Elk's Club pool suffers major structural damage, cause still unknown

By Adam Pack

The Community Pool at Elk Lodge 1758 is in a state of severe disrepair for yet unknown reasons this summer.

"We drained the pool on Monday [May 23] to do our routine maintenance like we do every year around this time, repair any cracks, stuff like that, and then after we got done we left it dry just like normal," explained Elk Lodge President Don Alts. "Well, by the next day it was starting to heave up slowly inch by inch and didn't stop until Wednesday."

The pool now appears to have lifted out of its frame, deep end first, cracking the concrete around it and causing major damage.

A contractor from Affinity Pools of Beckley has come out to examine the pool, and give a visual examination report to Alts and the lodge for insurance purposes. The insurance for the elk lodge property, including the pool, is provided through the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks and their insurance provider. Upon getting the report from the contractor, the insurance agency for the Elk's requested a more thorough diagnostic

Ronceverte River Festival returns with full schedule

The Ronceverte River Festival is back up to full speed in 2022. 2021 forced a shortened event and many favorite activities were cut from the program due to money and time constraints. We are pleased to announce the return of many of our favorite things.

Missing man found deceased on Howard's Creek embankment

On Monday, June 6, at approximately 11:43 a.m., Sergeant B. W. Mitchell and Corporal Brandon McCormick of the Greenbrier County Sheriff's Office were dispatched to a report of a body being found on the embankment of Howard's Creek along Camp Ann Bailey Road in the Caldwell area.

Upon arrival the officers requested the Greenbrier County Sheriff's Office Crime Scene Team to process the scene. The body was subsequently transported to the State Medical Examiner's Office in Charleston for identification and cause of death.

The White Sulphur Springs Police Department later confirmed that the body had been identified to be a missing man from White Sulphur Springs, John H. Deaver, age 65. He had been reported missing by his family on the weekend of May 28.

Members of the West Virginia State Police, White Sulphur Springs Police Department and the Lewisburg Fire Department provided on scene assistance.

Corporal Brandon McCormick of the Greenbrier County Sheriff's office is the lead investigator.

The 2022 Ronceverte River Festival will be June 10 through June 12. The festival features attractions, vendors, live performances, and great fair food! County Commission prepares the way for remodel of West Virginia Building

By Adam Pack

The Greenbrier County Commission met Wednesday, June 8, and discussed the initial steps of a remodel of the West Virginia Building on the State Fairgrounds.

A request had been made to the commission prior to meeting by the State Fairgrounds to have the permit fee waived. This was requested due to the use of the West Virginia building as a public commodity on several occasions and on a continual basis. At 20,000 square feet, the building is the largest on the fairgrounds, and has been used as a staging ground for the equipment and staff for emergency electrical workers during natural disasters, most notably during the Derecho storm of 2012. More recently, the building was used as a vaccination clinic for Greenbrier County, as Commissioner Tincher explained. "We had 16,000 individuals come out and receive their COVID shot during the pandemic, and so we do recognize this is a facility that is utilized for more than just the West Virginia State Fair." Furthermore, on an ongoing basis, the West Virginia Building is the emergency rendezvous point for students fleeing both Greenbrier East High School and the middle school in the case of an evacuation. All these services are offered free of charge.

After signing the request and approving the waiving of the permit fee, members of the commission explained that the remodel will be very extensive, including

Linda Dotson Vaughan awarded First Place, Best of Show in annual quilting competition

The West Virginia Department of Arts, Culture and History (WVDACH) unveiled the annual exhibition, Quilts and Wall Hangings 2022, in the Great Hall of the Culture Center, State Capitol Complex, and announced the winners of the juried exhibition at the opening concert of the annual Vandalia Gathering.

This year, the popular juried exhibition features 62 creative quilts and wall hangings representing the talents of West Virginians from 19 counties. There are 43 quilts and 19 wall hangings in the exhibition, which will remain on display through Sept. 13.

First place winners in this year's exhibition include Linda Dotson Vaughan of Caldwell, Greenbrier County, for Love to Embroider in the Mixed/Other Quilt category (Best of Show); Nancy Swisher of Fairmont, Monongalia County, for Dinner Plate Dahlia, in the Pieced Quilt category; Carol Miller of Bruceton Mills, Preston County, for Flowers Bloom in the Applique category, and Amy Pabst of LeRoy, Roane County, for Patriot in the Wall Hanging category. "Quilt making is one of West Virginia's oldest and most treasured art forms," said Charles Morris, museums director. "This annual display is a favorite for many West Virginians and for quilters and quilt lovers from around the country. It is one of our most popular displays."

