GRTF continues fundraising with goal of redecking all 37 bridges along trail

By Sarah Richardson

The Greenbrier River Trail Foundation (GRTF) is seeking the public's help in raising funds for an extensive project: redecking all 37 bridges along our Greenbrier River Trail. While the GRTF has applied for grant funding to cover the majority of the costs of this project, 20 percent in match funding is required.

The funds will be used to purchase bridge decking materials and associated labor costs to replace worn decking on 37 bridges on the trail. Weather and usage contribute to the deterioration of the wooden planks over time.

"We did get a grant, but it's going to take a whole lot more funding than that," said Maggie

Hutchison, Chair of the Greenbrier River Trail Association (GRTA). She explained that while many of the bridges spanning the trail have been patched over the years, they have not been renovated since their initial installation. New decking and side railings will help keep the trail safe for public use for many years.

The GRTF and GRTA are both 501(c)(3) organizations, and share the same governance, board structure, officers, by-laws, and mission. Both groups are dedicated to fostering the health and vitality of the Greenbrier River Trail, and meeting the needs of the trail. Both groups work closely with the WV DNR, which manages the trail and oversees trail maintenance. By creating a State Park Foundation, GRTF has adopted the trail which provides access to the WV State Parks Foundation, a network of helpful resources, including the WV State Parks Foundation matching grant funds which can be used for trail improvements.

"We approached the Superintendent of the Trail to ask how we could help, and this was what he said was one of their top priorities," said Hutchison.

The trail has already gained the first of two planned Transportation Alternative Grants, which are federal monies allotted for a variety of transportation-related endeavors. The first grant totals roughly $764,000, and Hutchison said they plan to see "Greenbrier River Trail" Page 2

This bridge at Sharp's Tunnel is one that's in rough shape thanks to years of outdoor exposure and use. Among the 37 bridges in the scope of the project are six large bridge crossings that will require engineer review and certification.

Ronceverte honors new, promoted police officers

By Adam Pack

The Ronceverte City Council met for their regularly scheduled meeting on Monday, May 1, to honor the recent addition of a new police officer to the Ronceverte Municipal Police Department. Officer Alex Williams recently graduated from the West Virginia Police Academy. With his joining the force, current officer Robert Akree, II was promoted to Lieutenant. Mayor Deena Pack echoed the sentiments of every member of the city council when she expressed her sincere gratitude to, and pride in, the officers of the Ronceverte P.D. Prior to the meeting, the American Legion of Ronceverte (Greenbrier Post No. 26) honored officers Williams and Akree to show their appreciation for the work that they, Chief Jerry Hopkins, and the rest of the department do for the city.

Moving to city business, the council first discussed ongoing projects. The city first announced that the to apply for a grant of the same financial amount next year. She explained that they are still scoping out the full details of the project to ensure they get exactly what they need to pull off the massive undertaking. However, this means that $150,000 needs to be raised for the financial match on the first grant, and an additional $150,000 will be needed if the second grant is secured in the future.

“We found out on March 24 that we secured this [first] grant, and now we need to start an aggressive fundraising campaign to get those match funds,” Hutchison explained.

Generous sponsors have already committed financially towards the project, including the Seneca Foundation, the Hollowell-Dawkins Foundation, the James F.B. Peyton Foundation, and the WV State Parks Foundation, but the GRTF still needs financial support from the community.

One way that funds are raised for the trail is the Great Greenbrier River Race, held each year at Marlinton by the GRTA. Last weekend, on Apr. 29, more than 300 racers participated in the popular triathlon, which consists of three miles of running down the trail, paddling four miles down the Greenbrier River in a kayak to Buckeye, and then hitting the trail again for the 10-mile biking portion of the event.

Overall, the GRTF has been responsible for approximately $1.5 million of grant funds and donations over the years.

That funding has gone toward a variety of projects, including resurfacing the trail in 2021; the repair old shelters; the building of new shelters; installing vault toilets; installing water wells; installing new informational signage (to be completed this summer); flood recovery work to the trail; cleaning, preparing, painting mile markers, shelters, kiosks and bathrooms; and their newest completed project as of Oct. 2022, installing trail to river access steps from the trail down to the river above the Anthony trail access near mile marker 15.

The GRTF has also secured a 5.5 acre tract of land beside Camp Allegheny Road for a new, additional parking lot at Caldwell. They donated the land to the WV DNR, who is overseeing the project. A February 2022 press release from Gov. Jim Justice’s office confirmed that $150,000 in Transportation Alternative Grant funds was allotted for “Greenbrier River Trail Trailhead Improvement” for the new lot’s construction.

“We hope that the new parking lot will be completed this summer, hopefully at the same time as the Caldwell portion of the trail reopens when the water project is complete,” said Hutchison. “We estimate around 20 or so more parking spaces, in addition to what we have at the current Caldwell lot.”

Art Show held at Rupert Library

The Rupert Public Library held their Art Show Reception on Saturday, Apr. 22. Entertainment was furnished by the Hidden Mountain Treasures band. While the band played wonderful music, we enjoyed viewing the art exhibits and deciding which painting was our favorite. Food prepared by the library trustees was enjoyed by all.

The blue-ribbon winners of the Rupert Public Library Art Show were: Watercolor category, Margaret Golden; Acrylics category, Misty Murray-Walkup; Oil category, Shelby Oreolt; Pastel category, Karen McClung; Mixed Media, Linda Connolly; and the Best of Show award went to Shelby Oreolt. The People’s Choice award was a three-way tie between Sharon Johnson, Debra Spence, and Doreen Alderman.

like Charlie Brown Superstar, Funk You, Sneezy, Massing, and Of The Dell will fill the air as they perform on stages sprinkled throughout downtown, and kids activities will graciously be provided by partners like the Schoolhouse Hotel and Carnegie Hall. Applications for artists looking to participate on Main Street are still open. All artists must fill out the Artist Application form to be considered.

The full line-up and schedule of events will be announced in the coming weeks.

Splash Pad will be holding its grand opening on Friday, May 26 at 1 p.m. The Council is excited about the prospect of the Splash Pad being up and running, and expects ongoing finalization efforts by the city’s water department to be complete in advance of the grand opening date.

The city also read two ordinances on the second reading. The city’s floodplain ordinance, titled “City of Ronceverte Floodplain Ordinance 2023-03; An Ordinance Establishing that a Floodplain Exists, Requiring All Contractors, Persons, Partnerships, Businesses, and Corporations to Obtain a Permit for Development, Construction, Substantial Improvement, or Relocation of any Building or Structure, Providing for a Certain Minimum Standard for Construction Within the Floodplain Area, Setting Forth Special Procedures for Submission and Approval of Plans, and Establishing Penalties for Failure to Comply With The Requirements or Provisions of this Ordinance,” was considered read the second time, by title only, and was unanimously approved. Next was the second reading of the Seasonal Outdoor Dining Ordinance, officially titled “City of Ronceverte Ordinance 2023-04, Revising Article 21-2A; The Purpose of this Ordinance is to Set Forth a Revision of Article 21-2A to Allow Season Outdoor Dining to be Introduced at City Council.” Also considered read the second time by title only, the ordinance was approved unanimously by the council as well.

