Ambulance Service Discussed

The regular meeting of the county commission was held on Tuesday at 9 a.m., with commissioners Matt Walker and Michael Hicks in attendance and Kevin Helmick absent.

Crystal Mersh spoke about follow-up of three requests that she made at the last meeting.

The first was for a list of names and compensation of everyone on a board or committee in the county.

County clerk Jean Simers told Mersh that she had the requested file in an Excel spreadsheet that she would share with her.

The second request was for the financial report for September, but the sheriff had not yet handed in the financial report for September. July and August reports were available.

The third request concerned management of meetings. Walker said that he followed up on that, briefly, and he thought that would be a subject better discussed at the open community meeting held on the Thursday preceding the monthly meeting.

Julie Sears delivered the E-911 report: Arnoldsburg VFD, 5 calls; Upper West Fork VFD, 11; Calhoun DNR, 3; Sheriff's Dept., 34; (Continued on Page 10)

Foundation To Start Grantsville Facelift

According to Teresa Overton of The 1982 Foundation, "Grantsville would make a perfect day trip town, with river access, beautiful park, historical significance, dining, shopping, music, and recreation.

"This is likely our best and fastest pathway to economic revitalization.

Could you imagine a facelift of the town, somewhat in the spirit of Grinders Coffee House style.

Around Calhoun

by Bill Bailey

I guess I should not have accidentally stepped on that wooly bear weekend before last. Evidently, Mother Nature takes that as an insult when her personal weather prognosticators are squashed underfoot by daydreaming humans.

She withheld the warmth over the weekend, and we had a light frost in the grass and some ice on the windshield of our car on Saturday, Sunday and Monday mornings; all of this without the outdoor temperature dropping below 36 degrees.

* * * *

The trees are really changing now, and the scenery throughout the county and the state is spectacular. Just over the weekend, we went from around 20% fall color to maybe 45%.

Jeanne and I used to go white water rafting while attending the Bridge Day celebration every year--when we were somewhat less mature--and this weather, as well as the colors of the trees, brings back strong memories of battling the rapids and feeling just a little bit frozen, while watching the jumpers take a leap of faith from the New River Gorge Bridge.

It was also interesting to watch folks walk across the underside of the bridge on the catwalk. It is not something that I would suggest for the faint of heart or anyone with balance issues (like me).

* * * *

Anyway, bridge day is happening on Saturday, Oct. 15, for the first time in two years due to COVID-19.

It was decided in 2020 and 2021 that the risk of having thousands of folks standing shoulder to shoulder, even if it was hundreds of feet above the New River, was not a safe way to spend a day in the time of a pandemic.

It is a great event to attend, if you can stand the terror of watching people jump off of a perfectly good bridge just for the rush of, perhaps, surviving the 876-foot fall to river bank, or river, below.

* * * *

This weekend would also be a great time to just drive around the back roads of Calhoun County to see the sights.

You could also ride a bicycle, or take the family for a walk on those same back roads for a more silent approach to nature's observance.

* * * *

Some of the bucks that I have seen lately are coming out of velvet. One was running around with shreds and shards of his ragged velvet hanging from his antlers, six points to a side.

* * * *

The full moon of October, the Hunter's Moon, was in full glory this past weekend. We usually leave a blind open in our bedroom so that the gentle light of dawn helps us to awaken naturally.

That didn't work for the last four nights, as the moon was actually much brighter all night long than the dawn's early light.

It was also interesting to observe the position of Jupiter, either behind or before the moon's procession across the sky, depending on the moonrise on the day of observation.

* * * *

Tuesday brought a slightly warmer morning, without any frost down in the holler, with possible frost close to the Little Kanawha River.

Mid-week temps are forecast to be just warm enough to qualify as beautiful fall days.

We'll take all of those that we can get, because winter is on the way and will be here fairly soon.

Word has been received by officers of the local lodge of Masons that furniture for their new Temple has been shipped from Columbus, and will no doubt be received here in a few days. The dedicatory service will likely be held the latter part of this month and plans are being made for a big reunion on that date.

1947, 75 years ago

In its issue of Sept. 6, the Saturday Evening Post printed an article that an editorial note characterized as "perhaps the most desperately important message" it will publish this year. Entitled "Are We Ready for a Push-Button War?" and written by Joseph and Stewart Alsop, it deals with the much publicized and little understood topic of guided missiles.

The principle of guiding-missile warfare is simple enough. A button on a switchboard will be pushed, and a few minutes later a rain of missiles will descend upon enemy targets. There will be no warning. The missiles will travel infinitely faster than sound, and so will arrive in complete silence. Factories, bridges, power plants, railroads, communications, even whole cities will be instantly destroyed--along with thousands and perhaps millions of people. The enemy's capacity to make war will cease to exist, and the conflict will be decided in a matter of hours.

That is the concept. We already have, in the atomic bomb and other weapons, the changes these missiles will carry. The problem is to produce a suitable missile. It is, in other words, purely a problem of developing a delivery vehicle.

The Alsops begin their article with two statements made to them by a researcher in the field. He said: "The first thing to understand about guided missiles is that there aren't any. The second thing to understand about guided missiles is that there will be."

When will practical missiles be ready to take to the air--and to the spaces beyond? The Alsops offer an answer to that based on extensive interrogation of the scientists. It is expected that an anti-aircraft missile, which will be guided by wonderfully perfected radar, and whose purpose will be to destroy invading planes, will be ready in two to five years. The intermediate strategic missile, which will be fired from planes, ships or forward bases, may be practical in six to 10 years. Missiles of ultimate destructive power, with ranges up to 5,000 miles, will make possible direct intercontinental warfare, may appear in 10 to 18 years.

The technical problems connected with the development of missiles literally staggers the lay mind. Even the Alsops, in a long article, have room to only touch some of the high spots. Ordinary metals would burst into flame at speeds far below those projected. Launching a missile which will proceed in seconds from the ground to heights of 60,000 feet or more and there start for a target, is an incredibly complex operation. Desirable fuels--capable of giving both sufficient thrust and range--are still in the laboratory phase. Dwarfing all other difficulties is that of guiding the missile with bullet-like accuracy to a target thousands of miles away.

Achieving great distance is another terrific problem. One scientist believes that may be solved by joining two or more missiles together. One, for instance, would furnish the thrust for taking the missile off the ground and into the atmosphere where, at a given point, the second missile carrying the warhead would be "kicked" off, its engine would automatically start, its guidance equipment would take over, and it would proceed to the target.

Finally, must we give our money and our scientific energies to perfecting and manufacturing missiles? The Alsops feel that we must, in the name of self-preservation. It is known that the Russians are working on them at a fever pitch, precisely as they are working with the problems of atomic power. Beyond the Urals, Soviet scientists are getting ready for another war. American scientists, with all the resources they can command, are doing exactly the same thing.

The Grantsville sewer project has progressed to the point that there was a bid opening here on Tuesday afternoon that attracted several contractors, and town officials seemed pleased with what had been done so far. There were five bidders on the sewer and pump station contract, and three on the wastewater treatment plant.