The exhibition features the work of 58 quilters. Winners were selected by Linda Luggen, a quilter for over 30 years, teacher, lecturer and NQA Certified Judge from Cincinnati, Ohio. Luggen selected winners in four categories: pieced quilts, applique quilts, mixed/other quilts and wall hangings. Quilt awards are $750 for first place, $400 for second place and $300 for third place. The wall hanging awards are $400 for first place, $300 for second place and $200 for third place. The department made one purchase, and the juror designated a Best of Show prize of $100. In addition, three nonmonetary honorable mention distinctions were made.

For the seventh consecutive year, the department's Quilt and Wall Hanging Exhibition will feature a National Association of Certified Quilt Judges (NACQJ) Award of Merit. This year's winner is Nancy Swisher for Dinner Plate Dahlia. As an NACQJ certified judge, Luggen had the option of awarding this special ribbon. The award goes to a quilter whose work shows creativity and who has achieved recognized standards of quilt making ex-inspection to determine the cause of the damage before they can decide to what extent, if any, the damages are covered.

"It's really devastating to us," Alts said of himself and his wife Teresa. "We've been volunteering here at the lodge for nine years and this pool has been a part of the community for decades. It's the only thing of its kind in town, a free pool for families to enjoy. We're really heartbroken about this."

Alts said that the timeframe for hearing a verdict from the insurance agency is currently "hurry up and wait."

More information will be published as it becomes available.

"plumbing in new bathrooms, new rooms, HVAC, fire suppression, and a kitchen." according to Commissioner Lowell Rose. The remodel is estimated to cost close to $1,000,000. The motion to waive the permit fee was unanimously approved. The Commission made it clear that though the permit fee has been waived, all work must still be up to code and inspected.

In other news, the county considered signing a resubmission application for the CDBG-Mitigation grant to map critical infrastructure within the county. The infrastructure would include the water and sewer lines in the county, and the commission approved the re-submission unanimously, allowing work to go forward.

The commission also dedicated June 15 as Greenbrier County Elder Abuse Awareness Day.

The Greenbrier County Commission meets again on June 21 at 10 a.m. The public is encouraged to attend.

Ronceverte City Council plans for greenspace and splashpad

By Adam Pack

The Ronceverte City Council met Monday, June 6 at 7 p.m. at the Clifford Armory to discuss the developments on the Ronceverte greenspace and splashpad, and updates on the ongoing water and sewer line projects.

Representatives on hand with the water line project told council that the project is nearing completion. An engineer was also present to discuss ongoing preparations for sewer line work. First however, it was relayed to the council that the sewer plant work is nearing the one year mark since its completion and is ready to close out and complete.

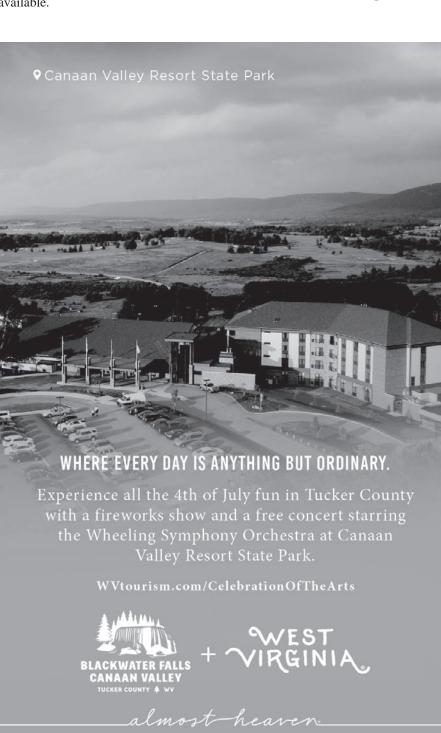

The mapping and design process has been finished for the next step of the sewer line project. Engineers have been aerially mapping the city after doing rough mockups of the city's sewage infrastructure on Google Earth. This project plans to make existing lines more robust through retrofitting and repairing lines in place. This will improve the lifespan of the current infrastructure, and make it more resilient to damage from flooding.

The city passed several resolutions to pay for work done on these projects, totaling $61,250 and $6,765.

In other news, the city council updated the public on the current state of the Ronceverte Greenspace and splashpad. Unfortunately, the landscaping company has been unable to dig and lay the concrete pad for the splashpad as recent heavy rains have caused all holes dug to fill with water. This may be a long wait, as more rain in the forecast will delay digging further. However, outdoor structures and furniture are "coming along nicely" according to the council. These features will include benches, tables, and overhead structures like shelters. The council also proclaimed June 15 Elder Abuse Awareness Day in Ronceverte, and encouraged the public to attend the Ronceverte River Festival on Saturday, June 11.

The Ronceverte City Council meets the first Monday of every month in the Clifford Armory Gymnasium at 7 p.m. The public is encouraged to attend.

DMV issues expiration extension on mobility impaired placards to August 31

Due to a supply issue, the West Virginia Division of Motor Vehicles has announced this week that they will extend the expiration dates of all mobility impaired placards to Aug. 31, 2022.