Bob Hazelwood of E.L. Robinson Engineering was present to inform the council that he and his office had found that the city was eligible for $42,000 in reimbursements to funds paid for recent work on the city’s water system. The council was very appreciative of the diligence shown by Hazelwood, noting that the availability of these reimbursements most likely would not have been brought to the city’s attention otherwise.

The city then discussed new business, beginning with Ronceverte Municipal elections. Early voting begins Wednesday, May 24, and will run through Saturday, Jun. 3. Early voting will take place at the new City Hall building on Edgar Avenue, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. Election Day for Ronceverte Municipal elections will be Jun. 6, from 6:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., also at the New City Hall building.

The city also notified the public that the levy for Fiscal Year 2023-24 was laid on April 18 in a special meeting of the City Council.

Lastly, the city read for the first time the new Mobile Food Vendor Ordinance. Officially titled, “Mobile Food Vendor Ordinance 2023-05; An Ordinance of the City of Ronceverte to Create an Ordinance for Licensing and Setting Forth provisions on Mobile Food Vendors,” was considered read by title only, the first reading of which was approved, and now moves to be read the second time at the June meeting of the council. Mayor Pack explained that this means that food trucks or vendors that set up between now and the June meeting will not be subject to the ordinance, but those wishing to set up after the June meeting of the council will be.

In their report to the council, the Fire Department requested the blockage of Main Street on Memorial Day Weekend for their “Fill the Boot” Fundraiser. This request was approved by the city. City Administrator Pam Mentz also reported to the council that volunteers had done exemplary work in and around town, especially beautification work at the graveyard and Island Park.

The Ronceverte City Council will meet again for the regularly scheduled meeting on June 5, in the New City Hall Building on Edgar Avenue at 7 p.m. The public is encouraged to attend, and to call ahead first at 304-657-5455, as times and or dates are subject to change.

Morrisey announces multimillion dollar opioid settlement with Kroger

West Virginia Attorney General Patrick Morrisey on Thursday announced a settlement has been reached between his office and Kroger for $68 million. The pharmacy chain was the last remaining defendant in a lawsuit involving Walgreens, Walmart, CVS and Rite Aid.

The settlement with Kroger resolves the lawsuit that alleged the pharmacy chain failed to maintain effective controls as a distributor and dispenser against diversion that contributed to oversupply of opioids in the state.

"Let this be a warning to others: We fight hard for those affected the most by the opioid epidemic and will stop at nothing in getting justice for them," Attorney General Morrisey said. "West Virginia remains on top in settlement dollars per capita. And although the hundreds of millions of dollars we secured from these companies will not bring back the lives lost from the opioid menace, our hope is that the money would provide significant help to those affected the most by this crisis in the state."

Kroger has agreed to pay $34 million upfront per the settlement agreement, then $12 million on June 30, 2024, another $12 million on June 30, 2025, and then lower additional payments over the next seven years to reach the $68 million total.

The deal also comes with a 2.94% Most Favored Nation protection - a guarantee that West Virginia won't be prejudiced by a future national settlement.

As far as the other pharmacy chains in the lawsuit, Walgreens settled in January for $83 million.

Walmart and CVS settled with the state last September: Walmart agreed to a settlement of $65,070,000; CVS for $82.5 million.

Last August, Rite Aid settled for up to $30 million to resolve similar litigation.

The lawsuits allege the pharmacies' contribution to the oversupply of prescription opioids in the state have caused "significant losses through their past and ongoing medical treatment costs, including for minors born addicted to opioids, rehabilitation costs, naloxone costs, medical examiner expenses, self-funded state insurance costs and other forms of losses to address opioid-related afflictions and loss of lives."

"Getting justice from those responsible for the opioid epidemic in the state has always been my top priority as your Attorney General - so many lives have been lost and so many families have been shattered by this epidemic," Attorney General Morrisey said.

The money from all opioid settlements will be distributed under the terms of the West Virginia First Memorandum of Understanding which allows for the creation of the West Virginia First Foundation.

In March, Gov. Jim Justice signed SB 674, which recognizes the Foundation and authorizes the governor to make appointments to its board of directors with the advice and consent of the Senate.

As a private, nonstock, nonprofit group, the Foundation will distribute any settlement or judgment funds awarded from litigation for abatement purposes - it will be pursuant to the terms of the MOU.

As the central organization dedicated to addressing the

Nature's Way By Karen Cohen Kind of Blue

Maybe three or four years ago, we planted some blueberry bushes inside our fenced garden plot. Birds and bears love blueberries and so do we, so fencing them was our solution. Though we do have a fantastic blueberry farm nearby here, we wanted to be able to step outside early mornings to nab a few blue fatties to add to our granola breakfast. Convenience is often the reason we eat certain things, isn't it?

Blueberries are packed with fiber, vitamin c, manganese and potassium AND low in calories. Seems like the ideal snack food, too, rather than candy or some other man made junk. Blue can spike blood sugar while blueberries can help regulate it according to scientific research. You might call blueberries a superfood. Just about ½ cup per day can help fight cardiovascular disease, too. So, yeah, we wanted to keep the flow of blueberries into our bodies a daily thing while they were "in season".

For years, our blueberry plants did absolutely nothing. They remained naked twigs. Two died completely. We scratched our heads and figured that bad stock plants were our problem. I finally had time last fall to really investigate why the heck these plants would not grow well in our garden. You know how Oprah talks about Ah-ha moments? I had one. It turns out that my garden soil was not very acidic and blueberries require acidic soil to grow well. Well, better late than never, I figured, so now I had to acidify my blueberry patch's soil.

Research led me to use what I had readily available; I did not have to spend a dime. Coffee grounds! We had one cup each morning of those left over from our pressed coffee. Blood meal or fish meal is excellent, too, but I didn't have that at hand. Hauling buckets out to our pine forest was my next chore. I raked up the fallen pine needles into my pails with gloved hands and walked back to my garden plot happy to have a great source of nutrients for my blueberry plants. I surrounded the blueberry plants with a thick layer of pine needles and even dug some into the dirt around the plants, careful not to slice through any roots underground.

This spring, low and behold, our plants burst into life, sending out new branches covered in leaves and then came the tiny flowers. Wow. It feels good when experimenting is successful, doesn't it! We have lots of solitary bees when the weather gets warm and they visited the blueberry flowers along with the apple tree and red-bud trees, all of which were blooming around the same time in early spring. I now see little green berries dangling from each blueberry branch and that assures me that we will have blueberries of our own this year. Yay!

So that leads me to wonder. What else can benefit from changing the PH acidity level of garden soil, if need be? To find out the PH of your soil is pretty easy.