CURIOSITY CORNER

by Dr. Jerry D. Wilson,
Emeritus Professor of Physics,

Question: They say a tropical storm becomes a hurricane when its wind speed equals 74 miles per hour. Why such an odd number? (Asked by a curious hurricane watcher.)

Reply: Come on, 74 isn't an odd number, it's an even number. (I don't want complaints from my math readers.) Seriously, 74 miles per hour is somewhat of a strange number to pick. Actually, it wasn't picked, it just happened. In the early 1800s, Commander Francis Beaufort of the British Royal Navy devised a descriptive wind scale based on the state and behavior of a "well-conditioned man-of-war (ship)."

This was a numbered "force" scale with no mention of wind speed. There were force ranges from zero to 12, with force zero being calm and force 12 a hurricane situation. With the development of accurate anemometers (which measure wind speed), wind speed ranges were assigned to the force numbers:

--Force 4: winds of 13-19 mph (moderate breeze);

--Force 10: winds of 56-64 mph (storm);

--Force 11: winds of 65-73 mph (violent storm);

--Force 12: winds of 74+ mph (hurricane).

The somewhat arbitrary wind speed of 74 mph (64 knots) was taken to be the initial wind speed of a hurricane. Batten down the hatches!

LETTER BOX

Mrs. (Kelli) Whytsell (Superintendent),

I would like to recognize Coach (Mike) Stump, the entire Calhoun County High School football operations staff, Calhoun County community, and the entire football team for their display of sportsmanship, hospitality, and friendliness during our football trip there last Tuesday.

From the moment we arrived, the people of Calhoun County made us feel welcomed and went out of their way, making sure we had everything needed. They helped transport our equipment and gear to and from the field. The people of Calhoun County were nothing but friendly and welcoming during our time there.

Coach Stump called me personally on Wednesday after the game to check in on one of our player's health status from the game--he was injured during game-play and did not return. This display of hospitality is rare. I extended my sincere thanks to Coach Stump for all the hospitality. We both agreed that both teams displayed outstanding sportsmanship on and off the field--I never once saw a Calhoun County football player displaying poor behavior.

This is the kind of football that should be showcased to our communities during Friday Night Lights every week--I'm glad Trinity Christian and Calhoun County could set the example in front of fans and the younger generation.

Please share with your community, football staff, and school staff.

God bless and prayers for a healthy and successful season the rest of the way.

Coach Mike McKenzie
Trinity Christian Head Football Coach

the apparent low bidder on the sewer project, with a bid of $281,947. The next lowest bid was made by H&B, Inc., for $290,137. Other bidders were J&L Excavating Co. with a bid of $479,160; Sewer Construction Co. of Weirton, $414,345; and Wilson Construction Co. of Huntington, $404,832.

For construction of the wastewater treatment plant, the apparent low bidder was Wilson Construction with a bid of $152,337. Other bidders were C.H. Jimison, Inc., of Huntington, $164,400; and Pioneer Co. of Charleston, $163,000.

After the bids were opened and read by Harry Gidley, representing the town, the local officials tentatively accepted the low bids, subject to review and verification by the town and the consultants, and for review and approval of the Economic Development Agency, which is furnishing a part of the funds for the project. Gidley said that it would take approximately 60 days for review and approval, before any contracts could be awarded.

Nelson Striegel, representing Dunn, said that his firm was finishing up a project in Weston, working on a large project at Grafton, and had another underway at Marlinton.

Willis Wilson, representing Wilson Construction, said that his firm had recently had projects at Charles Town, Romney, Shepherdstown, Parsons, Ceredo and Sistersville.

In a Bell X-1 rocket airplane dropped from a B-29 bomber, Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier on Oct. 14, 1947.

My Home Among the Hills

by Mellody Walburn

The fall weather that we have been experiencing continues to delight me. I am not delusional; I know not everyone feels as I do. There are those who love the hot, humid weather and enjoy basking in the sun. To each his own, I say. As for me, there is nothing like the cool, crisp weather of autumn. I think this is one of the reasons that I never felt completely at home in Florida.

The cool temperatures this week made me glad that I had turned on the heat in my home among the hills. I also appreciated having all of my warm winter clothes at my fingertips. The days of short sleeves, capris, and flip-flops seem to be gone for good. I left a few outfits in my master closet, but after looking at the long-range forecast, I feel pretty safe putting those away this week.

I don't know how much stock to put in my feathered friends' behavior, but I can tell you that they are emptying my feeders at an alarming rate. Usually, filling the feeders is a twice a week task. In past years, I have filled them on Saturday mornings and Wednesday afternoons. Maybe it is because I just started filling them again or maybe it is because of the cold temperatures that we have been having. Whatever the cause, I found myself feeding the birds every other day this past week. If the price of sunflower seed rises any more, I might need to take out a loan to feed my friends.

While the birds were keeping me busy at home, this school week was relatively quiet. It is hard to believe, but we are coming to the end of the first nine weeks. One-fourth of the school year is almost complete. My Grandma Haught was a very wise woman, and the older I get, the more I appreciate the wisdom that she shared with me over the years. I can remember her telling me that time seems to move slowly when you are young, but gradually speeds up as you age.

Now that I have hit my 50s. I really understand what she meant. While days and weeks may still seem to go slow, the months and years are rushing by me. I believe that this is why Grandma also told me to not wish my life away, but to savor every minute I was given.

I think another reason that I love fall so much is because it makes me think about Grandma so much. She was the queen of comfort foods. I fondly remember coming home from school, opening the door, and smelling all kinds of tantalizing aromas coming from the kitchen. Fall was the time for soups, casseroles, and cobblers.

Grandma always said that in the fall everyone needs to eat more and rest more to prepare for the winter weather coming. This may also be why I love curling up on the couch by the fire with a book to read and taking the time to watch the birds. I know Grandma would approve of both activities, especially at this time of year.

I have the resting part covered, and Maricia and Andy are helping me with the comfort foods. Those two can do just about anything together, and one of their most recent projects is a brick pizza oven. This weekend they finally fired it up and made their first pizzas. I had no idea what a process this was, but those pizzas sure were delicious. Maricia also made a pumpkin dessert that was delectable; she definitely inherited some of Grandma's gifts in the kitchen.

In addition to resting and eating this weekend, I did do a few productive things. I did my usual cleaning and laundry on Saturday. I also finally got around to sorting my recycling. Now I just need to load it in my Jeep and take it to the recycling center. After I finished my Saturday chores, I met Maricia out at the village in the park to begin planning for our Night in the Village, which will take place this Saturday.

This event is something new for the historical society, and we are really looking forward to it. For the first time, we will be offering lantern tours of the village.

Guests will have an opportunity to tour the buildings and then join us around the campfire for some stories, music, kettle corn, and s'mores. It promises to be a night to remember.

I need to finish up this article now, so I can begin my Sunday night routine of packing my lunch, setting out my clothes, and getting ready for another week. This is going to be a busy one, but that's okay with me.

Dearest Mary:

Your kind and affectionate letter of 18th. inst was received last evening. I was truly glad to hear from you once more, and that you was still in good health.

I am still improving, and will soon be myself again; mother is better, and I hope will soon be well.

I am getting along very pleasantly, and am getting a good rest, which I was much in need of when I came here, for I do assure you, I was about "played out."

