October recognized as Domestic Violence Awareness Month

October is recognized as Domestic Violence Awareness Month, a time dedicated to raising awareness, supporting survivors and remembering those whose lives have been affected or lost because of domestic violence.

Domestic violence can affect individuals and families from every background and community. Abuse may take many forms, including physical violence, emotional or verbal abuse, intimidation, financial control and other behaviors intended to gain power or control over another person.

Throughout October, communities are encouraged to wear purple, share information about available resources and help bring attention to an issue that often remains hidden behind closed doors. The month also serves as an important reminder to listen to survivors with compassion and without judgment.

Everyone can play a role in creating safer communities by recognizing warning signs, supporting those who may be experiencing abuse and encouraging them to seek assistance from trusted local resources.

For anyone experiencing domestic violence, help is available. The National Domestic Violence Hotline can be reached 24 hours a day at 1-800-799-SAFE (7233) or by texting START to 88788.

This October, Domestic Violence Awareness Month reminds us that awareness, education and community support can help survivors know they are not alone and that assistance is available.

Carnegie Hall’s Taste of Our Towns celebrates 40 years - and its final festival in 2026

Carnegie Hall announces that its Board of Directors has voted to transfer stewardship of the Taste of Our Towns (“TOOT”) festival to the Lewisburg Downtown Business Association (“LDBA”). After reviewing proposals from multiple interested parties, Carnegie Hall determined that the long-term care and continuity of this beloved community event would be best supported by a not-for-profit entity. The Hall emphasized its commitment to ensuring a smooth and thoughtful transition as the festival enters its next chapter.

TOOT scene

As part of the transfer, the LDBA will be formally recognized at TOOT 2026 as the successor host of the event. TOOT’s intangible brand assets and equity, including official logos, documents reflecting goodwill and operational history from the past three years, the established date and calendar slot, and the TOOT name will all transfer with the event. In addition, Carnegie Hall staff will provide planning assistance as needed to help with the 2027 event.

The LDBA brings strong experience in supporting historic downtown Lewisburg, producing more than 25,000 annual brochures, maintaining the Lewisburg website, and managing Visit Lewisburg social media content. In addition to its marketing and advertising efforts across regional publications and visitor guides, the LDBA oversees the expenses and logistics for many of Lewisburg’s signature downtown events, including Restaurant Week, Chocolate Festival, First Friday, Culinary Passport, Harvest Chills in the Hills, Magic of Christmas, and Girls Day Out. The organization also manages tourism information requests, legal and accounting needs, and partners with the City of Lewisburg and the Greenbrier Valley CVB to promote the vitality of downtown.

Carnegie Hall President/CEO Cathy Rennard adds that “while the decision to hand off such an iconic event has been difficult, it is ultimately the right one and will enable the Carnegie team to focus on the core mission of arts presentation and education. The LDBA brings great experience and renewed enthusiasm to the event, and we look forward to working with them to facilitate a smooth transition. Please join us on Oct. 10 to celebrate the first 40 years of TOOT and welcome a new era!”

Carnegie Hall expresses deep appreciation for the generations of volunteers, vendors, performers, and attendees who have shaped TOOT into a cherished regional tradition. The organization notes the pride it has taken in stewarding the event and extended its best wishes to the LDBA as it prepares to guide TOOT into the future.

Carnegie Hall remains committed to its mission of providing world-class arts education, performances, and cultural programming for the Greenbrier Valley and looks forward to supporting the LDBA throughout the transition.

Benedum Foundation selects Carnegie Hall as inaugural Culture Collective Grantee

Carnegie Hall in Lewisburg is proud to announce its selection by the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation as an inaugural Benedum Foundation Culture Collective grantee. This new statewide initiative supports and strengthens West Virginia’s creative sector by investing in organizations that preserve, celebrate, and advance arts, culture, and heritage across the Mountain State.

The Culture Collective program awarded more than $1.8 million to 64 fairs, festivals, museums, and performing arts organizations, bringing vital funding to communities throughout West Virginia. Carnegie Hall is honored to be among the first cohort of grantees recognized for their commitment to enriching local life through accessible arts programming, education, and cultural engagement.

“Arts, culture, and heritage are not extras; they are essential,” said Carnegie Hall President/CEO Cathy Rennard. “This support from the Benedum Foundation

Bethlehem Farm creates new full-time House Manager position

Bethlehem Farm, a nonprofit organization serving parts of Summers, Monroe, and Greenbrier Counties through low-income home repair, has created a new position of full-time House Manager.

Bethlehem Farm partners with low-income individuals and families to make necessary repairs on their homes, with the aid of week-long young adult volunteers from around the country. When week-long service-retreat volunteers serve at the Farm, they help cook meals and do chores around the farm. Bethlehem Farm is seeking a friendly, organized, and mission-driven House Manager to help welcome and teach these volunteers. The House Manager will coordinate meals, housekeeping, and hospitality for volunteers and staff at Bethlehem Farm. This is an on-site, full-time, salaried position based at Bethlehem Farm near Alderson, WV. Hours vary seasonally, averaging 40 hours per week. Hours will be heavier during the 15–17 volunteer weeks per year, and lighter the rest of the year.

For the past 20 years, various live-in “Caretakers” have filled the role of House Manager. Eric Fitts, Director, stated that “It has become difficult to fill our live-in positions recently. We know there are many talented folks who already live in the local area, so our Board decided to offer the position as a full-time role for a person residing in the local area. We are confident that our community has the skills we need.”