You can buy the PH monitor test kits from the store or try this DIY method. I did this last fall which gave me plenty of time to make adjustments and ready my garden soil for the coming spring. Dig down about 6 inches in various spots of your garden and remove a lump of soil from each. Take out the stones, sticks, and dead leaves and break up the clumps with your hands. Place the dirt into a clean glass jar, add distilled water, and mix it up until you get a muddy consistency. Distilled water can be bought in the store and is free of any impurities. Next add ½ cup of vinegar and stir it around with a spoon. If the mixture starts to fizz and bubble, then you have alkaline soil. Next test if there are no bubbles. Take a clean batch of soil and repeat the process of adding distilled water, mixing, and then add and stir in ½ cup of baking soda. If this results in fizzing and foaming, then your soil is acidic.

Most plants and veggies grow well in normal PH conditions but some do have certain requirements, as I found out from my blueberry experiment. Many factors go into creating a soil's acid or alkaline rating and

Supreme Court ethics should be a no-brainer

To the Editor:

The recent news about Clarence Thomas's financial entanglements with GOP mega donor Harlan Crow should be alarming to every American. This is what happens when the highest court in the land is given free rein to police itself. Clarence Thomas isn't the first justice to engage in unethical behavior. And if Congress continues to ignore the need for a Supreme Court code of ethics, he won't be the last.

Of the nine justices currently on the bench, four have been called out for unethical behavior and connections in the last year. Neil Gorsuch sold property to the head of a law firm with cases in front of the Supreme Court. Samuel Alito dined with anti-abortion activists and allegedly leaked decisions on reproductive health. John Roberts' wife has earned millions of dollars from law firms with business before the Supreme Court.

Congress has a constitutional duty to act as a check on the Supreme Court and restore faith in our judicial system. It's time they act and pass a Supreme Court code of ethics.

Sincerely,
 Donna Crouthamel
 Sinks Grove

this can change from year to year. Testing every fall is a good idea. Heavy rainfall, for example, which we have had tons of this spring in our area, can wash away beneficial nutrients that perhaps you added with compost. It's a good idea to cover your compost piles with a cloth or tarp to keep excessive rain out. While moisture is required for worms and beneficial insects to live in compost to help it break down, too much water can leach out the good stuff. When adding compost around your plants, you can cover it with straw or hay to help absorb excess water/rain.

Here's a short list of acid loving plants: nasturtiums, daffodils, tomatoes, azaleas, cukes, and squash. Watering with coffee water helps to acidify the soil.

Alkaline loving plants: asparagus, beans, beets, cabbages, and peas. Adding a bit of wood ash every now and then to aid these veggies is a great way to "sweeten" the soil.

Try testing and amending your soil if you are having some problems growing certain plants and it may be just the solution to keep things growing!

Flag Etiquette: Time and occasions for display

The following is the second in a series of articles sponsored by American Legion Post 100 in Union on the proper etiquette towards the U.S. Flag. The information comes from U.S. Code Title 4, also known as "The Flag Code." This week's installment describes the appropriate times and occasions for display of the U.S. Flag.

- It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flag staffs in the open. However, when a patriotic effect is desired, the flag may be displayed twenty-four hours a day if properly illuminated during the hours of darkness.

- The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.

- The flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement, except when an all-weather flag is displayed.

- The flag should be displayed on all days, especially on New Year's Day, Jan. 1; Inauguration Day, Jan. 20; Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday, the third Monday in January; Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12; Washington's Birthday, the third Monday in February; National Vietnam War Veterans Day, Mar. 29, Easter Sunday (variable); Mother's Day, the second Sunday in May; Armed Forces Day, the third Saturday in May; Memorial Day (half-staff until noon), the last Monday in May; Flag Day, Jun. 14; Father's Day, the third Sunday in June; Independence Day, July 4; National Korean War Veterans Armistice Day, July 27; Labor Day, first Monday in September; Constitution Day, Sept. 17; Columbus Day, second Monday in October; Navy Day, Oct. 27; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day, fourth Thursday in November; Christmas Day, Dec. 25; and such other days as may be proclaimed by the President of the United States; the birthdays of States (date of admission); and on State holidays.

- The flag should be displayed daily on or near the main administration building of every public institution.

- The flag should be displayed in or near every polling place on election days.

- The flag should be displayed during school days in or near every schoolhouse.

New River Gorge ranks as #16 Best US National Park, ahead of Yellowstone

For National Parks Week, Travel Lemming analyzed data to rank all 63 US national parks. The youngest national park in the country fared impressively, ranking higher than iconic national parks like Yosemite, Yellowstone, and Zion.

In celebration of National Parks week, Travel Lemming released a data-backed ranking of all 63 US national parks. New River Gorge in West Virginia ranks as the #16 overall best national park in the USA, also ranking among the most biodiverse and best-reviewed parks in the country.

Travel Lemming's national parks ranking is based on an analysis of data scoring each park across six factors: affordability, accessibility, biodiversity, crowds, reviews, and weather.

The report revealed the following insights regarding New River Gorge National Park:

- New River Gorge National Park ranks 4th in biodiversity, offering visitors a rich variety of plant and animal species to discover.

- Despite being a top 20 park, New River Gorge National Park ranks 61st in terms of crowds, the 3rd most visitor-dense park in the USA.

- New River Gorge's 9th-place ranking in reviews showcases its favorable light among visitors.

Iconic national parks fared worse in the data, largely due to crowds and affordability. Yellowstone National Park was ranked 23rd, Zion National Park was ranked in position 26, and Yosemite National Park in the 34th slot.

Tennessee's Great Smoky Mountains is the most biodiverse park, North Dakota's Theodore Roosevelt the most affordable, Alaska's Gates of the Arctic the least crowded, and Missouri's Gateway Arch the most accessible.

Shenandoah National Park ranks first overall, with exceptional scores in affordability, accessibility, and biodiversity.

The most famous national parks fared surprisingly poorly in the data, largely due to the crowds and affordability factors. Grand Canyon National Park was ranked #15, Yellowstone National Park at position #23, and Yosemite National Park at slot #34.

National Parks were ranked on six factors, based on the following data:

Crowds - Number of visits per acre of park land in 2022. (Sources: NPS 2022 Recreation Visit Data, Wikipedia Acreage Data)

Reviews - Average visitor review score out of 5. (Sources: Google Maps, Yelp, TripAdvisor)

Weather - Number of months with a comfortable average temperature, defined as between 50 and 90 degrees Fahrenheit. (Source: NOAA NECI US Climate Normals)

Affordability - Average nightly cost of a nearby quality hotel room during the first weekend of the park's most popular month. (Sources: Booking, Google Travel, Hotel Websites)

Accessibility - Average of driving distance to the park from the closest FAA Primary Airport and from the closest hub airport. (Sources: FAA, Google Maps Driving Distance, Wikipedia Major US Airports)

Biodiversity - Number of species deemed "present or probably present." (Source: NPS Species List)

Overall rankings were determined by each park's average ranking across all factors. Further details are available in the report's methodology section.

opioid crisis throughout the state, the Foundation will receive 72.5% of each settlement or judgment, 24.5% of settlement and judgment dollars will be allocated to local governments and 3% will be held in escrow by the state.

