Calhoun Students Return
Under New Mask Policy

Board of education members voted to accept superintendent Kelli Whytsell's "Reconsideration of Mask Policy" during its Sept. 15 meeting.

The original "opening school information" had included, "Calhoun County students and staff will not be required to wear a mask."

With board members Kevin Cunningham, Jimmy Gregory, Jenna Jett and Tammy Yoak voting in favor, and Horst Motz opposing the change, the information approved reads in-part as follows:

"This fluid document may need to be added to and updated as more information becomes available.

Calhoun County students and staff will be required to wear a mask. We will continue to socially distance as much as possible. Calhoun County students, staff and community will be required to wear a mask in school, and spectators during indoor extracurricular activities. The requirement to wear a mask will be for all students and staff, regardless of being vaccinated.

In the Re-Entry document, Calhoun County Schools will follow all of the West Virginia Dept. of Education and the W.Va. Health and Human Resources requirements.

Anyone who has symptoms of COVID-19 should not report to any school location until cleared by a medical professional. Any person who has traveled to an identified hot spot or traveled outside the United States will be required to notify Trudi Anderson, school nurse, for instructions.

Anyone at Calhoun County Schools showing any of the signs of COVID-19 will be asked to leave immediately and seek medical assistance. If this is a student, they will be placed in a specific location to be monitored until a parent can pick the student up and seek medical attention. If necessary, Calhoun County Schools will seek medical attention for the student.

If you have kept your child home due to illness, you can contact Nurse Trudi to see if your child needs to be seen by a doctor or if Nurse Trudi can provide you a school excuse."

When board members voted on Aug. 11 for "mask optional," the county had seen 18 coronavirus cases in the past 30 days.

After five cases in the next 10 days, county and state cases multiplied quickly, with 306 cases in Calhoun in the 24 days before the vote was taken on Sept. 15.

Students returned to in-school instruction on Thursday, Sept. 16.

In other items, the superintendent recognized the 56 years of service to the school of retiring substitute teacher Jean Miller, who began teaching at Calhoun County High School in 1964.

With 353 coronavirus cases in the last 30 days, Calhoun had been at the red alert level for 24 days, until it dropped to the orange level and then the gold level in the last two days.

W.Va. Dept. of Health and Human Services reported that Calhoun had 52 cases in the past week, down from weeks of 86 and 140, and previous weeks of 63 and 14.

The Calhoun county commission met on Tuesday at 9 a.m.

"The purpose of this foundation is to serve the citizens of Calhoun County in a variety of different ways. Development (Continued on Page 14)

"Saving Our Care" Initiative Announced

Following Gov. Jim Justice's breakfast roundtable Summit with his pandemic leadership team on Monday at the Governor's Mansion in Charleston, he announced that the State will implement a new initiative, "Saving Our Care," to ensure the stability of hospitals and nursing homes, as the current surge in cases begins to peak.

"Our hospitals are on the verge of being overrun to the point where, if we don't act right now, we could awaken to a situation where we're basically rationing care," said Justice. "Now we're not there right at this moment, but we should all realize that we are now at a point in time where we are reaching a crisis.

"So, just like when we started our 'Saving Our Wisdom' effort, we are going to spin off that and start a new initiative called 'Saving Our Care. We're going to make every effort in the world to avoid getting to the point where we are talking about rationing care."

Saving Our Care will provide staffing assistance and financial help to hospitals and long-term care facilities, like nursing homes and assisted living facilities, to keep workforce levels up.

The program will also provide financial assistance to hospitals that have to defer elective procedures.

"As we approach and pass the peak of this surge, our hospitals are being taxed to the limit," said Justice. "If they need to start eliminating elective surgeries, and we do nothing, that would really destroy the economics of our hospitals."

The initiative will also include 24/7 monitoring and communication with hospital leaders, including a statewide monitoring system for all hospitals and long-term care facilities:

"We've got the dollars available, and if we get to the point where we have exhausted those dollars, we'll surely call the Legislature back in and get approval to do even more."

The governor added that with case numbers now on the decline for the first time in months, and with hospitalizations and deaths expected to soon begin decreasing as well, he hopes the Saving Our Care initiative will only need to be in place for the next three to six weeks.