Individuals who are interested in applying for the House Manager position should call Eric at Bethlehem Farm at 304-445-7143. More information about, and the application for, the position can be found at www.bethlehemfarm.net/hm.

Bigfoot Festival returns to Summersville

By Debra Smith
Bigfoot believers, curious skeptics, and families looking for a one-of-a-kind Appalachian experience will have plenty to explore when the 2026 West Virginia Bigfoot Festival comes to Summersville Oct. 9-11.

The annual celebration of West Virginia’s legendary Sasquatch will take place at Nicholas County Veterans Memorial Park, marking a new home for the popular festival. The event is sponsored by the West Virginia Bigfoot Museum and has grown into one of the country’s largest gatherings dedicated to Bigfoot and cryptozoology.

The three-day festival will bring together Bigfoot enthusiasts, researchers, cryptozoology experts, vendors, musicians, television personalities and families from throughout West Virginia and beyond. Organizers say the event is expected to attract thousands of visitors to the Summersville area.

Festival-goers can expect a weekend filled with Bigfoot research and presentations, live music, Appalachian entertainment, family activities, vendors, food and opportunities to meet personalities from the world of cryptozoology and paranormal television.

The new festival grounds will accommodate a large marketplace, with space for as many as 400 vendors, along with numerous food trucks and exhibitors. Handmade crafts, Bigfoot-themed merchandise, artwork, books, and other unique items will be available throughout the weekend.

For those wanting to make a full weekend of the experience, limited camping opportunities are also available at the festival grounds. RV and tent camping will be offered, with a bathhouse available for campers.

The West Virginia Bigfoot Festival began in 2021 alongside the opening of the West Virginia Bigfoot Museum. Since then, the event has continued to grow, drawing visitors interested not only in the legend of Bigfoot but also in West Virginia’s rich unteers from around the county, and its hospitable local homeowners for a great year of “Repairing Homes and Renewing Communities” so far. As they move into their 2027 season, they are looking forward to working with more homeowners from the local area and volunteers from around the country.

When Bethlehem Farm partners with low-income individuals and families to make necessary repairs on their homes, applicants must provide the home repair supplies or consistent monthly payments for these supplies, while Bethlehem Farm provides free skilled and volunteer labor to enact the home repair projects. This summer, their volunteers constructed several porches and replaced many roofs in the local area, among other projects. The week-long volunteers enjoyed learning new skills, meeting local homeowners, and enjoying a conversation in the shade when they took a break from working on a hot roof. One high school volunteer from this year stated: “The best part was the people! I loved hearing the homeowners’ stories. I feel at home in West Virginia.”

Bethlehem Farm is accepting home repair applications for 2027. Homeowners who are interested in applying for home repair help should call Marcus at Bethlehem Farm at 304-445-7143 www.bethlehemfarm.net/need-home-repair, home-repair@bethlehemfarm.net

Yew Mountain Center offers restorative crafts retreats for the military community

Hands-on workshops with local artisans return for fall 2026 and spring 2027

This fall, veterans, service members, and their loved ones will gather again on Yew Mountain Center’s 500-acre nature preserve to learn functional crafts in community. The Forge and Frame retreat will feature the old world arts of timber framing and blacksmithing taught by local craftsmen, Clay Condon and Bennet Life. This first retreat runs Oct. 28, through Sunday, Nov. 1. It opens an expanded series of CAMO Veterans Retreats offered with teaching artisans from the Pocahontas County Artisan Co-op.

The series continues in April 2027 with two more retreats with teaching artisans from the Pocahontas County Artisan Co-op. Alison Safrit and Stan Cook will offer ceramics and wood turning and Brenda Harmon and Melondy Phillips, will teach Appalachian hand-tied brooms and leatherwork. This hands-on instruction in functional crafts will send participants home with new skills and something useful they made themselves. “Making something with my hands to use was very calming and filled myself with confidence,” one 2025 retreat participant said.

The small-group instruction and nature based community activities are designed to develop skills and confidence and to foster a sense of connection to community. Between workshop sessions, participants and their loved ones can hike, canoe, fish, and join other wellness activities across the preserve. As another 2025 participant put it, “It is a great experience to get away in nature, learn something new, and share a positive experience with other veterans.”

With funding from the Creative Forces Community Engagement Grant and donated scholarships, Yew Mountain Center aims to make each retreat a fully supported experience for the military-connected community. Lodging, meals, supplies, and instruction are included, and accepted participants pay only a small deposit to reserve their spot. Donations to sponsor a participant are welcome. Participants may apply for themselves or be nominated by a friend, family member, or employer.

Applications are accepted on a rolling basis, and space is limited. See “Yew Mountain Center”__ Page 6

She is survived by her loving husband, Richard (Rick) Emil Parker, Jr. of Alderson; her daughter, Laurie Kay Parker Bennett and her husband Roger of Lewisburg; her son, Christopher Brown Parker of Charles Town; and her beloved grandchildren, Lacy Anne Patriacca and Adam Robert Patriacca, both of Lewisburg, and Kinsley Anna Parker and Ryland

James Parker, both of Charles Town, WV. She is also survived by her brother, Claude Brown and wife Ruth of Orlando, FL, and many loving nieces, nephews, and cousins. Her family was the center of her heart, and she took great pride in each of them.

