Ag Expo event are invited to stop by the tent to learn from leading agricultural experts. The partnerships help Virginia Tech scientists and engineers design improved, secure, and economically valuable agricultural technologies and translate the science to help increase production yields, efficiencies, and economic value.

The Center for Advanced Innovation in Agriculture, in partnership with the Commonwealth Cyber Initiative in Southwest Virginia, will feature the importance of securing technologies and the increasing use of internet of things in agriculture while protecting agricultural data and decisions. Faculty and graduate students will be available to talk with visitors about drones, sensors, mobile applications, and security and the analytical approaches that provide real-time or rapid information for making informed decisions for both plant and animal agriculture.

As global populations swell, the climate shifts, and technologies evolve, today's agricultural innovation is a critical part of producing enough food for the future. This is one reason why the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences created the Center for Advanced Innovation in Agriculture, of which the Virginia Tech Smart-Farm Innovation Network is part.

will be Eleanor Lahr, who wrote “Angels Along the River: Retracing the Escape Route of Mary Draper Ingles.” The book has been described as an “inspirational story of hope, fear, joy, and accomplishment that is a testament to the incredible tenacity and spirit of ordinary people everywhere.”

When Lahr read Thom’s novel, “Follow the River,” it changed her life, and she felt compelled to retrace the heroine’s route. Although Lahr enjoyed the outdoors as a child and worked as a naturalist for the Indiana Department of Natural Resources, her first serious hike was retracing Mary’s steps along the Ohio, Kanawha and New rivers from Kentucky to Virginia. She says her physical journey became a “transformative personal journey that redefined her as a capable, strong and independent woman.”

OBITUARIES

Gilmore, Mary Susanna

Mary Susanna Gilmore, known appropriately to everyone as Sweetsie, died July 16, 2022.

She was born in Radford on Sept. 23, 1954, the daughter of the late William and Mary Susan Goodykooztz.

Sweetsie graduated from Radford High School and worked for years at Radford University. But she put much of her heart and efforts into her home, alongside her husband, Ronnie. Together they brought up four daughters: Mary Madeline, Susanna, Lucy, and Bridget, with a sense of purpose, a passion for music and a whole lot of fun.

She was a member of St. Jude

Catholic Church in Radford and a fierce advocate for disability rights. She devoted a lot of her time to supporting swimming and was an especially strong champion of Lucy, both in the pool and out.

Sweetsie was preceded in death by her brother, Samuel Vincent Brock, and her parents.

Surviving are her husband Ronald Wayne (Ronnie), of Radford; daughter Mary Madeline Webster and her husband,

Christopher, of Radford; daughter Susanna Elizabeth Gilmore, of Radford; daughter Lucy Grace Gilmore, of Radford; and daughter Anne Bridget Smith and her husband, Chris of Mesa, Az., her brothers, Matthew David Brock and his wife, Meg, of Melbourne, Fla.; Clement (Butter) Brock and his wife, Mary Ann, of Richmond; and William Oakey (Billy) Goodykooztz, Jr., and his wife, Susan, of Chandler, Az.; and five grandchildren: Sterling Louis Webster, Mary Eleanora (Nora) Webster, Thomas Fredrick Smith, Charles Wayne Smith, and Andres Alejandro Trujillo-Gilmore.

Visitation will be held from 1 until 3 p.m. on Sunday, July 24, 2022, at the Mullins Funeral Home in Radford. A funeral mass will be held at St. Jude Catholic Church at 9 a.m. on Monday, July 25, 2022, at St. Jude Catholic Church with Father Cassidy officiating. Interment will follow in the Southwest Virginia Veterans Cemetery in Dublin.

In lieu of flowers, please consider donations to Saint Francis Service Dogs in Roanoke at www.saintfrancisdogs.org. The Gilmore family is in the care of Mullins Funeral Home & Crematory in Radford.