This allocation maximizes the amount of money that will be available for an opioid abatement fund and will distribute money throughout the state. This distribution will allow the money to help people and fund projects most in need.

The Foundation will be managed by a board of 11 members, five of whom will be appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate. To represent the interests of local governments, the MOU establishes six regions, and one member will be chosen from each of those regions.

An executive director will run the day-to-day operations of the foundation.

So far, all 55 counties and 220 of 229 cities and towns have signed on to the MOU.

"Now is the time for healing as we move on with the establishment of the West Virginia First Foundation," Attorney General Morrisey said. "Let our efforts to rid the state of this epidemic judge us in the future. By no means is this the end of our journey: We will continue fighting this scourge, no matter the stakes."

Lois Marie O’Doherty

Winchester, VA—Lois Marie O’Doherty (née Sullivan), 90, died peacefully at her home in Winchester, Va., on Thursday, Apr. 20, 2023.

Born May 9, 1932, she is survived by her nine children and their spouses: Patrick (Teresa) of Winston Salem, NC; Michael (Lisa) of Fredericksburg, VA; Margaret (William) Corcoran of Richmond, VA; Jane of Winchester, VA; Stephen (Nancy) of Arlington, VA; Thomas (Laurie) of Covington, VA; Kathleen (Shawn) Brooker of Lynchburg, VA; Barbara (Doug) Young of Richmond, VA; and Beth (Kevin) Kennedy of Cary, NC. In addition, she leaves behind 29 beloved grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Lois was preceded in death by her husband of 56 years, Philip J. O’Doherty; her parents, John and Margaret Sullivan; and eight siblings.

Visitation will be at 9 a.m. on Friday, May 5, at Wallace & Wallace Funeral Home, 175 Mountain Avenue, White Sulphur Springs. A Mass of Christian Burial will follow at 11 a.m. at St. Charles Borromeo Catholic Church in White Sulphur Springs. Interment will be immediately after the Mass.

A native of White Sulphur Springs, Lois was raised on a family farm during the Second World War - years that inspired her deep commitments to faith, family, hard work, and duty. After graduating from high school, she attended business school and began working in Charleston, WV. There, she met her husband, Philip, at a Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) dance. They married in 1952 and spent the next 38 years raising their children, not resting until all had graduated from college.

Over the years, she held various jobs, including working at the Toy Shop at The Greenbrier. An avid reader and excellent cook, Lois also enjoyed golf and gardening. Her happiest moments were spent surrounded by loved ones - especially at the dinner table, where her mashed potatoes and homemade bread were legendary.

She will be remembered for her profound grace, abiding faith, warm laughter, and, most especially, loving devotion to her family.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests that memorial contributions be made to a charity of choice.

Margaret Clare Bruns

Lewisburg—Margaret “Margy” Clare Bruns, 69, passed away peacefully on Sunday, Apr. 30, 2023, at The Lewisburg Healthcare Center surrounded by her family and an outpouring of love.

Margy was born on Sept. 28, 1953, in St. Louis, Missouri. She was the youngest of three daughters born to the late Paul and Miriam Bruns.

Margy loved to travel and made many homes residing in St. Louis, Kansas City, Minnesota, and Puerto Rico, before settling in the beautiful Greenbrier Valley of West Virginia in 1985.

Margy was a nurse in many different fields and settings, retiring as a Psychiatric Nurse Practitioner. She loved the work she did, the patients she helped, but not always all the electronic charting systems she had to maneuver. Margy was a member of St. James Episcopal Church in Lewisburg.

Left to honor her memory are her children, Sarah (Charles) Yocke of Canonsburg, PA and Andrew (Margaret) Schriever of Pittsburgh, PA; two granddaughters, Paisley and Patilyn Yocke; sisters, Mary (Randy) Vest of O’Fallon, MO; Joan (Mike) Grady of Ferguson, MO; as well as many nieces, nephews, great-nieces, and great-nephews.

To her granddaughters she was affectionately known as “Gia” (Grandma in Action). She was very excited to get to pick her own grandma name, and it was fitting. Margy was looking forward to her son’s upcoming wedding and officially gaining a daughter-in-law. Where her body will not be present, her spirit will be there to witness the special day.

Her caring heart and quick wit helped gain Margy a multitude of friends, who will carry on her memories and were essential in supporting her through the good times and the bad.

Margy was a champion for education and medical advancements. She honorably donated her body to WVSOM Human Gift Registry. The family has chosen to honor Margy with a celebration of life, later this summer.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests donations to The Family Refugee Center, 213 Coleman Drive, Lewisburg, WV 24901 (304-645-6324) <https://familyrefugeecenter.harnessapp.com/wv2/donate>

A special thanks to the kind staff at The Lewisburg Healthcare Center, who ensured her comfort and dignity was maintained.

Eva Victoria Kizmann

Eva Victoria Kizmann Kelly, 88, passed away peacefully at home on Saturday, Apr. 29 while listening to her favorite BBC Comedy, Last of the Summer Wine, surrounded by some of her best-loved flowers, birds at the feeder on her window, and the family dog guarding close by. She was affectionately known as Omi (grandmother) by her grandchildren, great-grandchildren and honorary family.

Born Dec. 23, 1934, in Spisske Vlachy, Slovakia, she was the daughter of Albert and Wilhelmina Strisovsky Kizmann.

After surviving encampment in WWII, the family was relocated to Germany, which became their second home. At the age of 15, Eva, along with two brothers immigrated to New York City where she graduated from McDowell School of Costume Design and Fashion Illustration (which surely influenced her well-known eclectic fashion and sense of style). She then held several interesting jobs including a seamstress for a fashion designer, nanny, care-taker of the elderly, door-to-door magazine salesperson up and down the East Coast, and she worked with the Flying Tigers during the Hungarian Revolution, bringing refugees to the U.S. In New York City, she met and married Maxwell Kelly, a handsome Canadian in the US Army.

She and Max picked out Lewisburg as home after his military retirement. When folks noticed her accent and asked where she was from, she would proudly say Muddy Creek Mountain! Eva worked for the Greenbrier County Red Cross and WV College of Graduate Studies. In 1989, she graduated from the Region IV School of Practical Nursing and began a career with local nursing homes. Eva spent her latter years as an avid gardener and birdwatcher, voracious reader, and astute player of solitaire on her computer and word games on whatever pieces of paper were close at hand.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by husband Maxwell in 1975, infant sister Marienka, and brothers Alois, Joseph, Julius and Emerich.

Those left to cherish her memory are daughters, Susie (Bernie) Jackson of Hillsdale and Wilhelmina Kelly (Chris) at home; son, Thomas Kelly of Orlando, FL; and sister, Theresa Thompson of Faribault, MN. Her grandchildren are Heidi (Frank) Houck of Union, Holly (Lucas) Woods of Princeton and Hanna (A.J.) Jackson-Fraley of Jacksonville, FL. Her great-grandchildren are Gabriella, Max, Jack and Kellyanne Houck; Bennett Woods, Addie, and baby Woods due in September.