Renewal of a permanent mobility impaired placard occurs every five years, and the new cycle historically begins on July 1. However, with supply chain issues, and in an effort to provide seamless, convenient customer service, DMV Commissioner Everett Frazier announced the extension to Aug. 31 to make sure new placards are ready for customers. "I believe in making sure our customers are taken care of. Unfortunately, due to COVID and other supply chain issues, some of our materials are not available. We don't want our customers to be inconvenienced, so extending the expiration date, on my authority, makes the best sense," he said.

For more information, please visit the DMV website at dmv.wv.gov, and view the informational brochure on mobility impaired license plates and placards here: https://transportation.wv.gov/DMV/DMVForm-

Search/Mobility-Impaired-Brochure-4-2014-wf.pdf

Customers need to follow the same application and renewal process. The only change is the current expiration date being extended.

Nature's Way

By Karen Cohen Master Gardener/Photojournalist/Artist Stay Off the Grass

Many gardeners have backyard gardens. Mine is "outfront" of my home only because we don't have much area for growing in the back of the house and it is too shady.

We opted to plant veggies in a big open space in front of our house where we can watch out for deer and other critters, remember to water when rain is lacking, and weed daily. We live in the woods so no one complains about how it "looks."

Over the decades I found out by living in other states, North and South Carolina being two of them, that certain "upscale" housing developments which have homeowners associations do not allow gardens to be planted anywhere except in the back of your home or not at all. Residents pay homeowners fees and have a whole set of rules and regulations. This is all by choice because they know about these rules when they purchase their home. Here are some of the restrictions that I became aware of over time as I volunteered to be on my former homeowners association committee.

Outdoor clothes lines are not permitted on anyone's premises. You might ask WHY? Well, some county regulators live with the belief that using the sun's heat to dry your clothes is a waste of time and no one profits from it. Electric and gas propane dryers are mandatory for your washed clothes. I think the real reason is because hanging your under clothes and such is an eye sore. Hmmmm... there's nothing like the smell of freshly sun dried clothing. There is even an aerosol named Clean White Linen! And frankly, everyone wears underwear, so why should that be an embarrassment? I have an outdoor clothesline.

Only plants that are approved of by the homeowners association can be planted at the home owner's residence. Things such as vegetables and herbs are not permitted in the front of the home or on the side fences but must go in the backyard. Some places only allow veggies in containers and not directly planted in the ground.

So here's my solution for the front garden regulations. I'd like to propose that we add an amendment to our constitution that says everyone has the right to grow food anywhere on our own property. Not weeds, but food! Self sufficiency should be applauded rather than discouraged. We argue for other rights with the reasoning that these rights go back to our earliest days as settlers. It doesn't take any research to acknowledge that people have been growing their own food since, well really, since the beginning of time practically!

These green spaces on everyone's front lawns (which are mandatory in some developments), can go back from whence they came - wherever that is! Why is America obsessed with green lawns? Yes, they are pretty and neat, especially on golf courses, but why must we all keep feeding, seeding, and watering green blades of grass? Turf has no purpose other than to cover the dirt and use up precious water and gasoline. We all feel the pinch of gasoline prices now, too.

Can I diversify; maybe throw in some clover seeds? Clover produces flowers and the bees love it and feed on it. Clover stays low to the ground, holds the soil and keeps moisture intact under its leaves and looks lovely. When I lived elsewhere, I was told "no," clover is considered a weed. I don't want to grow weeds; weeds can be invasive like quack grass or crabgrass.

How about digging up the front lawn and converting a good size of land, usually in full sun, to plant a vegetable garden. Something useful, pretty, and earth friendly. Gardening gives us exercise, fresh air, relief from that cell screen, and connects us to the land. We become caretakers of something worth the time and effort rather than this big green plot that requires mowing every week or so. I am amazed when I see how much time we all spend sitting on or pushing our mowers around, or hiring a crew to do it for us.

As individuals, can't we have something different, flowers, pumpkins maybe, climbing beans, fresh tomatoes? Think of how we could save the expense of transporting produce long distances by growing our own! We have all run into some sorry states of fruits and vegetables at our local stores. Fresh is always best.

Well, I'll climb down now from my soapbox, friends, but one more question: can we fight this addiction and stay off the grass? Let me remind you, I am not advocating turning front lawns into a messy, unkempt tangle of weeds. Some of what I say can be taken as tongue in cheek, just my opinion, and a bit of kvetching. I, for one, am not addicted to grass! That's all folks.