"It's important that we have our hospital beds available for people with strokes, heart attacks, motor vehicle accidents, and bad infections, because when hospitals get overwhelmed, then those elements start to suffer too," said State coronavirus czar Dr. Clay Marsh."

This Week In History

The following reports are taken from The Calhoun Chronicle archives:

1921, 100 years ago

The trial of Dick Lawrence of Leatherbark, who was indicted in the Ritchie County circuit court for unlawful shooting, was held at Harrisville on Wednesday. The jury was out only a few minutes and returned a verdict of not guilty.

It will be remembered that several months ago, the sheriff of this county had a capias for the arrest of French Frederick and learned that Frederick was working at a sawmill on Leatherbark. Deputy Sheriff S.T. Waldo went to that section and enlisted the aid of Lawrence, who was a constable of Ritchie County. When they got to the mill, Frederick took to his heels and Lawrence fired at him. He was indicted for this action and the trial was held on Wednesday.

J.G. Oles and "Uncle Jake" Bennett left last week for a hunt in the mountains of Webster and Pocahontas counties. It is said that there are lots of bear in these mountains. Deer are protected until 1925. Probably, the legislature heard of the contemplated trip of these intrepid hunters and wisely prohibited the slaughter.

Ezra Stump and Harry Smith of Grantsville made the trip through to Parkersburg in three hours today, and caught the train to Akron, called there by the serious illness of Miss Naomi Smith, daughter of J.B. Smith, formerly of Creston, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in Akron on Friday.

Leo, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ball of Bull River, has been critically ill for several days with peritonitis. Spencer surgeons were called here and performed an operation that afforded the young man much relief, and his recovery is now looked for.

Col. Wilson of Big Springs was a visitor in town on Tuesday. He and his father, "Uncle Jim" Wilson, are going to the mountains again next week to hunt big game. We really expect to eat some bear meat.

If figures and comparisons mean anything, Billie Linville is on the way to becoming one of Calhoun County's foremost strawberry producers. With only two acres under cultivation on a 24-acre farm along Rt. 16 in Sherman District, Mr. Linville last spring marketed 500 gallons of berries from what he termed one-third of a crop. Bigger and better berry operations are in the making on the Linville farm. Mr. and Mrs. Linville are enrolled this year in the Calhoun County Farming for Better Living program.

Mr. Linville set out an additional 1,000 strawberry plants last spring, and this summer was preparing ground for two more patches. He expects by next spring to have between 10,000 and 12,000 plants, which, with favorable weather and a normal crop, will enable him to multiply last spring's yield several times. Mr. Linville treats his strawberry ground with 20 percent fertilizer and chicken manure and mulches the plants through the winter.

When the Farming for Better Living reporter visited the Linville farm early this summer, an operation was in progress to straighten the channel of a creek that flows through the farm in the rear of the home. This summer, Mr. Linville had a half-acre planted in soybeans, part of which he expected to cut for hay and part of which was to be plowed under.

The Linville family's needs are taken care of by a cow, a truck garden, and a half-acre of potatoes that supplies ample vegetables for table use and canning, with a surplus for marketing, a small flock of hens, most of which were sold in the spring, and some scattered young fruit trees.

One hundred White Rock chicks were started last spring for meat and for next winter's egg production. The Linville children supply themselves with pocket money by picking blackberries and selling them in the neighborhood. This summer, Mrs. Linville expressed a desire to have some raspberries on the farm.

Mr. Linville is a disabled veteran of World War I. He and Mrs. Linville have six children, all but one of whom were at home this summer. The eldest, Calvin, 20, has been in the United States Army for two years. William, 15, is a junior at Calhoun County High School. He is taking a Vo-Ag course and is a member of Future Farmers of America, and is also a 4-H Club member. The younger children are Lizzie May, 12, and the twins, Hibbert and Howard, six years old.

The Senior Girl Scout troop has voted to become an International Friendship Troop, with the purpose of promoting friendship between the United States and Mexico. The girls feel that there is a need to know more about this neighbor, and during the coming year, they will be studying Mexico through the use of books, films and guest speakers.

Mrs. Harry Holiday is donating time to teach Spanish to those girls who could not work it into their school schedules. The Scout Post Exchange is furnishing names of Mexican girls for correspondence.

To make the trip financially possible, the girls will camp and do their own cooking between Grantsville and the border. One of their advisors, who has previously made the trip, says that this is the best way to see the best parts of each state.