I would be so happy to see you and tell you of our hardships. My safe return is beyond my own expectations, and nothing short of a kind and beneficent Providence could have protected and shielded me from all harm.

I oft times, when thoughts of home, friends and happiness would fill my mind, breathe a prayer for His Mercy and Kindness, and for a continuance of the same.

Oh, Mary you would scarcely imagine that the soldier hardened to scenes of blood and carnage, which I often had to witness, could be touched to tears when hearing a good old chaplains' talk to us of home, Father, Mother, Sisters and Sweethearts but I really could not help feeling so; oh: there is touching scenes take place even in camp, and we feel the presence of our Creator in all His favors and mercies as plainly as in the most elegant churches.

My heart often swells with emotions when contemplating, the dangers, toils and suffering through which so many of us came, and can only believe that it was His will, that so many of our men should fall, and that its all for the best: I sometimes feel like unlading my mind to some dear friends; there seems something so sadly sweet in these trains of reflections, that I like to indulge in them. The mind seems to soar away and be in converse with beings of a purer state; oh; that I could receive that glad assurance of being prepared for the transition from this unhappy sphere, to the happy regions of bliss immortal.

Think not that I am trying to weary you; not so, for I know you will always appreciate my good intentions and pray for my success in everything that is great and good.

I do hope that we may both live to see this wicked war close, and peace smile over the land, but if such should not be so, we will have the assurance of having done our duty, but Gods ways are mysterious, and we can not penetrate the vista of the future.

As soon as I leave here I will come up. Kind regards to all. Write again.

Your very true friend and lover,

M.A. Ayers

Dearest Girl:

Your welcome note of Friday evening was received this morning. I was very glad to hear from you, and that you was in good health, and enjoying yourself pleasantly.

I am improving considerable and will soon be all right once more, though I am far from being as able as I was before we went to Dixie. The weather is uncomfortable warm today, with some appearance of rain.

I would like very well to be there to day and spend the day with you, it would be such a pleasure, but let us not repine at our fate in being so long seperated; I will see you before many weeks if I am spared.

You say you have not heard from me by letter since 20th. July. I have written you three letters since I received your last, and it must be some delay of the mail, that is the cause of it. Hope this will reach you in proper time.

I wrote that I thought it probable Alfred was not wounded, but I fear it is too true, for later information confirms the fact. Sutton Cox¹ went home last night and he says that it is so. I have not heard where he is at. We have received no official report of the loss of our Regt since they went to Martinsburg, and of course we hear but little from them.

Maj. Simpson had a fight last Tuesday at Cumberland and flaxed the rebs. He fought again at New Creek on Thursday and whipped them again. Our loss was small in both actions. In the last Lieut Curtis of Co F was killed, also four men in Co E. The rebels are in possession of Martinsburg, with a heavy force, and there is considerable excitement here just now, the militia of this county are all out, preparing to defend this place in case of a raid. This is all the news I have today.

I certainly would have thought it a pleasure to peruse your letter if it had been much lengthier. I will take the best care possible of myself, but if possible for me to be where you are I would feel much happier. Mrs. Ferrel gave your compliments, I was expecting some word from you that morning, for I shook hands with you in dreamland the night previous.

¹Sutton Cox is listed in "Calhoun County In the Civil War" as a Calhoun soldier, with Co. C, 11th W.Va. Infantry; wounded at the home of Col. Adonijah McDonald in a fight between troops of Capt. James L. Simpson and Capt. Conley, on a ridge between the two forks of Sycamore. In line of battle at Appomattox Court House, Apr. 9, 1865.

Senior Updates

Deb Miller, JD, W.Va. Senior Legal Aid Volunteer

Tony could see that it was just a matter of time now. His son and daughter-in-law were arguing almost non-stop over money, the kids, the weather, and many other things. Divorce was coming.

He was very concerned about his three grandchildren. What was going to happen to them? Would Tony still be able to see them as much as he did now?

An old friend told him that the Grandparent Visitation Act controls this type of situation. On the Internet, he looked it up at WV Code sec. 48-10-501, et. seq.

Tony read that reasonable visitation with a grandchild can be ordered by a judge or family law master when two conditions are met:

(1) It is in the best interest of the child, and (2) visitation would not substantially interfere with the parent-child relationship.

A number of friends mentioned that it would be smarter and faster for the grandparents to cooperate with the parents to work out the best plan for visitation. A power struggle with his daughter-in-law or her family was not likely to work out in his favor.

Agreeing to visitation before the divorce becomes final would be the least complex route. This gave him a lot to think about.

If informal efforts between family members for visitation didn't work, Tony could seek court-ordered visitation. He knew that would be costly, stir up bad feelings, and could take a long time.

Under the Grandparent Visitation Act, the primary focus for the court would be to evaluate and give priority to the parents' preferences for their child, along with considering the best interests of the child.

Based on rights contained in the U.S. Constitution, the court would respect the choices of fit parents to make decisions regarding the care, custody, and control of their children.

Generally, visitation will not be granted by a court when the child's parent related to the grandparent has not permitted previous visitation.

Even if parents are not married, separated, or having problems, a grandparent can apply for court-ordered visitation when appropriate.

In recent years, the concept of visitation by a "psychological parent," someone who is not a grandparent or family member, has been considered by courts in West Virginia.

When such a person has played a substantial role in the daily life of the child with the consent and encouragement of the child's legal parent or guardian, that person may qualify as a psychological parent who can be given visitation rights.

Visitation disagreements and the after-effects of a divorce can become highly inflammatory.

Tony was hoping to avoid that for everyone's sake. He was thinking of the long-term toll that it would have on his grandkids.

Visitation rights and other legal issues faced by West Virginia residents, ages 60 and over, can be discussed by calling 800-229-5068, the West Virginia Senior Legal Aid hotline.

A staff attorney will provide assistance at no charge.

Calhoun's Hunter Thacker (10) picks up short yardage during the Red Devils loss to Trinity Christian on Tuesday, Oct. 4. Teammates are Trenton Nelson (52) and Jobe Loudin (55).

Calhoun Falls To Trinity, Travels To Gilmer, Friday

by Robert F. Bonar
Playing a rare Tuesday night game, the CCHS Red Devils hosted the Trinity Warriors last week at Mt. Zion. The contest was a makeup for a game postponed from Sept. 23 due to a lack of manpower in Trinity's ranks.

This time, the Warriors, representing a small Christian school in Morgantown, had their full complement of 14 players.

It was Calhoun whose ranks were depleted, as injuries and one-game suspensions from the Paden City fracas, meant that only 17 Red Devils dressed for the game.

With inexperienced backups playing several key positions, the Red Devils had difficulty moving the ball and succumbed to Trinity, 31-0.

The game started poorly for the home team. CCHS received the ball to start the game, but lost possession on a fumble on the first play from scrimmage, which led to a three-play Warrior scoring drive.

The next possession ended with a fumble on a punt attempt that gave Trinity possession on the Red Devils' 10. Despite the outstanding field position, Calhoun's defense kept Trinity out of the end zone and forced the Warriors to settle for a 25-yard field goal.

The Red Devils settled down after that, but could not find the end zone, coming closest with a drive that ended on the Warriors' 18 in the fourth quarter.