West Virginia Folklife seeks applications for 2022-2023 statewide program

The West Virginia Folklife Program, a project of the West Virginia Humanities Council, is now accepting applications for its statewide Folklife Apprenticeship Program. The program supports West Virginia master traditional artists or tradition bearers working with qualified apprentices on a year-long in-depth apprenticeship in their cultural expression or traditional art form. These apprenticeships of traditional music, dance, craft, foodways, storytelling, and more - in any cultural community in the Mountain State - facilitate the transmission of techniques and artistry of the forms as well as their histories and traditions. The award amount totals to $3,500; $3,000 to support the master artist and $500 to cover the costs of tools and materials for the apprentice. Artists and their proposed apprentice must apply together. Applications and guidelines are available at wvhumanities. org/folklifeapprenticeships or by calling state folklorist Jennie Williams at 304-346-8500. Applications are due Aug. 1, 2022.

The West Virginia Folklife Apprenticeship Program will support up to nine pairs of master traditional artists and their apprentices, culminating in a final public showcase in 2023. Folklife apprenticeship pairs will also hold a public presentation in their home communities."After witnessing several exciting partnerships develop between the previous folklife apprenticeship pairs, we look forward to working with the next cohort who will carry on their cultural traditions and traditional art forms in their communities for generations to come," says state folklorist Jennie Williams. This year marks the third round of the biennial program. The 2020-2021 Folklife Apprenticeship Program awarded seven apprenticeship pairs who practiced a range of traditional art forms including old-time banjo of central West Virginia, heirloom seed saving, and storytelling in midwifery.

The Back Pew

By Stephen Baldwin

Life is...busy...in the back pew. But as always, it's a priority for me to keep you updated on important things happening in our state! Here's the latest rundown.

BUDGET SURPLUS: With one month to go in the fiscal year, our state has a $1.1 billion surplus. (Many states are experiencing surpluses, largely due to an influx of federal dollars. For example, Virginia has a $14 billion surplus currently.) What will we do with our surplus? That is the billion-dollar question. I support a mix of infrastructure investments and immediate tax relief for citizens suffering from sky-high inflation. The supermajority has yet to unveil their plans.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION: Speaking of inflation, school construction costs are going through the roof right now. Nowhere is this seen more clearly than Nicholas County. Two proposed flood rebuilds in Richwood and Summersville are way over budget. But they are not alone. All of the other counties I represent (Fayette, Greenbrier, Monroe, and Summers) are dealing with this problem also. After numerous meetings with architects, contractors, and state government offices, I don't see school construction prices coming back down much even when inflation settles. This is the new normal. The state and county school systems will need to work together to fully fund our school buildings. Making major cuts to the buildings in order to save pennies on the dollar right now is unwise in the long-term.

SPECIAL SESSION: Expect another special session of the legislature in July or possibly as late as September. It will deal with the budget surplus, infrastructure project funding, more rehashes of bills from the last session, and abortion laws. With the US Supreme Court expected to rule on Roe vs Wade this summer, we are hearing that the supermajority plans to add it to the special session since a rollback of Roe would leave abortion policy exclusively to states. Stay tuned.

COLLINS AEROSPACE: The largest private employer in Monroe County is the Collins Aerospace plant outside Union, WV. They make commercial and military aerospace components. It's technical, sometimes dangerous, and vitally important work done by the local residents. Over the years, the relationship between the plant and the community has been mutually beneficial. The jobs pay well and the workers provide an excellent product for the international market. Both parties are at a critical stage now after workers were locked out last week by Collins due to a labor dispute. The workers deserve a fair contract. The plant is critical to our local economy. The products made at Collins protect national security. It's in everyone's best interest to arrive at a fair agreement as soon as possible. I was honored to visit with the workers last week and put their leadership in touch with state resources to assist their families while they cannot draw a paycheck.

FOSTER CARE DASHBOARD: On June 1, the DHHR debuted an online foster care dashboard. For the first time, it contains public information about how many children are in foster care, what type of placement they have, in-state versus out-of-state placements, vacancy rates in county Child Protective Services offices, and more. This may seem like a small thing, but it's a huge step forward that's taken years of work. It was in the foster care bill that died this past legislative session, but we finally got it done. It will allow us to have solid information for the very first time on the foster care situation, which will allow us the opportunity to make better policy to serve children in foster care. It can be found on the WV DHHR website.

CALENDAR: Several folks suggested recently that I make my calendar of public events available. With five counties, I spend a lot of time on the road traveling across the state and district. This way, folks would know when I'll be in their neck of the woods. I'll start making that available on my Facebook page. Look forward to seeing you in your neighborhood!

That's the view from the back pew, where it is my privilege to serve you.

By William "Skip" Deegans One of the most notorious examples in U.S. history of the impact disinformation can have occurred in West Virginia. In 1950, Joseph McCarthy, a then littleknown Republican Senator from Wisconsin, addressed a gathering at a Lincoln Day celebration at the McClure House Hotel in Wheeling. In his speech, he expressed concerns about creeping communism in the United States and held up a list of 205 communists employed at the State Department. The list didn't exist, and his claim wasn't true. In subsequent speeches the number of communists he had on his list fluctuated. Nevertheless, McCarthy's anti-communist fervor caught fire with the American public and the press. Buoyed by so much publicity, McCarthy continued his campaign.