A memorial service will be held at a later date. Eva’s body was donated to the WVSOM human gift registry for medical research. Her family would like to thank her doctors and Kanawha Hospice in Fairlea for their wonderful care.

Paul Edward Burdette

Lewisburg—Paul Edward Burdette, known by his friends as Eddie, died Sunday, Apr. 2, 2023, at Peyton Hospice House, two months after suffering a paralyzing stroke. He was 74. Eddie was known by many around Lewisburg for years as the owner of the red Jeep whose plywood roof was tied on with ropes. But he had talents not everyone knows about.

He was a brilliant photographer, producing some magnificent photographs of tiny flowers, insects and snowflakes. In his younger days he was a serious caver and bicyclist.

Eddie was born in Lewisburg on July 31, 1949, the son of Ray and Virginia Harris Burdette.

An adopted brother, Ricky also preceded him in death.

His closest living relative is his dear first cousin, Janet Belcher, of Winnetka, CA, whom he talked to every week.

Eddie graduated from Lewisburg High School and attended Bluefield State College. Over the years, despite some disabilities, Eddie worked as a construction helper and laborer, did farm and lawn work, repaired bicycles, and worked for years at Organ Cave as a wild cave guide.

Besides photography and caving, Eddie was very knowledgeable about volcanoes, earthquakes, geology and the history of the Alderson lion. When he was younger, he had a strong interest in telescopes, astronomy and model rocketry. He fed the birds around his apartment and loved and took good care of a cat who lived outside, whom he named Mr. Gazebo.

Eddie was a person who didn’t always fit in. He readily admitted to having very few social skills. As a result, he sometimes suffered ridicule or abuse from unkind people.

But he also had people throughout his life who appreciated him and looked out for him.

Among these were Carl Waggoner who was his friend from childhood. Eddie taught Carl about astronomy and rockets. And Sylvia Waggoner, Carl’s mom, was Eddie’s friend as long as she lived.

When Eddie was in high school, Mr. Earl Clay, then a science teacher at Lewisburg High, stood up powerfully for Eddie when he badly needed help. Eddie was being bullied by fellow students and as well as by some of his teachers. Mr. Clay, who had been principal of the Bolling School for many years before the two schools merged, wouldn’t stand for it and soon put a stop to the bullying. After that he and Eddie remained friends.

Beverly McBride was a good friend and employer who believed in Eddie. They were good friends as long as she lived.

Leon Piper, one of Jehovah’s Witnesses, called on Eddie when he was living in Bluefield and taught him many hope-inspiring truths from the Bible which Eddie held onto the rest of his life.

Ken Hensley, an expert caver from the DC area, was a mentor to Eddie in caving and became a long-lasting friend.

Eddie found the meetings at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah’s Witnesses in Lewisburg to be educational and inspiring and regularly attended them. Several of the Witnesses became good friends to Eddie, including Dan and Jimlyu Cook, Lydia Chams, Imre and Brigitte Pentek and Mike Bardoff.

Eddie appreciated the management at Lewisburg Manor, where he lived. Kim Hoke, Brenda McKinney and Ben Hoke were always very good to Eddie and gave him a job taking out the trash on the weekends. Karen Fisher was also someone at the Manor whom Eddie cared a lot about. Mountain State Computers kept his aging computer going and always treated him kindly and fairly.

Eddie’s friends and family deeply appreciate the kind-hearted care he received from the nurses and aides at the Greenbrier Health Care Center (formerly Greenbrier Manor) and the warm, expert individualized care he received at the Peyton House Hospice during his last few days. We also appreciate the good help and advice we have had from the people at Wallace & Wallace.

Eddie has been cremated. There will be a memorial service for him at Lewisburg Manor Apts on Court Street North on May 11 at 1 p.m., conducted by a member of the Lewisburg Congregation of Jehovah’s Witnesses. It will also be on Zoom at: <https://us06web.zoom.us/j/85754573633?pwd=QzVWVWlQvS1RYOUVhOGJMRjVks0IGU0Vh>

Braydie Carr to Attend West Point

Braydie Carr signs his acceptance papers in the presence of his family and WV Army National Guard Sergeant Aaron Walker.

James Monroe High School student Braydie Carr of Weikle, West Virginia was recently honored at a military "signing day," having accepted an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York. After completing the rigorous four-year program he will earn a commission as an officer in the United States Army.

The Monroe County Technical Center's Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (JROTC) "Maverick Battalion" hosted the event, which coincided with James Monroe Day on Apr. 24. Retired U.S. Army Colonel Monty Warner, a graduate of West Point, was the featured speaker. The event also included special music and a formal posting of the U.S. Colors by the JROTC Color Guard. Representatives of American Legion Posts 100 and 145 were present, along with those of the Sons of the American Revolution and district school officials. The event concluded with a reception for friends and family. The event was part of a state-wide effort, the West Virginia Department of Education's Common Ground program, which devotes this week to honoring students who enlist in the U.S. military and to military families.

The mission of the U.S. Military Academy is "...to educate, train, and inspire the Corps of Cadets so that each graduate is a commissioned leader of character committed to the values of Duty, Honor, Country and prepared for a career of professional excellence and service to the Nation as an officer in the United States Army."

Braydie's decision to join the "Long, Gray Line" places him in an unbroken chain of leaders who have served the United States with distinction and honor since its founding in 1802. Unmarried U.S. citizens between the ages of 17-23 who are interested in West Point can contact the local admissions field force representative, Dr. Scott Womack, Lieutenant Colonel, U.S. Army (Retired) via email at womackse@gmail.com or Facebook Messenger.

JMHS earns Jennings Randolph Award

James Monroe High School (JMHS) was recognized this week as a Jennings Randolph Award winning school for the 2022-23 school year. Due to the hard work of the Student Body Vice President

Luke Jackson and Senior Class President Braydie Carr JMHS met the standard to earn the award by registering over 85% of the eligible members of the Senior Class to vote. During a school assembly, West Virginia Secretary of State Field Representative Lee Dean presented the Award on behalf of Secretary of State Mac Warner. The school's 2022-23 Honorary Secretaries of State, Braydie Carr and Luke Jackson, accepted the award. Special thanks and recognition also went to JMHS Youth Leadership Alliance leader Mrs. Ashley Mann for this achievement.

Registering to vote is only the first step, however. Failing to take the next step and actually vote denies our community, state, and country the voices it needs to accurately reflect the population. Voter participation in our community was 49% in the 2022 mid-term elections. Let's keep the momentum these young leaders have started going!

'The Plot Thickens' writing workshop offered this June

Learn how to craft page-turning storylines in a special summer edition of author Belinda Anderson's "The Plot Thickens" workshop, offered through New River Community and Technical College in June 2023.