The trip is tentatively planned for August, 1972. Whether or not they will be able to make the trip on that date depends on their success in raising funds, and their clearance from the national Scout office. Careful screening is made there, as each girl is a representative of scouting in a foreign country.

One of the fund raising projects is being made through cooperation of A.L. Rose, owner of Mt. Zion Drive In, who is permitting the troop to sponsor a movie on Friday, Oct. 8, with all proceeds, after cost of the film, going to the Scouts. A general audience rated film will be shown.

Several high school faculty members donated time last week to help with a dance, at which they earned $62 for the project. Their total budget is $1,000, so they need $938.

CURIOSITY CORNER

by Dr. Jerry D. Wilson,
Emeritus Professor of Physics,
Lander University

A large land mass on the earth is considered to be a continent. There is no standard definition for the number of continents, but in general, we are taught that there are seven: Africa, Antarctica, Asia, Australia, Europe, North America and South America. In Europe and other places, it is taught that there are six, with North and South America being considered a single continent, simply called "America."

Let's have a quiz to see how much you know about geography and continents. We will use seven. You may want to get a world map out!

1. Greenland is part of which continent?
2. The equator passes through which continents?
3. The South Pole is on which continent?
4. The North Pole is on which continent?
5. The International Date Line (IDL) passes through which continent?
6. The deepest point on land is the Dead Sea. On which continent does it lie?
7. Hawaii is part of which continent?
8. Panama is part of which continent?
9. Egypt is part of which continent?
10. Turkey is part of which continent?

Answers:

1. North America, even though Greenland is a territory of Denmark (which is in Europe).
2. The equator passes through South America, Africa and Asia.
3. Antarctica.
4. None. The North Pole is in the Arctic Ocean.
5. The IDL runs through Antarctica
6. The Dead Sea lies between Israel and Jordan in Asia.
7. Hawaii is an island chain far from any land mass and is not associated with a continent.
8. The border between Panama and Columbia is considered to be the border between North America and South America, so Panama is in North America.
9. Africa and Asia. For the most part, Egypt is in Africa, but the Sinai Peninsula, separated by the Suez Canal, in the northeastern part of Egypt is part of Asia. (Tricky.)
10. (One more tricky one.) Most of Turkey lies in Asia, but the far western part is in Europe, separated by the Bosphorus over which there is a bridge in Istanbul. (Europe-Asia travel--where east meets west.)

Distressed and Failing Utilities Improvement Act

Last year, the W.Va. State Legislature passed the Distressed and Failing Utilities Improvement Act in order to ensure that as many West Virginians as possible have clean, reliable drinking water, and sanitary sewer service.

Many of the state's smaller water and wastewater utility companies struggle with aging infrastructure that can no longer adequately meet customers' needs.

Pipes crack, equipment wears out or breaks down and the repairs are expensive. Most of these utilities serve a small customer base that can't fund major repairs or improvements.

Another issue that plagues many systems is that their pipes were installed so long ago that there are no maps that show exactly where they are located. This means that a cracked line or broken main can lose thousands of gallons of water before the utility workers can even find the leak, much less repair it.

The water being lost is water that the utility has already paid to treat, but it never makes it to the customers, so there is no way for the utility to recoup that investment.

Every drop of lost water is also money that is lost, which only exacerbates the financial problems of a struggling utility, compounding the troubles customers face.

The Utilities Improvement Act offers a solution for water and wastewater utilities that can no longer afford to operate adequately. The legislature has directed the PSC to prepare an annual list of water and wastewater utilities that appear to be financially unstable.

Additionally, any interested person or entity may request that a utility be examined to determine if it is distressed or failing.

Our staff will review the pertinent financial data of those utilities and contact them to offer advice and assistance in resolving any issues that are contributing to the utility's financial instability.

If the PSC determines that the utility is failing, it may order the acquisition of the utility by a nearby water or wastewater utility that is capable of providing proper service to the community.

Making such a determination is a rigorously detailed process. The commission must hold a public comment hearing and an evidentiary hearing in the affected area to give the community the opportunity to be heard before a determination can be made.

The goal of the commission and the legislature is that more small communities throughout the state gain access to reliable water and wastewater services.

