Grants help Glencoe Mansion undertake new projects

RADFORD, VA—Glencoe Mansion, Museum, and Gallery recently received three grants totaling more than $9,000 from Virginia state agencies.

A $3,520 grant from Virginia Humanities will assist the local non-profit in purchasing a new printer, but most important, said executive director Scott Gardner, “It will allow us to develop a new exhibit that attempts to shed light on the history of slavery in Appalachia and enslaved individuals’ lives. As we enter the third decade of the 21st century, it’s important to show our history and how our nation still reckons with its past and the ensuing legacy of years of oppression,” Gardner said.

The story of Glencoe and its owners, Confederate Gen. Gabriel Wharton and his wife, “Nannie” Radford, provides a rich study of slavery in the western section of Virginia and brings to life the role of African Americans both as enslaved peoples and later as freedmen, Gardner said. “The development of this exhibit has been assisted by our access to primary sources of more than 500 letters written between the couple during the American Civil War.”

The exhibit will open in late summer or early fall.

A second grant of $2,500 from the Virginia Commission for the Arts has provided funds to expand hours temporarily for two part-time employees, who assist in social media development and management of the gift shop and art gallery. In addition, Gardner noted that these funds will help Glencoe expand its advertising at Virginia’s Welcome Centers as well as its presence on social media platforms.

The grant was made possible as part of the American Rescue Plan appropriation through the National Endowment for the Arts.

The third grant of $3,000 comes from the Virginia Department of Forestry to purchase plantings to help with reforestation and water conservation efforts at the Mary Draper Ingles Cultural Heritage Park as well as the adjoining Glencoe grounds. Located on 1.3 acres overlooking the New River, the park is home to an 8-foot-tall bronze statue of Ingles, who survived capture by Native Americans in 1755 during the French and Indian War and walked hundreds of miles from the Ohio region back to the New River Valley. The property also includes a train observatory, which was completed in 2019 as a joint project with students and faculty from Virginia Tech’s School of Architecture + Design.

Gardner says the plantings will not only contribute to an improved environment but also will provide educational opportunities for families and make the property more inviting for picnics and walks along pathways.

“We’re especially indebted to the Radford City Public Works Department and several groups of volunteers, including the Scouts BSA, for their help in making this project possible,” Gardner said.

The park is open dawn to dusk, seven days a week.

Experience a Dark Sky Event at a Virginia State Park

International Dark Skies Week continues through today, Saturday, April 30, and events are being held across Virginia at four state parks throughout the spring and summer. Staunton River State Park, James River State Park, Natural Bridge State Park, and Sky Meadows State Park have been designated as International Dark Sky Parks by the International Dark Sky Association.

“As a state park, our goal is to conserve Virginia’s natural resources, which include the life that inhabits the park,” Natural Bridge State Park Interpretive Ranger Summer Holiday said. “Having a Dark Sky designation aids in preserving habitats we aim to protect by being a sanctuary relatively free from artificial light. These types of locations are becoming increasingly difficult to find.

“In metropolitan areas, you are only seeing a tiny fraction of what the night sky would look like in a place with no artificial light,” Holiday said. “With little to no light pollution in our park, those that visit can see hundreds of stars they normally would not see. Our Dark Sky events allow visitors to enjoy the view of our night sky and learn about the importance of preserving it by eliminating light pollution.”

Dark Sky designation recognizes areas and organizations working to maintain spaces where the public can see stars more easily. Nighttime light pollution is common east of the Mississippi River and with natural nighttime darkness disappearing, this makes stargazing more difficult.

“On a clear night, there will be telescopes set up to allow visitors to fully appreciate the night sky and depending on what is visible that time of year, visitors might be able to see nebulae, star clusters, planets and red giants,” Holiday said. “Rangers will provide information on how to navigate the night sky, point out prominent constellations and discuss how visitors can reduce light

Radford University sees highest Highlander Day attendance

RADFORD - Nearly 900 people attended Radford University’s Highlander Day Saturday, April 23, 2022. About 315 of those attendees were students accepted to the university, including students and their families on sponsored buses from the Tidewater and Richmond areas of Virginia. This was the highest attended Highlander Day event this year and one of the largest on record.