Cindy was a faithful and active member of her community. She was a member of Old Greenbrier Baptist Church, where she found strength and fellowship. She served as Vice President of the Alderson Women’s Club. She was also a former member of the Red Hats Society. Through these groups, she built lasting friendships and generously enriched the lives of others. A loyal and encouraging friend, she shared a special bond with the Parkers of Alderson and the Kennedy family in Charleston. Cindy was proud to be a great-granddaughter of Devil Anse Hatfield, and she cherished her Kappa Delta sorority sisters and their annual reunions.

In addition to her many interests and accomplishments, Cindy loved horses and dogs, and she found joy in the simple beauty of life and the companionship of animals. She will be remembered for her kind heart, her selfless spirit, and the grace with which she lived each day. Cindy’s legacy is one of love, faith, and devotion to family and friends, and she will be deeply missed by all who were blessed to know her.

In addition to her parents, she is preceded in death by her lifelong friend Debi Ayersman Felton.

Family and friends are welcome to attend at the Old Greenbrier Baptist Church on Sunday, Oct. 4, from 1 p.m. until the memorial service at 2 p.m. with pastor Derek Hall officiating.

Beverly Ellen Terry

July 2, 1953 - September 28, 2026
Lewisburg, WV

Beverly Ellen Terry, 73, was eternally healed and went home to worship her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, forever on Sept. 28, 2026, following a short illness. She passed peacefully while surrounded by her family at CAMC Memorial Hospital.

Born July 2, 1953, in Greenbrier County, Beverly was the daughter of the late Glen and Velma Walton. In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by the love of her life, Larry Terry, whom she had longed to see and be with again for the past five years.

Beverly was a lifelong resident of Greenbrier County and spent her entire life living on the same street. She held many jobs throughout her life, but if you asked her which one she held closest to her heart, she would tell you about her years as a receptionist at Nunley Family Dentistry in White Sulphur Springs. Her time there allowed her to do what she loved most - interacting with and talking to people.

There was never a stranger when Beverly was around. She could strike up a conversation with anyone, at any time, and make them feel like an old friend.

Beverly carried that same gift for connecting with others into her church family. She attended Roncerverte Baptist Church for many years and was also a member of Greenbrier Baptist Church, where she proudly supported her son, Pastor Craig Terry.

Her final wishes were simple: to go home and be with her Lord and Savior, to be in His presence, and to be reunited with her beloved husband, Larry, and all those who had gone before her for the rest of eternity.

Left to cherish the memories and the tremendous impact she made on their lives are her children: Melanie O’Brien and husband Michael, Lori Boggs and husband Heath, Craig Terry and wife Ashley. She will be forever missed by those who lovingly knew her as “Gran”: Zachary Boggs and wife Kayla, Michaela Norman and husband Tanner, Connor O’Brien, Hannah Boggs, Braden Terry, Alayna Terry, Ella Johnson, great-grandson, Berkley Norman, Great-granddaughter, Mia Norman.

She is also survived by a special aunt and cousin who were more like sisters to her, Rita Campbell, and Deb Scudiere and husband Bill; as well as a special cousin whom she loved as her own, Beth Black and husband Eddie; along with several aunts, uncles, and cousins whom she loved dearly.

Beverly loved her family until the very end and cherished every moment she was blessed to spend with them. Whether it was Sunday dinners, beach trips, trips to Pigeon Forge, the Campbell reunion, or simply sitting together on her front porch, Beverly loved life and treasured every moment with her family.

Her love of taking pictures was another gift she gave to those she loved. Through the countless photographs she captured, her family will be able to look back, smile, and cherish the memories she helped create for years to come.

Funeral service will be held at 2 PM, Thursday, Oct. 1, at Morgan Funeral Home Chapel with her son, Pastor Craig Terry officiating. Visitation will be held one hour prior to the service at the funeral home, Thursday. Burial will follow the service in the Greenbrier Memorial Gardens, Lewisburg, WV. Online guestbook can be signed at www.morganfh.net. Arrangements entrusted to Morgan Funeral Home, Lewisburg, WV.

DAR September meeting

The General Andrew Lewis Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) held their September meeting at the White Sulphur Springs Public Library. The hostesses were Suzanne Cronquist and Suzanne Snyder who presented a birthday cake to member Gretchen Lovett. The cake and other treats were served to the members. The following members were present: Ruth Sturgill, Judy Deegans, Suzanne Cronquist, Suzanne Snyder, Carol Olson, Doris Kasley, Regent Deborah Phillips, Mary Fullen, Karen Lee McClung, Paige Hayes, Rita McDonald, Addie Goodrich and Gretchen Lovett. Also attending were new applicants, Susan Stentz and Jo Strickland. Regent Phillips called the meeting to order, and the Pledge of Allegiance was recited by the group as was the DAR Ritual.

Ruth Sturgill reported on the gathering of the members of the Southern District DAR who cut, ironed and sewed squares for the Quilts of Valor project. Sturgill also spoke to the group about Constitution Week.

Suzanne Cronquist spoke about her membership on the Franco American 1780 Committee. We learned the French brought a printing press with them when they sailed to aid the Colonies in their war with the English. The first French newspaper, Gazette Française, was printed in Rhode Island on Nov. 17, 1780. Cronquist was able to attend several events honoring LaFayette during Celebration 250 this year.