My Home Among the Hills

by Melody Walburn

Well, according to my calendar, fall officially arrives this week, and if the weathermen are correct, the weather is supposed to acknowledge the arrival of the new season. By Thursday of this week, the temperatures are predicted to be low enough for at least a long-sleeved T-shirt, if not a sweatshirt. I have my fingers crossed. I have been waiting patiently --okay, impatiently--for fall to begin since school started.

Speaking of school, we finished up our remote learning on Wednesday and returned to in-person school for the end of the week. On the whole, the transition back went okay. It was nice to see my students and co-workers again, and to get back into my normal routine. I will never like getting up at 5:30, but like it or not, that is my normal.

I will admit that I am still adjusting to having seven periods this year in contrast to the four-block schedule we followed last year. Even though it was only for a year, I grew accustomed to planning and grading for three classes a day that each lasted for much longer than the hour-long classes we have now. Going remote for seven days threw me off a bit too, as I was just adapting to this new schedule. Hopefully, I will have some time to settle in now and get used to this routine.

On the home front, I finally felt inspired to bring my fall decorations out and begin to decorate my home among the hills for my favorite season. I must say that I really like how my new red, leather couches go so nicely with my fall décor.

I planned to add some decorations to the outside of my house last year, but COVID put a hold on that plan. I am hoping to finally add some fall bling to my front door and side porch again this year. In a week or two, I plan to go shopping for some pumpkins, cornstalks, hay bales, and colorful mums.

I have also been helping with decorating of the history museum and Stump Hotel in town for our upcoming fall festivities. This week, I helped with the window displays in the museum. We are still featuring the piece of the gym floor with the Red Devil from the old high school, but we tweaked it a little to fit our October theme.

You will find one of our spooky brides in our second window. She is a sneak peek for our upcoming event in October called "Harrowing Tales and Local Lore." Think of "Great Expectations" and Mrs. Havershaw. If you haven't heard of either, I encourage you to do a little research and find out what it's all about.

In addition to helping out at the history museum, I spent some extra time at my parents' house this week. Rascal, their little dog, had to have surgery to have a growth removed from his left ear. Everything went smoothly, and he is doing well, but he looks a bit pitiful in his cone. I've stopped by to give him some extra snuggles and cuddles as he recovers. He goes back this Saturday to have his stitches removed and to hopefully get rid of the cone.

It's hard to believe, but it's already time to prepare to take the pontoon boat out of the water for the season. I wish that we had been able to take it out more this year. There always seemed to be something going on or the weather didn't cooperate.

Once we get it out of the water and back in my backyard, I will need to do some serious thinking about whether I should keep it or not. While I love the idea of the pontoon boat, it doesn't make a lot of sense to keep it when I am not getting much use out of it. I guess I don't have to make any decisions right now, but it is something that I will need to decide in the near future.

For now, I need to finish this article, because I have the rest of my Sunday to enjoy. I need to eat lunch, and then I am meeting Maricia at Stump Hotel to work on a painting project. Then, I will need to hurry home to make dinner for my family.

I am trying out a new recipe tonight. It is a breakfast for dinner meal that is made up of eggs, cheese, tater tots, biscuits, and ham. These ingredients are mixed together and then baked in a Bundt pan. I will let you know how it turns out.

Fall is just around the bend, and I am looking forward to all of the promises it holds. I will try not to be too cheesy and sentimental about this season over the next few weeks, but I can't make any promises!

[April 25, 1861]

My health is tolerable good, yet I am not very stout. My baby has been sick a good deal for nearly two months. I am happy to state that she is well & as Perry says "a good sound egg" again. She cannot walk yet but I have just finished a short dress for her & I think she will soon walk now. But if she cannot walk I guess that she can talk.

Perhaps you recollect going into the yard here with Perry one morning to look at a young Jack, (& which has become quite large now). Well, they keep it now in a field near by & it very often sets off quite a braying.

Ella was sitting in her Uncle Perry's lap the other day, & we were all busily talking, there being a number of persons in the room, when the long eared animal commenced braying. Ella looked up into her Uncle's face & said distinctly "hear the Jack!"

A day or two ago Ella was sitting on the floor & Louisa was sitting near feeding her babe some milk. When she had finished she tried to feed Ella some. She told Ella it was good & to eat it that it was the baby's milk & good. Ella answered "wont do it, baby's milk, wont do it." She said it perfectly plain. She was not going to eat the baby's milk.