Alarmed at the damage McCarthy was doing to the Republican Party, Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine said "I don't want to see the Republican Party ride to political victory on the Four Horseman of Calumny - Fear, Ignorance, Bigotry and Smear." Finally, in 1954 the Senate voted to condemn McCarthy's behavior but not before many innocent lives were damaged by his false accusations. McCarthy died in 1957 at age 47 from acute hepatitis due, supposedly, to alcoholism.

Former GVT associate artistic director becomes Dolly in new production

By Adam Pack

Former Lewisburg City Council member and Associate Artistic Director at Greenbrier Valley Theater (GVT), Kim Morgan-Dean, will be working a hard shift in her newest role as she takes on Dolly Parton's role in the stage adaptation of the classic film "9 to 5," at the Barter Theatre in Abingdon, VA.

The production, 9 to 5: A Musical, features all the big moments and plot of the film that so many have come to love, along with an expanded score. While all the original music from the film was written by Parton herself, the Broadway production also features brand new music written by the country music star.

Moving from New York to Lewisburg in 2014, Dean said, "I almost immediately fell in love with Greenbrier Valley Theater, with Lewisburg, and the area and just all that comes with it."

After serving on the City Council and doing four full seasons with the GVT, she accepted a fulltime acting position at the Barter Theatre. Dean said that The Barter offered her an expanded opportunity to develop her craft.

"The Barter has a full time troupe, and has four showing per day, a matinee and three showings, and that allows us to do everything from Richard III, to Musicals, to Comedies, and just really creates a great deal of diversity of production that I can get involved in now."

Most recently, Dean relishes the opportunity to portray who she calls, "such a cultural icon." Adding, "It's such a privilege to play Dolly Parton, she's such a dominant part of the culture in the area, being so close to Sevierville and Gatlinburg and being such a legend of country music. But, I've always loved and admired her song-writing and

That respect also contributed to the difficulty of this role. "People in this region are so familiar with her and love her so much, so it's been a very invigorating challenge to try and study her and learn her and pay homage to her without doing just a bad impression of her."

Dean also gives credit to the backstage staff at the Barter. "Perhaps no one looks less like Dolly than me, but we have such a great makeup and wardrobe department here at the Barter and they've really pulled it off brilliantly."

"9 to 5, The Musical" premieres June 3 and continues through Aug. 21 at the Barter Theatre in Abingdon, VA. For more information call 276-626-3991 or contact barterinfo@bartertheatre.com

About the Barter Theatre:

The Barter Theatre, the oldest continuously used stage theater in the United States, was opened in 1933 as a response by Appalachian transplant and Broadway actor Robert Porterfield. Porterfield saw the economic hardship around him in New York and knew that things were even worse in his home among the south western Virginia hills. He moved home to give access to arts and theater to his hometown. However, circumstances being as they were in The Great Depression, the theater accepted the foodstuffs and goods from local farms as payment. Their first tagline read, "Ham for Hamlet," after all. This payment proved successful, and the theater has been known as the Barter as a result ever since.

Ryan Cain and the Ables kicks off 2022 Ivy Terrace Concert Series

Carnegie Hall begins the 2022 Ivy Terrace Concert Series this Thursday, June 9, at 6:30 p.m. Ryan Cain and the Ables, authentic rockabilly and honky-tonk from the hills of West Virginia. Sponsored by City National Bank, the concerts take place outside on Carnegie Hall's Ivy Terrace as attendees watch from the expansive lawn in front of New River Community and Technical College. Concertgoers are encouraged to bring a lawn chair or blanket and pack a picnic to enjoy live music. All Ivy Terrace concerts are free and open to the public.

Ryan Cain is a native West Virginian musician who has traveled the East Coast for more than twenty years performing early rock 'n' roll hits and his original material.

Exciting live performances have gained Ryan Cain and the Ables a large fan base of all ages that grows every day. Cain's 2012 album "My Pistol Rides Shotgun," was critically acclaimed and was nominated for an Ameripolitan Award for "Best New Rockabilly Album." Singles from that album went on to earn a spot in a NASCAR/Mobil 1 Oil advertisement campaign, while another track was used in the CW's hit series "Supernatural." With the release of his 2016 album, "Cupid and the Devil," Cain reached new personal artistic heights - a real "musician's choice."

In 2020, Cain teamed up with pianist, Matt Jordan, whose repertoire includes touring with Reverend Horton Heat and Lee Rocker of the Stray Cats; and Clint Lewis on upright bass, the immensely talented Mountain Stage veteran who also toured internationally with The Wild Rumpus.

