CHARLESTON A Harrison County

Morgan student, Sprouse of Bridgeport High School, won the statewide Poetry Out Loud competition in Charleston on Saturday.

The county was well-represented at the annual competition. Wesley Benson, senior at Lincoln High School, made it to the semifinals on Friday, when students from more than 40 schools competed for a spot in the final ten.

Morgan Sprouse, a junior at Bridgeport School, and High Ashton Nardella, senior at Notre Dame High School, made it from the semifinals to the finals on Saturday.

Poetry Out Loud is a national contest in which high school students memorize and recite poetry for an audience. The competition begins in schools, with the winners at each school advancing to statewide competition. The winners from each state and territory then compete at the National Finals.

The West Virginia Department of Arts, Culture and History, the National Endowment for the Arts, and the Poetry Foundation sponsor the event annually in West Virginia.

Each student memorized and

She also participated last year, but it was virtual. She had stood in front of a sheet her mom had taped over a window for a recording. "I recited them for a camera which is nothing compared to doing it in front of an audience," she said. "It makes me nervous, but once I get out there, it's much better to have audience reaction."

She enjoyed poetry before learning about the competition.

"I liked to read it," she said. "And I have a couple of poetry Instagrams that frequent, quite often."

But now she has a new source of poetry material- the Poetry Out Loud website, she said.

Her mother, Jennifer Kniceley Sprouse, agreed this year was different. She said she could "feel the emotion in the room."

"Our students from Harrison County were amazing," she said. "All three of them and it was just – it's a blessing to be here."

Her husband, Bart Sprouse, doubted he could have memorized so many lines.

grandfather, Wadsworth Henry Longfellow.

She was when she saw the length nine-stanza the she chose it.

"One of my favorite lines is 'Life is real! Life is earnest! And the grave is not its goal," Morgan said. "So that kind of sums up what the rest of the poem is saying, just keep going and do your best. And that is all you can do, and enjoy things."

Jared St. Martin who teaches Brown, English and Theater at Bridgeport High School, said he didn't much, as she is very

And I think when you put that on stage with poetry, poem, but she was glad I think it's a magic combination."

Nardella, who said he's "particular" with his poetry, enjoyed the exposure to different forms at the event.

"It was a lot of fun," he said. "Got to meet some cool people, did well overall. I only wish I could've gone a lil' further."

He'd been preparing since summer, "and it paid off," he said.

"And I'll always remember how amazing have to help Morgan it felt to place," he said.

PSC: Suddenlink customers deserve better

By Charlotte Lane WV Public Service Commission Chair

When you sign up and pay for a service, such as a company promising television service, you expect the television to work when you turn it on. Unfortunately, for many who subscribe to Suddenlink for cable television and other services, that has not been the case for far too long. The Public Service Commission has received thousands of complaints from Suddenlink customers over the past few years. The complaints have covered all areas, interruptions in service to billing problems. To make matters worse, customers calling to complain have had terrible experiences and very little success getting their problems resolved.

Commission staff tried to intervene on

A Psalm of Life

By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

What The Heart Of The Young Man Said To The Psalmist.

Tell me not, in mournful numbers,

Life is but an empty dream! For the soul is dead that slumbers, And things are not what they seem. Life is real! Life is earnest!

And the grave is not its goal; Dust thou art, to dust returnest, Was not spoken of the soul.

Is our destined end or way; But to act, that each to-morrow Find us farther than to-day.

Art is long, and Time is fleeting,

And our hearts, though stout and brave,

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow,

Still, like muffled drums, are beating Funeral marches to the grave. In the world's broad field of battle, In the bivouac of Life,

Be a hero in the strife! Trust no Future, howe'er pleasant! Let the dead Past bury its dead! Act,— act in the living Present!

Heart within, and God o'erhead!

Be not like dumb, driven cattle!

Lives of great men all remind us We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time;

Footprints, that perhaps another, Sailing o'er life's solemn main, A forlorn and shipwrecked brother, Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us, then, be up and doing, With a heart for any fate; Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait.

UNITED HOSPITAL CENTER'S HOME VISIT

LEARN ABO

We are embarking upon a food group journey in recognition of National Nutrition Awareness Month! Join us to discover interesting details on the five main food groups: fruits, vegetables, grains, protein foods, and dairy.

THE FRUIT FOOD GROUP

What foods are in the fruit group?

The fruit food group comprises all the foods we know as fruits - apples, oranges, bananas, etc. – as well as 100% fruit juice. These fruits appear in many forms: fresh, frozen, canned, or dried/hydrated, and can be enjoyed in numerous ways: whole, cut into pieces, pureed, or cooked. While 100% fruit juice counts as part of the fruit food group, at least half of the recommended amount of fruit in your daily diet should come from whole fruit rather than the juice itself.