“We are thrilled to have welcomed so many future Highlanders at our record Highlander Day!”

said Craig Cornell, vice president for enrollment management. “Some of our greatest strengths are our access to faculty and our state-of-the-art facilities. Highlander Days allow us to showcase both of those as students and families get to connect personally to their future faculty members, see their future residence hall, meet other students and experience what it is like to be a member of our family.”

Highlander Day welcomes students and their families and friends to tour and interact with all of what Radford University has to offer as they make their enrollment decision for next fall. For many students, this visit marks their first time on campus as admitted students. During their daylong experience, they had the opportunity to hear directly from current students, faculty and staff members about the opportunities available for them on campus.

Admitted students also stepped into immersive classroom experi-

Radford High School makes playoffs at quiz bowl national tournament

On the weekend of Saturday, April 23, Radford High School joined 109 of the top quiz bowl teams from small public high schools at the Hyatt Regency O’Hare for the 2022 Small School National Championship Tournament to determine who was the best.

Quiz bowl is a competitive, academic, interscholastic activity for teams of four students. Quiz bowl teams use buzzers to answer questions about science, math, history, literature, mythology, geography, social science, current events, sports, and popular culture. The matches feature a blend of individual competition and team collaboration, since no individual player is likely to be an expert in all subject areas. Participation in quiz bowl both reinforces lessons from the classroom and encourages players to develop new intellectual interests.

The RHS team, in the Traditional Public Schools Division, was captained by Owen Saunders, who was joined by Lianna Almeida, Reagan Brown, Jaden Castillo, John Farmer, William Greene, Gavin Harris, Michael Hijduk, Lauren Price, Adalynn Turner, and Caleb Vaughan. The team was coached by Megan Thompson.

Radford High was one of four Virginia teams competing at the national championship.

Radford began the preliminary rounds with a four-game winning streak, defeating Martin County from Inez, Kent; Itawamba Agricultural from Fulton, Miss.; Zane Trace from Chillicothe, Ohio; and Evergreen from Metamora, Ohio. The Highlanders finished the preliminary rounds with a 7-3 record, which qualified them for the playoffs.

The team made it through some tense moments. For instance, the defeat of Martin County in round three was by the narrow margin of 250-245, and the team’s win over Michigan’s White Pigeon in round 11 was by a slim 215-190 score.

Radford was on the brink of elimination in round 17 when the students defeated Upper Sandusky from Ohio to stay alive. The team eventually lost to Westmont from Illinois, ending their shot at the title.

The Bobcats finished the tournament in eleventh place in the Traditional Public Schools Division. The champion in that division was Glasgow High School from Glasgow, Kent. The Open Division champion was the A team from St. Mark’s School of Dallas, Texas.

Drillfield exhibit seeks to end the silence surrounding mental health

By Travis Williams

Sarah Choi hopes seeing an abundance of backpacks will help other Hokies know they don’t have to carry their burdens by themselves.

“I just hope people realize they’re not alone in the way they feel,” said Choi, a junior studying clinical neuroscience. “There are so many people around you that are probably feeling some range of the way you’re feeling. I want Hokies to know their lives matter and it’s worth it to ask for help.”

The publicity chair for Active Minds at Virginia

Tech, Choi is one of several students helping plan and oversee Send Silence Packing, an exhibit that aims to “end the silence that surrounds mental health and suicide,” according to the Active Minds website.

The event, set to occur on the Drillfield from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 2, will feature about 1,000 backpacks, each of which represents a life lost to suicide. For mental health support, professional counselors, therapy dogs, and other people committed to helping will be present

With Montgomery County among the school divisions receiving grants, Virginia State Superintendent of Public Instruction Jillian Balow recently announced the awarding of $600,000 in competitive grants to 16 school divisions to upgrade equipment for career and technical education programs in schools and technical centers.

Each division will receive $37,500 to purchase new equipment and make other improvements to enhance student learning.

"Technological change is a constant that impacts every career field, from agriculture to health sciences," Balow said. "These grants will help Virginia's career and technical education programs keep up and provide the up-to-date equipment and technology students need to prepare for the career opportunities of today and tomorrow."

The awards, by school division, are as follows:

Alexandria — Governor's Health Sciences Academy at Alexandria City High.

Campbell County — Altavista Combined School, Brookville Middle, Rustburg Middle and William Campbell Combined School..