To celebrate literacy in our community, Suzanne Snyder, Librarian of the Chapter presented White Sulphur Springs Librarian, JoAnne Hartzell, with four books especially chosen to encourage reading, writing, and comprehension for school children and to aid in the skill of using these tools.

The next meeting will be held at Carnegie Hall on Oct. 15. The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is a non-profit, non-political women’s service organization whose main objectives are historic preservation, education and patriotism. Members are all lineal descendants of those who supported the cause of independence in the Revolutionary War back in 1776. If you are interested in the Daughters of the American Revolution, call Registrar Jodie Nidey at 1-815-210-2222 in the afternoon.

Letter to the Editor

New WV Forest Farming Mini Grants available through October 15

Dear Editor:
I am writing on behalf of the West Virginia Forest Farming Initiative (WVFFI) and the Yew Mountain Center (YMC) to share a new funding opportunity that may be of interest to your readers: mini-grants of up to $400 are now available to West Virginia residents interested in starting or expanding forest farming enterprises and developing markets for non-timber forest products.
Made possible with support from the Claude Benedum Foundation, the mini-grant program will support forest farmers and producers across seven West Virginia counties. The application period is open through Oct. 15, 2026.

The West Virginia Forest Farming Initiative (WVFFI) works to strengthen the network and economy of forest farmers and producers across West Virginia. Through education, technical assistance, market development, networking, and initiatives such as the Mountain Medicine Trail, WVFFI supports the sustainable cultivation of non-timber forest products while promoting conservation and rural economic opportunity.
WVFFI is housed within the Yew Mountain Center, a 500-acre nature sanctuary and community education center in Pocahontas County. YMC provides a home for education, cultural programming, ecological stewardship, and opportunities to connect people with the land and Appalachian traditions.

The mini-grants can be used for supplies and expenses related to forest farming initiatives, including seeds and planting stock, tools, soil amendments, labeling and packaging, certifications and licensing, workshops, and other costs related to forest farming and market development.
The fund is intended to support farmers with a commitment to conservation, cultivation, market development, and community impact. Applicants are encouraged to consider projects involving medicinal herbs and botanicals, mushrooms, edible forest products, natural dyes, value-added herbal products, artisan goods, and other non-timber forest products.
Residents of Greenbrier and Pocahontas Counties may also be eligible for access to planting sites. Two special mini-grants for Pocahontas County applicants will include access to cultivation space at the Yew Mountain Center forest farm.

Thank you,
Courtney Altice

“A friend loves at all times, and a brother is born for a time of adversity.”

Proverbs 17:17 (NIV)

Reconnecting in Grace

As we navigate different stages in life, we often lose touch with people who were once deeply important to us. While drifting apart can feel like a natural shift, God calls us to cherish and actively nurture our relationships. We usually focus this effort on our immediate family or daily inner circle, but Christian care extends beyond our closest boundaries. Taking a moment to reach out to an old friend or distant relative, even with a simple note to check in, can reignite a vital bond and remind someone they are truly remembered.

Dear Recycle Lady,
I know you recycle toothbrushes, but are there any other oral items that can be recycled?

Clean Teeth

Dear Clean Teeth,
Yes. There are several other oral items that can be recycled. All brands of toothbrushes and empty tubes of toothpaste, plus their caps, can be recycled. Try to get as much of the tooth paste out as you can before recycling the tube. Not only will that make it more recyclable, it will also save you money! The small plastic floss containers can also be recycled, as well as dental flosses and picks. Don't forget to include all the packaging that the oral products come in. They are also recyclable. Deposit all these items in the small tube that is part of the aluminum can bin. Colgate pays for the postage for all boxes of oral products returned to TerraCycle and the Recycling center has returned 6 boxes weighing approximately 25 pounds over the past three years.

Dear Recycle Lady,
What are plant-based cleaners? Do they do a good job?

Cleaner-Upper

Dear Cleaner-Upper,
Good question. Plant-based cleaners are cleaners made with environmentally friendly ingredients such as vinegar, lemon juice, and baking soda; all of which have excellent antibacterial, degreasing, and stain removing properties. Vinegar is a natural disinfectant and deodorizer, lemon juice has antibacterial properties and a fresh scent, and baking soda is effective for scrubbing and neutralizing odors. Used properly, plant-based cleaners can be just as effective as chemical cleaners, however, they work more slowly so let them sit a while before removing them. There are also several commercial cleaners available that are plant-based. They are made with ingredients derived from renewable plant-based sources rather than petroleum and synthetic chemicals. Also, biodegradable plant-based cleaners are less harmful for aquatic life than commercial cleaners. Look for the EPA Safer Choice label or USDA BioPreferred certified. A significant part of these products must be plant-based. Tide PurClean ingredients are 75% plant-based and Clorox Ecoclean is made with 99% plant-based cleaning ingredients. Seventh Generation has many plant-based cleaning products, as does Mr. Clean. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

Dear Recycle Lady,
I recently replaced my lawn mower battery. Will my old lawn mower battery recycle?

Lawn Caretaker

Dear Lawn Caretaker,
The Recycling Center not only accepts lawn mower batteries, but it will pay you for them. Car batteries are also accepted as are all rechargeable batteries of any size, regardless of whether or not they will charge. Proper disposal of rechargeable batteries is crucial to prevent environmental harm and to recover valuable minerals such as lithium, cobalt, nickel, lead and aluminum. I am sorry to say no alkaline batteries of any kind are accepted at our Recycling Center. However, according to battery manufacturers it is now safe to put them in the landfill. When you take your lawn mower battery to the Recycle Center, go in the door for recycling aluminum cans, push the button and a staff member will come help you.