One of the highlights for the Red Devils was a successful fake punt attempt that netted Calhoun a first down on its third possession of the game.

Needing four yards for a fresh set of downs at the Calhoun 30, the Red Devils lined up with punter Logan Tingler in the backfield, but Owen Taylor took a direct snap and raced around the right end for six yards, keeping the drive alive.

Player shortages forced several on the Calhoun squad into service as running backs, with very little experience at the position.

Hunter Thacker (six rushes in the 2020 season) was the only one who had carried the ball in varsity action. Levi Stump was the workhorse for the Red Devils, collecting 56 yards on 15 carries. Tyler Nelson lugged the ball only six times, but gained 35 yards.

Playing on Tuesday is an oddity for Calhoun. It had only been done twice before. The 1927 team defeated Elkview, 13-6, in Grantsville, and the 1947 team won over Sutton 20-0 on an Armistice Day game in Braxton County.

Historically, the Red Devils have played on every day of the week but Sunday, and hold a good record on most weekday games: Monday (3-5), Tuesday (2-1), Wednesday (5-0), and Thursday (14-2).

Calhoun (1-5) had no game last Friday, due to the regularly scheduled bye week, and returns to action this Friday at Gilmer County (1-5), with kickoff at 7 p.m.

This Week In Red Devil Football History

"Celebrating 100 Years"

by Robert F. Bonar
Oct. 15, 1932: Calhoun County defeats Parkersburg Little Reds, 20-0, at home. The Little Reds squad is Parkersburg High's sophomore team (its equivalent of a freshman team, since PHS does not house ninth graders at the time).

While it may seem odd today, at this time it is not uncommon for small school varsity teams to play the JV or freshmen teams from much larger high schools and colleges.
Oct. 13, 1933: Bill Cramer catches three touchdown passes to lead Calhoun to a 25-6 win at St. Marys. Maxwell Bush rushes for the other Red Raider touchdown, and Kenneth Stump kicks an extra point to complete the scoring.

Cramer's three touchdown receptions remain a school record, since tied by Zach Moore against Roane County in 2006 and Ethyn Miller versus Tygarts Valley in 2014.

Oct. 9, 1937: Playing on a very muddy field at home, Calhoun defeats Spencer, 12-0. The field conditions cause trouble in moving the ball, forcing both teams to punt often. Harold Stump scores the only points in the game on two rushing touchdowns, but he is not the true star of the game.

Two-way end Clyde Downs blocks eight Spencer punts in the game, an incredible total that has only been matched by one person (Jacob Finer of Utica Free Academy, New York, in 1926).

Not surprisingly, the Spencer Times-Record refers to Downs as "a thorn in the Yellowjackets' side all afternoon."

Oct. 12, 1956: Cedar Grove visits Grantsville and returns to Kanawha County on the short end of a 38-6 score. Lowell Shaffer, Gerald Brown and Harry Vannoy each score two rushing touchdowns for the Red Devils, and Shaffer adds two extra points on the ground.

This is the first meeting between the two schools; the Trailblazers are one of three out-of-region AA teams (along with Huntington Vinson and Wheeling's Linsly Institute) that Wayne Underwood adds to the schedule in the mid-1950s in order to beef up the Red Devils' schedule.

Oct. 10, 1880: Calhoun County Red Devils and Roosevelt-Wilson Presidents meet for the first time on homecoming night in Grantsville. Adam Jones catches a touchdown pass from Kyle Frederick in the second quarter, and Scott Whytsell kicks the extra point that is the difference in a tight 7-6 victory. The game is the Red Devils' only win of the 1980 campaign.

only win of the 1980 campaign.

Oct. 12, 1984: Calhoun defeats Webster County, 14-0, in Grantsville. Tracy Haught and Matt McPhail score touchdowns for the home team and McPhail adds a two-point conversion.

The game marks the first meeting of the two schools, and to date is Calhoun's only win against the Highlanders.

Oct. 13, 2005: Roane County hosts Calhoun at County Stadium for the annual Black Walnut Bowl game. Paul Goodrich does all the scoring for the Red Devils, rushing for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion, but at the end of four quarters, the score stands knotted at 14-14.

Calhoun gets the ball first in overtime, and the host Raiders keep the Red Devils out of the end zone, forcing a 24-yard field goal attempt. Michael Sullivan, who had not been called upon to kick after either touchdown in regulation, enters the game and puts the ball through the uprights, staking the Red Devils to a 17-14 lead.

On Roane's possession, Calhoun's defense allows the Raiders only one yard in three plays, forcing them to try a 36-yard field goal. Steven Cunningham blocks the Raider kick, sealing the victory for the Red Devils, and increasing the team's record to 6-1.

American Red Cross is working to help people devastated by Hurricane Ian. More than 1,500 Red Cross volunteers from all 50 states and the District of Columbia are helping those affected and will be helping them recover for weeks and months to come.

"People's lives were turned upside down by this massive storm," said Erica Mani, CEO of ARC. "They need your help now. Please consider making a donation to help people affected by disasters, giving blood or becoming a Red Cross volunteer today."

The ARC Central Appalachia Region serves 77 counties, including all of West Virginia and surrounding counties in Kentucky, Maryland, Ohio and Virginia.

There are nearly 30 local Red Cross workers deployed, including 23 in Florida, with nine of those on the ground before the storm hit, three responders in California, one in Alaska, and one in Puerto Rico, to help recovery efforts from those disasters.

More than 80 Red Cross emergency response vehicles are on the roads delivering tens of thousands of meals and relief supplies, including four from the Central Appalachia Region.

Disaster aid stations, where people can get food and relief supplies, are providing health and mental health support to families who have suffered unimaginable loss.

Emergency shelters are open to give people a safe place to rest. Trained

Red Cross volunteers are also helping families cope during this challenging time and replacing prescription medications, eyeglasses or critical medical equipment, like canes and wheelchairs.

Dangerous weather conditions and floodwaters have canceled dozens of blood drives, with about 1,000 lifesaving blood and platelet donations uncollected.

Individuals who live in areas unaffected by Hurricane Ian, especially those with type O blood, are urged to give blood now to help ensure patients in impacted areas continue to have access to lifesaving blood.

ARC will be working side-by-side with its partners to help people in need for weeks and months to come. To help people affected by Hurricane Ian, visit redcross.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS, or text the word IAN to 90999 to make a $10 donation.

Your gift is a commitment to helping people in need, and every single donation matters. Financial donations enable the Red Cross to prepare for, respond to, and help people recover from this disaster.

To schedule an appointment to give blood or platelets, use the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

If you have the time, you can make a significant impact as a Red Cross volunteer. Review the most urgently needed volunteer positions at redcross.org/volunteertoday.

Court Reverses Injunction Against Hope Scholarship

W.Va. Attorney General Patrick Morrissey has praised the state Supreme Court of Appeals' decision to reverse an injunction handed down by a Kanawha County Circuit Court judge against the Hope Scholarship Act.

"(The) order is a tremendous victory for the hard-working families across West Virginia who deserve increased options for their children's individual educational needs," said Morrissey.