Charlottesville — Charlottesville-Albemarle Technical Education Center.

Chesapeake — Governor's STEM Academy at Grassfield High.

Giles County — Giles County Technology Center.

Hanover County — Health Science Specialty Center at Hanover High.

Henrico County — Advanced Career Education Center at Hermitage High.

Henry County — Career Academy.

Lunenburg County — Central High.

Mecklenburg County — Mecklenburg County High.

Montgomery County — Governor's STEM Academy.

Northumberland County — Northumberland High.

Prince William County — Woodbridge Senior High.

Stafford County — North Stafford High.

Suffolk — The College and Career Academy at Pruden.

Wise County — Wise County Career and Technical Center.

The Virginia General Assembly established the CTE equipment grant program in 2016, and the Virginia Department of Education awarded the first grants to schools and technical centers in 2017. Since then, the program has provided $3.6 million to help school divisions update equipment to enhance learning and experiences for career and technical education students.

The Blacksburg Planning and Building Department has received a request for a Conditional Use Permit allowing a day care center use in the R-4 Low Density zoning district at Northside Presbyterian Church at 1017 Progress Street NW.

Northside Presbyterian Church, in partnership with YMCA-VT, seeks to create an after-hours school enrichment program for K through fifth-grade students on a 2.65 acre parcel known as the existing Northside Presbyterian church.

The program will run Monday through Friday from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. during the school year and 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. during summer break hours. The program is asking for a maximum of 50 students, but a lower attendance count of approximately 30 students is expected. The program will provide a snack and an evening meal for all participants and provide recreational opportunities for students after school.

Busing plans through the YMCA or Montgomery County Public Schools are currently being worked out, but parent pickup is also available. The church parking lot is big enough to accommodate buses and/or parking for many vehicles so drop off and pick up will be within the safety of the building exterior.

To mitigate noise from recreational activities and traffic, Northside Presbyterian Church will plant additional trees and shrubs in vacant areas to bolster noise reduction. The church also plans to erect a fence around the playground area for added safety from neighboring yards and the parking areas.

The future land use designation in the comprehensive plan is Low Density Residential.

The following meetings have been scheduled to consider this application:

Neighborhood Meeting: Thursday, May 5, 2022, 5:30 p.m. in the Blacksburg Motor Company Building large conference room, 400 South Main St.

Planning Commission Public Hearing: Tuesday, June 7, 2022, 6:30 p.m. in the Roger E. Hedgepeth Chambers, Second Floor Municipal Building, 300 South Main St.

“We need to continue to share the importance of mental health education and support with our entire Virginia Tech community,” said Chris Wise, assistant vice president for Student Affairs. “We want individuals to understand the available resources we have to support mental health and to know the signs of suicide, understand how they can support friends in distress, and to encourage continued positive conversations about mental health.”

A student-focused mental health advocacy nonprofit, Active Minds has more than 600 chapters across the country, including one at the Blacksburg campus and one at the Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine in Roanoke. Since 2008, they have displayed Send Silence Packing more than 200 times.

Bringing the exhibit to Virginia Tech is a part of the universitywide mental health campaign, #VTBetterTogether, which launched in 2018 when Executive Vice President and Provost Cyril Clarke commissioned a task force to study mental health concerns at Virginia Tech. Since the study, the campaign and other university initiatives have made significant strides in awareness, education, prevention, and intervention in mental health. Many of these efforts can be accessed through the new, streamlined Well-Being at Virginia Tech website.

Alyssa Wills is the president of Active Minds at Virginia Tech and was present when Send Silence Packing was last displayed on the Blacksburg campus during the fall 2018 semester.

“Receiving a Dark Sky certification doesn’t always guarantee protection from light pollution,” Natural Bridge State Park Manager

Jim Jones said. “Localities and businesses that develop can potentially threaten that designation. We hope that through awareness, programs and advocacy of the community, friends, and government that these resources will be protected. That an awareness of how light at night can impact not only nature but our health and wellness.”

Park events include self-guided nighttime hikes, astrophotography workshops, meteor shower viewing, lunar eclipse viewing and educational lessons about light pollution.