Kudos to Mountain Table in Renick, WV for using a compostable bag for their k-cups and saving space in the landfill. Compostable bags are made from organic materials such as sugarcane or potato starch. They break down quickly are biodegradable and can be composted at home.

A Look Back

By William "Skip" Deegans

One-hundred years ago, this past September, the United States Department of Agriculture published Circular 370 in which two of the department pathologists presented a doomsday outlook for the American chestnut tree. They wrote, "Practically all of the chestnut timber of Eastern Sections of the United States is now affected with a deadly blight brought to this country from Asia." By 1950, the American chestnut tree was all but extinct.

A parasitic fungus which causes the blight of the tree was brought to this county on nursery trees from Asia. The blight was first recognized in New York City in 1904. The chestnut was the largest, tallest, and among the fastest growing trees in the Appalachians. Its lumber was rot resistant, light and straight grained. It was valued for sheathing, framing, interior trim and furniture. It was popular material for telephone and telegraph poles and railroad ties. In 1910, West Virginia led the nation in the production of chestnut lumber and yellow poplar.

Using surviving root stock, efforts to restore a blight resistant American chestnut are being made by organi-

GEHS Golfer of the Week

Name: Evan Clinebell
Grade: Senior
G.P.A.: 3.3
Parents: Katrina and Lonnie Clinebell
Hometown: Caldwell
Favorite Golfer: Cam Young
Favorite Quote: "Hard Work beats talent when talent doesn't work hard."
Began Golfing: "I began Golfing at the age of 3 years old.
Why he plays Golf: "I just honestly fell in love with the game."
Coach's Comments: "Evan has helped our 'Team' go undefeated this season. He is part of the reason that we are ranked as the Top 'Team' in the State of West Virginia. Evan WILL be at the State Tournament and help us bring home the Trophy. His low scores and relationship with the 'Team' is a pleasure to watch on the course. One time I misspelled his name and wrote EVEN on a card that I sent to him. He said "Coach, my name is not EVEN." So, now I call him 'One-Under". Ha! Evan is enjoying his Senior year and we will miss him next year when we try to repeat."
Spartan Alumni Spotlight: Jeff Bostic 97'. Jeff was the only 2x First-Team All-State Golfer in Greenbrier East History until Isaac Hutchison. Success followed Jeff Bostic even after his Spartan years. Thank you Jeff Bostic to set a level for others to beat. "Records are made to be broken" and we are looking for that to happen this year.
Miluk Golf Humor: I asked my brother how he shot. He said "I shot one over!" I said "Really?" He said "Yeah, I shot one over there and one over there, one over there." Ha!

The GVT Student Matinee Program is made possible through grant funding from the Daywood Foundation.

The Mousetrap is also made possible through the continued partnership with WVU’s College of Creative Arts and Media. This partnership covers all expenses for professional combat choreographer Whit Emerson to choreograph fight scenes in the play and offer a stage combat workshop for GVT After-School Classes students.

- Run time: approximately 2 hours with a 10 minute intermission
- Mature themes such as death and violence will be explored (rated PG-13)
- Recommended for middle school ages and above

Carnegie Hall Presents Paper Quilling Autumn Trees Workshop

Carnegie Hall invites community members to celebrate the beauty of the fall season in Paper Quilling: Autumn Trees, a beginner friendly workshop led by instructor Teri Hartford on Saturday, Oct. 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. This hands on class introduces participants to the delicate and expressive art of paper quilling through a simple, step by step process suitable for all skill levels.
In this seasonal workshop, students will learn how to roll, shape, and glue thin strips of paper to create a vibrant three dimensional autumn tree. Each finished piece will be displayed in a provided shadowbox frame, making it easy to take home and enjoy as a unique handmade keepsake or gift. All supplies and materials are included, and the class welcomes learners ages 12 and older. With a maximum class size of twelve, participants will enjoy a relaxed, supportive environment with plenty of individual guidance.

Paper Quilling: Autumn Trees is offered as part of Carnegie Hall’s Classes & Workshops program, which provides enriching small group learning opportunities each spring and fall. These family-fun sessions are designed to inspire creativity, curiosity, and connection within the community, and early registration is encouraged due to limited space.
The cost for the workshop is $35 per person. To register or learn more, visit carnegiehallwv.org or call 304-645 7917.
Carnegie Hall programs are presented with financial assistance through a grant from the West Virginia Department of Tourism and the National Endowment for the Arts, with approval from the West Virginia Commission on the Arts.