"It has always been my goal to help make our State first in the nation when it comes to educational opportunities for West Virginia's kids. Today's win will make an incredible difference for thousands of families across the State.

"The Hope Scholarship Act opens more doors for West Virginia students, while leaving public schools with the funding and other resources they need to remain strong. I'm proud of our office's work to defend this important program and the rule of law."

Acting just two days after the AG's office presented oral argument, the Supreme Court issued an expedited order "given the nature of the constitutional matters at issue and the need to resolve the appeal in an expedited manner."

The order dissolved an injunction and reversed the order that the Kanawha County judge issued on July 22, which had put a temporary stop to the Hope Scholarship program. The court's detailed opinion will follow.

The legislature passed and the governor signed the Hope Scholarship Act into law in 2021. It provides money for a variety of educational expenses, including tuition and fees at participating private schools and other educational activities.

Unlike some similar laws in other states, the scholarship act is not a voucher program. Students can use scholarship funds for many educational ends beyond paying "tuition and fees at a participating school."

Morrissey said, "I am happy to be able to successfully defend this act--our kids deserve the best educational options."

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15

During Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 9-15), the American Red Cross Central Appalachia Region urges everyone to practice their two-minute home fire escape plan and test their smoke alarms to stay safe from the nation's most frequent disaster.

Two minutes is the amount of time that fire experts say you may have to safely escape a home fire before it's too late.

These crises account for most of the 60,000-plus disasters that the Red Cross responds to each year across the U.S.

Locally, the Red Cross assisted nearly 1,040 families who experienced a disaster last year, with 88% of those being home fires. Home fire responses are 45% higher during cold months than warmer times of year.

"As the threat of home fires increases with colder temperatures, Fire Prevention Week serves as an important reminder to prepare now," said Erica Mani, CEO of American Red Cross' Central Appalachia Region.

"Practice your two-minute home fire escape drill and test your smoke alarms monthly to help keep your family safe."

Practice your plan with everyone in your household, and teach children what a smoke alarm sounds like and what to do in an emergency.

Visit redcross.org/fire for information, including a printable escape plan and safety tips for cooking and home heating--the leading causes of home fires, according to the National Fire Protection Association, which is sponsoring Fire Prevention Week with the theme, "Fire Won't Wait. Plan Your Escape."

Include at least two ways to exit every room in your home in your escape plan.

Select a meeting spot at a safe distance away from your home, such as your neighbor's home or a landmark like a specific tree in your front yard.

Place smoke alarms on each level of your home, including inside and outside bedrooms and sleeping areas. Test alarms monthly and change the batteries at least once a year, if your model requires it.

Check the manufacturer's date of your smoke alarms. If they are 10 years or older, they likely need to be replaced, because components such as batteries can become less reliable. Follow your alarm's manufacturer instructions.

Tailor your escape plan to everyone's needs. If you or a loved one is deaf or hard of hearing, install strobe light and bed-shaker alarms to help alert you to a fire. Visit redcross.org/ASL-disaster-resources for information, including resources in American Sign Language.

If you cannot afford to purchase smoke alarms or are physically unable to install one, the Red Cross may be able to help. Contact your local Red Cross or call 1-844-216-8286 for help.

Since October 2014, the Red Cross Home Fire Campaign with community partners has saved at least 1,393 lives, including 90 in the Central Appalachia Region, by educating families about fire safety, helping them create escape plans and installing free smoke alarms in high-risk areas.

In the Central Appalachia Region, Red Cross volunteers and partners have installed over 47,000 alarms and helped make nearly 18,500 households safer. To learn about the campaign and how you can get involved, visit redcross.org/homefires.

Vaccine

Mid-Ohio Valley Health Dept. has announced that its offices have received doses of the Moderna bivalent booster vaccine for COVID-19 for those 18 and older.

According to the news release, "COVID-19 vaccine booster shots are important for maintaining protection against severe illness, hospitalization, or death from the virus.

All individuals should receive their initial primary series before receiving the bivalent booster. If they have recently had another COVID booster, they should be two months past receiving that dose.

Everyone may visit the COVID-19 Vaccine Due Date Calculator, located on DHHR's COVID website and at movhd.com, to see when they are eligible for the bivalent booster.

Visit vaccines.gov/ search to find out about locations for Moderna or Pfizer bivalent.

To make an appointment to get the bivalent booster at a Mid-Ohio Valley Health Dept. location, call 485-7374."

Ambulance Service Discussed--

Sears reported that there were a total of 250 calls for service to the 911 center in September.

Jason Wilson, interim director of Calhoun EMS, gave the ambulance report from Minnie Hamilton for September. His statistics included: time received, time out of the door, time of arrival on scene, and transport time to hospital.

In his report, Wilson listed "Chute Time," which lists the average response time for a crew from the time when the call comes in until the ambulance is enroute to cover the call. That time is one minute and three seconds.

The average time it takes for an ambulance to arrive on scene is 19.81 minutes, and the overall average time to cover a call (which includes transports to other facilities) was listed as 119.52 minutes.

Wilson said that, to the best of his knowledge, there were only two calls that came in when there was no ambulance available in the county to cover the call.

One was when an ambulance was covering one of the DOA cases and had to legally stand by until released. Roane County was able to deal with that run.

The other case was when there were three calls that came within two-and-a-half minutes and Minnie Hamilton had only two trucks to handle the runs. The decision was made to have the more serious cases handled by Calhoun, with Wirt County handling the third one since it was a call from the Creston area.

The suspension of Calhoun EMS has been extended to Nov. 14, but this will likely be extended, as it is believed that there is too much left to do to have everything ready for an inspection on that date. Jan. 1 might be more realistic.

When asked about the investigation of Calhoun EMS, Wilson said, "I talked to the state director of EMS this morning. (He) told me that they are not even done with their investigation yet, so we don't have a final report yet. He is going to email some things this afternoon."

Wilson added, "I will promise everyone in this room 100 percent transparency."

Calhoun EMS has now finished paying off the loan that allowed the service to begin.

Mersh asked the about whether or not investments are needed to help the ambulance service.

Other voices queried whether fundraisers or other money raising opportunities might help, and everything that can help provide funding for emergency services is a good thing.

Wilson responded that what is needed now is more of a possible upcoming equipment crisis. He cited a recent thing whereby he pulled a heart monitor and sent it in for service.

These devices, and many more in every ambulance, have to pass inspections. He was informed that the device had failed the inspection. When they called the manufacturer to order replacement parts, they were informed that there were no parts for sale.

When this particular device was ordered, the extended warranty was purchased. The device was repaired under the warranty, but, when the device fails the next time, there will be no parts to fix it with.

Wilson wanted to make it clear to everyone that without passage of the upcoming levy, the ambulance service will not be able to continue.

The levy provides more than 80 percent of the yearly operating budget for the 911 center and ambulance service.

Asked about whether or not the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) was involved in the investigation, Wilson said that they are involved, but not because of any discrepancies in the count of narcotic medications from Calhoun's ambulances.

All of the narcotic medications were accounted for, and he did not know what the DEA is investigating.

Wilson said that Minnie Hamilton has pledged to run the ambulance service until Jan. 1, and even further, if necessary.