Radford WORSHIP DIRECTORY

We Forget; God Remembers

Read Isaiah 14:1 through 18:7

Forgetting things causes problems. People who forget where they put their car keys will be late for an appointment. Those who forget a birthday or anniversary will find their relationship with the other person suffers. Those who forget God will find things will not go well in the long run.

You have forgotten God your Savior; you have not remembered the Rock, your fortress (Isaiah 17:10).

In this section, Isaiah predicted several gloom-and-doom scenarios for the nations who chose not to honor God—who forgot God. These nations had historically bullied God's people and were sometimes unwittingly God's instrument to bring His people back to Him.

But God remembered His own, promising to show compassion to them and turn the tables on the nations that had been the oppressors: "The Lord will have compassion on Jacob; once again he will choose Israel and will settle them in their own land" (Isaiah 14:1).

God always remembers us and waits for us to remember Him.

Prayer Suggestion: Lord, I want to remember You in all things.

Quicklook: Isaiah 17:7-14

LewisGale Hospital Montgomery physician receives regional EMS award

BLACKSBURG — Brian Ekey, Emergency Medicine Specialist with LewisGale Hospital Montgomery, was recently honored with the Dr. Cheryl B. Haas Award for Outstanding EMS Physician by the Western Virginia Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Council.

The Haas Award is presented to an EMS physician who exemplifies outstanding leadership and dedication in the exercise of prehospital care.

Ekey, who also serves as the Operational Medical Director for the Blacksburg Volunteer Rescue Squad, was presented the award during the Western Virginia EMS Council 2022 regional recognition ceremony.

"It's a privilege to serve the Blacksburg Volunteer Rescue Squad as well as practice at LewisGale Hospital Montgomery" said Ekey. "I humbly accept this award on behalf of my fellow providers as well as the 200 members who volunteer their time and proudly serve the Town of Blacksburg and parts of Montgomery County with emergency medical and rescue services."

VDOT ROAD WATCH

The following is a list of forecasted highway projects that may impact traffic traveling in the 12-county Salem Transportation District this week. Work schedules and construction project timelines are always subject to change and weather dependent. The Salem District covers Bedford, Botetourt, Carroll, Craig, Floyd, Franklin, Giles, Henry, Montgomery, Patrick, Pulaski and Roanoke counties

MONTGOMERY COUNTY

I-81 NORTHBOUND AT EXIT 105 NEW RIVER BRIDGE REPLACEMENT IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY – Traffic on northbound I-81 has been switched onto the newly constructed bridge over the New River at the Montgomery/Pulaski County line. Lane and shoulder closures may be in place near exit 105. Lane closure may be in effect during the week from 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. Shoulder closures may be in effect at any time during the week. Slow rolls may be performed on I-81 in the north and southbound lanes from mile marker 98 to 109. Speed limit is reduced to 60 miles per hour in the work zone. Shoulder closures will remain in place through the duration of the project. Project completion is estimated by summer 2023.

ROUTE 615 CULVERT REPLACEMENT – Route 615 (Pilot Road) is undergoing a culvert replacement located at the intersection of Pilot Road and Old Pike Road, across from the Pilot Post Office. Lane closures on Route 615 maintained by utilizing temporary traffic signals will be in place through August 2022. Flagging operations may be in place. Route 615 will be limited to one 10 foot lane. Expected completion is October 2022.

ROUTE 114 TURN LANE CONSTRUCTION - Road improvements on Route 114 (Pepers Ferry Road) have begun for the construction of a new entrance to Belview Elementary School. Motorists should expect daily lane closures controlled by flagging forces. Work is expected to last until August 2022.