"Readers love trying to figure out what's happening and what's about to happen," Anderson said. "This course focuses on the element of plot in relation to character and setting. Knowing how to compellingly present a course of events is important in both fiction and nonfiction."

The class is designed both for experienced and beginning writers.

"The Plot Thickens" will meet for three weeks on Thursdays at 10 a.m. starting June 8, 2023. This is an audio-only conference call course.

Students can attend the class either by phone or through an internet conference call connection (high-speed internet is not required). Class meetings will include lecture, time for questions and participant sharing, and group e-mail follow-up as needed.

Plot is an important ingredient in Anderson's own writing, including both fiction and nonfiction. "Mystery builds upon mystery in this engaging tale," author and publisher Cat Pleska wrote about one of Anderson's books. "It's a thinking person's wild ride."

"One of Anderson's major strengths is that her storytelling can turn on a dime," reviewer Eric Fritzius wrote of another of her books.

Tuition for the class is $75, and the registration deadline is May 18, 2023. Participants will be emailed the conference call number and access codes after registering and paying for the class.

Visit www.newriver.edu/community for information on upcoming classes or register for the course or contact Gloria Kincaid (304-793-6101, gkincaid@newriver.edu).

Concord hosts Esports at GWHS

On Apr. 26, Concord University came to Greenbrier West High School and hosted an Esports competition, where students participated in various games including Super Mario Smash Bros, Mario Kart, Rocket League, and many other popular games.

Austin Clay and Justin Smith are a part of the Concord University Esports program. As kids they both started out playing games like Mario, and as they grew older, so did their passion for Esports. Austin Clay is 24 years old and started playing Pokemon when he was just 3 years old; he was very intrigued in these games, thus making him go into strategy games. When he started college, his friend had an online gaming community in which he participated in and made his love for the games stronger.

Justin Smith is 33 years old, started out playing on the Atari. He has carried on his love for gaming and made it into his career. He has hosted many online gaming events and later turned to Concord to become a part of their Esports community. Austin and Justin's goal is not only to get students to Concord, but for them to follow in their dreams in Esports. They both have taken the initiative to become a part of the gaming community, and help others follow their passion.

Now that they have become a part of Concord, they have become more passionate to help students do the same. They came down to take part in helping and encouraging kids to engage in this type of sport. It may not be the most physically demanding sport, but it is still just as important as football or basketball in the sense that they still have to take care of themselves just like an athlete.

Registration for summer underway at NRCTC

Registration for summer 2023 classes is underway at New River Community and Technical College.

"Each summer we see both New River CTC students and college students from other institutions register for classes at New River CTC to help them to get ahead in their coursework over the summer," said Executive Director for Institutional Advancement and the New River CTC Foundation Michael Green.

Over the summer, the New River CTC offers both online and in-person classes in ten-week and five-week sessions. The first summer term begins May 22, 2023, and financial aid is available for the session.

Students attending other colleges or universities should check with the registrar's office at their institution regarding transferring credits.

For information on programs at New River CTC visit www.newriver.edu, email admissions@newriver.edu or call 1-866-349-3739.

Chris Johnson of the Sons of the American Revolution attempts to enlist a Patriot.

James Monroe Day held at JMHS

On Apr. 24, James Monroe High School's (JMHS) Student Government Association hosted its fourth annual James Monroe Day. Highlights of this year's event were a display of the Monroe County Courthouse Bell, cast in 1818 when James Monroe was President of the United States, representatives from local American Legion Posts 100 and 145, a display from the Monroe County Historical Society with maps and publications regarding our community's rich and varied history, a display of Colonial Era daily life items by Chris Johnson and Kevin Pruitt of the Sons of the American Revolution, and none other than President James Monroe himself, on his trusty horse.

The JMHS Student Government Association intends to continue the tradition of holding a James Monroe Day annually on a date on or around his birthday, Apr. 28. Community organizations wishing to participate in James Monroe Day should contact the SGA advisor, Dr. Scott Womack, via email at swomack@k12.wv.us, phone at 304-753-5182, or on Facebook messenger.

Dear Recycle Lady,

Dear Recycle Lady,
Are greeting cards recyclable? If so, should they be recycled with magazines and ad slicks, office paper, or with cardboard? Does glitter pose a problem? Thanks!

A Reader

Dear Reader,
If your greeting cards are completely made of paper, they are recyclable. Cards that have a slick surface are recycled with magazines, and cards that feel like ordinary paper are recycled with office paper. However, cards with glitter, foil, plastic lining, or glue are not recyclable.

Dear Recycle Lady,
Today when I pulled the bag out of a box of crackers it looked like it was made of a very shiny foil. Yet the bag didn't exactly look like aluminum foil. How can I tell if the bag is made of aluminum foil?

Stumped

Dear Stumped,
There is a very simple test to determine if your shiny bag is made of aluminum. Crinkle or roll it up into a ball, then release the pressure on it. If the bag is aluminum, it will remain in the ball that you just made, and it is recyclable. If the bag is made of a shiny metallic film, it will pop back or unfold and thus, is not recyclable.

Dear Recycle Lady,
How many countries have banned plastic bags?

Traveler

Dear Traveler,
According to worldatlas.com, the first country to totally ban plastic bags was Bangladesh in 2002. Their ban came about because the bags were polluting their waterways and drainage systems. According to a United Nations paper, there are now 77 countries that have passed either a full or partial ban on plastic bags. The U.S. and Australia do not yet have country-wide bans or fees on plastic bags. However, some US states have implemented a ban on the single-use plastic bags. Polyethylene (PET), the most common type of plastic now used for bags, was first created in 1898, according to Plastic Education. In 1933, plastic bags were invented in England. In 1953, High-density polyethylene (HDPE) that makes plastics light and strong was invented.

Dear Recycle Lady,
Do you take window mount air conditioners? Thank you.

Cooling Off

Dear Cooling Off,
Yes, the Recycling Center takes used air conditioners. Just take them to the Center in Ronceverte and pull into the road where it says Aluminum Cans. Go to the door and push the buzzer. Someone will come to assist you.

In 1965, Karl Ziegler, one of the chemists who invented HDPE, won the Nobel prize for chemistry and the one-piece plastic bag used today was designed by Sten Gustaf Thulin of Sweden. In 1979, single-use plastic bags first appeared in the large grocery store chains. During WWII, plastic was a highly guarded secret as the US military first used it as an insulating material to place radar into airplanes.

Dear Recycle Lady,
Do you take window mount air conditioners? Thank you.

Cooling Off

Dear Cooling Off,
Yes, the Recycling Center takes used air conditioners. Just take them to the Center in Ronceverte and pull into the road where it says Aluminum Cans. Go to the door and push the buzzer. Someone will come to assist you.

A Look Back

By William "Skip" Deegans

In 1937, Dick Hartman's Tennessee Ramblers, one of the best country western bands in the United States, performed at Shanklin's Grand Theatre in Ronceverte.