Perry tells her she is a great lady to talk about the Jack. Uncle Jimmy came into the room the other day, & Ella on seeing him called out Jimmy which pleased Uncle Jim very much. To day Louisa was sitting near her sewing on a piece of gingham, & Ella kept asking her for a "piecem piece", until Louisa gave her a piece of it.

One night, some time ago, I put some Medicamentum on her nose, it being sore, & it awakened her from sleep, & it put her a good deal out of humor. George commenced talking to her pretending to sympathize with her, & said "yes it is a mean mam". She took it right up though he said the words but once & commenced saying "mean mam, mean mam" & went to sleep saying it.

George has a fashion frequently of clapping his hands whenever Ella happens to cry to stop her crying. So whenever Samuel Augustus cries, Ella will go right to clapping her hands to make him stop. I did not before suppose that she knew what George had done it for. But this will do for Nellie.

We have two excellent girls to work here now. They are still at work upon our house. They have the lower floor laid in one room & part of the passage floor, & the stairs run up & half the banisters finished to it, & the windows in & the wainskirting around one room, & will have the upper floor laid soon, & the doors hung this week.

Two Frenchmen, Mr Merri & Mr Buzwa, who worked last summer on the jail, are building the chimney. Perry says there will not be a nicer chimney scarcely in America than ours, for they are master workmen.

I think we will go house-keeping right soon unless I come home & stay a couple of months. I intend certain to visit you this summer, but I cannot tell just when. Lawyer Stevenson told me this morning that I ought to stick close to my husband now, as I did not know how soon he may be called away to wars.

The clouds do hang dark over our country. But we will hope for the best. I am rejoiced that Virginia has redeemed herself by joining the Southern confederacy¹.

I feel that the South are in the right, & I think that we will eventually come out victorious though our enemies are more numerous.

That God who watched over the little band that landed at Plymouth rock, is the same God to day, & will watch over the South, whose institutions have been vilified & abused, & trampled upon.

Why dont you write? I can not understand why none of you ever write to me. I hope to see you before very long. I do want to see you all very much.

My love to Almira.

Your affectionate daughter
Amie E. Sexton

Friday morn. We are all pretty well this morning. It is early. The birds are singing. Ella is not yet awake. I expect to spend this afternoon at cousin Jane's, as she insisted yesterday that I should come to day. I have not time to write this morning. Do write soon.

Yours &c.
Amie

¹Southern confederacy: The Virginia Act of Secession passed April 17, 1861. Most of the delegates from western Virginia (now West Virginia) voted against it. Amie's relatives in Upshur County were all Unionists.

Senior Updates

Deb Miller, JD, W.Va. Senior Legal Aid Volunteer

A law passed by the 2021 West Virginia legislature now governs the administration of smaller estates by simplifying the process.

In effect since July 1, the new law permits a faster overall process for receiving money and other property owed to the decedent and distributing the assets, as long as certain amounts are involved.

The advantages are that much lower probate fees will be charged and no final report to close the estate is needed.

There are certain requirements for the new procedures, including that the person handling the estate is a West Virginia resident.

If a deceased person owned a total of $50,000 or less of financial accounts, vehicles, personal property, life insurance payable to the estate, etc., that is the first consideration for applying the new law to a specific estate.

Also, if the decedent owned a total of $100,000 or less in real estate in West Virginia, that is the second factor in determining whether the new law applies to a particular estate. The real estate must be owned solely by the deceased individual or otherwise be subject to probate.

If the decedent owned real estate that will pass to others as non-probate property, then the value of that property is not included in the $100,000 total.

For example, property owned as joint tenants with rights of survivorship is non-probate real estate and will be excluded from the $100,000 calculation.

To determine the fair market value of real estate, the law permits 167% of the property's current assessed value on the county land books, as shown on the current property tax ticket, to serve as the appropriate amount.

Harrison County's clerk has already set up a sample online form to be used for small estates under the new law at countyclerk.harrisoncountywv.com/wp-content/uploads/2021/06/West-Virginia-Small-Estates-Affidavit-form.pdf.

To carry out the simplified estate administration when the appropriate amounts of real and personal property are involved, the next consideration is whether the decedent left a will.

With a will, the executor or personal representative named in it can present the document at the county courthouse 30 days or more following the decedent's death.