Mark your calendars and get excited about this summer in Lewisburg. The 2022 Carnegie Hall Ivy Terrace Concert Series is a "must do" for visitors and lo-

Bluegrass Festival returns to Ronceverte

New Skyline Productions, Inc. is excited to announce it will present "Skyline on the River," a tribute to the original Skyline Bluegrass Festival on Saturday, July 16, from 5 to 10 p.m. in the Amphitheatre located in Island Park, Ronceverte.

The original festival took place on the Blake Family mountaintop farm overlooking the Greenbrier River above the town of Ronceverte from 1976 - 1985. Bill Blake and Bill Simms, both of Ronceverte, were the promoters. Records show that between 10,000-15,000 individuals (many camping out) from across the United States gathered on this mountaintop farm to enjoy this three-day event.

It featured some of the greatest names in bluegrass, along with upand-coming artists and an array of guitar, banjo and fiddle pickers gathered around campfires playing to the wee hours of the morning. A wide variety of cultures (young and old alike) were united over what they all had in common - music! And good music it was. The festival's lineup over the years included the likes of the legendary Bill Monroe and The Bluegrass Boys, John Hartford, Doc and Merle Watson, Ralph Stanley and The Clinch Mountain Boys, Seldom Scene, J.D. Crowe and The New South, Norman and Nancy Blake, The Doug Dillard Band, The Osborne Brothers, John Prine, Elmer Bird, Billy Bowden and The Bluegrass Connection, The Buffalo Gals (all females and unique in bluegrass music history), along with a host of other stellar local and national artists.

The original Skyline Bluegrass Festival was formed to preserve and advance the tradition of Bluegrass and Newgrass music in WV. It was the first and largest in the state. Admission was only $12! New Skyline Productions, Inc. is committed to embracing and continuing this purpose. This new 501(c)3 has been formed to bring this widely popular event back to the River City in its outdoor Amphitheatre situated on the beautiful Greenbrier River. The stage is covered, but there is a nearby rain location (Clifford Armory in Ronceverte) secured in case of inclement weather. For this first year, there will be no admission charge.

Unfortunately, several of the bluegrass greats that appeared at the original festival have gone up to the big bluegrass stage in the sky. However, the day will feature five high-energy groups that are comprised of local and regional musicians. They include award winning bluegrass bands High Fidelity (based out of Nashville, TN) and Coaltown Dixie (all females heralding out of the Appalachian hills in East Kentucky). Newcomers to the national scene is Troubadour Blue. This innovative trio is composed of siblings Brenna and Eli Wheeler (of Nashville, TN) and Daniel Kim Ethridge (Austin, TX). They are known for "marrving the motifs of modern bluegrass with the poeticism found in Nashville's songwriting scene." Award winning and Mill Point, WV native Richard Hefner, and The Black Mountain Bluegrass Boys have been playing together for over 50 years. This bluegrass quartet features Dave Bing, Blaine

Sprouse, and "Black Mountain Bluegrass Girl" Joanna Burt-Kinderman. All hail from and are proud to be West Virginians. Rounding out the roster will be the infamous Ramp Supper Band (back from a much too long sabbatical). Formed back in the '70s, members include David and Henrietta Crandall, Buffalo "Bob Foster" and WV's celebrated son, Richard Hefner. In addition, the festival is proud to present special guest violinist extraordinaire. Adam DeGraff.

Ronceverte, a historical river and railroad community, has embarked on a well thought out restoration plan to transform the town into an important cultural and historical destination. Ronceverte believes this event will play an important part in the town's ongoing revitalization. Decisions are to start slow, be successful, and then grow the event with each year. Food and beverages will be available for purchase by local vendors. In addition, the public is encouraged to attend a photographic

MASKING DURING SUMMER TRAVEL CONSIDER

Effective April 18, 2022, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) January 29, 2021 order requiring masks on public transportation conveyances and at transportation hubs is no longer in effect. Therefore, CDC will not enforce the order.

HOWEVER, the CDC continues to recommend that people aged two years and older wear masks in indoor public transportation settings at this time.

Here are some Frequently Asked Questions from the CDC's website (cdc.gov/corona virus/2019-ncov/travelers/masks-public-transportation.

When should I wear a mask in travel and public transportation settings?

Properly wearing a well-fitting mask or respirator is recommended for everyone aged two years or older when indoors on public transportation and at transportation hubs. It is especially important to wear a mask:

• During times when public transportation or transportation hubs are crowded

- In areas that are poorly ventilated. Examples of poorly ventilated areas include:
 - Small, enclosed spaces, such as airport jetways
 - Public transportation during periods when the ventilation system is off and windows are closed (e.g., when the engine is turned off on an airplane)
 - During international travel and in transportation hubs that serve international travelers
- If you are at high risk for getting very sick from COVID-19, or if you live with or have social contact with someone at high risk
- During long-distance domestic travel
- When the COVID-19 Community Level in the area you are located in is high (applies to US locations only)

travel and public transportation settings, but not in

• Using public transportation and being in transportation hubs can involve spending long periods of time in areas that may be crowded or poorly ventilated, increasing chance for exposure to COVID-19.

other community settings?