Donnie Pitts gave the Calhoun County Park report. He was happy that progress is being made at the shelter site and also at the barn. He hopes to have available a calendar of events for the park in the next few weeks.

Pitts said that the school system would like to have a haunted trail for folks to walk before the end of the month. He also said that there will be an informal star party at the park from Oct. 21-29, when astronomers will be on site for astrophotography and education.

Anita West gave a report on the consolidation of Calhoun's three Public Service districts, and said that, while Pleasant Hill and Mt. Zion PSDs are ready and willing to go through with the consolidation, Grantsville is not willing. More work is necessary.

The commission voted to provide $500 each to Grantsville, Arnoldsburg and Upper West Fork for Halloween parties.

The sheriff's vehicle was discussed and a settlement may be in sight for the county to provide two pursuit vehicles, rather than one F-150 four-wheel drive truck.

The resignation of Donnie Pitts from Little Kanawha Area Development Corp. and the County Planning Commission was accepted. He was thanked for his services, and ongoing service to the county.

October is designated as Breast Cancer Awareness Month and Simers reminded everyone that there is a Breast Cancer Awareness Quilt and pink ribbons on display on the second floor of the courthouse for people to honor the memory or the survival of Breast Cancer victims.

Simers also gave an update on the new grant to repair deteriorating sidewalks, steps, and handicap ramps at the courthouse. She said that the cost will be $62,000, and that the county has a grant match of 20 percent.

She reported on a voting machines grant that she had applied for, with a 50 percent match and a total price of $204,224.

She was informed last week that there are seven counties utilizing this grant, so that the match for the county will now be 54.52 percent, which will raise the counties match around $9,000 more than it would have been otherwise.

The next regular meeting of the commission will be held on Monday, Nov. 14.

VOTE NO ON AMENDMENT 2

West Virginia counties will lose $558 million in property taxes if Amendment 2 passes.

How does the Legislature plan to make counties whole?

THERE IS NO PLAN!

The State Senate draft plan says counties will be paid out of the general revenue fund. Over the past decade, there is not a single year where the state would have been able to reimburse local governments $558 million without making significant spending cuts or raising taxes.

WHAT REALLY ATTRACTS BUSINESS?

Businesses are attracted by strong education programs, good infrastructure (including cell and internet service) and quality public services – all funded by property taxes. Tax breaks are far less important.

KEEP LOCAL GOVERNMENT STRONG

If Amendment 2 passes, our local governments will lose power and authority over our own sources of revenue and will be forced to rely on promises from state lawmakers to fund our own public services.

Four Virus Cases Lowest In Six Months

According to W.Va. Dept. of Health and Human Resources, Calhoun had four COVID-19 cases in the last week, down from 11 the previous week.

The four cases, one confirmed and three probable, were the lowest number of cases since there were two from Apr. 6-12.

The county's total is 2,196 cases since the pandemic began--1,098 confirmed and 1,098 probable.

It is the first county in the state--and maybe the country--to have the same number of each.

Calhoun's confirmed cases remain the lowest of all counties, and probable cases remain the highest percentage in West Virginia. County deaths have remained at 15 since May 3, the lowest in the state.

The county has been green since Sept. 21.

Net new cases in area counties, in addition to Calhoun, in the last week (and county totals/deaths) are: Braxton, 16 (4,773/48); Roane, 14 (4,137/43); Ritchie, 7 (2,859/32); Gilmer, 4 (2,449/22); Wirt, 3 (1,698/26); and Clay, 2 (2,629/50).

New cases in the area were 50, up two from last week. Cases now total 20,741.

New West Virginia cases were 2,006, a decrease from the previous five weeks of 2,084, 2,727, 3,668, 5,707 and 5,696. Total cases during the pandemic are 603,256.

The number of deaths reported by DHHR in the last seven days was 14, 20 less than last week's 32. Total deaths in West Virginia are 7,450.

The daily percent positivity for West Virginia was 9.0 on Tuesday, and has averaged 7.0 percent other the past week.

The number of new cases in the United States was 293,953, a decrease for the 12th straight week from 348,744, 396,479, 414,344, 468,755, 614,482, 655,697, 657,690, 778,018, 827,955, 887,303, 919,743 and 936,492. Total cases since the pandemic began are 98,548,612.

New deaths in the U.S. were 2,670, a decrease from last week's 3,178. Total deaths are 1,087,563.

New weekly worldwide cases were 3,398,545, showing an increase from 2,891,969 and 3,103,662, the previous two weeks. Since the pandemic began, worldwide cases reported total 626,238,112.

Worldwide deaths in the last week were 10,264, an increase for the second straight week from 9,797 and 9,760. Total deaths from the pandemic are 6,565,608.

DHHR reported that 995,965 West Virginia residents have been fully vaccinated (55.6%), an increase of 922 in the last week.

DHHR Recommends Flu Vaccines For All Six-Months & Older

W.Va. Dept. of Health and Human Resources recommends West Virginians ages six-months and older to be vaccinated against the flu as the season approaches, and encourages COVID-19 vaccination and Omicron boosters shots.

"With COVID-19 continuing to circulate and affect West Virginians, the flu shot not only helps protect you and your family, but also those in our most vulnerable population, including young children, pregnant women, adults 65-years and older, and chronic health conditions," said Dr. Ayne Amjad, acting State health officer.

"We all need to make a commitment to protect ourselves and our loved ones."

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices recommends the use of higher dose vaccines for adults 65-years and older.

If these vaccines are not available at the time of administration, individuals should receive a standard-dose flu vaccine.

Flu and COVID-19 vaccines may be taken at the same time. The best time to get vaccinated is before the end of October, but even if you don't get your flu shot before then, you can still get vaccinated through fall and winter.

In addition to getting a flu shot, Amjad recommends additional preventive steps to fight the flu:

--Wash your hands frequently, cover your cough and sneeze into your sleeve, if you do not have a tissue.

--Wipe down frequently touched surfaces with a disinfectant.

--Stay home when you are sick.

Flu symptoms include quick onset of fever, body aches, extreme tiredness and dry cough. Persons who may be suffering from influenza-like symptoms should consult their medical provider.

To locate a flu vaccine, visit www.cdc.gov/flu/prevent/flushot.htm.

"By increasing the number of people vaccinated for both flu and COVID-19, we can reduce the number of illnesses, hospitalizations, and deaths this fall and winter," said Amjad.

"Additionally, we can help lessen the strain on hospitals by getting vaccinated."

"KEEPIN' IT IN THE FAMILY"

Good for the Family-- Bad for the County

- Did you know that Jacob McCumbers, Democrat candidate for County Commissioner, and "sitting" Democrat member, Kevin Helmick, are first cousins?
- Democrats have had majority control of the Commission for forty-six of the last 50 years, and now we are asked to accept that two Democrat members of the same family be allowed to compose yet another majority.
- Since the Commission consists of three members, these two family members would be wielding power and making decisions affecting all of us in all parts of the county. That is a recipe for disaster.
- The West Virginia Open Meetings Act states:

"When a quorum of a governing body discusses matters that would require official action by the governing body, then this is a meeting. If this discussion takes place outside the confines of a public meeting—whether in person, by telephone, email or other telecommunication means — it is an illegal meeting."
- Does anyone think that a meeting of this sort between these family members would not happen on a regular basis? Old-fashioned common sense suggests otherwise.
- We the citizens of Calhoun County cannot allow this scenario to play out over the next few years. Never forget that elected office holders work for us, not the other way around.