WORSHIP DIRECTORY

God’s COVENANT

Read Genesis 9:1 through 11:32

A covenant is a promise or contract between two parties. However, a biblical covenant involved much more. It was a permanent arrangement designed to promote friendship and understanding between God and man. After the flood, God made a covenant with Noah and every living thing.

I have set my rainbow in the clouds, and it will be the sign of the covenant between me and the earth (Genesis 9:13).

This covenant had three parts. Never again would a flood devastate the earth. Season would follow season as long as the earth remained. Then God gave the rainbow to show that He could be trusted to keep His part of the covenant.

The rainbow speaks of God’s grace and mercy. But His grace didn’t stop with the rainbow. God wanted to have a relationship with us in spite of our unworthiness, so He sent us a Mediator—Jesus—who, by His death, opened up a new and better covenant, one that removed our sin and cleansed our conscience (Luke 22:20).

Prayer for Today: Lord, with Your help I will keep my part of the covenant—to love and honor You. Amen

Giesen, Richard Anthony

Longtime Smith Mountain Lake resident Richard Anthony “Tony” Giesen passed away April 5, 2022, at age 82 at Roanoke Memorial Hospital. He was born Feb. 9, 1940, in Ada, Okla. His father was a surgeon in private practice as well as a provider of medical care to the Shawnee Indian reservation, and Tony made hospital rounds with his father from the age of five. His mother, Virginia Vaughn Giesen, was an opera singer. His family returned to Virginia when his father was called back to his hometown to start Radford Community Hospital.

Tony was a soloist in church and did local performances as young as age 6. When he was 13, he sang for Virginia Governor Thomas Stanley’s inauguration and performed with the Roanoke Valley Choral Society.

Tony’s grandparents were German immigrants, and he grew up immersed in the language. Starting in his school years he became an accomplished bridge player, mechanic, equestrian, and pianist.

He graduated from Radford High School in 1958, obtained a bachelor of science in rural sociology from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, a master of science in mathematics from Radford College, and did post-graduate work in mathematics at Princeton. In 2016, he was awarded an honorary doctorate from Ferrum College.

He was hired by Ferrum College in 1965 when he was 25. He was Ferrum’s longest serving faculty member, spending 50 years as a math professor. He also started the college’s equestrian program and taught German for nine years.

He loved Ferrum and in keeping with the college motto “Not Self But Others,” he wanted to “give back in some way.” To that end, he donated his Steinway grand piano as well as his collection of American Brilliant Cut Glass to the college. He had a lifelong passion for studying and collecting cut glass and spent over 60 years amassing hundreds of pieces. His collection is housed in the Anthony Giesen Gallery of American Brilliant Cut Glass at Ferrum College and is one of only two college-based collections in the United States. He was preceded in death by his father and his mother; brothers and sisters-in-law, Andrew Frederick Giesen, Jr., MD, and Virginia Conrad Giesen, Thomas Vaughan Giesen and Nancy Voegel Giesen III, PhD.

Tony is survived by one niece, Gwendolyn Conrad Giesen, and her husband, Keith George Milyo of Texas; five nephews, David Voegel Giesen and his wife Jan Hamby, Richard Vaughan Giesen and his wife Victoria Hiott, Daniel Mark Giesen and his wife Ellie Henderson, James Thomas Giesen, and George Bradley Giesen and his wife Jennifer Norris; a niece-in-law, Linda Peterson Giesen; a sister-in-law, Deborah Smith Giesen; favorite cousins Sean and Greg Jeung; a granddaughter, Helga Thompson Goodale; and many great-nieces, great-nephews and extended family members.

Tony’s funeral service with reception following is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday, May 6, 2022, at St. John’s Episcopal Church in Roanoke. A private burial for family only will be held at a later date.

The family would like to express appreciation to Dr’s Demott, Kim, Kahn and the entire 8 South ICU staff at Roanoke Memorial Hospital for the exceptional care they provided Tony in his final weeks. The family extends a special thank-you to Ronald P. Johnson for his support and guidance during this time.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to The Defenders of Wildlife, The Nature Conservancy, The US National Parks Service, Rescue Mission of Roanoke, or the charity of your choice.

The Giesen family is in the care of Mullins Funeral Home & Crematory in Radford.

Shepherd, Teddy Dean

Teddy Dean Shepherd, 65, of Christiansburg, went home to be with his Heavenly Father on Monday, April 25, 2022.