PAVING OPERATIONS – Weather permitting, crews will pave, patch and repair pavement on various routes. Lane closures may be in place and flaggers may control traffic at times during daylight hours. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

Route 765, both east and west lanes, will have a flagging operation in place for paving from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

INTERSTATE 81

INTERSTATE 81 LANE WIDENING CONSTRUCTION PROJECT EXIT 137 TO EXIT 141 – A $179 million design-build project to widen both directions of I-81 between mile markers 136.6 and 141.8 from two to three lanes is set to begin. Continuing into the early summer, work will be performed on the inside and outside shoulders along a five mile section of both northbound and southbound Interstate 81 in Roanoke County and the city of Salem. The shoulders will be built up before barrier wall can be installed for road crews to work behind. Barrier wall will be installed along the shoulders in the spring and summer. Two lanes of I-81 traffic in each direction will remain open during the project with periodic lane closures scheduled during nighttime hours or outside of peak travel times as needed. Drivers can expect the following lane closures and upcoming impacts on northbound and southbound I-81:

ROUTE 635 (GOODWIN AVENUE) CLOSURE – As part of the ongoing I-81 project from exit 137 to 141, Route 635 (Goodwin Avenue) is closed where it runs underneath I-81. It will be closed for approximately 30 days for reconstruction to accommodate the widening of the interstate. Drivers will need to seek alternate routes as traffic will not be able to pass underneath the interstate during this time.

BARRIER WALLS: Barrier wall installation is in process. Nighttime lane closures will be in place and lane widths will be reduced to 11 feet.

Nightly lane closures may be in place along the right lane with possible nightly ramp narrows as needed for guardrail and shoulder strengthening.

• Northbound I-81 lane closures from mile marker 138 to 142

• Northbound I-81 exit and entrance ramp narrows possible at Route 311.

The project also includes replacing six bridges, widening two bridges, installing approximately 2.6 miles of sound barrier walls along northbound I-81, improving the southbound exit 137 off-ramp intersection at Wildwood Road and adding interchange lighting at exits 137, 140 and 141 are also included in the project. Expected completion in early 2026.

I-81 TROUTVILLE REST AREA CLOSURE - The Troutville Rest Area located on southbound Interstate 81 near mile marker 158 in Botetourt County is currently closed until September 2, 2022. Signage indicating the closure has been posted in the rest area. During the closure, a temporary concrete barrier wall will be installed in front of the facility. The rest area facility, ramps and parking lot will be closed to the public. This project will extend the ramp into the rest area by 500 feet and the ramp out of the rest area by 2,100 feet. It will also include expanding the truck parking area at the facility by about 10-13 spaces. Work is expected to be completed in early fall 2022.

REST AREA OPTIONS: While the Troutville Rest Area is closed, southbound I-81 drivers can use the Fairfield Rest Area at mile marker 195 in Rockbridge County or the Radford Rest Area at mile marker 108 in Montgomery County. In addition, the Troutville Weigh Station, located on southbound I-81 at mile marker 149, will have portable toilets and parking will be temporarily available for commercial vehicles.

INTERSTATE 81 LANE WIDENING CONSTRUCTION EXIT 141 TO EXIT 143 – A project to widen the lanes on I-81 in Roanoke in both northbound and southbound directions between Exit 141 to Exit 143 is underway. All lanes are open and will remain open through the winter with periodic lane closures at night as needed. The final surface paving and markings for northbound traffic will resume this summer. Drivers can expect rough pavement. Estimated completion date of the project is summer 2022.

I-81 PAVING OPERATIONS – Weather permitting, crews will pave, patch and repair pavement on various routes. Lane closures may be in place during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

I-81 BRIDGE DECK REPAIRS – Weather permitting, crews will repair bridge decks on Interstate 81. Between mile markers 138 to 152, right and left lane closures will be in place northbound and southbound during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

I-81 POTHOLE PATCHING OPERATIONS – Weather permitting, crews will patch potholes along southbound and northbound Interstate 81. Mobile right and left lane closures will be in place and moving along northbound and southbound lanes during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for moving vehicles and equipment. Expect possible delays.