WVSOM Graduate Says Work with Children Taught Him to Connect with Patients

By the time Ethan Galloway, D.O., completed his four years at the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine (WVSOM), his classmates and faculty knew him as a tireless student leader, an advocate for the osteopathic profession and a future emergency medicine physician.
But for Galloway, leadership never meant visibility for its own sake. It grew out of an instinct to represent others, improve systems and be useful to the people around him, whether that meant children in foster care, classmates navigating curriculum changes or patients facing significant health challenges.
At WVSOM, the Surgoinsville, TN, native served as curriculum committee representative for the Class of 2026, president of the Student Government Association for the 2023-2024 academic year and student representative on the school’s Board of Governors in 2024-2025.
Nationally, he was a member of the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine’s Council of Student Government Presidents, a student member of the American Osteopathic Association’s Board of Trustees and vice chair of its Bureau of Emerging Leaders.
Galloway’s experience as a leader began with participation in Kiwanis-related organizations during high school and college and continued when Tennessee’s governor appointed him a student member of the Tennessee Higher Education Commission as an undergraduate at East Tennessee State University. He said while he enjoyed learning how higher education worked in his home state, medical school allowed him how to lead by empowering others.
“WVSOM is where I developed my passion for servant leadership,” he said. “I love that I’ve been able to lead by working for my peers, my school and our profession.”

As curriculum committee representative during his first year of medical school, he participated in conversations about course delivery and collected student feedback during a period when WVSOM was designing its current Finding Health curriculum. Galloway said he led by listening, gathering perspectives and ensuring his classmates felt heard.
“I worked with the course directors who oversee each block that students go through. On behalf of my class, I expressed feedback on how we thought the different blocks were going and how the material was being comprehended. I designed a survey so I could assess what my class felt was going well, what wasn’t going well and what they needed help with, and I shared that data with the curriculum committee,” he said.
Later, as Student Government Association president and then student representative on WVSOM’s Board of Governors, Galloway helped make decisions on content delivery, learning platforms and other elements of the curriculum.
“I helped work on which evidence-based medical resources we were providing, how content delivery was going to look and following up on the new curriculum, making sure after we implemented it that students felt it was successful and that it showed in their course performance data and board exam scores,” he said.
Galloway’s service also extends to another role: volunteering as a court-appointed special advocate (CASA) for children in foster care and juvenile court systems. He began as an undergraduate and continued after relocating to Lewisburg, an experience rooted in personal history after having an advocate himself as a child.

“I had a CASA growing up and I wanted to give back,” he said. “I reached out while I was in college to help them as an organizational volunteer, and they encouraged me to take the class. I got certified and shadowed for a couple months and then decided I would start taking cases on my own. I’ve been doing it ever since.”
Galloway sees a clear thread connecting his early work with children to his future in medicine.
“Those experiences shaped how I approach everything,” he said. “They taught me that the small moments - taking the time to listen, to connect - can have a big impact.”
Having worked as a nursing assistant in an emergency room before medical school, he found himself drawn to emergency medicine. Clinical experiences reinforced his enthusiasm for the specialty.
“I wanted to keep an open mind, but after doing rotations in the ER, I fell in love with it all over again. It was my number one choice,” he said.
He ascribed his interest in emergency medicine to the ability to care for patients by offering strength in times of chaos.
“It’s about meeting people when they are at their most vulnerable,” he said. “Patients come to the ER during times of need, often when they had other plans for the day. I appreciate getting to have human connection in those moments and hopefully provide some emotional stability.”
Galloway sharpened his goals for the future through his participation in WV-SOM’s Rural Health Initiative (RHI), which immersed him in underserved communities. Working in West Virginia’s Mason County, he encountered patients who needed care but didn’t want to leave their hometown. He said balancing patient safety with geographical realities taught him the importance of compromise.

“I loved every second of being immersed in rural communities and seeing what it’s like to practice in resource-limited environments. I learned so much from the people who live that life and the ways they’re adapting to challenges and overcoming them,” he said.
As he enters an emergency medicine residency at Dell Seton Medical Center at the University of Texas, Galloway said he hopes to someday return to care for communities like those in which he was raised.
“I’ve lived in Appalachia my whole life, and I’d like to come back and take care of patients here, broadening my practice beyond the bounds of the emergency department,” he said. “I’d love to help expand street medicine programs and community paramedicine programs in the area.”

This Week in WV History

Oct. 7, 1747: Pioneer Ebenezer Zane, the founder of Wheeling, was born on the South Branch of the Potomac River near present Moorefield in Hardy County.

The following events happened on these dates in West Virginia history. To read more, go to e-WV: The West Virginia Encyclopedia at www.wvencyclopedia.org.

Oct. 4, 1890: A traveling circus arrived in Alderson. While in town, the show’s lioness gave birth to cubs. Susan Bebout, wife of a local blacksmith, raised one of the rapidly growing cubs in her backyard. Its regular escape led the town to pass an ordinance requiring all lions to be kept on leashes.

Oct. 4, 1934: Sam Huff was born at Edna, near Morgantown. Huff was part of a fearsome defense that led West Virginia University to a 38-7 record between 1952 and 1955, including three consecutive wins over rival Penn State.

Oct. 4, 1967: Basketball player Vicky Bullett was born in Martinsburg. While starring at the University of Maryland, she helped lead the U.S. women’s basketball team to a gold medal in the 1988 Olympics.

Oct. 6, 1928: Traditional musician William “Frank” George was born in Bluefield. The multi-instrumentalist and his wife, Jane George, were leaders in the old-time folk and music revival of the 1960s and 1970s.

Oct. 7, 1763: England’s King George III issued a proclamation banning all settlement west of the Alleghenies. In present-day West Virginia, the line ran along the divide between eastern rivers and the Ohio watershed, leaving only the Eastern Panhandle and a fraction of Monroe County open to settlement.

Oct. 7, 1900: Poet Roy Lee Harmon was born in Boone County. He founded the West Virginia Poetry Society and served as the state’s poet laureate for 38 years.