Left behind to cherish his memory and legacy are his former wife and the mother of his children, Kim Hylton; sons, daughter, and grandchildren: Josh Shepherd and girlfriend, Sabrina Davis, and their daughter, Londyn Shepherd; Matt Shepherd, Kelli Linkous, and their daughter, Sophia Shepherd; and Sarah Brockmeyer, and husband, Ryan Brockmeyer, and their children, Selah and Josie. Also cherishing his memory is his mother, Ila Agee; a brother, Barry Shepherd; and a sister, Mavis Reed.

Teddy Shepherd was unapologetically authentic, blunt, unfiltered, and honest. He was a rare soul, so pure and refreshing in the fact that he felt no need to “perform” for anyone. He always said, “There is always going to be someone bigger and badder than you,” but he feared no man. You will never influence the world by being like it and Teddy embodied that. Now we will go on embracing his spirit and who he was and how he helped shape who we’ve become.

Teddy served our country in the United States Air Force and was honored in a graveside service at Sunset Cemetery in Christiansburg at 11 a.m. on Friday, April 29.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to help cover funeral expenses made out to McCoy Funeral Home, 150 Country Club Drive SW, Blacksburg, VA 24060 with Teddy Shepherd in the memo.

Arrangements are by McCoy Funeral Home Blacksburg.

“Just seeing people come up and ask questions all day was really impactful,” said Wills, who is set to graduate with a degree in psychology and criminology in May. “It was definitely something I wanted to include to bookend my time here because four years later we have a whole new group of people that could really benefit from this.

“It can be hard to go seek out resources, and you may not even know there are so many,” Wills said. “So we hope to have those resources brought to you in the middle of your day, where if you have a few minutes to stop, there will even be someone there to talk to you about them.”

Her thoughts were echoed by Wise, who said Send Silence Packing can be a powerful way to continue the ongoing mental health conversation #VTBetterTogether aims to foster.

“I hope this display can bring awareness to the many efforts in support of positive mental health, such as our #VTBetterTogether campaign and our Hokie Wellness Mental Health Coalition work, which includes involvement from many student organizations who work together to engage in meaningful dialogue regarding mental health support on campus,” Wise said. “Students are familiar with the work of the Cook Counseling Center, but often times may not have a complete understanding of some of the preventative work that may be happening,” Wise said.

instrumental in helping develop me and my brothers into successful people and players, as well as hundreds of other young men who have competed for the Hokies," Vincent Fuller said. "We hope our family's commitment can help continue that trend of future generations of players coming to Blacksburg and building successful careers."

In honor of their significant pledge to Virginia Tech football, the cornerbacks' meeting room will now be named "The Fuller Room." This space is used daily by coaches and student-athletes alike and is located in the Merryman Athletic Center.

"I am tremendously grateful to the Fuller brothers for their financial commitment to our football program," said Virginia Tech head coach Brent Pry said. "I believe we all share a great appreciation for the way the Fullers played the game and how they conduct themselves, both on and off the field. They exemplify the competitive spirit and the attention to detail which embodied Virginia Tech Football for so many years under Coach Beamer. On behalf of all our players and staff, we thank the Fuller family for their continued support and generosity."

The four Fullers excelled for Virginia Tech over a 15-year period. After Vincent initially paved the path to Blacksburg for the family, the next brother to follow was Corey, who competed on the Tech track and field team before serving as a wide receiver for the Hokies from 2011-12. He was selected by Detroit in the 2013 NFL draft and also spent time with the New Orleans Saints. After returning to his alma mater to work in the recruiting department, he joined the player personnel department of the Carolina Panthers in 2021.

"Coach Pry and the entire staff have made a very concerted effort to connect with our alumni base and make us feel welcome in Blacksburg," said Kyle Fuller, who lettered for the Hokies from 2010-13. A first-round selection of the Chicago Bears in the 2014 NFL draft, he tied for the NFL lead with seven interceptions in 2017 when he earned first-team All-Pro honors and his first Pro-Bowl berth. He followed that up with another Pro-Bowl selection in 2018 and signed as a free agent with Denver in 2021.

"Our family and so many of the other alums are very encouraged by the momentum that Coach Pry and this staff have developed on the recruiting trail," Kyle Fuller said. "We all look forward to supporting this new staff and the team for years to come. We are blessed to be able to give back to a program that has done so much for us over the years."