Why should I eat fruit?

Including fruit in your diet provides your body with various health benefits, such as a reduced risk of some chronic diseases. Eating fruit provides your body with nutrients vital for health and maintenance.

THE VEGETABLE FOOD GROUP

What foods are in the vegetable group?

The vegetable food group comprises all vegetables, such as broccoli, carrots, and squash, and 100% vegetable juice. Vegetables are served and enjoyed in many forms. The next time you prepare vegetables for a meal or snack, discover the array of ways in which they are available: raw or cooked; fresh, frozen, canned, or dried/dehydrated; whole, cut-up, or mashed.

Vegetables are divided into five subgroups based on their nutrient value: dark green; red and orange; beans, peas, and lentils; starchy; and other vegetables.

Why should I eat vegetables?

Including vegetables in your meals and snacks provides your body with critical nutrients and health benefits essential for maintaining overall health. Individuals who regularly eat vegetables and fruits as part of an overall healthy diet are likely to have a reduced risk of some chronic diseases.

Discover the nutritional benefits of vegetables:

- Most natural vegetables are low in fat and calories.
- Vegetables offer the body potassium, dietary fiber, folate, vitamin A, and vitamin C.
- Diets rich in potassium benefit the body by helping to maintain healthy blood pressure. Which vegetables provide this nutrient? Try sweet potatoes, white potatoes, white beans, tomato products (paste, sauce, and juice), beet greens, soybeans, lima beans, spinach, lentils, kidney beans, acorn squash, kohlrabi, and yucca to add more potassium into your meal plan.
- Vegetables provide dietary fiber, which, as part of an overall healthy diet, helps reduce blood cholesterol levels and may lower the risk of heart disease.
- Vitamin A, found in certain vegetables, helps keep eyes and skin healthy and helps to protect against infections.
- Vitamin C, found in certain vegetables, helps heal cuts and wounds and keeps teeth and gums healthy. Vitamin C also helps the body absorb iron more easily.

@UnitedHospitalCenter

- Fruits have no cholesterol. They are low in fat, sodium, and calories.
- Fruits fill your body with essential nutrients, like potassium, dietary fiber, vitamin C, and folate. Including more fruit in your diet will increase your intake of these nutrients.
- Potassium-rich diets may help to maintain healthy blood pressure. Which fruits are beneficial sources of potassium? Try bananas, prunes, prune juice, dried peaches, apricots, cantaloupe, honeydew melon, orange juice, jackfruit, quava, and kiwi.
- Interested in reducing blood cholesterol levels and lowering your risk of heart disease? Dietary fiber from fruits, as part of an overall healthy diet, can help! In addition, fiber helps with bowel function. To consume fiber via fruit, try whole or cut-up fruits. Fruit juices contain little to no fiber.
- Vitamin C to the rescue! How does vitamin C benefit your body? It helps grow and repair body tissues, helps heal cuts and wounds, keeps teeth and gums healthy, and helps the body absorb iron more quickly.

How much fruit is needed daily, and what counts as 1 cup of fruit?

Our bodies are all unique. The serving of fruit you should include in your diet varies based on your age, sex, height, weight, and level of physical activity. Breastfeeding and pregnant women also have different nutritional fruit intake needs. In general, 1 cup of fruit or 100% fruit juice or ½ cup of dried fruit can be considered 1 cup from the fruit food group.

Our bodies are all unique. The serving of vegetables you should include in your diet varies based on your age, sex, height, weight, and level of physical activity. Breastfeeding and pregnant women also have different vegetable intake needs. In general, 1 cup of raw or cooked vegetables or vegetable juice or 2 cups of raw leafy salad greens can be considered 1 cup from the vegetable food group.

NOISE-INDUCED HEARING LOSS AND PEDIATRIC ENT HEALTH

Noise-induced hearing loss, or NIHL, can occur when loud noises damage the inner ear. Join Daniel Merenda, MD, ENT specialist at United Hospital Center, as he shares the science behind NIHL and describes steps one can take to prevent it.

NIHL is often associated with decibel levels. What should we know about decibel levels, and what are the symptoms of noise-induced hearing loss?

Sound intensity is measured in decibels - the more intense the sound, the higher its decibel (dB) level. As decibel level and sound intensity rises, so does one's risk for NIHL. When discussing risk for NIHL, decibel level and the length of time someone listens to a specific sound should be considered. For example, listening to music at volumes louder than 85 dB for long periods can cause permanent hearing loss.