Auburn wins fourth straight National Guard Cup

Auburn High School has won the Virginia High School League's Class 1 2021-22 National Guard Cup for year-long athletic success for the fourth straight year.

Claiming the cup for the first time were Glenvar in Class 2 and Battlefield in Class 3.

Auburn's win was its fifth championship in the last six years, missing 2019-20 because of COVID-19 restrictions.

Maggie Walked claimed its seventh cup overall, after winning six in a row in Class 2 from 2014-19. In class 4, Western Albemarle won its fourth straight cup and seventh overall after winning the past three in Class 3.

In Class 5, Deep Run won its fourth cup since 2017.

First awarded in 1990, the National Guard Cup represents 33 seasons of excellence with six cups awarded for academic activities and athletics in each of the VHSL's six enrollment classifications.

A point system determines the winners based on overall performance in the VHSL state championship competitions. Fifty points are awarded for first place; 45 for second place; 40 for third place; 35 for fourth place; 30 for fifth place; 25 for sixth place; 20 for seventh place; and 15 for eighth place.

In the event of a tie, the schools receive an equal number of points based on the number of schools that tie and the number of schools that finish higher in the standings. For example, semifinal losers split third and fourth place points (37.5 points each).

Schools earning the League's Sportsmanship, Ethics and Integrity Award earn 50 points each.

Auburn totaled 577.5 points, scoring 115 in the fall, 102.5 in the winter and 360 during the spring.

Dates announced for 2022 VT Football Fan Day, first Hokie Club Trivia Night

As kickoff for the 2022 football season draws closer, the Virginia Tech athletics department has announced Saturday, Aug. 13, as the date for the inaugural Hokie Club Trivia Night event and Sunday, Aug. 14, as the date for the 2022 edition of Football Fan Day.

Presented by Virginia529, Football Fan Day presents Hokie Nation with the opportunity to interact with new head coach Brent Pry and the rest of the Hokies gridiron squad inside the Beamer-Lawson practice facility. The event is free and open to the public.

Current Hokie Kids' Club members will receive exclusive early access to Fan Day at 1 p.m. before the general public enters 15 minutes later. The Fan Day festivities will conclude at 2:15 p.m.

Hokie Kids' Club memberships are still available for the upcoming season. Those who secure Maroon memberships by August 19 can take advantage of an exclusive ticket offer for Tech's home games against Boston College and Wofford this fall.

New this year is the Hokie Club's first-ever Trivia Night, set for Saturday evening, Aug. 13, in the Hahn-Hurst Basketball Practice Center. Attendees can put their knowledge to the test while supporting Virginia Tech Athletics with a fun night of trivia questions, snacks, and drinks.

ACCN Football Road Trip to visit Blacksburg Aug. 5; ACC Huddle in town for BC game Sept. 10

ACC Network announced on Wednesday that its preseason ACC Football Road Trip show will visit Virginia Tech's campus on Aug. 5 and its ACC Huddle on the Road show will make it to Blacksburg for the Boston College game on Sept. 10.

ACCN will take its signature football program The ACC Huddle on the road again this season and will originate live from ACC campuses six times throughout the regular season in addition to the Subway ACC Football Championship Game in Charlotte and select games during bowl season.

The ACC Huddle, with host Jordan Cornette and analysts Eric Mac Lain, EJ Manuel and Mark Richt, will be live from 11 a.m. to noon each Saturday continuing with wall-to-wall coverage throughout the day featuring halftime reports, a prime-time show from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and a one-hour show at the end of the day recapping all of the ACC football action.

As kickoff to the 2022 football season approaches, ACCN will embark on a three-week, 14-school preseason road trip beginning on Monday, Aug. 1. ACC Football Road Trip will include a series of 14 one-hour shows airing at 7 p.m. each night from campuses across the conference.

ACC Football Road Trip will preview each team's upcoming season and include exclusive interviews with head coaches and student-athletes while showcasing unique aspects of those 14 football programs.