• People on public transportation may not have the option to avoid being around people who are not wearing masks by disembarking or relocating to another area, such as on an airplane during flight, or on a bus or train while it is in motion.

• Some people using public transport or working in transportation settings (or someone they live or have social contact with) might have a weakened immune system or be at increased risk for severe illness.

- · Some might not be able to get COVID-19 vaccines, including children younger than five years old.
- Some of these people may have no alternative to public transportation.
- · People from countries or US communities with different levels of COVID-19 or circulating variants mix in travel and public transportation settings. These people also depart to many different locations, so an exposure in a transportation hub or on public transportation can lead to spread across the United States and around the world. What are other ways I can reduce risk in travel and trans-

- portation settings? · Consider traveling during off-peak times when public transportation and hubs are likely to be less crowded.
- Open windows to improve ventilation if you are on a mode of public transportation where this is an option.

DHHR Urges Residents to Take Steps to Prevent Tickborne Diseases

The West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources, Bureau for Public Health urges residents to take preventive measures against tickborne diseases. Tickborne diseases are spread through the bite of an infected tick and many of these diseases can also infect

According to the Office of Epidemiology and Prevention Services in DHHR's Bureau for Public Health, Lyme disease is the most common tickborne disease reported in West Virginia. Preliminary numbers indicate in 2021, there were 1,542 Lyme disease cases across the state with others still being investigated. In comparison, there were 1,062 confirmed Lyme disease cases in 2020.

From 2015-2020, there were more than 3,939 Lyme disease cases reported across the state representing a 271% increase. Historically limited to the Eastern Panhandle, Lyme disease has progressively become more common in northern, eastern, and central West Virginia. In 2017, West Virginia was designated a high incidence Lyme disease state.

Anaplasmosis, ehrlichiosis, and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever have also been reported in West Virginia, with about 1-10 cases of each per year. Tickborne infections can cause a variety of symptoms including fever, headache, chills, myalgia, and rash. Most infections occur from late spring through early fall when ticks are most active.

"Tick exposure can happen any time of the year, but is most common during summer months," said Dr. Ayne Amjad, State Health Officer and Commissioner for DHHR's Bureau for Public Health. "The most effective way to prevent tickborne diseases is to use tick repellent when you are in wooded and brushy areas."

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention provides the following tips when coming indoors: check your clothing for ticks, examine gear and pets, shower soon after being outdoors, and check your body for

When seeking medical assistance, it's important to save any ticks that may have been involved with a bite which may help medical staff identify the tick. Medical treatments are effective in treating tickborne diseases and can prevent severe complications when given early in the course of infection. For more information, visit https://oeps.wv.gov/arboviral/ Pages/tbd.aspx.

Canning and Preserving Your

Garden Goodies

Canning is a great way to be able to enjoy local fruits and vegetables all year round. However, it is important that canning equipment is kept in peak condition to get the most out of your canning efforts. West Virginia University Extension's Greenbrier County office offers free dial gauge pressure canner testing and information on canning all your garden goodies.

"Having a pressure canner tested at a local WVU Extension office allows individuals to help safeguard their canned foods, as well as the hard work and time involved with the canning process," says Extension Agent Andi Hoover. A pressure canner that is working correctly not only seals in food flavor, but using high heat exposure along with pressure, makes certain that air has escaped, and kills bacteria enzymes.

Taking the necessary steps, like having canners tested, making sure you know what to pressure can and what to process in a boiling water bath—helps reduce the chance of food spoilage. All low acid foods such as green beans and other vegetables as well as meat must be processed in a pressure canner; while high acid foods like tomatoes and fruits can be processed in a boiling water

If you did not use the correct processing procedure (pressure can or water bath), your jars may be sealed, but they may have also sealed in unwanted bacteria as well. New strains of bacteria are being discovered every day that can cause serious illness. The canning process using heat and/or pressure is what kills bacteria. Make sure you are following recipes

CASE NO. 21-0840-E-IDS APPALACHIAN POWER COMPANY and WHEELING POWER COMPANY

Application for Approval of a Written Plan for the Construction of Utility Infrastructure at a West Virginia Business Ready Site and for Associated Cost Recovery Pursuant to W.Va. Code § 24-2-In

NOTICE OF FILING AND HEARING

On April 12, 2022, Appalachian Power Company (APCo) and Wheeling Power Company (WPCo) (together, the Companies) filed an Amended Application, duly verified, for approval of a written plan to construct utility infrastructure at a West Virginia business ready site (the "Project") and associated cost recovery, pursuant to W.Va. Code § 24-2-ln. The total net cost of the Project is expected to be $35.6 million.