The youngest member of this football quartet is Kendall, who played at Tech from 2013-15 and earned second-team All-America honors in 2014. He was drafted by Washington in 2016 and was later traded to Kansas City where he made the game-sealing interception for the Chiefs in their Super Bowl LIV victory. He subsequently returned to Washington as a free agent in 2021.

"The Fuller family represents so much that is great about Virginia Tech football," director of athletics Whit Babcock said. "Coach Beamer was fond of saying that a brother will always tell his other brothers how the coaches are treating them. The fact that all four of these fabulous players all came to Virginia Tech is a testament to Coach Beamer's leadership and the environment his staffs created in Blacksburg."

"I know Coach Pry has a great deal of admiration for how this program was built and those who built it, so we're all exceedingly proud to rename our cornerbacks room in honor of the many contributions the Fuller family has made to the Hokies," Babcock said.

Wolf, Dale Duane

Dale Duane Wolf, 89, passed away in his sleep on April 22, 2022.

Born on June 26, 1932, at the Wolf Family Farm in Harlan County, Neb., Dale was preceded in death by his parents, Leo and Alberta (Burton) Wolf.

Dale married Evelyn Lucile Zysset on Nov. 28, 1952. After 69 years of marriage, Dale is survived by Evelyn, their four children, and 11 grandchildren: son David, and wife Pat Wolf and their children, children Adam Wolf and Isaac Wolf of Roanoke; daughter Laurie Wolf and their son Will Hunter of Roanoke; son Eric Wolf and his wife, Tammie Sarver and their children, Sarah Wolf, Emily Grace Sarver-Wolf, Elias Sarver-Wolf, Jeremiah Sarver-Wolf, and Eva Rose Sarver-Wolf of Floyd; and son Allan Wolf and wife Ginger West and their children, Simon Wolf, Ethan Wolf, and Jameson Wolf of Asheville, N.C.

Dale is also survived by brothers Marilyn Wolf of Gothenburg, Neb., and Wayne Wolf of Bryan, Texas, and sisters Rita King of Lakewood, Colo., and Letha Perks of Stockville, Neb.

Dale's education included a BS and MS in agronomy from the University of Nebraska in 1954 and 1959 and a PhD in agronomy, with a specialization in forage and pasture management from the University of Wisconsin in 1962.

His early teaching experience included vocational agriculture in Red Cloud and Arapaho, Neb. After graduate studies in Wisconsin, Dale became an assistant professor of agronomy at the University of Connecticut in Storrs.

In January 1967 he joined the faculty of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (now Virginia Tech). As a full professor, his responsibilities included the supervision of undergraduate and graduate students. His research and extension work emphasized forage crop management and physiology, biofuels production, and methods and instrumentation for measuring basic growth factors such as photosynthesis of intact plants and individual leaves attached to the plant (using small portable chambers).

Dale was a member of several scientific societies and contributed numerous research extension publications. He was an advisor and committee member for 154 doctoral and masters graduate students. He retired as a Professor Emeritus in 1995.

Dale was a longtime active member of the Blacksburg Presbyterian Church, was a deacon/elder, and taught Sunday School and pre-catechism class. He was a Cub Scout and Boy Scout leader and was on the board of directors for both cub and boy scouts. He loved gospel and country music and played in several local bands at retirement homes and other local events. He played guitar, dobro, six-string banjo, bass guitar, Qchord, and harmonica.

During his retirement, Dale and Evelyn spent 21 summers in Frontier County, Neb., where he managed their family farm that included a small herd of cattle.

Dale found joy in refurbishing several classic tractors. He contributed to a Guinness World Record by driving his 1937 F-20 Farmall in a parade with more than 1,000 other antique tractors. To many, Dale was synonymous with the smiley faces and the lollipops he would distribute to students, friends, family, and neighbors.

A celebration of Dale Wolf's life is scheduled for what would have been Dale's 90th birthday, Sunday, June 26, at 2 p.m., at the Blacksburg Presbyterian Church in Blacksburg.

In lieu of flowers or monetary donations, Evelyn asks that you honor Dale's memory by performing an act of kindness for someone, either a loved one or stranger.