Hartman founded the band in 1928 to appear on Pittsburgh's WDKA radio station. One of the original members was Harry "Horse Thief" Blair who was from New Martinsville, WV, and had worked at the Weirton Steel works. A later addition to the band was Cecil "Curly" Campbell who played the steel guitar and sang.

The band moved to Charlotte, NC, in 1934 and became a mainstay on WBT radio. The next year, they made their first recording on the Bluebird Records label.

They went on to record for RCA-Victor and Montgomery Ward and appeared in western movies with Gene Autry, Dale Evans, and Tex Ritter.

WVSOM celebrates COM Week, takes part in National D.O. Day of Service

Students and administrators from the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine assemble in front of the WVSOM Student Center in Lewisburg on Apr. 22 during the inaugural National D.O. Day of Service.

West Virginia's two U.S. senators and the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine (WVSOM) touted the significance of osteopathic medicine in the Mountain State during a week devoted to promoting the profession.

U.S. Sens. Joe Manchin and Shelley Moore Capito were among a group of legislators who introduced a resolution designating Apr. 17-23, 2023, as National Osteopathic Medicine (NOM) Week, recognizing the service and dedication of Doctors of Osteopathic Medicine and schools of osteopathic medicine nationwide.

The senators co-sponsored the resolution along with Sens. Roger Wicker of Mississippi, Martin Heinrich of New Mexico and Chuck Grassley of Iowa. Manchin said osteopathic medicine plays an important role in the health of West Virginia's population.

"Doctors of Osteopathic Medicine are a fundamental part of the Mountain State's healthcare workforce and the well-being of West Virginians," Manchin said. "I am proud to lead this bipartisan resolution and honor the countless contributions D.O.s as well as schools of osteopathic medicine have made to ensure Americans of all backgrounds have access to quality healthcare."

Capito cited WVSOM - the state's only school of osteopathic medicine - in a statement introducing the resolution.

"National Osteopathic Medicine Week provides a chance to highlight the critical role of osteopathic medicine, innovative and intelligent practitioners, our West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine in Lewisburg, and its importance for the health of West Virginians," Capito said.

NOM Week coincided with WVSOM's own Celebrate Osteopathic Medicine (COM) Week. Lewisburg Mayor Beverly White signed a proclamation declaring COM Week and NOM Week in Lewisburg in an event that also included James W. Nemitz, Ph.D., WVSOM's president, Linda Boyd, D.O., the school's vice president for academic affairs and dean, Dawn Roberts, Ed.D., WVSOM's associate dean for multicultural and student affairs, John Garlitz, D.O., chair of the school's Department of Osteopathic Principles and Practice, and several WVSOM students.

In observance of COM Week, WVSOM hosted two April 18 presentations by Zinaida Pelkey, D.O., a retired physician and former president of the Osteopathic Cranial Academy. Pelkey spoke about treatments for problems in the lymphatic system that contribute to inflammation, and, in a speech open to the public, discussed the influences that led her to a career in the osteopathic profession, as well as the teachings of Andrew Taylor Still, the founder of osteopathic medicine, and William Garner Sutherland, an early osteopathic physician who developed techniques used in cranial osteopathy.

"I wanted to be a psychiatrist, but it was the 1950s and all the adults in my life told me I couldn't be a doctor because I was a girl," Pelkey said. "I later owned a bakery, and one day I injured my back lifting heavy sacks and decided to try the chiropractor across the street. It worked, and I thought it was nice one-on-one work that I could learn to do. So I went back to finish my bachelor's degree, and one day the head of biology hauled me into his office and said, 'You're aiming too low. Apply to medical school.'"

As COM Week neared its end, WVSOM participated in the inaugural National D.O. Day of Service, a volunteer initiative established by the Council of Osteopathic Student Government Presidents. On Apr. 22, a total of 65 first- and second-year students took on cleanup duties on the Greenbrier River Trail and at the Greenbrier Humane Society in Lewisburg, where they also worked with animals. They helped with tasks at the Marvel Center in Rupert and cleared sticks and leaves at Greenbrier State Forest to make trails more visible, as well as picking up trash and replacing damaged trail markers.

Additionally, students assisted residents at Seasons Place in Lewisburg, did laundry at Valley Works Resource Center in Rainelle and performed work at other Greenbrier County locations.

Dante Mattioli, president of WVSOM's Student Government Association, said he was pleased that students joined the effort in such strong numbers.

"There was a great turnout, even with the weather creating a challenge," Mattioli said. "Service is important for medical students because we can get caught up in the stress of studying and forget why most of us came to medical school, which is to help others. When we get the chance to take a break from our schedules on days like this, it reminds us of why we go through so much stress to become physicians."

Capito, Hassan reintroduce bill to improve mental health in emergency departments

U.S. Senators Shelley Moore Capito (R-WV) and Maggie Hassan (D-NH) reintroduced the Improving Mental Health Access from the Emergency Department Act, legislation to improve the way patients receive care for mental illness in emergency departments. The bipartisan bill would establish a competitive grant program for emergency departments to adopt more collaborative and connected mental health care models and deploy new technology to better connect patients with appropriate resources in their communities.

"Millions of Americans are living with mental health issues and many turn to their local emergency department for care. Too often, the specialized care and care settings these patients need is not readily available, resulting in many hours - and sometimes days - waiting for the care they deserve," Senator Capito said. "Our bill seeks to address these issues by allowing emergency departments to customize innovative solutions that meet the unique needs of their patients."

"Too many of our emergency rooms are not equipped to deal with mental health care. When a patient is in crisis, they need help immediately - yet they often face long waits to receive care. Our bipartisan bill would help emergency departments connect patients more quickly with mental health resources and increase the numbers of beds in their ER. I will continue working to help ensure that Granite Staters and all Americans are able to access the care that they need, when they need it," Senator Hassan said.

The COVID-19 pandemic exacerbated an already growing demand for mental health care services due to rising rates of mental health conditions, substance abuse, and suicide. This continued increased demand, as well as a shortage of psychiatric beds, is causing patients to remain in emergency departments for hours, sometimes days, as appropriate mental health care is sought. As emergency departments across the country face this reality, some are implementing innovative solutions to ensure patients with mental illness receive the care they need and deserve.

The Improving Mental Health Access from the Emergency Department Act would provide resources for emergency departments to adopt more collaborative and connected care models and deploy new technology to better connect patients with appropriate resources in their communities. The legislation recognizes that needs vary by patient, provider, and community and allows emergency departments to design the solutions that will best work for them.

Specifically, the legislation would:

- Authorize a competitive grant program for emergency departments to implement innovative approaches to securing prompt access to appropriate follow-on care for individuals experiencing acute mental health episodes and presenting for care in emergency departments. Such innovative approaches could include:

- Expediting transition to post-emergency care through expanded coordination with regional service providers, assessment, peer navigators, bed availability tracking and management, transfer protocol development, networking infrastructure development, and transportation services.