The Project will involve the construction of transmission and distribution facilities within and into the Raleigh County Memorial Airport Industrial Park, located within APCo's service territory, which facilities will be capable of serving initial customer load up to 30MW and potentially up to 60MW with additional investment. The goal of the Project is to retain existing industrial customers and attract new industrial customers to the benefit of the local and state economies

The Companies' application is on file with and available for public inspection at the Public Service Commission, 201 Brooks Street, Charleston, WV 25301.

The Companies anticipate charging the following surcharge rates in connection with the Project:

	Customer Class	Cents per kWh	$ per kW
	Residential	0.008
	Small Commercial	0.004 to 0.008	0.015
	Large Commercial		0.002 to 0.016
	Industrial Tariff		0.008 to 0.023
	Industrial Special Contract	Various	Various
h.	e average residential customer usin	g 1 000 kWh ner month wou	ild experience a rate increase of	$1 monthly or $0.96 yearly under the Companies' proposal. These increased rates will result in the following average project-related increases for the total indicated class of customers to become effective October 1, 2022, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission:

	Mon	ithly	Yea
	($) Increase	(%) Increase	($) Increase	(%) Increase
Residential	$31,818	0.052%	$393,816	0.052%

Industrial	$11,845	0.028%	$142,134	0.028%
Resale	$0	0%	$0	0%
Other	$0	0%	$0	0%

The only resale customer in West Virginia is Black Diamond Power Company, Inc.

The proposed increased rates and charges related to the Project will produce approximately $0.7 million annually in additional revenue, an increase of 0.030%, during the first rate year. The increases shown are based on averages of all customers in the indicated class. Individual customers may receive increases that are greater or less than the average. Furthermore, the total requested rates and charges and resulting increases for the various classes of customers are only a proposal and are subject to change (increases or decreases) by the Public Service Commission in its review of the Companies' filing. The Commission has set a procedural schedule, including a hearing on the Companies' application, if necessary, that will begin at 9:30 a.m. on August 3, 2022, in the Howard M. Cunningham Hearing Room at the Commission's offices at 201 Brooks Street, Charleston, West Virginia. If no opposition to the Companies' application is received, the hearing may be waived and the Commission may issue a final order within 150 days of the application filing date. Anyone desiring to intervene in the matter should file a written petition to intervene no later than June 27, 2022, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission. All requests to intervene should briefly state the reason for the request and comply with the rules on intervention set forth in the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. The Commission will receive public comments until the beginning of the hearing. All written comments and requests to intervene should state the case name and number and be addressed to Karen Buckley, Executive Secretary, P.O. Box 812, Charleston, WV 25323. Five Tips for Managing Allergies

from the USDA, Ball Blue

While this time of year brings sunshine, greenery, and longer days, it can also usher in sinus pressure, headaches, itchy eyes and respiratory problems. More than 50 million people suffer with nasal allergies and half of those also have seasonal pollen allergies, according to The Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America (AAFA).

"With ongoing changes to our climate, the typical allergy season is also undergoing changes," said Christopher White, D.O., of Greenbrier ENT. "Allergy symptoms may vary throughout the year depending on where you live and the types of substances you're allergic to. Still, many people experience a worsening of their allergies around this time when pollen counts are high."

If you or a family member suffers from hay fever or allergic rhinitis, here are some helpful tips to keep symptoms in

Leave the pollen outside. Take your shoes off at the door as much as possible to keep from spreading pollen through your house.

Close your windows and dust your fans. True sufferers should keep the windows shut to prevent allergens from entering. If you use a ceiling fan, give it a good cleaning. Replace air filters in your home and car regularly.

Keep your immune system strong. Eat fresh, clean, nutrient rich foods and stay active. The healthier your immune system, the more equipped your body is to battle histamines. Be aware of the pollen count. It changes daily – look up the count for the day by zip code at pollen.com. Sip warm beverages. Herbal teas can help ease congestion and keep you hydrated.

Wherever you live, allergies are likely to affect someone in your home. In addition to tips for avoiding allergy triggers, there are many effective treatments to minimize symptoms. Talk with your doctor about the best allergy prevention or treatment path for you. "My best advice during this season is that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," says Robert Pollard, M.D., of Greenbrier ENT. "If you have allergies, be sure to limit exposure when working or playing outside. And see your doctor if your allergies are affecting your daily life. There are many effective therapies available to minimize symptoms."

If you need help finding a primary care physician or ENT specialist, visit gvmedicalgroup.com/doctors-providers. If you're suffering from allergies, call (304) 645-0870 to schedule a visit at Greenbrier ENT in Lewisburg or Beckley.