If the estate has not previously been opened by someone else, and the asset amounts are appropriate, the small estate administration process can begin.

The personal representative, now called an Authorized Successor, must present a certified death certificate, a list of the estate assets and their value to prove the estate qualifies, and information about the will's beneficiaries in order to handle the estate. Beyond that, no other reporting is involved, and no closing report is needed.

If the decedent did not leave a will, anyone who will inherit from the estate, based on West Virginia's intestacy law at WV Code sec. 42-1-3 and -3A, is eligible to handle the estate.

The potential successor can go to the courthouse to open the estate after a 60-day period has expired following the decedent's death and no one else has already opened the estate.

To qualify to handle a small estate without a will, a certified death certificate, a list of the appropriate assets and their value, along with the potential heirs as governed by the intestate law, must be filed by the successor at that time.

Small estates will not be listed with other estates in newspapers to give 90 days' legal notice to creditors. Instead, creditors have two years from the date of the decedent's death to file a claim against the estate or its heirs. A certificate of administration will be issued to the qualifying successor for estate matters and will remain in effect for six months.

A written objection may be filed at the county clerk's office by anyone with an interest in the estate within 30 days of the certificate of administration being mailed to the estate's beneficiaries.

With or without a will, as the funds are collected and after all estate debts are paid off, distributions can be made to the appropriate individuals, called distributees. No additional reporting is needed by the county or state governments for small estate administration.

When a distributee does not feel that the estate administration has been handled appropriately, they can file a lawsuit in magistrate court. These simplified procedures can assure that the decedent's property is handled quickly and with minimal formality.

For questions on estate administration or other legal issues, state residents age 60 and over may contact West Virginia Senior Legal Aid, 1-800-229-5068, for free assistance from the staff attorney.

Calhoun Falls To Tyler, 46-14

by Robert F. Bonar
In a game postponed from Friday, the Calhoun County Red Devils lost to Tyler Consolidated Knights, 46-14, on Monday night at Kidwell.

The game started well for the Red Devils. On the first possession of the game, CCHS drove the ball from its own 49 all the way to the home team's one.

Calhoun lost five yards on a false start then surrendered the ball on downs after losing a total of nine yards on the next four plays.

The Red Devils gained a measure of redemption for their missed opportunity on the Knights' first possession.

Tyler attempted a lateral that the receiver dropped, and an alert Grant Sterns picked the ball up and raced toward the end zone.

Tyler's players, who didn't immediately realize the play was still alive, could not catch up, and Sterns crossed the goal line for the first points of the game.

The run for the extra points failed, but Calhoun held a 6-0 lead with 4:07 to go in the quarter.

Tyler dominated the remainder of the half. The Knights scored 16 points in the first quarter, then tacked on another 30 in the second to take command of the game, 46-6.

Tyler fielded its JV team at the beginning of the second half, and the Knight's backup offense failed to score during the remainder of the game.

The Red Devils scored a touchdown in the third quarter on a 41-yard pass from Owen Taylor to Ian Richards, with Taylor running the ball in for the extra points.

The Red Devils were unable to score again in the half. Two possessions ending prematurely on fumbles, and the team turned the ball over on downs on its final possession of the game.

Calhoun is scheduled to host the St. Marys Blue Devils on Friday at Mt. Zion. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:00.

Game Notes: The contest was the Red Devils' first Monday game since 1967, when Calhoun defeated Pennsboro, 18-7, on Oct. 30.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF CHANGE IN RATES WITH PROPOSED EFFECTIVE DATE

NOTICE is hereby given that Hope Gas, Inc., dba Dominion Energy West Virginia ("DEWV" or the "Company"), a public utility, has filed with the PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF WEST VIRGINIA, revised tariff sheets containing new terms and conditions for furnishing gas service to approximately 112,000 customers within its service territories in Barbour, Boone, Braxton, Calhoun, Clay, Doddridge, Gilmer, Harrison, Jackson, Kanawha, Lewis, Lincoln, Logan, Marion, Marshall, Mason, McDowell, Mingo, Monongalia, Nicholas, Pleasants, Preston, Putnam, Raleigh, Randolph, Ritchie, Roane, Taylor, Tucker, Tyler, Upshur, Wetzel, Wirt, Wood and Wyoming Counties, West Virginia.