- Increasing the supply of inpatient psychiatric beds and alternative care settings, such as regional emergency psychiatric units.

- Expanding approaches to providing psychiatric care in the emergency department - including tele-psychiatric support and other remote psychiatric consultations, peak period crisis clinics, or creating dedicated psychiatric emergency service units.

Carnegie Hall's Appalachian Heritage Lecture Series presents Fermentation Revivalist Sandor Katz

As part of Carnegie Hall's Appalachian Heritage Lecture Series, Carnegie Hall presents Fermentation from Appalachia and Around the World with Sandor Katz on Friday, May 26, at 7:30 p.m. Sandor Katz is a fermentation revivalist, author of five books, and recipient of a James Beard award and other honors.

Sandor Katz's interest in fermentation grew out of his overlapping interests in cooking, nutrition, and gardening. It started with sauerkraut. He found an old crock buried in his barn, harvested cabbage from the garden, chopped it up, salted it, and waited. To him that first kraut tasted "so alive and powerfully nutritious!" Its sharp flavor sent his "salivary glands into a frenzy" and he became hooked on fermentation. He has made sauerkraut ever since, earning the nickname Sandorkraut, even as his repertoire has expanded. Katz has explored and experimented widely in the realm of fermentation, and his mission is to share information and resources, to encourage home fermentation experimentalists and propel more live-culture foods out into our culture.

Sandor Katz is a native of New York City and a graduate of Brown University. In 1993, he moved from NYC to Cannon County, Tennessee, where he became a part of a vibrant extended community of queer folks (and many other friends and allies). He has AIDS and considers fermented foods to be an important part of his healing.

Since 2003 when his book Wild Fermentation was published, he has taught hundreds of workshops demystifying fermentation and empowering people to reclaim this important transformational process in their kitchens.

$300,000 CDS Award for expanded FAA aerospace training in WV

U.S. Senator Shelley Moore Capito (R-WV), Ranking Member of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, announced $300,000 in funding from the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) for the West Virginia Community and Technical College System on behalf of New River Community and Technical College. This funding, which was secured through a Congressionally Directed Spending (CDS) request by Senator Capito, will be used to modernize aerospace training with Augmented Reality/Virtual Reality (AR/VR) equipment in line with current Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) standards.

In total, Senator Capito secured $241,135,000 in direct spending measures for initiatives and projects across West Virginia through the Fiscal Year (FY) 2022 appropriations omnibus package.

"I'm pleased to have secured this funding for New River Community and Technical College, ensuring modernized training for their FAA certifications," Ranking Member Capito said. "The aerospace industry in West Virginia continues to grow and making sure pilots, crews, ground control, and air traffic control are prepared for future challenges in their careers is incredibly important for the safety of passengers and helps keep our economy moving."

"We are so grateful to Senator Capito for this funding that will open new doors for students at New River," Dr. Sarah Armstrong Tucker, West Virginia's Chancellor of Higher Education, said. "The career opportunities and economic advancements being made possible by the growing aerospace industry in West Virginia are remarkable, and we are excited to see the impact of strong investments like this."

Bare Bones

Smooth Ambler Second Stage Series at Carnegie Hall presents Bare Bones

Carnegie Hall's Smooth Ambler Second Stage Series presents Bare Bones on Friday, Jun. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Stone Room. Guests are invited to come early for a Preshow Reception from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. The Second Stage Series is sponsored by Smooth Ambler.

The three singers bring distinctly different musical influences to create their sound.

Rebecca has been a student of old-style Appalachian unaccompanied singing since she was a child, listening to her Summers County-born grandmother sing in the manner of the Primitive Baptists. If you visit the Outer Hebrides of Scotland, you can hear the same singing style today in their churches.

Bill grew up singing in choirs and musicals, holding down such roles as Balthazar in Amahl and the Night Visitors, and Huckleby in The Fantastiks. He was introduced to old-time music when he came to West Virginia in 1977.

Dock Cutlip grew up in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, singing with his family and steeped in old-time gospel harmonies. Thanks to curiosity and his mother's short-wave radio, Dock also has a broad range of knowledge and appreciation of American pop music traditions. He is an accomplished guitarist, finger-picking in open tuning. Dock joined Bare Bones as their tenor in September 2021.

Bare Bones, with Becky and Bill as the core, has been performing in various configurations since 1981. The trio has performed on Mountain Stage, at Tamarack, at Charleston's FestivALL, at the Vandalia Gathering on the grounds of the State Capitol and has taught harmony singing at Augusta Heritage Workshops' popular Vocal Week in Elkins, WV, in several summer sessions over a 30-year period. They have produced five albums of music on CD, showcasing the broad range of songs in their repertoire, from the music of Blind Alfred Reed to Ry Cooder to The Golden Gate Jubilee, and on to Smokey Robinson and Natalie Merchant.

"All we need is good harmony potential and a beat, and we're off on an acappella adventure," Rebecca says. "We like to think we strip a song down to its soul."

Tickets are $15 and may be purchased by visiting www.carnegiehallwv.org, calling 304-645-7917, or stopping by 611 Church Street, Lewisburg. The Preshow Reception is free. A cash bar and snacks will be available.

Earth Day Fashion Forward event a success

Deva Wagner's recycled design

On Earth Day, Apr. 22, the Greenbrier County Democratic Women's Club sponsored an Earth Day Fashion Forward event at the Greenbrier County Library.

Moderated by Erin Hurst, the show started with a performance by local artist Susanna Robinson singing Dolly Parton's "Coat of Many Colors" accompanied by her antique accordion. The keynote speaker was Lucie Refsland, the "Recycle Lady" who writes a recycling column that is printed in five regional newspapers. She spoke about the value of recycling, reusing, and reducing.

A fashion competition with 13 contestants modeling their upcycled and recycled fashion in a runway show delighted the audience. The professional award went to Julie Fine for an upcycled outfit made from a 60's muumu robe and pink ruffled neoprene dress. Deva Wagner won Grand Prize from clothes rescued from Goodwill and enhanced with vintage buttons and lace, gold stitching and hand appliqué fabric roses.

The event was a fundraiser for the Democratic Women's Get-Out-the Vote work and to demonstrate that we don't have to respond to climate change with a sense of dread or deprivation, but as an opportunity for a new kind of abundance and creativity.

Kids' College is a unique opportunity for children to expand their artistic and scientific horizons in a safe and nurturing environment. All classes, taught by trained teaching artists, are held in Carnegie Hall. Children can take classes in pottery, origami, baking, leather craft, cooking, fashion, music, theatre, felting, and more. The cost of Kids' College is $150 for half days or $300 for full days, per week. There are two sessions each day, morning and afternoon. Children can choose to take up to five different arts and science classes per day. Scholarships are available thanks to United Way of Greenbrier Valley and generous individual donors. To apply, indicate you would like a scholarship application when you enroll your child.

Register at www.carnegiehallwv.org. Class sizes are limited, so register early. Student families will be notified of their child's schedule before the beginning of Kids' College.