WIC Announces Increase In Cash-Value Benefits

West Virginia's Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), has announced a monthly increase in Cash-Value Benefits (CVB) for WIC participants.

The increase is funded to states by U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service through a federal continuing resolution.

Effective Oct. 1, WIC will issue the following increased CVB benefits per month:

--Pregnant women (single child) and non-breastfeeding, postpartum women, $44.

--Pregnant women of twins, $49.

--Fully and partially breastfeeding women (single child), $49.

--Fully breastfeeding women (multiple children), $73.50.

--Partially breastfeeding women (multiple children), $49.

--Minimally breastfeeding and non-breastfeeding postpartum women, $44.

--Child 12 months through age five, $25.

"The increase in benefits prioritizes consistent access to nutritious foods for all WIC participants," said Heidi Staats, director of the W.Va. WIC program.

"As our state continues to navigate increased costs and supply chain issues, this vital assistance ensures that new parents can introduce their children to new varieties of foods at a critical time for the development of taste preferences."

Aside from nutrition benefits, WIC provides nutrition counseling, parenting advice, breastfeeding support, food assistance and referral support to help families live healthier lives.

WIC services are free for pregnant, breastfeeding, and non-breastfeeding postpartum women and children up to the age of five.

For information, visit dhr.wv.gov/WIC. For information on the CVB increase, call your local WIC clinic, 354-6898.

WAG To Be In Grantsville Area

Welfare of Animals Group will be humanely trapping stray and feral cats in the Grantsville area on Thursday, Oct. 20, to have them spayed/neutered, vaccinated, and ear tipped (the universal sign that a cat has been part of a Trap-Neuter-Return program).

According to the news release, "We would appreciate if you would not put food out for them on Wednesday, Oct. 19, as we will be trapping on Oct. 20.

"Once the cats have recovered from anesthesia (at least 24 to 48 hours), we will return them to their exact location. They will be healthier, happier, and not reproducing and fighting. Thank you for your cooperation.

"So far, we have spayed and neutered 709 community cats (394 females and 315 males).

"Please keep your personal cats indoors or put a collar on them Thursday, Oct. 20. If you have questions, call Linda Buchanan, 354-7506.

"If you are aware of a feral cat colony in your area, let us know. Female kittens can begin breeding at four months old, so the best time to spay/neuter a colony is when there are only five or six cats. Trap-Neuter-Return is provided to county residents at no cost to the caretaker."

The program is funded in part by The Bernard McDonough Foundation, Oakland Foundation, Dept. of Agriculture, and County Commission.

Veterans

The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America in West Virginia, in association with Craik-Patton House, will conduct veterans oral history interviews on Tuesday, Oct. 18, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., in Charleston.

Video and/or audio-only recordings produced during this event will be forwarded to the Library of Congress to be saved for posterity, but personal copies may be distributed to veterans and family members after the event.

NSCDA-WV Patriotic Services chair Lenora Sutphin said, "The oral history project is expected to be a great event and NSCDA-WV is pleased to record the history of West Virginia veterans for future generations."

Veterans who have served in the U.S. military in any capacity are invited to call Nathan Jones, 925-5341, to schedule and prepare for the interview. Interviews will be formatted according to the Library of Congress' Veterans History Project guidelines.

Veterans Dinner

All veterans and their families are invited to enjoy a free meal and fellowship, courtesy of Grantsville Lions Club and Town of Grantsville on Friday, Nov. 11, 5 p.m. at Grantsville Lions Club (behind the senior center). For information, call 354-6998, 373-3350 or 488-7679.

Waste Not/Want Not

by Judy Wolfram

So, you think that your hair dryer is just to dry your hair. Wrong. Listen to this:

--De-fog your mirror: After enjoying a hot shower or bath, give fogged-up mirrors a burst of air from your hair dryer. You will be able to see your face in just a few seconds.

--Remove Crayon marks: If one or more of your little artists uses a wall as a canvas, heat up the crayon drawings with your hair dryer. Once they are soft, you can easily rub them away with warm water and detergent or dish liquid.

--Unstick a price tag: No more wasting time trying to peel off tiny bits of labels. Blasting them with hot air from your dryer loosens the glue, making removal a cinch.

--Goodbye keyboard crumbs: Instead of spending as much as $7.99 (or more) on a can of compressed air, blast food and dust from the crevices of your keyboard using your hair dryer--set on cool.

--Dry your nails: The fastest way to dry your nail polish? Turn your hair dryer to its coolest setting, hold it a few inches from your nails, and direct the air onto your nails until the polish dries.

--Forget your iron--great idea: Your hair dryer is a great substitute for removing wrinkles from a shower curtain, tablecloth, or even your favorite shirt. Blowing hot air over creases minimizes them.

--Last, but not least: It is a perfect tool to dry a freshly bathed dog, but not your cat. The dog will endure it, but the cat will end up swinging from the curtains--and you will need Band-Aids.

Happy drying!

Creston News

by Alvin Engelke

Rev. Kevin Gillespie did not fill his regular appointment at Burning Springs M.E. Church, as his mother, who had not been at all well, died early on Sunday morning.

The "out of this world" Creston Halloween party is scheduled for 5 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 29. Dress up and be someone, and donate candy and help.

The state road has two road graders parked at Creston. Roads on Ground Hog were being worked. Elsewhere, the spray crew has been busy trying to beat the frost to kill vegetation along the roadway.

"Because of a lack of money," some counties don't even have a mowing tractor, but, for sure, the state must buy lots of herbicide from its vendors.

It was reported that Elvin Hixon, the Calhoun road boss, is retiring. It is understood that, come January, the crew there will be down 13 men. A blizzard would create real problems for Calhoun residents, but would not impact the areas down at the Mouth of Elk, where the important people live.

Jacques Frost called in the area Sunday morning.

Bridgett Willis, 36, of Walker, was killed in a car wreck. She was the daughter of Sabrina Butler Dooley and the late Keith Dooley. Burial was in Beatty Cemetery.

Darlene Shrader Dunn, 67, of Mineral Wells, died after an extended illness. She was the daughter of Nancy Hall and Dexter "Deck" Shrader. Burial was in Beatty Cemetery.

One of the local relatives went down to Florida to stay with Nancy Wright, who lost her home in the hurricane. The insurance adjuster is to come this week to look. A little support from family goes a long way in getting through a very rough situation.

John and Debbie Griffin celebrated their anniversary with a meal at a posh Parkersburg eatery.

W.Va. Supreme Court ruled that the Hope Scholarship was legal, much to the chagrin of the teachers unions and their buddies in the W.Va. State Dept. of Education, who obviously work in cahoots to make sure that West Virginia youth are not educated to high standards.

The Wirt school system now has a form to be filled out by grade school students, talking about sex and what goes on at home. Perhaps, it is one of those things "mandated" by the federal government to get the coveted (by the educrats) federal funds.