DEWV is proposing the following new terms and conditions for furnishing gas service:

- Revisions to Tariff Sheet No. 8 that require a landlord or rental agent to enter into an automatic transfer agreement when new service is initiated to a rental property.
- Revisions to Tariff Sheet No. 32 that require a telemetering agreement for transportation service customers, and provides that DEWV may install telemetry at the customer's expense.
- Removal of language in Tariff Sheet No. 36 that authorizes DEWV to adjust a transportation customer's nominations if the customer fails to comply with a transportation scheduling order.
- Revisions to Tariff Sheet No. 36 that require an executed telemetering agreement to remain in effect when a natural gas transportation customer returns to sales service.

The Company provides resale service to the following customers: Standard Gas Company, Consumers Gas Utility Company, Cardinal Natural Gas Company - Northern Division (Lumberport), Mountaineer Gas Company, Southern Public Service Company, Cardinal Natural Gas Company - Northern Division (Blacksville), and Peoples Gas WV LLC.

The increases shown are based on averages of all customers in the indicated class. Individual customers may receive increases that are greater or less than average. Furthermore, the requested rates and charges are only a proposal and are subject to change (increases or decreases) by the Public Service Commission in its review of this filing. Any increase in rates and charges will not become effective until authorized and approved by the Public Service Commission. Creston News

by Alvin Engelke

Rev. Craig Blankenship brought the message at Burning Springs M.E. Church

The big fall Creston ATV poker run will be held Saturday, Sept. 25. It will be a 60-mile fun run, with lots of mud and water, and lots of places to "play" and see if your chariot will make it through the real big holes.

If that is the plan, be sure to have a buddy with a good winch on his machine. There will be places where likely it would be wise to closely follow the ribbons.

Marty and Linda DeVries' daughter-in-law had a 9 lb., 7 oz., baby daughter Carolyn.

Kathleen Cervone fell and broke her wrist.

Betty Bush is scheduled for surgery to help fix her back.

David Greathouse, 69, of Newton Falls, Ohio, died. He was the son of Holly Roscoe Greathouse, Jr., and Juanita Hendrickson Greathouse. As a youth, he lived at Creston.

Brittany Marie Cunningham, 25, died as a result of a four-wheeler wreck, leaving behind three children. She was the granddaughter of Dave Cunningham, who was Frank Cunningham's son. Frank's mother was Martha Boice Cunningham, who lived at Creston.

Casper Shuman died at the nursing home in Elizabeth. Back when he was able, he helped the Creston folks set up poker runs. He knew where to go to have the best rides.

Joe Cunningham, 68, of Chestnut Run, died after an extended illness. He was a long-time state road worker, first in Wood County and then in Wirt County.

Ladonna Hayes, 57, daughter of the late Rev. Lewis and Louise Villers, died after getting the virus. Burial was in the family cemetery at the head of Little Creek. She was a long-time worker with special ed children in the Wirt County school system.

Several other folks that local folks know are sick with the virus, and some are not at all well.

Many are scared about all that is happening, and likely that is the intent of what those down in the lower Potomac swamps intend.

For certain, if they were really concerned about public health, there would be no illegal aliens crossing the southern border without testing, quarantine, etc., and there would be no folks coming from terrorist nations that have no papers, etc., let alone health records.

Gen. Willy Nilly, the fellow who hates folks who live in "flyover country," got caught making calls (and maybe deals) with his buds in the Peoples Liberation Army.

He and Nancy Pelosi (Gov. Newsom's aunt) cooked up a scheme perhaps for a coup d'état, and then he told Dictator Xi's head army man that he would call if that mean Trump decided to attack China.

Even some deep-state folks were upset, but they stayed mum until after the election. Speaking of such rubbish, there was supposed to be a demonstration in Washington, D.C., and a fence was put up and a huge group of newsmen and elite forces were on hand to protect the elites.

Finally, they found one "demonstrator," who seemed to be armed, but he turned out to be a member of some federal agency. The incident likely was like the "plan" to kidnap Gov. "Eva Peron" in Michigan. It was hatched almost entirely by the lead federal police agency.

The folks who purchased the place where Denver and Tammy McFarland formerly lived have done a lot of work and improvements to the property.

Pioneer Day will be Saturday, Oct. 2, in Elizabeth.