Oct. 7, 1947: Musician Mike Morningstar was born in Parkersburg. He has performed across West Virginia in small bands and as a solo act since the 1960s. His heartfelt songs about our state have earned him the nickname of “West Virginia’s Troubadour.”

Oct. 7, 1957: Musician Michael W. Smith was born in Kenova, Wayne County. One of the top-selling artists in gospel music history, he has recorded 37 albums (selling 18 million), had 35 number-one songs and written over a dozen books.

Oct. 8, 1764: Harman Blennerhassett was born in England. He and his wife Margaret settled on an island near Parkersburg in 1798 and built an elaborate mansion.

Oct. 8, 1993: The Rev. Bernard Coffindaffer died unexpectedly of a heart attack. Starting in 1984, Coffindaffer began erecting clusters of crosses in West Virginia and other states. He was buried in Nicholas County, just across the highway from a set of his crosses.

Oct. 8, 1909: Harry Brawley was born in Charleston. As a history teacher, he pioneered the use of radio in classrooms and later broadcast shows for schools. He was also instrumental in founding what is now West Virginia Public Broadcasting.

Oct. 9, 1918: Lucinda Rose died. During World War I, the Doddridge County native and Clarksburg resident was dispatched overseas as a nurse with the Red Cross. She contracted influenza on the transport and died after reaching England. She is the only West Virginia woman to lose her life overseas during the war.

In 1805, they joined the Aaron Burr Conspiracy, leading to Harman’s arrest on treason charges. Although released after Burr’s acquittal, Blennerhassett died in poverty in 1831.

Oct. 9, 1877: The Episcopal Church created the Diocese of West Virginia. The initial convention of the new diocese met at St. John’s Episcopal in Charleston, with 14 clergy and 16 lay delegates.

Oct. 9, 2014: Following court rulings and announcements by the governor and the attorney general, same-sex marriage was effectively legalized in West Virginia.

Oct. 10, 1774: Shawnee warriors led by Cornstalk were defeated by Virginia militia at the Battle of Point Pleasant. It was the only major engagement of Dunmore’s

Gov. Morrisey launches statewide home energy rebate programs to lower utility costs for WV families

Governor Patrick Morrisey recently announced the statewide launch of West Virginia’s Home Energy Rebate programs, expanding access to home efficiency upgrades designed to lower utility costs and help West Virginia families keep more of their hard-earned money. West Virginia has been allocated $88 million through the federal programs.

“Affordability is one of the biggest challenges facing West Virginia families, and lowering monthly energy bills is one way we can help families keep more of their hard-earned money,” said Governor Morrisey. “We want to hold down energy costs, create good-paying jobs, and make sure West Virginians have every opportunity to get ahead.”

West Virginia was the first state to launch under new federal guidance and received more than 300 applications from homeowners during the pilot phase. Qualifying low-income households can receive eligible improvements with no out-of-pocket cost within program limits, while options are available for moderate-income households as well.

The impact is already being seen by participating homeowners. Judy Fry, the first West Virginia homeowner to receive upgrades through the program, attended the ceremony and saw her first electric bill following the improvements drop by 33.5 percent, saving her $102 in one month.

“That’s real money that stays in a family’s pocket and can go toward groceries, gas, prescriptions, or whatever else that family needs,” Governor Morrisey said. “As we take these programs statewide, we expect thousands of West Virginia households to benefit from lower energy costs.”

The programs are expected to serve approximately 10,000 West Virginia homes and generate between $3 million and $4.5 million in annual savings for participating households.

Eligibility is based primarily on household income, with rebate amounts varying by income level and the type of home energy improvements being completed.

Low-income households
Higher levels of assistance, including eligible improvements with no out-of-pocket cost within program limits.

Moderate-income households
Rebates may cover a portion of eligible project costs.

Households above moderate income
Some rebates may still be available depending on the project and projected energy savings.

West Virginians can use the Office of Energy’s online eligibility information and tools to determine their income category and learn what assistance may be available.

Check your eligibility and view full program details

The statewide launch will also create demand for skilled workers, with approximately 350 contractors expected to be needed to carry out rebate-related work. Nearly $1.9 million in program funding is dedicated to workforce development, including $1.6 million for training residential energy contractors. More than 100 participants are currently enrolled in the West Virginia Energy Efficiency Contractor program, and the Office of Energy has a $1.2 million application pending to establish an energy internship program with major employers across the state.

The workforce effort comes as West Virginia continues to see significant economic growth. Since October 2025, the state has announced approximately $96 billion in private-sector investment representing more than 19,000 projected jobs.

Carnegie Hall Presents Jason Carter and Michael Cleveland

Lewisburg, West Virginia - Carnegie Hall is honored to welcome bluegrass powerhouses Jason Carter and Michael Cleveland to its Mainstage on Friday, October 2 at 7 p.m., for an evening that promises to be one of the most exhilarating acoustic performances of the season. Guests are invited to come early for the free Club Carnegie from 6 – 6:45 p.m. in the Board Room located adjacent to the Hamilton Auditorium. A cash bar and snacks are available.

Widely regarded as two of the most decorated fiddlers in International Bluegrass Music Association history, Carter and Cleveland bring to Lewisburg a rare musical partnership defined by extraordinary technique, deep emotional resonance, and a shared devotion to the traditions that shaped them.