With the new court ruling, folks of ordinary and less than ideal means can put their children in a school where they will have a chance to excel.

Sen. Patricia Rucker, who Baldy Blair obviously cannot stand, is to be thanked for her work to provide real educational opportunity to our state's youth.

Some local folks motored to Harrisville to attend the meeting explaining Amendment 2 on the November ballot. The proposal's backers assured everyone that machinery and equipment owned by utilities was not included, although a plain reading of the amendment does not have such an exclusion.

"Oh, that's elsewhere written in the code!" Now, those fine fellers wouldn't lie, now would they? Trust us, pass it, and we'll work something good out, just like they did on the forced pooling oil and gas legislation.

To sum matters up, we are being asked to give up our constitutional protection against high taxes for a promise from some slick talking legislators who answer to God knows who.

When asked if the taxes lost to the big out-of-state corporations on the $billions in assets would be made up by raising taxes on homes and farms, the answer was, why no, the 60% rate is set in stone--can't go to 100%.

Seems not so long back, such was threatened, but we are not supposed to remember. Some few decades back, we were told that if we just had liquor by the drink, our state's economic woes would be cured, as folks would come here as tourists to sit and drink, and make us rich. Maybe at the Greenbrier.

One of the proponents admitted that the radio ads were "bait and switch," as the car tax might not be taken off as the slicksters promised.

One local resident received a nasty letter from Stubtoe and Goosefoot setting forth, by chapter and verse, what would happen if the lease was not signed, now.

Another firm lowered the bonus money and royalty percentage, even though world-class oil and gas was being leased.

Toby Rice, who runs EQT, noted that West Virginia oil and gas is the "best" and has been declared the largest oil and gas field on the planet.

When asked when the company would be paying world-class royalties (at least 25%), he just laughed. Although he didn't say it, the legislature will make sure that the citizens would continue to be robbed.

The fellow who sometimes does not know where he is, noted in a big fundraiser sponsored by the Murdoch family, that there is a risk of nuclear war, and the federal government has purchased $290 million in radiation sickness medicine.

Apparently, some time back, the head man in Ukraine wanted to stop the war but the U.S. State Dept. told him "No," as they call the shots. Living in Creston would not be safe then.

One reads all the time about the corruption in federal programs. Here is an example of tax dollars wasted. Michael James Peters, who lives in North Carolina, owned some coal in Nicholas County. He went to a bank in Georgia, which loaned him $9 million to mine the coal and make it into "smokeless" briquettes for home heating.

The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture guaranteed the loan. Apparently, Peters owed Aces High Coal Sales, Inc., a Kentucky outfit, $1.3 million, and it mined 80,000 tons of the coal that was security for the taxpayer-guaranteed loan.

Of course, Peters then defaulted on the loan and we, the taxpayers, paid off the bank. He might do time and be fined.

The furor over the safety of the virus continues, and in California, if a doctor says something, the governor can jerk his license.

Allegedly, it lowers sperm count, making some men infertile--not really a good thing with a declining birth rate. There has been no study of the impact on ovaries and human eggs.

Of course, Bill Gates, who is involved in all this, said that there were too many of us, so an uptick in the death rate is fine by him and his buddies.

Eureka Resources, an outfit that processes waste water from Marcellus operations in Pennsylvania, is recovering lithium from the brines. The firm estimated that it could provide 25% on the national supply need.

Do you reckon that Smiley Carmichaels, who is supposed to be our big economic development feller, has ever heard about lithium?

It is now clear that building fertilizer plants to utilize the methane and solve the looming food crisis because of a lack of fertilizer is not a priority.

Sen. Tarr said that Nucor, the proposed new steel mill, wanted to use "green" energy to run its facility. A fellow who lives in Creston has some real nice ocean front lots for sale in the county and a couple in neighboring counties.

Reflecting the turbulent times in world oil markets, and a proposed world war, the price of local Pennsylvania grace crude rose to $91.64/bbl. with condensate, $77.64, Marcellus and Utica light, $82.64, and medium, $91.64.

Henry Hub natural gas was $6.75/mmmbtu.

You Do Make a Difference

by Bryan Golden
Do you make a difference in the world? Does anyone care about what you do? Are some people more important than others? We all ask ourselves these questions from time to time. Some people wonder about them more than others.

You do make a difference. You are important. Who you are and what you do does matter. You may have wondered what's the purpose of life, or perhaps you contemplated the nature of the big picture.

There are many more questions than answers, but we don't need all of the answers to lead meaningful lives. Everything you do and each person you impact has a ripple effect, just like a stone thrown into a pond.

Every occupation helps people and fills some need. If it didn't, the job wouldn't exist. Although there may be a wide range of compensation, lower pay doesn't mean a job is less important. All people are equal, regardless of what they do to earn a living. What can make a person special is how they treat others.

A special person treats others with concern, care, and consideration. A special person's economic status, education, intelligence, or occupation is irrelevant.

If you want to make a difference in the world you can do so one person at a time. By having a positive influence on just one person's life, you will have made a significant difference in this world.

The seemingly simple act of saying hello and smiling at a stranger will brighten the day of at least two people; the person who smiled and the one they smiled at.

When you help improve someone else's day, who knows how many other people they will have a positive impact on as a result. It's like a goodwill chain letter that keeps multiplying.

You have three spheres of influence: immediate, direct, and extended. In your immediate sphere are all those people who know you and with whom you have repeated contact. These include family, friends, acquaintances, and coworkers.

Many of the people in your immediate sphere depend on and rely on you more than you or they realize. Although people do not show their gratitude to you as often as they should, your presence is nonetheless important to them.

Your direct sphere of influence includes all the people you have personal contact with. Contact involves any kind of interpersonal communication, including in person, over the phone, mail, email, or visual. You can have direct contact with a person once, and then never cross paths again.

You have personal contact with people everywhere you go. You talk to many people over the phone or via mail/email that you will never meet in person. You have visual contact with people in other vehicles when you are driving.

When you are polite and caring, it makes a difference to others. How do you feel when you are treated this way? It affects you as the receiver the same way it impacts others when you are the transmitter.

Your extended sphere of influence includes those who are affected by the people you have had direct contact with. One good deed will have a ripple effect that extends farther than you can ever imagine.

So don't underestimate the difference you make in the world. It is far greater than you realize. If someone voices appreciation for what you have done, ask them to repay you by showing the same consideration for someone else.

You do make a difference, one person at a time.

Owen Grose (3) and Levi Stump (64) block for Calhoun against the Trinity Christian defense last week. Calhoun should be close to full strength when the team travels to Gilmer County on Friday at 7 p.m.

Calhoun quarterback Owen Taylor keeps the ball and picks up yardage around the right side of the line against Trinity. See story on Page 5.

My name is Jacob McCumbers and I am running as a candidate for Calhoun County Commission. I have lived in Calhoun County my entire life and graduated from Calhoun High School. I attended and graduated from Glenville State College with a degree in education.

You know that I am the best candidate for the job. I always finish what I start and never quit. So, let's all pull together and stay strong so that Calhoun County will always be a wonderful place to live.

It's not about being a Republican or Democrat. It is all about family, friends, and the communities we live in.

So come out and vote on Tuesday November 8th.