Price of local Pennsylvania grade crude rose to $71.61/bbl., with condensate, $57.61. Marcellus and Utica light, $62.61, and medium, $71.61.

Coyotes have been having concerts with our barred owls down in the holler. This full harvest moon had them in an uproar last weekend. The owls were having a hootenanny, while the coyotes were just howling at the moon. I need to get that concert recorded sometime, because, although it is quite an eerie sound, I find it uniquely correct for this time of year.

Fall is here now and the weather has finally decided to be... seasonal. Enjoy this pleasantly cool weather while you can, since it cannot last all that long.

I saw my first winter predicting wooly worm on Monday evening; it was black on both ends and brown in the middle.

The Old Farmer's Almanac is predicting a colder and wetter winter than usual, so I look forward to whatever winter brings us. After all, it's not like we can do anything about the weather, except wait for it to change.

The State of West Virginia has made yet another change in how they are reporting on COVID-19 with their daily 10 a.m. report. They seem to think that everyone loves to do math, so they now put numbers up in the report, but it is up to you to do the math that gives you the numbers that stated what was going on in our state and our county.

This change came about on Monday, and I am not amused with the numbers game when it comes to life and death decisions.

Now that we as a nation are passing the horrific death toll visited upon us by the Great Pandemic of 1918, it seems to me that the time may already have passed for mandates to save us all, but it sure wouldn't hurt to try now, would it?

Waste Not/Want Not

by Judy Wolfram

Time for some "Did you know." For instance, did you know that adding a handful of frozen peas to a bowl of a child's hot soup not only cools it off, but gives them more vitamins too?

If you want to build a fire and you have paper, but no kindling, you can use Doritos! They make surprisingly good kindling, because they are fried in oil and ignite easily.

You can pour one-quart of oil over some dry sand in a metal container (a metal bucket will do), and when done with your garden tools (which is just about now), work them up and down in the sand to clean and oil them. Now you can just put them away for the winter.

This I know that you didn't know. In the 1700s, trappers could get one dollar for a buckskin, hence the term buck.

Now, this I did not know, or even hear of until I read it. A geranium cutting can be started easily by boring a hole in a potato, placing the cut end of the stem in the potato, and putting the potato in soil. Sounds easy.

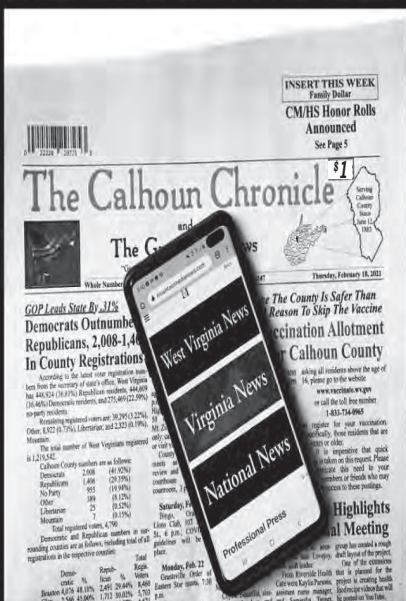

Did you know that 10 of the many tributaries flowing into the Amazon River are as big as the Mississippi River?

Did you know that a child can ask a thousand questions that even the wisest person cannot answer?

So there you go. I hope that I have helped you with some of the above. I always try to.

Kindergarten Readiness Groups

by Debra Smith

The program builds strong foundations for parenting and school readiness and is a powerful catalyst in helping children achieve a lifetime of learning.

--Create positive adult-child relationships.

--Foster back and forth interaction.

--Drive life skills that promote executive function.

Weekly in-person groups will be announced at a later date.

Weekly virtual groups are every week on our Facebook page at Calhoun County W.V Early Steps and Kindergarten Readiness.

School readiness activities include books for home libraries. VROOM tips are written with leaders in neuroscience, psychology, behavioral economics, parenting, and early childhood development.

The program is located at both Arnoldsburg and Pleasant Hill elementary schools.

You should register:
--If your child is 3-5 years old.

--If you are interested in preparing your child for kindergarten.

--If you want to help introduce your child to peers and school setting.

--If you want help with transitioning into school setting.

For information, contact Debra Smith, Kindergarten Readiness Ambassador/VROOM, at PHS, 354-6022, or AES, 655-8616, or email d.smith@k12.wv.us.