Their story begins more than three decades ago, when the two first met as teenagers - young musicians already turning heads with their fire, precision, and unmistakable artistic voices. Over the years, their paths crossed repeatedly on festival stages, in studio sessions, and through collaborations with artists such as Del McCoury. What emerged from those encounters is a twin-fiddle blend so intuitive and tightly woven that it is often compared to the seamlessness of sibling vocal harmony. Their interplay - equal parts daring improvisation and reverent craftsmanship - has become a hallmark of their sound and a defining force in contemporary bluegrass.

That connection takes center stage in their recent duo project, Carter & Cleveland, which shows the full breadth of their musical chemistry. Audiences can expect a rich tapestry of bluegrass standards, alt-country gems, and lush twin-fiddle arrangements, all anchored by Carter’s warm baritone and Cleveland’s virtuosic command. The program reflects not only their technical mastery but also their shared belief in bluegrass as a living, evolving art form - one capable of honoring its roots while embracing new colors, textures, and stories.

With a combined 18 IBMA Fiddle Player of the Year awards and multiple GRAMMY wins and nominations, Carter and Cleveland stand among the most celebrated instrumentalists of their generation. Their partnership has been hailed as a landmark collaboration in modern bluegrass, offering audiences a thrilling, heartfelt celebration of tradition, innovation, and lifelong musical kinship. Carnegie Hall is proud to present these two extraordinary artists in a performance that promises both breathtaking virtuosity and the unmistakable joy of musicians who have spent a lifetime inspiring one another.

Artist on Display: Carly Thaw — Back in Appalachia

By Zachery Miller

Carly Thaw grew up in the hills of West Virginia, but she spent nearly 12 years away, living among other landscapes. Montana. Washington State. Vancouver, British Columbia. Different places, different mountains, but wherever she landed, West Virginia kept showing up as a point of comparison.

She never really stopped measuring the world against it.

“All I could do was compare where I was living back to West Virginia because that was my context,” Thaw says.

Distance, it turns out, brought home into focus. She spent that decade away thinking more deeply about the landscape of Appalachia than she ever had while living in it. Now, a year back, she says her eyes and her mind are “tuned up” to see it differently.

This perspective gave Back in Appalachia its title. The exhibition, on display at Carnegie Hall’s Old Stone Room Gallery through October, is a culmination of the past several years of Thaw’s art. It includes older work, some of it made while she lived outside the state, and newer pieces she finished this summer. Even the older work, she says, was about West Virginia and how it differed from wherever she was living. Throughout the collection, she explores patterns in nature and the layering of intricate patterns in nature.

Together, the work reads less like a homecoming and more like a deeper, second look at something already intimately familiar. Looking closely is where Thaw’s art begins.

She is a long-distance trail runner, and she spends a lot of time seeing the same things over and over again, though they never look quite the same. The rhododendron bush on one trail doesn’t look exactly like the one on another.

“You start to see the personalities of the individual landscapes,” she says.

Early on, she enjoyed painting landscapes from life and from reference photos she had taken. When she wanted to dig deeper, she started focusing on the individual components that make up a landscape,

“The deeper I looked, the more intricate it got. If you start looking at an individual species of plant or animal, or some type of geology or rocks that are in a certain place, then you start to learn about the micro-patterns and the chemical and structural patterns that happen with the growth of these things.”

Today she paints the full landscape, or the full being, while thinking about those microstructures and how she might represent them.

“I think I’ve always just been curious about how things work and how things are made,” she says.

That curiosity led her to studying field guides and researching her subjects as she drew them. What began as a question of how to draw a bird grew into a scientific interest. “My interest in the science of it and my art-making are definitely connected,” she says.

Thaw has created graphics and illustrations for science nonprofits, field guides, and science communication organizations. Her website describes her studio work as informed by the science and mathematics underlying ecology and Earth’s living systems, with intricate mark-making drawn from patterns in nature.

She sees the two sides of her work as closer than they might appear. “I really see art as a means of communication—visual communication,” she says. The difference is how directly the message is delivered. When she works with an organization, the goal is to make a specific point clearly. In her studio work, including the pieces at Carnegie Hall, the communication is more abstract.

“Translating a sensory experience into something that you’re looking at on a page is kind of indirect. That’s why I’ve been experimenting a lot with how I’m using color and lines and overlapping patterns inspired by the scientific, structural part, but making it try to communicate something more visceral—making the colors vibrate or making the pattern super dense so that it gives you a sensory experience when you’re looking at it.”

Thaw sees things with a certain depth, and this helps to shape how she portrays Appalachia’s landscape in her work.

“One of the things I think I carried with me out of West Virginia was this kind of intense energy that the mountains have—mountain ranges, the geological features are so enormous that it’s just a certain feeling. Appalachia has a really particular one because the hills are so ancient. I feel like if you’ve talked to anybody that’s from this area, they would have a similar sensation... that sort of visceral feeling is what I’m trying to capture.”

Preservation of natural spaces is her North Star, but what she hopes to do with her studio work is simple: get people to look a little closer, and feel something. According to Thaw, “there’s interesting nature and cool little tiny worlds in your own backyard.” You don’t need a science background, or a deep love for nature to accept the invitation. You only have to slow down enough to notice.

Back in Appalachia by Carly Thaw is on display at Carnegie Hall’s Old Stone Room Gallery through the end of October. To learn more about Carly Thaw and see more of her work, visit CarlyThaw.com.
